Erhlichman Turns On Nixon During Watergate Trial

Attorney Claims Close Aide Was 'Deceived, Lied To, Used'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman's attorney charged today that former President Richard M. Nixon "deceived, misled, lied to and used" and finally forced a resignation from his former No. 2 aide in order "to save his own neck."

Ehrlichman, one of five former Nixon associates on trial in the Watergate cover-up, was portrayed by defense attorney William S. Frates as a victim of the plot who had "repeatly recommended" that Nixon disclose the truth.

It was the first time Ehrlichman had turned accuser of Nixon, whom he served as chief domestic adviser in the White House until April, 1973, when the Watergate scandal became a major issue.

Nixon, named an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up, has been pardoned by President Ford and cannot be tried for any Watergate-related incidents.

Former White House counsel John W. Dean III, previously Nixon's chief accuser, was to testify later in the day for the prosecution — whose case also was based on the complicity of

Long-Argued 101 Bypass Is Open

By THERON A. NEWELL

Today the first motorists began using the northbound lanes on the nearly completed Novato Highway 101 bypass — a highway route that caused the longest controversy in North Marin history and led to the incorporation of the City of Novato.

Drivers now may pass through the city in about five minutes, marking the end of an era in which traffic on busy Sundays used to back up 10 miles to Petaluma and take hours getting through Novato.

Even on weekdays, especially at peak commuter hours, Novato's traffic lights forced motorists to inch their way through the city.

When the southbound lanes of the bypass are opened in six weeks or more, depending on the weather, the last traffic lights between the Golden Gate Bridge and Cloverdale on Highway 101 will be no more.

The 5.2 mile bypass of downtown Novato, which will have cost more than $15 million when it is completed, has a history that goes back more than 15 years. At first the planned project united citizens into a city, but later, it was the root of seemingly endless division at city council meetings.

The story really goes back further, to the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge in 1937. As motorists took to the road north in increasing numbers, many of them settling along the way, Highway 101 gradually changed from a two-lane road into a freeway.

By 1957, when there was no limit to the growth expected

Liddy Freed From Jail Pending Trial Appeals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today reduced bond from $100,000 to $5,000 on G. Gordon Liddy, silent member of the original Watergate defendants, and ordered him released from jail pending appeal.

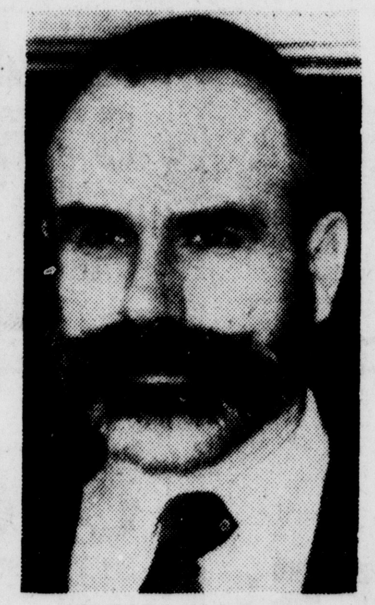
The former White House aide, also serving time in the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, has been in jail for nearly 21 months. He has steadfastly refused to testify on Watergate.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell reduced the bond and ordered Liddy, 51, released from the District of Columbia jail pending outcome of appeals in both the Watergate and Ellsberg cases. He was released 90 minutes later.

Liddy's attorneys contended he presented no risk of flight and no danger to the community.

The U.S. prosecutor's office did not contest the request for lowered bail by Liddy, one of seven men originally charged with conspiracy, burglary, bugging and wiretapping in the Watergate break-in.

Gesell said he had discussed the case with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who earlier set $100,000 bond in the Watergate case.



G. GORDON LIDDY

"It is entirely appropriate to grant bond to Mr. Liddy at this time," said Gesell, and warned defense attorney Peter Maroulis that Liddy should not leave the country and should report to federal marshals "when and if either or both of these convictions is upheld."

Maroulis told Gesell that Liddy's mother had put up the bail money and Liddy would live in Oxon Hill, Md. with his wife and five children pending outcome of the appeal.

Ford Veto Stands On Turkey Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today voted to uphold President Ford's veto of legislation requiring an immediate cutoff of military aid to Turkey.

The House failed to muster the two-thirds majority of those voting needed to override the presidential veto. Only one chamber of Congress needs to vote to sustain a presidential veto.

The vote was 223 to 135, which fell 16 votes short of necessary two-thirds majority.

The House vote meant that the continuing resolution on funding a number of government agencies — to which the aid cutoff provision was attached — was dead.

This will oblige Congress to draft and pass a new temporary funding measure before leaving on its delayed pre-election recess.

The dispute between Ford and Congress over the Turkish aid provision arose this way:

U.S. laws require that military aid given other countries be used only for self defense.

Liberal members of Congress were angered when Turkey used U.S. weapons in its invasion of Cyprus, and they persuaded both houses to suspend military aid to Turkey until President Ford could certify substantial progress was being made toward removal of the Turkish forces.

Ford — arguing that the cutoff would weaken NATO, of which Turkey is a member, hurt the U.S. position in the Mediterranean, and wreck efforts to negotiate a Cyprus settlement — threatened to veto the measure.

Kissinger Ends Tour, Heads Home

RABAT (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger ended his seven-day tour of the Middle East today and took off for Washington. He found what he called "positive and encouraging signs" toward peace, a slight move to reduce Arab oil prices and a possible reconciliation with Algeria.

His last stop of the seven-nation tour was Morocco where he conferred with King Hassan II. He had spent the night in Algiers where he and President Houari Boumedienne discussed the oil crisis and the possibility od restoring diplomatic relations broken during the 1967 Middle East War.

In Saudi Arabia he had reported some Saudi willingness to reduce oil prices from their record high.

Kissinger said upon his departure from Algeria that he and Boumedienne "discussed our different approaches to the question of oil prices and we reviewed ways and approaches to reconcile these differing points of view in the months ahead."

Homesite Reduction Advances

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday recommended rezoning about 4,000 acres in the San Geronimo Valley to reduce the number of possible homesites. (Another planning commission story, page 9.)

Yesterday's action covers the lands located south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Woodacre to Lagunitas.

It is part of a planning department proposal to rezone a total of 6,000 acres in the valley to cut the number of homesites from about 5,000 to 500.

Most of those lands recommended for rezoning yesterday are owned by the San Geronimo Valley Properties Co. of San Rafael. The rezoning, to be considered by supervisors late next month or early December, would range from one home for every two acres down to one home for every 10 acres.

Under the 1961 San Geronimo Valley Plan, rescinded last year by supervisors, the firm would have been permitted to build 5,000 single family homes and townhouse dwellings. It has protested the rezoning.

Commissioners said yesterday any development of land south of Sir Francis Drake should be restricted to single-family homes.

On Nov. 4, the commission will consider rezoning 2,000 acres on the North side of the highway to an agricultural designation ranging from A-40 to A-60.

That zoning, if approved by supervisors, would allow one home for every 40 acres on some land and one home for every 60 acres on other property.

House Overrides Rail Aid Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted by a large margin today to override President Ford's veto of legislation granting $7 billion in federal funds to bail out the financially troubled railroad retirement system.

The House vote was the first time that Ford has lost a veto challenge. The Senate is expected to vote to override, probably tomorrow, thus enacting the legislation.

Ford Signs Campaigners' Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford signed into law today the most far-reaching political campaig reforms in the nation's history.

The sweeping reforms, a direct result of the Watergate scandals, will go into effect in 1975 and are certain to revolutionize political campaigns for federal office.

Ford invited all 535 members of Congress to witness the historic signing in the East Room of the White House.

The major features of the comprehensive package, approved by Congress this week, are the taxpayer financing of presidential elections, primaries, and national conventions; a tight limit on political contributions; and stingy ceilings on candidate spending.

The legislation also creates a six-member Federal Elections Commission, with civil enforcement powers, to administer the reforms.

Major provisions of the bill:

GENERAL ELECTION FINANCING — Beginning with the 1976 elections, the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates can receive $20 million each from the federal treasury for the general election. They can choose either federal funds or private contributions but cannot mix the two. Other party candidates can receive a proportionate share of the $20 million based on election results.

PRIMARY FINANCING — Candidates to become eligible for public financing must first raise $100,000, with $5,000 from each of 20 states. The government will then match the first $100,000 and every private contribution of $250 up to a ceiling of $5 million.

CONVENTION FINANCING — The Republican and Democratic parties can receive $2 million each from public funds to finance their conventions.

CONTRIBUTIONS — Individuals are limited to overall contributions of $25,000 in a single year and no more than $3,000 to an individual candidate — $1,000 in the primaries, $1,000 in a runoff, and $1,000 in the general election. Organizations can contribute $5,000 to a candidate in each (the primary, a runoff,) and the general election. Presidential candidates can contribute $50,000 to their own campaigns, Senate candidates $35,000 and House candidates $25,000.

By MARY LEYDECKER

Registering "almost total dismay with the present mental health program" in Marin County, the Marin Medical Society is calling for the immediate firing of Dr. Robert L. Taylor, program director for Community Mental Health Services.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Dr. A. Halnan White said the society's board of directors believes the mental health program under Dr. Taylor "has become eclectic, so poorly grounded medically, and so poorly supervised as to resemble a horse running in all directions at the same time."

Further, the letter continued, "thousands of taxpayer dollars are being wasted on a directionless program unrelated to the real needs of our community."

The medical society, made up of about 360 physicians, also charged the mental health program with empire building.

"We believe the program can be run effectively with far fewer than the present 106 employees," the letter said. The society suggested that "adequately trained professionals do the actual treatment" of mentally ill persons and that "perhaps this approach would put a stop in the incessant empire building

Doyle Drive Safety Seen In Compromise

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Safety improvements to San Francisco's Doyle Drive — held up for years because of a disagreement between city supervisors and state transportation officials — may come about as a result of a compromise between the two groups, San Francisco Supervisor Robert E. Gonzalez said today.

The deadlock has been the state's insistence that Doyle Drive, scene of many head-on collisions, be expanded to four lanes each way, and San Francisco's insistence on limitation to three lanes each way. In either case a fixed median barrier would be built.

The Gonzalez proposal would keep the three-lane limitation, but would permit creation of one or more special links within the city to handle traffic that presently helps clog Doyle Drive during commute hours, traffic moving between western residential sections of the city and its downtown business and financial centers.

The special streets would connect Park Presidio Boulevard, the Marina and Richardson Avenue, bypassing Doyle Drive. Gonzalez offers two versions: for $13.2 million a connector link carrying only traffic bound downtown, and for $14.5 million, bound in both directions.

Construction would begin in September, 1975, if supervisors give their approval by the end of October as he expects according to Gonzalez.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Sea Hiker Paddles Along

CORONADO (UPI) — A "sea hiker" paddling the Pacific Coast can see many interesting sights including sharks, rabid foxes, naked zuchini peddlers and Ron Ziegler.

Capune

That was the way Larry Capune recalled today his 1,240-mile, six-day paddleboard odyssey from Brookings, Ore., almost to the Mexican border.

Capune, 32, did it to show young people they can go on exciting "trips" without using drugs, and to promote his concept of sea hikers.

Capune had hoped to drop in on former President Nixon at his ocean side San Clemente home.

"Only by the time I got there, he wasn't president anymore," Capune said, and Ziegler and a group of Nixon aides shooed him off.

Prison Court

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam's chief peace negotiator claimed today the Communists are holding 100,000 prisoners of war and are working them to death on road building projects.

Negotiator Brig. Gen. Phan Hoa Hiep charged the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese now hold 30,000 soldiers and 70,000 pro-government civilians, all captured before the Jan. 28, 1973, cease-fire declaration.

Draft Program

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his cabinet began drafting a program today for rescuing hard pressed industry and heading off the specter of mass unemployment in what he termed Britain's gravest economic crisis since World War II.

It was the first cabinet meeting since Wilson's Labor party won a narrow three-seat parliamentary majority in Thursday's general election.

Arabs Invited

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The leading Arab guerrilla group —denounced by Israel as "10,000 murderers" — has won a formal invitation to the United Nations as the representative of the Palestinian people.

The U.N. General Assembly voted 105-4 with 20 abstentions yesterday afternoon to invite the Palestinian Liberation Organization to take part in the Nov. 4 debate on the refugee question.

Patrol Hills

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli troops and border police searched the rugged hills of Western Galilee today for a squad of Arab guerrillas believed on a death mission against frontier settlements.

Police sources said helicopters and low-flying observation planes scanned the Lebanese frontier. Army patrols combed the Galilee countryside in search of the commandos.

The guerrilla team cut across the border at the town of Adamit early Saturday and traveled to Wadi Bezet, a thickly wooded dry river bed, the military command said. The unit was estimated at six to eight men.

Sub Traps Pair

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI) — The ship radio sputtered early in the afternoon and the words came in tensely: "We are trapped. We need help."

For six hours yesterday, two American sailors huddled in a disabled yellow midget submarine some 275 feet below the surface of the North Sea just off the Scottish coast.

The TS1 sub, a 20-foot, 2-ton vessel, refused to budge from the floor of the sea after a cable twisted around its propeller.

The two-man American crew, Gilbert Blevins, 25, of Oklahoma, and Leslie Lynch, 28, of Louisiana, tried for 20 minutes to maneuver the ship out of the entangling cable without success.

The sub was working on a pipeline intended to carry oil ashore from the underwater fields 130 miles off Scotland's east coast when the half-inch plastic line fouled its propeller at 12:50 p.m.

Slaying Probed

STANFORD (UPI) — The 19-year-old wife of a Stanford University student was assaulted with altar candles and stabbed to death when she went to pray at campus church about midnight Saturday, police said yesterday.

"It's a typical — if there is such a thing — sexual psychopathic slaying," said Santa Clara County Undersheriff Tom Rosa.

He said there was no indication that Arliss Perry was the victim of a satanist torture rite.

Uses Own Funds

LONDON (UPI) — Retiring U.S. Ambassador Walter H. Annenberg says he has spent about $250,000 of his own money annually to keep the American Embassy operating in the style he's accustomed to for the past five and a half years.

The millionaire publisher, who says he was able to write off some of the expenses against taxes, concedes that a less stylish ambassador could greatly cut the costs.

The 66-year-old Philadelphian, leaving for home Oct. 30, told American newsmen the out-of-pocket costs were in addition to the job's $42,500-a-year salary and $25,000-a-year "nominal" expenses.

Shock Fading

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Now that her quintuplets are a week old, Mrs. Karen Rohrer says the shock of having five children at once is "kind of sinking in." She says she can't wait to get home and start caring for them herself.

Mrs. Rohrer, 28, smiling but nervous, held tightly to her husband's hand yesterday as she met newsmen in her first public appearance since the multiple birth Oct. 8.

To Burn Cargo

HOUSTON (UPI) — An incinerator ship carrying 4,200 tons of chemical wastes is heading for a site 135 miles south of Galveston, Tex., where it will burn its cargo in the Gulf of Mexico.

The ship Vulcanus left Shell Chemical Co.'s Deer Park Refinery yesterday for the nine-day cruise with its toxic payload.

The Environmental Protection Agency will monitor the burning to determine if there are adverse effects on the marine environment.

Shell has been dumping chemical wastes into the gulf for more than 10 years and last week received permission from the EPA to test the incineration method at sea.

If the first test is proven successful a total of 17,000 tons will be disposed of in a similar manner.

Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Electronic hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service offices on Thursday and Friday.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at all of the offices listed below to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the latest methods of hearing correction.

The hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service, 808 Third Street, San Rafael Thursday and Friday. If you can't get there on Thursday or Friday, call 457-1104 and arrange for an appointment at another time.

I make the elderly suffer. So much, they may cut themselves off from family and friends . . . and they know the heartbreak of loneliness.

I rob more than 15 million Americans of much that is good. I undermine their confidence and eat away their social life.

I am equally hard on the rich and poor. I cause trouble on the job and in the home. Yet, few of those I attack do anything to fight me, because no-one wants to admit I exist.

Stanford's Flory Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Paul J. Flory of Stanford University today won the 1974 Nobel Chemistry Prize for research in plastics. Two British radio astronomers won the Physics Prize for their discoveries which could be important to finding life in outer space.

The Swedish Academy of Sciences which announced the awards said Flory, 64, received the chemistry prize for his fundamental achievements "both theoretical and experimental in the physical chemistry of micromolecules" in research on plastics and similar substances.

Earlier today, the Swedish Academy of Sciences announced that Martin Ryle and Antony Hewish of Great Britain shared the $123,000 physics prize for discoveries which could be important to the possibility of finding intelligent life in outer space.

Flory, a native of Sterling, Ill., did research on synthetic fibers, synthetic rubber and other polymeric substances for the DuPont Experimental station in Wilmington, Del., for Standard Oil in Elizabeth, N.J., and fundamental research for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., in Akron, Ohio.

He was a professor of chemistry at Cornell and was head of research at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh before becoming professor of chemistry at Stanford in 1961 where he is chairman of the research department. He pioneered research on the constitution and properties of substances comprised of giant molecules such as rubbers, proteins, plastics, fibers, and films.

Hewish, the academy said, discovered in 1967 unknown radio sources in space that were later given the name "pulsars."

He found that these sources sent out extremely regular radio signals at intervals of about one second.

The academy said his discovery proved the existence of so-called neutron stars in space, something that the scientists have been speculating on since the 1930s. Neutron stars are extremely heavy in comparison to their size — about six miles in diameter. A piece the size of a small marble weighs millions of tons.

Hewish, 50, was officially cited for "his decisive role in the discovery of pulsars."

Ryle's "aperture-synthesis" technique means, basically, that with a number of small telescopes he can achieve the same precision as one might by having one huge telescope covering a large area.

With the help of Ryle's new telescope constructions, the definition and determination of directions are now so good that "it corresponds to an observer on earth being able to see the details of a postage stamp on the moon," the academy said.

Ryle, 56, has been known as Sir Martin Ryle since 1966 when he was knighted. In 1972 he was appointed royal astronomer.

Rock Damages Alaskan Ferry

SITKA, Alaka (UPI) — The Alaska ferry Columbia limped into Sitka with 300 passengers last night after striking a rock in choppy seas.

The 418-foot ferry, the newest and most modern of the state ferry fleet, brushed a rock in the Sturgis Narrows early yesterday while en route to Juneau.

After discharging its passengers and 58 vehicles at Sitka, the ferry prepared for a slow trip to Seattle, Wash., for repairs.

Nixon Administration Linked To $27 Million Property Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration pressured the General Services Administration to trade $27 million in usable government property for a huge, unused building so the former president could keep his records near his home in San Clemente, the Washingtonton Post reported today.

The Post said the building, a seven-story pyramid-shaped structure one quarter the size of the Pentagon, was acquired from Rockwell International Corp., within the last two years for some $20 million worth of Air Force property.

The building, located in Laguna Niguel — a small town 10 miles from Nixon's estate in San Clemente — cost $27 million to construct but was appraised for $20 million in 1972.

According to the Post, the GSA said the purpose of the trade was to get a place to house federal offices and records in Southern California — but, the paper said, the building has never been occupied and is still empty except for office furniture.

The Post said the deal actually cost taxpayers close to $18 million more because some of the land the government traded away is now needed.

Richard D. Hanzlik, a former White House aide, told the paper he made calls on behalf of the transaction in 1971 while he was an assistant to former presidential counselor Robert H. Finch.

"They (GSA) wanted a building near San Clemente," Hanzlik said, "The memos won't say it would be for the Western White House, but they would say it orally."

Hanzlik said pressure also came from Rockwell employees who contributed $98,000 to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

HEALTH

that has taken place in the mental health field in Marin in the past 10 years."

"We therefore urge that Dr. Robert Taylor be dismissed at the earliest possible opportunity and be replaced by a director of mental health. The focus should be on providing treatment for the people in our county who are mentally ill or emotionally disturbed and who cannot afford private care," Dr. White wrote.

The medical society's broadside at Dr. Taylor is the latest round in a long uproar over both the Community Mental Health Services and its parent agency, the county Health and Human Services Department.

Last year the county supervisors formed the superagency covering mental health, public health, welfare and medical services. The directorship of the controversial department is filled temporarily by Donald Sanford, chief aid to Betty L. Presley, who retired in July after one year on the job. (Miss Presley had served 22 years as welfare director before accepting the position.)

The supervisors recently dumped a list of some 60 candidates who have applied for the job and ordered the county administrator's office to find other candidates.

In the meantime, Dr. Taylor serves only as program director for the mental health section of the department and does not have administrative duties.

Members of the county medical society, in the letter signed by Dr. White, urged the supervisors to eliminate the Health and Human Services superagency, which the doctors say "has served only to create confusion, administrative delay and fiscal chaos."

Not only is the mental health program in ruins, the physicians claimed, but also "professional medical judgment no longer significantly imparts medical care at the county level to the degree that the public interest requires."

Dr. White told the Independent-Journal today that "administrative interference" is keeping the medical and public health departments from functioning effectively.

The society is urging that the superagency be replaced with a director of health, who would serve as head of three departments, mental health, public health and medical services. By implication, the doctors indicated the welfare department should be separated.

The director of health should be a physician trained in administration and public health matters, they said.

The medical society board ordered the letter, Dr. White wrote, "in response to the growing crescendo of criticism in the physician community at large concerning the deterioration of health services being offered by the County of Marin."

Meanwhile, Dr. Taylor last month said in a report that the mental health department has made significant gains in treating the mentally ill since a "decentralizing" took place two years ago.

He claimed new centers in various sections of the county have been very effective.

Another problem facing Dr. Taylor is the licensing of the so-called crisis unit at Community Mental Health, currently operating without a state license needed for keeping mental and alcoholic patients overnight.

Although mental health officials have been assuring the Marin Hospital District board, which leases the facilities to Community Mental Health, for some months that a license was forthcoming soon, long delays have taken place.

There is now some doubt among county officials that the unit will be licensed as presently operated.

Hands On School Plans Open House

A back-to-school open house will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the newly opened Hands On school in Mill Valley.

The school, on the grounds of the Mill Valley Methodist Church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, is a nonprofit, fulltime facility for children from ages five to eight with a high-learning potential, according to Elaine Reber, educational director.

Hitchhiker Held After Robbery

An 18-year-old hitchhiker was arrested early today for the alleged robbery of a San Mateo man in the Tennessee Valley area.

According to sheriff's deputies, the victim, Elisasa Reupena, 44, wandered to a home in Tennessee Valley yesterday afternoon in a dazed and beaten condition. He claimed a hitchhiker he picked up in San Francisco robbed him and stole his car.

Reupena was treated for head injuries and a cut chin at Marin General Hospital and was released last night. According to deputies, he had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument.

Using a description from Reupena, Mill Valley police at midnight stopped a hitchhiker at the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

The arrested man, Thomas Joseph Goodwin, of no known address, later was booked by sheriff's deputies at county jail on suspicion of armed robbery, auto theft and possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

Goodwin was held in lieu of $25,000 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

LEZZENI

$250, investments and property interests over $1,000, and employment and management posts, held between April 1973 and March 31, 1974.

(It empowers a court to impose a penalty of up to three times the value of any interest an official fails to report. An action to recover such a penalty may be brought by the district attorney, attorney general or any citizen.

(Violation of any provision of the law may lead to forfeiture of office and disqualification from holding office in the future.)

The only other Marin officials failing to file economic statement reports according to the county clerk are John W. Gates, a Corte Madera planning commissioner who suffered a heart attack Sept. 27 and is recovering at Marin General Hospital, and Willard Pittman, former Belvedere city councilman.

Councilmen directed Town Administrator William E. Haden to have a "chat" with Lezzeni on his return to town, to determine what the commissioner's intentions are. "We're going to have to make a decision one way or the other," Haden noted.

The action came as the council decided to expand a list of officials required by the state to file such statements. In addition to state requirements, members of the town design and environmental review board, as well as Building Inspector Thomas A. Klarenbach, must file economic interests statements, councilmen said.

Councilman Priscilla C. Gray, saying filing the statements is "a big pain in the neck," opposed the move. Mrs. Gray contended it is already hard to get residents to apply for seats on the board, and said requiring statements would merely be harassing them with this big brother."

The council majority, however, agreed with Glenn Meagher, who said the statements are a "good thing for anyone ... whose intentions might be questioned."

Haden had recommended that Klarenbach and design board members not be compelled to file statements, saying such action would "work a hardship" on them.

to any plan that would install a concrete divider without expanding Doyle Drive to four lanes in both directions. (Currently, movable dividers give the road an eight-lane capacity, by shifting the barriers to accommodate the heavy commute flow.)

According to Thomas L. Lammers, state director of transportation of the San Francisco district, the new proposals are acceptable, but not ideal. Traffic would be shifted from Doyle to other city streets, causing congestion elsewhere, he said.

No New Indictments Seen In Watergate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says that no more indictments are expected in the Watergate affair.

"The people who have been indicted are all the ones that will be indicted," Saxbe told newsmen before a speech here last night.

HIGHWAY

along the route, the state Division of Highways announced its plans ultimately were for an eight-lane highway through the unincorporated area of Novato.

Three earlier attempts by some residents to incorporate Novato had failed, but when the state highway department came out in 1959 with the announcement of more detailed plans for an elevated dirt fill freeway on the present 101 route, the incorporation movement got the shot in the arm it needed.

Under state law, the highway division could not cut into city streets without the consent of the city council. Thus Novato businessmen, who did not want their town cut in two by a dirt fill freeway, realized they would have to incorporate to fight the state effectively.

They led a successful campaign to incorporate Novato, in January 1960, and the new city was formed.

The first city councilmen, who had a new city with no money and not much idea of how to run one, knew one thing for sure. They were opposed to the state plans for Highway 101, and the new city council promptly let the state know this.

So in July 1960, the state proposed a plan to move the freeway east of the railroad tracks, calling that plan Route A. This was followed rapidly by Routes B through D.

All the plans were put on public display in the Novato Community House in January 1962, but after the public had a chance to look at the proposals, the city council in February voted to reject all of them.

Back to the drawing boards went the state officials and by May 1962, they were up to Route K, which went by Deer Island Lane and out across the flats to join the present highway near the Sportsman's Lodge.

At one point the city council voted in favor of this route, but faced with strong opposition from state engineers, later voted 3-2 to give up the proposal.

Then in September 1962, the state held a second showing of proposed routes, including one which envisioned a depressed below-water-level route along the present highway, with overpasses for city streets.

When the city council voted in November to approve this new idea, an East Novato property owner, Alfred W. Bowman, was angered, believing it would later prove either impossible or too costly to construct below water level and would serve, in the long run, merely as a device to push the freeway through town. Bowman started a recall movement against two city councilmen, M. E. (Babe) Silva and Everett Pozzi.

Then, in a new move, the state highway commission voted to accept a route farther to the east, and Bowman withdrew his recall movement.

But the years slipped by, and although a plan had been settled upon, no bypass was built. Finally in 1967, then Mayor J. Wayne Womack and his fellow councilmen went to Sacramento to ask for a speed-up in the timetable. They were given a polite brush-off.

Finally, in 1971, money was designated for the following year's state budget to buy rights-of-way and design the freeway.

A final threat by conservationists who objected to cuts in hills came to naught in 1972, and contracts were finally awarded for the project.

Vandals Rip Building Site In Petaluma

Weekend vandals did substantial damage to machinery and buildings at a Petaluma construction site, it was discovered yesterday.

Workers returning to the Cambridge Square residential development at Casa Grande Road and Crinella Drive found engine parts ripped from several road graders, rollers and cement mixers parked on the site.

In several cases, workmen found, the vandals had stuffed handfuls of dirt into the engines through oil-filler openings.

Several of the homes under construction at the site also were pillaged, police said. Sheetrock walls were smashed and newly-installed plumbing was ripped apart.

Damage was estimated at more than $1,000 to the buildings and about $400 to the machinery. Apparently no one observed the vandals at work, police said.

Children Shoot Judge, Woman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A municipal court judge and an 18-year-old woman were slightly wounded yesterday by two boys with BB guns.

Judge Gerald J. O'Gara was strolling near his home at Union and Fillmore streets when he was hit in the right wrist. A short time later Karen Mix was struck in the right shoulder.

The young woman declined treatment but the judge was given first aid before going to his chambers in city hall.

maries. Senate candidates can spend eight cents times the voting age population or $100,000 in the primaries and 12 cents or $150,000 in the general election. House candidates are limited to $70,000 in the primaries and $70,000 in the general election.

Other provisions require candidates to establish a central campaign committee; require candidates report contributions and expenditures; ban cash contributions over $100; forbids contributions from foreigners prohibits contributions in another person's name; and treats loans as contributions.

The measure also limits honorariums for elected or appointed officials to $15,000 in a year and no more than $1,000 for a single article or speech; allows state and local employees to participate in federal campaigns unless barred by state law; permits the use of excess campaign funds to defray the expenses of holding public office.

Still On Panel

Tally P. Mastrangelo of Sausalito, Republican nominee for the state Board of Equalization's Third District seat, is vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that he is a former vice chairman, and misspelled his name.

TRIAL

the former president.

"Richard Nixon deceived, misled, lied to and used John Ehrlichman to cover up his own knowledge and activities while publicly stating that John Ehrlichman was one of the finest public servants he had ever known," Frates told the jury.

"He (Nixon) was deliberately witholding information from him — covering up to save his own neck. In simple terms, Mr. Erhlichman had been had by his boss, the President of the United States."

Frates said Ehrlichman's decision to leave the White House was a "forced resignation ... so that heat would be taken off the president and the president standing there knowing that he was the one covering up."

He said the evidence would show that Nixon summoned Ehrlichman to Camp David, Md., prior to his resignation April 30, 1973 "and told him 'John, you have been my conscience, but I didn't follow your advice. It's all my fault. If I'd only followed your advice, we wouldn't be in this situation.'"

Frates also praised the tapes of Nixon's White House conversations, which will be introduced into evidence beginning tomorrow.

Frates said the tapes will show that Ehrlichman repeatedly told Nixon "we've got to let it all hang out" — tell the truth about Watergate. He also stressed that Dean, when he began cooperating with the prosecutors, continually blamed Ehrlichman and others for acts that he himself had committed.

Sirica rejected a motion by defendant Robert C. Mardian's attorney for a directed verdict of acquittal.

In his opening statement, Mardian lawyer David Bress contended his client never should have been indicted because he was only a second-eschelon campaign aide without any policy input, who had "no idea" what was happening.

He also noted that Mardian wrote a six-page memo three days before the Watergate break-in complaining about conditions in the campaign and describing the organization as "a fragmented group of people ... who in the long run will cause more problems than they will solve."

"The tapes may have done some people harm but they're the greatest thing that ever happened to John Ehrlichman," he said. "Contrary to obstructing justice, it was everything but that and the tapes will show that chapter and verse."

He stressed that Nixon and former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, one of the co-defendants in the cover-up, never told Ehrlichman about the secret taping system.

Youngster Hurt In Crosswalk

Peggy Proby of 849 San Anselmo Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition today with scrapes and bruises following the accident at 8:44 a.m. yesterday.

Police said the girl was hit by a vehicle driven by Thomas S. Behel, 24, of 87 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. A large truck obscured his vision, police said.

OBITUARIES

FRITZ ANTON RIEDER

Fritz Anton Rieder of San Rafael died Saturday night at his home at the age of 86, after a long illness. No funeral is planned.

Rieder was born in Meiringen, Switzerland, and came to the U.S. on a sailing ship in the mid-1890s with his family. He lived in Pennsylvania until he moved to New Mexico at the age of 19 for his health.

Rieder became a homesteader near Santa Fe and ranched there most of his life. Retiring from ranching, he worked as an X-ray technician for the state, taking a mobile unit to Indian reservations. A widower, he was the father of Jean Peters and Donald Rieder, both of Santa Fe, and the late Margaret Rieder.

Rieder came to Marin about 10 years ago and moved to Santa Venetia some five years ago. He wrote poetry and read poetry at the Marin Jewish Community Center and often was a guest speaker at San Rafael High School classes.

In addition to his surviving son and daughter, he leaves five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

AMANDA L. MOORE

Amanda L. Moore of Santa Rosa, mother of Marion L. Andreen of San Rafael and sister of Harry Foerstler of Cotati, died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 88.

Born in Windsor, she spent her entire life as a Sonoma County homemaker.

She was a member of St. Eugene's Cathedral in Santa Rosa.

Also surviving are a daughter, Madeline F. Barn of Santa Rosa, a sister, Margaret White of Vallejo and two grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited in her memory at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Lafferty and Smith Colonial Chapel, 4321 Sonoma Highway, Santa Rosa.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the funeral home, and friends may call after 5 p.m. today.

Entombment will be in Calvary Catholic Cemetery, Santa Rosa.

WARREN SMITH

Funeral for Warren H. Smith of Novato will be at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

Smith, 64, died Thursday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was a native of New York and had lived in California 10 years and in Marin for three months. He was an engineer, most recently employed at a missile range in the Marshall Islands.

Smith served with the Navy during World War II and also worked as a diesel operator in Iceland.

He is survived by two daughters, Theresa Gill of Rohnert Park, and Dolores Burns of Virginia Beach, Va.; a sister, Madeline Casseta of Elmira, N.Y., six grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Burial will be private.

MRS. CHRISTIANSON

Alice M. (Sally) Christianson of Petaluma died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 63.

She was a native of Canada who was reared there and in San Francisoc, where she lived until moving to Southern Sonoma seven years ago. Mrs. Christianson, a homemaker, lived at 333½ Liberty Street.

She is survived by her husband of 24 years, Joseph Christianson of Petaluma; two daughters, Carol Sandoval of Petaluma and Barbara McCormick of San Bruno; a brother, Carl Fleischman of San Andreas and six grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma, with the Rev. Carl Young officiating.

Interment will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park. The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

ELYSE SEARLS

Private funeral for Elyse Myers Searls of Greenbrae will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in Oakland.

Mrs. Searls died unexpectedly Friday in Vancouver, B.C., while on a vacation.

She was born and reared in Nevada City, where her father, the late Lester Myers, was manager of the Malakoff Hydraulic Mines, now a state park northeast of Nevada City.

She was the widow of Carroll Searls, a mining company executive. The couple moved to Westchester County, N.Y., in the 1920s, and he commuted to the mining company office in New York City until his death in 1970. Mrs. Searls moved to Greenbrae in 1971.

The couple had no children.

Burial will be at Mountain View Cemetery in Oakland.

150 Sign Petition Against Music

About 150 people signed petitions last night at a Save Mill Valley Association meeting protesting any presentation of live rock music at the Sweetwater or Old Mill taverns in that city.

Diane Scott of the association said that members will attend a Mill Valley City Council meeting Thursday when the question of how much music should be allowed in the bars is to be discussed.

HEALTH

that has taken place in the mental health field in Marin in the past 10 years."

"We therefore urge that Dr. Robert Taylor be dismissed at the earliest possible opportunity and be replaced by a director of mental health. The focus should be on providing treatment for the people in our county who are mentally ill or emotionally disturbed and who cannot afford private care," Dr. White wrote.

The medical society's broadside at Dr. Taylor is the latest round in a long uproar over both the Community Mental Health Services and its parent agency, the county Health and Human Services Department.

Last year the county supervisors formed the superagency covering mental health, public health, welfare and medical services. The directorship of the controversial department is filled temporarily by Donald Sanford, chief aid to Betty L. Presley, who retired in July after one year on the job. (Miss Presley had served 22 years as welfare director before accepting the position.)

The supervisors recently dumped a list of some 60 candidates who have applied for the job and ordered the county administrator's office to find other candidates.

In the meantime, Dr. Taylor serves only as program director for the mental health section of the department and does not have administrative duties.

Members of the county medical society, in the letter signed by Dr. White, urged the supervisors to eliminate the Health and Human Services superagency, which the doctors say "has served only to create confusion, administrative delay and fiscal chaos."

Not only is the mental health program in ruins, the physicians claimed, but also "professional medical judgment no longer significantly imparts medical care at the county level to the degree that the public interest requires."

Dr. White told the Independent-Journal today that "administrative interference" is keeping the medical and public health departments from functioning effectively.

The society is urging that the superagency be replaced with a director of health, who would serve as head of three departments, mental health, public health and medical services. By implication, the doctors indicated the welfare department should be separated.

The director of health should be a physician trained in administration and public health matters, they said.

The medical society board ordered the letter, Dr. White wrote, "in response to the growing crescendo of criticism in the physician community at large concerning the deterioration of health services being offered by the County of Marin."

Meanwhile, Dr. Taylor last month said in a report that the mental health department has made significant gains in treating the mentally ill since a "decentralizing" took place two years ago.

He claimed new centers in various sections of the county have been very effective.

Another problem facing Dr. Taylor is the licensing of the so-called crisis unit at Community Mental Health, currently operating without a state license needed for keeping mental and alcoholic patients overnight.

Although mental health officials have been assuring the Marin Hospital District board, which leases the facilities to Community Mental Health, for some months that a license was forthcoming soon, long delays have taken place.

There is now some doubt among county officials that the unit will be licensed as presently operated.

Hands On School Plans Open House

A back-to-school open house will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the newly opened Hands On school in Mill Valley.

The school, on the grounds of the Mill Valley Methodist Church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, is a nonprofit, fulltime facility for children from ages five to eight with a high-learning potential, according to Elaine Reber, educational director.

Hitchhiker Held After Robbery

An 18-year-old hitchhiker was arrested early today for the alleged robbery of a San Mateo man in the Tennessee Valley area.

According to sheriff's deputies, the victim, Elisasa Reupena, 44, wandered to a home in Tennessee Valley yesterday afternoon in a dazed and beaten condition. He claimed a hitchhiker he picked up in San Francisco robbed him and stole his car.

Reupena was treated for head injuries and a cut chin at Marin General Hospital and was released last night. According to deputies, he had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument.

Using a description from Reupena, Mill Valley police at midnight stopped a hitchhiker at the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

The arrested man, Thomas Joseph Goodwin, of no known address, later was booked by sheriff's deputies at county jail on suspicion of armed robbery, auto theft and possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

Goodwin was held in lieu of $25,000 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

$250, investments and property interests over $1,000, and employment and management posts, held between April 1973 and March 31, 1974.

(It empowers a court to impose a penalty of up to three times the value of any interest an official fails to report. An action to recover such a penalty may be brought by the district attorney, attorney general or any citizen.

(Violation of any provision of the law may lead to forfeiture of office and disqualification from holding office in the future.)

The only other Marin officials failing to file economic statement reports according to the county clerk are John W. Gates, a Corte Madera planning commissioner who suffered a heart attack Sept. 27 and is recovering at Marin General Hospital, and Willard Pittman, former Belvedere city councilman.

Councilmen directed Town Administrator William E. Haden to have a "chat" with Lezzeni on his return to town, to determine what the commissioner's intentions are. "We're going to have to make a decision one way or the other," Haden noted.

The action came as the council decided to expand a list of officials required by the state to file such statements. In addition to state requirements, members of the town design and environmental review board, as well as Building Inspector Thomas A. Klarenbach, must file economic interests statements, councilmen said.

Councilman Priscilla C. Gray, saying filing the statements is "a big pain in the neck," opposed the move. Mrs. Gray contended it is already hard to get residents to apply for seats on the board, and said requiring statements would merely be harassing them with this big brother."

The council majority, however, agreed with Glenn Meagher, who said the statements are a "good thing for anyone . . . whose intentions might be questioned."

Haden had recommended that Klarenbach and design board members not be compelled to file statements, saying such action would "work a hardship" on them.

to any plan that would install a concrete divider without expanding Doyle Drive to four lanes in both directions. (Currently, movable dividers give the road an eight-lane capacity, by shifting the barriers to accommodate the heavy commute flow.)

According to Thomas L. Lammers, state director of transportation of the San Francisco district, the new proposals are acceptable, but not ideal. Traffic would be shifted from Doyle to other city streets, causing congestion elsewhere, he said.

No New Indictments Seen In Watergate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says that no more indictments are expected in the Watergate affair.

"The people who have been indicted are all the ones that will be indicted," Saxbe told newsmen before a speech here last night.

along the route, the state Division of Highways announced its plans ultimately were for an eight-lane highway through the unincorporated area of Novato.

Three earlier attempts by some residents to incorporate Novato had failed, but when the state highway department came out in 1959 with the announcement of more detailed plans for an elevated dirt fill freeway on the present 101 route, the incorporation movement got the shot in the arm it needed.

Under state law, the highway division could not cut into city streets without the consent of the city council. Thus Novato businessmen, who did not want their town cut in two by a dirt fill freeway, realized they would have to incorporate to fight the state effectively.

They led a successful campaign to incorporate Novato, in January 1960, and the new city was formed.

The first city councilmen, who had a new city with no money and not much idea of how to run one, knew one thing for sure. They were opposed to the state plans for Highway 101, and the new city council promptly let the state know this.

So in July 1960, the state proposed a plan to move the freeway east of the railroad tracks, calling that plan Route A. This was followed rapidly by Routes B through D.

All the plans were put on public display in the Novato Community House in January 1962, but after the public had a chance to look at the proposals, the city council in February voted to reject all of them.

Back to the drawing boards went the state officials and by May 1962, they were up to Route K, which went by Deer Island Lane and out across the flats to join the present highway near the Sportsman's Lodge.

At one point the city council voted in favor of this route, but faced with strong opposition from state engineers, later voted 3-2 to give up the proposal.

Then in September 1962, the state held a second showing of proposed routes, including one which envisioned a depressed below-water-level route along the present highway, with overpasses for city streets.

When the city council voted in November to approve this new idea, an East Novato property owner, Alfred W. Bowman, was angered, believing it would later prove either impossible or too costly to construct below water level and would serve, in the long run, merely as a device to push the freeway through town. Bowman started a recall movement against two city councilmen, M. E. (Babe) Silva and Everett Pozzi.

Then, in a new move, the state highway commission voted to accept a route farther to the east, and Bowman withdrew his recall movement.

But the years slipped by, and although a plan had been settled upon, no bypass was built. Finally in 1967, then Mayor J. Wayne Womack and his fellow councilmen went to Sacramento to ask for a speed-up in the timetable. They were given a polite brush-off.

Finally, in 1971, money was designated for the following year's state budget to buy rights-of-way and design the freeway.

A final threat by conservationists who objected to cuts in hills came to naught in 1972, and contracts were finally awarded for the project.

Vandals Rip Building Site In Petaluma

Weekend vandals did substantial damage to machinery and buildings at a Petaluma construction site, it was discovered yesterday.

Workers returning to the Cambridge Square residential development at Casa Grande Road and Crinella Drive found engine parts ripped from several road graders, rollers and cement mixers parked on the site.

In several cases, workmen found, the vandals had stuffed handfuls of dirt into the engines through oil-filler openings.

Several of the homes under construction at the site also were pillaged, police said. Sheetrock walls were smashed and newly-installed plumbing was ripped apart.

Damage was estimated at more than $1,000 to the buildings and about $400 to the machinery. Apparently no one observed the vandals at work, police said.

Children Shoot Judge, Woman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A municipal court judge and an 18-year-old woman were slightly wounded yesterday by two boys with BB guns.

Judge Gerald J. O'Gara was strolling near his home at Union and Fillmore streets when he was hit in the right wrist. A short time later Karen Mix was struck in the right shoulder.

The young woman declined treatment but the judge was given first aid before going to his chambers in city hall.

maries. Senate candidates can spend eight cents times the voting age population or $100,000 in the primaries and 12 cents or $150,000 in the general election. House candidates are limited to $70,000 in the primaries and $70,000 in the general election.

Other provisions require candidates to establish a central campaign committee; require candidates report contributions and expenditures; ban cash contributions over $100; forbids contributions from foreigners prohibits contributions in another person's name; and treats loans as contributions.

The measure also limits honorariums for elected or appointed officials to $15,000 in a year and no more than $1,000 for a single article or speech; allows state and local employees to participate in federal campaigns unless barred by state law; permits the use of excess campaign funds to defray the expenses of holding public office.

the former president.

"Richard Nixon deceived, misled, lied to and used John Ehrlichman to cover up his own knowledge and activities while publicly stating that John Ehrlichman was one of the finest public servants he had ever known," Frates told the jury.

"He (Nixon) was deliberately witholding information from him — covering up to save his own neck. In simple terms, Mr. Erhlichman had been had by his boss, the President of the United States."

Frates said Ehrlichman's decision to leave the White House was a "forced resignation ... so that heat would be taken off the president and the president standing there knowing that he was the one covering up."

He said the evidence would show that Nixon summoned Ehrlichman to Camp David, Md., prior to his resignation April 30, 1973 "and told him 'John, you have been my conscience, but I didn't follow your advice. It's all my fault. If I'd only followed your advice, we wouldn't be in this situation.' "

Frates also praised the tapes of Nixon's White House conversations, which will be introduced into evidence beginning tomorrow.

Frates said the tapes will show that Ehrlichman repeatedly told Nixon "we've got to let it all hang out" — tell the truth about Watergate. He also stressed that Dean, when he began cooperating with the prosecutors, continually blamed Ehrlichman and others for acts that he himself had committed.

Sirica rejected a motion by defendant Robert C. Mardian's attorney for a directed verdict of acquittal.

In his opening statement, Mardian lawyer David Bress contended his client never should have been indicted because he was only a second-eschelon campaign aide without any policy input, who had "no idea" what was happening.

He also noted that Mardian wrote a six-page memo three days before the Watergate break-in complaining about conditions in the campaign and describing the organization as "a fragmented group of people ... who in the long run will cause more problems than they will solve."

"The tapes may have done some people harm but they're the greatest thing that ever happened to John Ehrlichman," he said. "Contrary to obstructing justice, it was everything but that and the tapes will show that chapter and verse."

He stressed that Nixon and former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, one of the co-defendants in the cover-up, never told Ehrlichman about the secret taping system.

Youngster Hurt In Crosswalk

A 9-year-old San Anselmo girl escaped serious injury yesterday when hit by a pickup truck while in a crosswalk near Isabel Cook School.

Peggy Proby of 849 San Anselmo Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition today with scrapes and bruises following the accident at 8:44 a.m. yesterday.

Police said the girl was hit by a vehicle driven by Thomas S. Behel, 24, of 87 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. A large truck obscured his vision, police said.

OBITUARIES

FRITZ ANTON RIEDER

Fritz Anton Rieder of San Rafael died Saturday night at his home at the age of 86, after a long illness. No funeral is planned.

Rieder was born in Meiringen, Switzerland, and came to the U.S. on a sailing ship in the mid-1890s with his family. He lived in Pennsylvania until he moved to New Mexico at the age of 19 for his health.

Rieder became a homesteader near Santa Fe and ranched there most of his life. Retiring from ranching, he worked as an X-ray technician for the state, taking a mobile unit to Indian reservations. A widower, he was the father of Jean Peters and Donald Rieder, both of Santa Fe, and the late Margaret Rieder.

Rieder came to Marin about 10 years ago and moved to Santa Venetia some five years ago. He wrote poetry and read poetry at the Marin Jewish Community Center and often was a guest speaker at San Rafael High School classes.

In addition to his surviving son and daughter, he leaves five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

AMANDA L. MOORE

Amanda L. Moore of Santa Rosa, mother of Marion L. Andreen of San Rafael and sister of Harry Foerstler of Cotati, died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 88.

Born in Windsor, she spent her entire life as a Sonoma County homemaker.

She was a member of St. Eugene's Cathedral in Santa Rosa.

Also surviving are a daughter, Madeline F. Barn of Santa Rosa, a sister, Margaret White of Vallejo and two grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited in her memory at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Lafferty and Smith Colonial Chapel, 4321 Sonoma Highway, Santa Rosa.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the funeral home, and friends may call after 5 p.m. today.

Entombment will be in Calvary Catholic Cemetery, Santa Rosa.

WARREN SMITH

Funeral for Warren H. Smith of Novato will be at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

Smith, 64, died Thursday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was a native of New York and had lived in California 10 years and in Marin for three months. He was an engineer, most recently employed at a missile range in the Marshall Islands.

Smith served with the Navy during World War II and also worked as a diesel operator in Iceland.

He is survived by two daughters, Theresa Gill of Rohnert Park, and Dolores Burns of Virginia Beach, Va.; a sister, Madeline Casseta of Elmira, N.Y., six grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Burial will be private.

MRS. CHRISTIANSON

Alice M. (Sally) Christianson of Petaluma died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 63.

She was a native of Canada who was reared there and in San Francisoc, where she lived until moving to Southern Sonoma seven years ago. Mrs. Christianson, a homemaker, lived at 333½ Liberty Street.

She is survived by her husband of 24 years, Joseph Christianson of Petaluma; two daughters, Carol Sandoval of Petaluma and Barbara McCormick of San Bruno; a brother, Carl Fleischman of San Andreas and six grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma, with the Rev. Carl Young officiating.

Interment will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park. The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

ELYSE SEARLS

Private funeral for Elyse Myers Searls of Greenbrae will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in Oakland.

Mrs. Searls died unexpectedly Friday in Vancouver, B.C., while on a vacation.

She was born and reared in Nevada City, where her father, the late Lester Myers, was manager of the Malakoff Hydraulic Mines, now a state park northeast of Nevada City.

She was the widow of Carroll Searls, a mining company executive. The couple moved to Westchester County, N.Y., in the 1920s, and he commuted to the mining company office in New York City until his death in 1970. Mrs. Searls moved to Greenbrae in 1971.

The couple had no children.

Burial will be at Mountain View Cemetery in Oakland.

150 Sign Petition Against Music

About 150 people signed petitions last night at a Save Mill Valley Association meeting protesting any presentation of live rock music at the Sweetwater or Old Mill taverns in that city.

Diane Scott of the association said that members will attend a Mill Valley City Council meeting Thursday when the question of how much music should be allowed in the bars is to be discussed.

High Court Shuns Heart Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to interfere in the dismissal of a malpractice suit filed against Dr. Denton A. Cooley by the survivor of history's first recipient of an artificial heart.

The justices in the first day of the Supreme Court' 1974-1975 session declined to hear appeals in a suit brought by Shirley Karp, wife of Haskell Karp, who died after receiving an artificial heart.

Mrs. Karp claimed that Cooley was negligent in recommending the transplant because the operation was still too experimental.

Karp was the first man in history to receive a wholly artificial heart. Others had received the hearts of persons who had died.

The mechanical heart kept Karp alive for about 64 hours in April, 1969, until a donor heart could be found and implanted. Karp died 32 hours after the donor heart was installed.

Mrs. Karp's suit was dismissed without going to a jury on grounds there was insufficient evidence to prove negligence, fraud or uninformed consent were fostered by Cooley. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the dismissal.

On other matters today the court:

Dismissed a challenge to an Indiana prostitution law on grounds it unconstitutionally applied only to women.

Refused to order a jury trial to decide whether black actor Stepin Fetchit was defamed when a television documentary said he portrayed "the tradition of the lazy, stupid, crap-shooting, chicken stealing idiot."

Agreed to hear the appeal of a man who was sentenced to five years in prison for threatening that he would beat up then-President Richard M. Nixon. Defense lawyers contended the man was engaging in "political hyperbole" protected by the First Amendment because he clearly had no real intent to fight Nixon.

Let stand an order by a lower court forbidding the Food Fair chain from violating the Equal Pay Act in any of its nearly 70 outlets in 16 states.

Gave 12 Atlantic Coast states 45 days to reply to a recommendation that the United States has exclusive drilling rights for oil in the Atlantic outside the three-mile limit.

Refused to block an order requiring the Milwaukee County General Hospital to provide abortions by staff doctors with no conscientious scruples against them.

Ordered arguments on whether Utah or the United States has title to thousands of acres of mineral rich mud flats surrounding the Great Salt Lake.

Refused to prevent the dismissal of a Maryland public school teacher because he was a homosexual.

Agreed to decide if federal courts can block subpoenas issued by Congress on the ground they threaten constitutional rights of individuals and political organizations.

Woman Hurt After Crash

Jane L. McCoin, 28, of San Francisco was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple fractures of the leg received yesterday in a car-motorcycle accident on the Fairfax-Bolinas Road.

The Highway Patrol said she was a passenger on an eastbound motorcycle driven by her husband, Ronald, 28.

Officers said the cycle and a westbound auto collided. McCoin told the highway patrol that the auto was traveling in his lane when the accident occurred at about 12:45 p.m.

Schwartz Heads Recreation Panel

Schwartz, 33, is a civil engineer for the Marin County Department of Public Works.

He lives at 330 Pinewood Drive with his wife, Lyn. The couple has two children.

The commission last night also decided to continue meeting on the second Monday of each month in the community center.

LYNN O. TAYLOR
New president

Lynn Taylor Will Lead Homeowners

Lynn O. Taylor is new president of the Marinwood Association.

Mrs. Taylor, 30, is a native of Los Angeles. She graduated from the University of Arizona with a bachelor's degree in education and earned a law degree from San Francisco Law School.

She is a local attorney with a private practice at 40 Mitchell Boulevard in San Rafael.

She formerly worked as a first grade teacher at Cathedral School for Boys in San Francisco. She is also vice president of Las Gallinas Valley Presidents' Council.

She said that the Marinwood Association is currently surveying the community to determine if residents favor an ordinance controlling campers and trailers in the community.

She said some association members have complained that the area "looks like a trailer camp" because some residents park the vehicles on the streets and in driveways.

She lives at 42 Unionstone Drive with her husband, Bruce, and their two children.

Other officers of the association are Robert S. MacDonald, vice president; Leo Martinez, recording secretary; Vanetta Babbich, corresponding secretary, and Russ Bernardini, treasurer.

Two Companies Seek Thermal Power Shares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Aquitaine Co. of Canada, Ltd., and Natomas Co. of San Francisco have made new bids for control of Thermal Power Co., which is engaged in producing geothermal steam in Sonoma and Lake counties for Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

Aquitaine, of Calgary, offered $16 a share for all of Thermal's shares or a minimum of 840,000 shares, which would give it 51 per cent.

Aquitaine had offered $13 a share for Thermal Power in September. Union Oil of California then bid $16 a share for Thermal. But both Aquitaine and Union withdrew their offers after Natomas and Thermal announced an agreement for the sale of 1.2 million shares to Natomas at $16.

Fairfax Board Of Review Faces Abolition; Inactive Since Orr

The Fairfax Town Council last night moved to abolish the town Board of Review, a group that last convened in 1971 to consider the firing of former police chief James R. Orr. (Another Fairfax Town Council story, page 1)

Councilmen told Town Mgr. William E. Haden to study a proposal replacing the quasi-judicial unit with a hearing officer, as well as a proposal to cut the board's power.

Haden was told to bring both proposals to city employee groups for review before recommending a course of action.

The council's move to boot the board came as Haden suggested the council strip the board of its power. He noted the unit has under town code final power to "sustain, revoke or modify the suspension, demotion, dismissal, reduction in pay or other disciplinary act" brought by the city manager or council against employees.

"In effect these sections (of town code) make the board's actions completely autonomous and provide for a potential conflict between this board and the city council," Haden noted.

Councilmen, however, appeared to embrace a proposal by Councilman Albert E. Gately that the board be abolished outright and replaced with a hearing officer.

"You shouldn't have this body having this authority," Gately said, saying that the six-month Orr hearings demonstrated the board "is not a very efficient way to operate at all."

Gately's proposal was endorsed by Town Atty. Wallace S. Meyers. "The hearings become political things. . . and sometimes get far afield," he said.

The firing of Orr by former Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe was upheld by the board of review after 39 tumultuous hearings that stretched from November, 1971 to April, 1972.

Fairfax Sets Town Cleanup Dates

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will conduct its annual free pickup of debris on regular routes between Oct. 28 and Nov. 1, the town council said last night.

The service is limited to seven garbage cans of debris per customer, and to local residents who have paid past garbage bills, the council said.

Clippings should be no longer than five feet in length and tied in bundles or boxed. Furniture and remodeling materials will not be collected.

Debris boxes will be located in the town ballfield on Nov. 2 for residents to drop off refuse.

The Fairfax Town Council Also:

STREAMLINING — Approved a consent calendar, endorsing with one motion a number of routine items. The consent calendar is part of an effort by Town Admin. William E. Haden to streamline council meetings.

CHURCH — Said Christ The Victor Lutheran Church may proceed with foundation work on a structure at the church site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, saying a local building moratorium will be lifted soon and noting that the rainy season is approaching.

LEAGUE — Said Mayor Frank R. Egger will be the city's voting representative at the annual League of California Cities meeting in Los Angeles Oct.20 through 23.

USE PERMIT — Put over consideration of a use permit and variance sought by Murray Settlage for a structure at 85 Ridge Road.

FONG — Continued an appeal by Tom Fong Jr. of denial by the design and environmental review board of his bid to retain a nonconforming sign gracing the Fairfax Market.

FAIRFAX — Said the old town greeting sign at the town parkade will be relocated and replaced by a new redwood sign designed by artist Gerald Stinski.

DANCE — Approved new security regulations for dances held at the Fairfax Pavilion, and approved a Halloween dance for 7th and 8th graders at the pavilion on Oct. 25.

FAIRFAX THEATER — Said the town will pay $250 to repair chuckholes on the Fairfax Theater parking lot, site of free commuter parking during the daytime.

WIRING — Told Haden to explore precise costs for rewiring the aging electrical system of the Fairfax Women's Club. Haden estimated the job would cost up to $2,000.

RECREATION — Decided the town needs a part-time recreation director to "plan and administer" local recreatio programs for $5 per hour, 10 hours per week.

TAMALPAIS ROAD — Said Tamalpais Road will remain one-way from Upper Scenic to Mountain View Junction.

GARBAGE — Adopted boosts in monthly garbage pickup fees of 30 cents and 35 cents, and said Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will pay $500 to Survival, Inc. since the recycling firm has agreed to "maintain and protect" the garbage firm's city franchise.

RESIDENCY — Said members of the Fairfax Design and Environmental Review Board must be residents of the town.

VACANCIES — Announced a vacancy on the planning commission, the design and environmental review board, and as town liaison to the county human rights commission, and called for applicants.

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed James Harvey and Steve McQuillan to the parks and recreation commission, and appointed freshman planning commissioner Glenn Meagher to the town tree committee.

FAIRFAX SALE — Announced surplus town property will be sold and auctioned at noon Nov. 10 at the city firehouse.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to discuss litigation. City Atty. Wallace S. Meyers said no action would be taken at the session since he merely sought a "consensus of opinion" on a suit brought against the city by Max Friedman.

GRYBEL — Adjourned in memory of planning commissioner John A. Grybel, who died recently of cancer.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Council Acts To Lift Ban On Building

A moratorium on new construction in Fairfax which has halted issuance of building permits since last April 9 will be lifted at 8 p.m. tomorrow, town councilmen said last night.

The council said the ban will be lifted following a "workshop session" needed to draft regulations assuring that permits issued will be in line with provisions of the city's new open space plan.

The council last April clamped a moratorium on new development after learning the town had violated state law by failing to adopt an open space plan. The initial 90-day moratorium was later extended.

The town council adopted an open space plan on Oct. 1 and has been able to lift the ban on permits since that time, according to Town Administrator William E. Haden.

Councilmen set tomorrow's special meeting to iron out new regulations to ensure that new construction complies with the open space plan.

The ban virtually halted new construction in Fairfax, aside from projects already under way.

Teller Defends Nuclear Efforts

DENVER (UPI) — Edward Teller, known as the father of the hydrogen bomb, says despite the danger of radiation in underground nuclear projects, the nation must continue its efforts to develop alternative energy supplies.

"We can't have delays when we are fighting for our collective lives," Teller said yesterday in a speech at the University of Colorado Medical Center. "We are all scared — overly scared — of radiation. If a little is detected, we get nervous."

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., who joined Teller on the speaker's platform, spoke against future nuclear projects without the consent of voters, an issue that will be listed on the Colorado November election ballot.

Mrs. Roth Will Abandon Estate

WOODSIDE (UPI) — Lurline Matson Roth, daughter of a steampship line tycoon, is abandoning Filoli, her 750-acre estate on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Her son, William Matson Roth of Ross, said yesterday she had purchased a home in Hillsborough because of the large size of the showplace estate.

He added that he had been "anxious about her, living in that big barn of a house by herself."

Filoli, which has a Georgian brick manor house, was built in 1916 by William B. Bourn, president of the Spring Valley Water Co. and purchased by Mrs. Roth's husband in 1936.

Her husband, William P. Roth, was once president of the Matson Navigation Co. He died in 1953 at 83 years.

VIRGINIA M. PEDERSEN
Hospital candidate

Virginia M. Pedersen Eyes Board

Virginia M. Pedersen of Fairfax, a registered nurse who worked 20 years in managerial positions at Marin General Hospital, is one of seven candidates for three posts on the Marin Hospital District board.

Mrs. Pedersen pointed out that the present board is composed of five persons (three of whom are running for re-election) who were appointed to their first terms. "I think it's time the public had a chance to elect a board," she said.

Mrs. Pedersen has termed the present board a "mutual admiration society" and said she believes it is "ridiculous" to force the county to pay for the realignment of Bon Air Road at this time.

(The project, to cost more than $400,000 is being done so that a parking lot can be placed adjacent to the hospital and in view of proposed expansion of Marin General.)

Mrs. Pedersen retired from the Marin General Hospital staff last year, having served as nursing office assistant, executive housekeeper and manager of the hospital laundry.

"I am thoroughly familiar with the operation and management of Marin General Hospital . . . and I have been directly connected with hospitals in either a teaching or managerial capacity for over 27 years . . ." she said.

"I believe that the hospital and the affairs of the district should be run efficiently and effectively in the best interest of the citizenry for the purpose of meeting the medical needs, as well as the comforts of all members of the community who find it necessary to become patients at Marin General Hospital," Mrs. Pedersen said.

Mrs. Pedersen is a graduate of the University of Virginia. She is married to Jorgen Pedersen and is the mother of four children.

The family home is at 588 Cascade Drive.

She is a member of the Hi Twelvettes of Marin and the Chi Omega Alumnae.

Children's Instinct Upheld By A Doctor

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — Children who refuse to wash their ears may be right, according to Dr. Ruldolf Link of the Hamburg Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic.

Link told the newspaper Hamburg Morgenpost "Ear wax is not dirt. It protects the drum of the ear. There is no place for soap and water in these sensitive organs.

Lucas Valley Plan Receives Approval

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday approved a master plan for a 472-unit development on the Luiz and Grady ranches in Lucas Valley. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

The commission accepted, with minor changes, a staff report favoring the development, subject to several conditions. The vote was 6-1, with commissioner Gloria Duncan opposed.

Mrs. Duncan said she would not now approve the development because it had not been considered by the City-County Planning Council of Marin. The council was to have taken up the matter at its meeting last week, but that session was cancelled, lacking a quorum. A motion by Mrs. Duncan to postpone commission action until the council has reviewed the development died for lack of a second.

Planning staff recommended approving the master plan subject to a number of conditions dealing with preserving Miller Creek, roads, traffic, availability of water, sewage and fire protection, landscaping, bike paths, and other.

Debate yesterday centered on the recommendation to extend Idylberry Road to the west to connect with roads planned for the development site, and on the width of a setback that should be required for units fronting Miller Creek.

Several members of the audience, including a representative of the Lucas Valley Homeowner's Association, told commissioners that they didn't want Idylberry extended, because doing so would increase traffic and imperil children in the area.

But, assured by county officials that extending the road was both necessary for emergency vehicles and desirable for convenience, commissioners voted 4-3 (Gilbert P. Murphy, Jerry Friedman and Mrs. Duncan opposed) to require road extension.

Edmond Kagi, a spokesman for Sasaki, Walker Associates, developer, told commissioners that in order to set the units sufficiently back from Lucas Valley Road, they should be nearer the creek than the legal 50-foot creek setback allows. Creek setback should be cut to 30 feet for this project, he said.

Commissioner Murphy supported the idea, but others on the commission agreed that if a large road setback was desirable, it should be done by paring units, not creekside space.

The council approved without comment a staff recommendation that 15 per cent of the townhouse and apartment dwellings be reserved for moderate-income families and with a price tag the equivalent of $32,000 to $36,000 in 1974 dollars.

The master plan provides for the units on 244 of the 1,615 acres of the two ranches, which are located on the north side of Lucas Valley Road below Big Rock. The rest of the acreage remains open space.

Forty single-family residences, 296 townhouses and 136 garden apartments, plus recreational facilities and a fire station are planned.

Waterman No Longer Hospital Candidate

J. Scott Waterman, a law enforcement officer who lives in Petaluma, has withdrawn as a candidate for the Petaluma Hospital District board in the Nov. 5 election. His name will still appear on the ballot, however, because the voting lists had already been printed when he withdrew.

7 WAYS TO PLUG FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION.

You'll save energy if you follow these suggestions:
1. Turn off all lights that are not essential.
2. Lower your furnace thermostat to 68 degrees.
3. Use full loads in dishwashers and clothes dryers.
4. Set your water heater to "normal" or 140 degrees.
5. Turn off TV sets when they're not being watched.
6. Defrost your refrigerator before frost becomes 1/4" thick. Thick frost reduces your refrigerator's cooling ability and makes it run inefficiently.
7. Be sure your range and oven are turned off when not in use.
These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

Cotati Plans Crackdown On Signs

A crackdown on illegally-posted business signs began last night in Cotati as planning commissioners recommended that the city council give nonconforming sign owners 30 days to shape up.

The commission recommended a zoning ordinance amendment which would enable the city to remove the signs if owners themselves refuse to act within a 30-day period.

The problem, according to a spokesman for the planning body, is that residents have in a number of cases erected signs without first seeking city approval of their design, location and size.

In a related move, the planning commission notified several businessmen who had applied for approval on existing signs that their signs would not be approved until after modifications requested by the commission's design review committee.

The planning commission also recommended to the council that the zoning ordinance be amended to allow ambulance dispatching offices as permitted uses in commercial zones and as conditional uses in residential districts.

WHEREAS, said Engineer of Work did, on the 5th day of August, 1974, file with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael an Amended Engineer's Report and said City Council called for public bids for the doing of the work without the levee to be submitted to the City Clerk on the 19th day of September, 1974; and

WHEREAS, bids were received on said date which bids were in excess of the Amended Engineer's Estimate of Cost of the work; and

WHEREAS, on the 7th day of October, 1974, said Engineer of Work filed a Second Amended Engineer's Report setting forth increased costs of the work to be done, an increase in the total assessment to be levied, and an increase in individual assessments to be levied as a result of said increased costs;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, and this Council hereby finds:

1. That the Second Amended Engineer's Report made and filed by the Engineer of Work on the 7th day of October, 1974, sets forth the increased cost of doing the work, the increase in the total amount of the assessment to be levied, and the increase in the amount of individual assessments to be levied.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Monday, the 4th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, located at 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place for hearing protests with relation to the proposed increase in total assessment to be levied; and the increase in the individual assessments to be levied; that any person interested in objecting to said increases may file protest in writing with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael at or before the hour fixed herein for hearing thereon; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael be, and she is hereby, directed to publish this resolution pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code of the State of California, said resolution to be published at least ten (10) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said resolution of the proposed increased assessment shall be mailed, postage prepaid, to all persons owning real property to be assessed whose names and addresses appear upon the last equalized assessment roll for taxes, or as known to the City Clerk, said notices to be mailed at least twenty (20) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the finding of the City Council that these proceedings or changes in the cost of the work and assessments are being taken in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 4.5, Division 12 of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

★★★★★★★★★

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof held on the 7th day of October, 1974, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: Councilmen Jensen, Miskimen & Mulryan

NOES: Councilmen - None

ABSENT: Councilmen Nixon & Mayor Bettini

Fairfax Sets Town Cleanup Dates

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will conduct its annual free pickup of debris on regular routes between Oct. 28 and Nov. 1, the town council said last night.

The service is limited to seven garbage cans of debris per customer, and to local residents who have paid past garbage bills, the council said.

Clippings should be no longer than five feet in length and tied in bundles or boxed. Furniture and remodeling materials will not be collected.

Debris boxes will be located in the town ballfield on Nov. 2 for residents to drop off refuse.

The Fairfax Town Council Also:

CHURCH — Said Christ The Victor Lutheran Church may proceed with foundation work on a structure at the church site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, saying a local building moratorium will be lifted soon and noting that the rainy season is approaching.

LEAGUE — Said Mayor Frank R. Egger will be the city's voting representative at the annual League of California Cities meeting in Los Angeles Oct.20 through 23.

USE PERMIT — Put over consideration of a use permit and variance sought by Murray Settlage for a structure at 85 Ridge Road.

FONG — Continued an appeal by Tom Fong Jr. of denial by the design and environmental review board of his bid to retain a nonconforming sign gracing the Fairfax Market.

FAIRFAX — Said the old town greeting sign at the town parkade will be relocated and replaced by a new redwood sign designed by artist Gerald Stinski.

DANCE — Approved new security regulations for dances held at the Fairfax Pavilion, and approved a Halloween dance for 7th and 8th graders at the pavilion on Oct. 25.

FAIRFAX THEATER — Said the town will pay $250 to repair chuckholes on the Fairfax Theater parking lot, site of free commuter parking during the daytime.

WIRING — Told Haden to explore precise costs for rewiring the aging electrical system of the Fairfax Women's Club. Haden estimated the job would cost up to $2,000.

RECREATION — Decided the town needs a part-time recreation director to "plan and administer" local recreatio programs for $5 per hour, 10 hours per week.

TAMALPAIS ROAD — Said Tamalpais Road will remain one-way from Upper Scenic to Mountain View Junction.

GARBAGE — Adopted boosts in monthly garbage pickup fees of 30 cents and 35 cents, and said Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will pay $500 to Survival, Inc. since the recycling firm has agreed to "maintain and protect" the garbage firm's city franchise.

RESIDENCY — Said members of the Fairfax Design and Environmental Review Board must be residents of the town.

VACANCIES — Announced a vacancy on the planning commission, the design and environmental review board, and as town liaison to the county human rights commission, and called for applicants.

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed James Harvey and Steve McQuillan to the parks and recreation commission, and appointed freshman planning commissioner Glenn Meagher to the town tree committee.

FAIRFAX SALE — Announced surplus town property will be sold and auctioned at noon Nov. 10 at the city firehouse.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to discuss litigation. City Atty. Wallace S. Meyers said no action would be taken at the session since he merely sought a "consensus of opinion" on a suit brought against the city by Max Friedman.

GRYBEL — Adjourned in memory of planning commissioner John A. Grybel, who died recently of cancer.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Council Acts To Lift Ban On Building

A moratorium on new construction in Fairfax which has halted issuance of building permits since last April 9 will be lifted at 8 p.m. tomorrow, town councilmen said last night.

The council said the ban will be lifted following a "workshop session" needed to draft regulations assuring that permits issued will be in line with provisions of the city's new open space plan.

The council last April clamped a moratorium on new development after learning the town had violated state law by failing to adopt an open space plan. The initial 90-day moratorium was later extended.

The town council adopted an open space plan on Oct. 1 and has been able to lift the ban on permits since that time, according to Town Administrator William E. Haden.

Councilmen set tomorrow's special meeting to iron out new regulations to ensure that new construction complies with the open space plan.

The ban virtually halted new construction in Fairfax, aside from projects already under way.

Mrs. Roth Will Abandon Estate

WOODSIDE (UPI) — Lurline Matson Roth, daughter of a steampship line tycoon, is abandoning Filoli, her 750-acre estate on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Her son, William Matson Roth of Ross, said yesterday she had purchased a home in Hillsborough because of the large size of the showplace estate.

He added that he had been "anxious about her, living in that big barn of a house by herself."

Filoli, which has a Georgian brick manor house, was built in 1916 by William B. Bourn, president of the Spring Valley Water Co. and purchased by Mrs. Roth's husband in 1936.

Her husband, William P. Roth, was once president of the Matson Navigation Co. He died in 1953 at 83 years.

Teller Defends Nuclear Efforts

DENVER (UPI) — Edward Teller, known as the father of the hydrogen bomb, says despite the danger of radiation in underground nuclear projects, the nation must continue its efforts to develop alternative energy supplies.

"We can't have delays when we are fighting for our collective lives," Teller said yesterday in a speech at the University of Colorado Medical Center. "We are all scared — overly scared — of radiation. If a little is detected, we get nervous."

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., who joined Teller on the speaker's platform, spoke against future nuclear projects without the consent of voters, an issue that will be listed on the Colorado November election ballot.

Fairfax Board Of Review Faces Abolition; Inactive Since Orr

The Fairfax Town Council last night moved to abolish the town Board of Review, a group that last convened in 1971 to consider the firing of former police chief James R. Orr. (Another Fairfax Town Council story, page 1)

Councilmen told Town Mgr. William E. Haden to study a proposal replacing the quasi-judicial unit with a hearing officer, as well as a proposal to cut the board's power.

Haden was told to bring both proposals to city employee groups for review before recommending a course of action.

The council's move to boot the board came as Haden suggested the council strip the board of its power. He noted the unit has under town code final power to "sustain, revoke or modify the suspension, demotion, dismissal, reduction in pay or other disciplinary act" brought by the city manager or council against employees.

"In effect these sections (of town code) make the board's actions completely autonomous and provide for a potential conflict between this board and the city council," Haden noted.

Councilmen, however, appeared to embrace a proposal by Councilman Albert E. Gately that the board be abolished outright and replaced with a hearing officer.

"You shouldn't have this body having this authority," Gately said, saying that the six-month Orr hearings demonstrated the board "is not a very efficient way to operate at all."

Gately's proposal was endorsed by Town Atty. Wallace S. Meyers. "The hearings become political things. . . and sometimes get far afield," he said.

The firing of Orr by former Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe was upheld by the board of review after 39 tumultuous hearings that stretched from November, 1971 to April, 1972.

Four Local Ballot Measures Overlap

Four local measures which will appear on Nov. 5 election ballots in parts of Marin are somewhat tied up together, two of them inextricably.

These are Measures A, B, E, and F.

MEASURE A calls for formation of a county service area for fire protection embracing several parcels of uncorporated territory adjacent to San Rafael: Santa Venetia, Northbridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, some uplands of Sun Valley, California Park, Country Club, Bayside Acres, Knocknaboul Way, and portions of McNear's Point.

Measure B calls for a 71-cent tax rate for the newly created county service area, which is an increase of 24 cents above the levy now paid by residents there for county fire protection.

Measure E calls for annexation of Country Club to the City of San Rafael.

Measure F calls for annexation of Knocknaboul Way to the city.

ALL THE AREAS which Measure A would include in the new county service area have in the past depended largely on San Rafael for fire protection response under an informal "mutual aid" agreement between city and county fire departments. However, the city council has ordered that city fire trucks cease responding to outside calls until a county truck has arrived at the fire scene and called for help.

Only county fire equipment for fighting structural fires in the area is a single pumper truck, ordinarily stationed in Santa Venetia but now being kept at its operator's home on Villa Avenue in San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, the county is pledged to build a new firehouse atop Puerto Suello Hill for that truck and an additional pumper truck, and to staff it with three firemen.

MUCH OF THE assessed valuation in the proposed county service area is in Country Club. If Country Club residents vote for annexation to San Rafael (Measure E), the 21-cent additional tax rate authorized by Measure B would be insufficient to provide the firehouse and truck.

The county then would have to either (1) add money from countywide tax revenues, or (2) hold another tax rate election, calling for a higher rate.

Country Club annexation was abandoned by the city council in face of a protest representing a majority of the assessed valuation in the area. But it was put on the ballot as a result of a court ruling that such a protest could not block the vote.

IF COUNTRY CLUB were annexed to San Rafael, its residents would pay neither the existing 47-cent county "structural" fire tax nor the proposed 71-cent county service area tax. Neither would they pay 24.5 cents county library tax as they now must do. Instead, they would pay the city tax — 92 cents to cover all city services.

The Knocknaboul Way area, an island within the Terra Linda annexation, represents only a small part of the proposed county service area, so its vote to annex to San Rafael would not upset the tax calculations in Measure B. The tax implications there are the same as for Country Club.

We believe residents of Country Club and Knocknaboul Way would serve themselves best by voting to annex to San Rafael. If they do not do that, they should vote for Measures A and B as at least a step toward better fire protection.

The same probably applies to the other areas included in Measure A, but they have no annexation proposal on the ballot this time.

Kissing Time

We aren't too sure what Irish gorse is like. But it can't be very different from English gorse or Sonoma gorse or Marin gorse, orangish-yellow broomlike flowers and thorny foliage. The Irish say it is kissing time when the gorse is in bloom. We have it on good authority gorse always blooms in Ireland.

Sausalito Ferry Terminal Is Far From Closed Issue

The Golden Gate Bridge District has been less than candid in its recent moves to shelve its proposed permanent ferry terminal in downtown Sausalito.

District directors, citing a shortage of cash for the $38 million ferry system and growing opposition from Sausalito, voted Aug. 30 to postpone the terminal indefinitely.

Two weeks later, they voted to shift money set aside for the terminal to the Larkspur project.

NEVER MENTIONED, however, was the fact that the district's contract with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration for transit grants still requires construction of a Sausalito terminal. Despite all its moves, the district has never even suggested to UMTA that the Sausalito terminal be scrapped.

The existence of the requirement came to light after several citizens asked Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District, to find out just how deeply the terminal had been buried. As a result of their doubts, Burton's office checked with UMTA and learned of the requirement that it be built.

The contract does not set a deadline for construction, but a spokesman for UMTA told us that unless the district and City of Sausalito resolve their impasse over the issue "in the near future," the government "might press the parties to come to an agreement." He declined to estimate how far into the future UMTA's patience would stretch before pressing the issue.

A Sausalito terminal would require a new UMTA grant to cover 80 per cent of the capital cost, leaving relatively little to be raised from district funds. The UMTA spokesman was not fazed by the prospect of another grant.

He also reported that, while district directors have voted to transfer the remaining $1.5 million for the Sausalito terminal to the Larkspur project, the district has not applied to UMTA to approve the transfer. Most of the money is UMTA's, thus it is not clear yet that the Sausalito fund will be bankrupted.

The failure of the district to point out the requirement in the UMTA contract that a Sausalito terminal be built strikes us as an effort to snooker opponents of the terminal, to lull them into a false assurance that the object of their ire no longer is a threat. It most defintely is.

ASSEMBLYMAN William T. Bagley of San Rafael, GOPnominee for state controller, has objected to a report in the Independent-Journal that he failed to vote when the Assembly repealed most of the controversial legislative requirement bonus. He argues that he voted for an Assembly version of the repealer when it was approved by the lower house and sent to the Senate. What he missed, he said, was Assembly concurrence in the final version that was amended in the Senate and sent back to the lower house.

That's a good explanation, but leaves intact the fact that he did not vote on the measure which became law.

Strange Animal Actions May Not Mean Rabies

The animal rabies question could hardly be answered in one letter. . .

Rabies appear to be ubiquitous. . . Strangeness and foaming at the mouth of animals could also be caused by the deadly distemper virus, also foods, poisons, or other dormant but later activating things in living creatures, such as cancer may be. The risks are there, but one has to explain the peculiar instances of the disease. . .

It is most peculiar that we always read about animal strangeness of action, etc., invariably is connected with rabies.

Peace-Freedom Candidate Doesn't Like I-J

I would like to suggest that the I-J and the Pacific Sun merge, as you both have so much in common — capitalist ripoffs!

It is indeed a shame that the misinformed and mislead voters of Marin County have no real alternative paper to the lies of the I-J and the Pacific Sun.

In this case, no news would be far better than the drivel printed by Paul Peter Zell and the I-J.

Mayor Blinder Cast As 'Big Brother'

"We should question the popular wisdom. . . " is Blinder's remark to the citizens of San Anselmo and the council on Sept. 24. This is Big Brother telling us that even though the people of California voted 2-1 against changing marijuana laws, the San Anselmo City Council should prevail upon the state legislature to overturn this overwhelming expression.

We have to agree with Blinder in one respect though — we "should question the popular wisdom" that elected him by a plurality of three votes!

Arrogant Faculty Now Asks More Money

Prophecy of an occurrence in advance is a self-satisfying circumstance, even though the seer is of as amateur ranking as myself. However reluctant I am to say, "I told you so," the faculty at Middle School must recollect a prediction of last summer when the taxpayers were genuinely concerned with the numerous incidents of faculty failure to provide at Middle School the type of educational atmosphere many parents anticipated was due them and their children. The faculty offended the parents by boycotting the interragatory meetings conducted as an inquiry into the problems. It was then predicted, "You will come to us for money; and when you do, recall your boorish behavior and consider the propriety of asking those you chose to ignore for monetary support."

Now the district needs an advance of the dollar per pupil expense, of which we are advised 80 per cent plus goes to faculty salaries . . . Yet presuming the Middle School faculty represents a cross-section of the district's teacher group, I for one am loathe to support even a valid cause coming from the very group that previously told me to go to hell.

Story Should Indicate High Admittance Charge

In the I-J, Oct. 8, there was an article about a quilter that was going to lecture, sponsored by the Mill Valley Quilt Authority. "The event is open to the public," etc.

Why, oh why, don't you tell us that the cost will be $7?

In order to go that event, my daughter packed her quilts in the car (as suggested by the article), took me to work, drove over to Mill Valley — and, of course, she didn't have $7 — drove back from Mill Valley to San Rafael, picked me up from work.

It's unbelievable.

Quick To Criticize; Slow To Repair

The Mill Valley City Council lost no time criticizing the I-J because the article dealing with the budget didn't make it clear to readers that the tax rate had been cut five cents. How nice it would be if the city were as quick to respond to our complaints. For instance, late in April, I called the Public Works Department and asked that a city lane near our home be cleared of weeds that had taken over the width of the lane, were over five feet tall, and completely infested with spittle bugs. About 10 days later, two men worked on the lane for several hours, cleared much, but were forced to stop because the weeds were too much for their hand power equipment. One of the men apologized for having to leave the job unfinished and said he would request that a power mower be used to complete the job. The weeds have sprung up again and are about to take over the lane, but still no power mower!

Over three weeks ago, I spoke with Mr. Van Dyke of the Public Works Department to complain about two "ruts" on Lomita Drive between Ashford and East Blithedale, a section of road only recently repaved. These "ruts" (over a foot wide and across the entire lane) had been dug out and then only partially filled so that a car was really jolted going over them. During the early part of this week, one "rut" was finally completely filled in; and some time Friday afternoon, the other. I wonder when they'll do something about that other "jolter I told him about — same section of road, other lane, where part of the road bed seems to have sunk . . .

Consider this please. Our Mill Valley City Council recently voted to subsidize a private concern for closed circuit television coverage of their meetings, planning commission meetings, etc., with several thousand dollars (can't remember whether it was $7,000 or $9,000) of taxpayers' money. Can't halp thinking of that line from bank commercial I've hear on radio — "Boy, what an ego trio!"

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

Americans aren't used to being deprived. Some people think austerity is the way we're cutting back Daylight Saving Time.

A lot oftaxpeyers are worried about President Ford's surtax plan. What if they get unlucky and their income goes up to $15,000?

It may be a problem to confirm Rockefeller. Some congressmen resent him because he's never put them on his gift list.

The real challenge for Congress this year is to find some hot topic that Senator Jackson can't investigate on national television.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH

Controls On Exports May Lead Down Dangerous Road

It was inevitable and understandable, in view of the background, that President Ford would ask the grain traders to call off their proposed big grain sale to the Soviet Union.

And it was equally inevitable and understandable that a quick stop was put to the idea of strip mining Montana for coal to Japan.

The 1972 Russian grain deal is a painful memory to many people, including the farmers who sold their wheat at the old low price. The rise when the news of the deal broke was the beginning of the general rise in commodity prices which contributed to today's massive inflation.

President Ford had no practical choice. He had to use his personal influence to call off another big sale of American grain to the Russians. It would have been politically impossible for him to do anything else.

STRIP MINING already has a bad name in the United States. Americans generally will tolerate it if convinced that it is necessary to keep American homes, factories and automobiles working. But to destroy Montana's superb scenery for the sake of outsiders is just as politically intolerable as another grain sale to the Russians would have been.

It's astonishing that anyone even thought of offering strip-mined coal to a foreign consumer. That is the sort of thing smart companies hire expensive public relations advisers to keep them from doing.

Yet it is also most important to bear in mind that the president's decisions are the kind of action which turned the stock market collapse of 1929 into the great depression of the '30s.

In the wake of the stock market collapse, the United States led the parade of industrial countries into tariff and trade protectionism. The highest tariffs in American history were put up in the Smoot-Hawley Act of 1930. America's trading partners felt that they had to follow suit. Everyone put up tariffs, embargoes and quotas. World trade came almost to a halt.

THE DEPRESSION did not begin with the stock market collapse of 1929. We talk about the "crash" of 1929. But the stock market never knew the worst until 1932.

For example (using round figures) in 1929 General Motors dropped from its high of 92 to a low of 33. But in 1932 it went from 25 down to 8. RCA went from 115 to 26 in 1929, and from 13 down to 2 in 1932. U.S. Steel showed a similar record. Its high in 1929 was 262 and its low was 150. It began 1932 at 53 and ended at 21.

The truly big losses came well after the Smoot-Hawley tariffs had plunged the world into economic autarchy.

The word autarchy is translated in the dictionary as meaning self-sufficiency. In the name of self-sufficiency then, the United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy and all the rest built barriers against each other. And they all went into the depths of the depression. In Germany, it brought Hitler to power.

TODAY, THE OLDER statesmen remember the story of the origins of the Great Depression. Everyone who takes the trouble to read the history of those times learns the right lesson. In this modern, industrialized world, there is no such thing as economic self-sufficiency. The nations are inter-dependent. Autarchy simply doesn't work. It only makes bad matters worse.

Britain and Japan are the most dependent on others. They must import food and raw materials to live. They must export finished goods to pay for their food and raw materials. The United States and France are probably the least dependent on others. Both can feed themselves without imports. But both must import many of their industrial requirements. France has no oil at all. The United States uses more than it produces.

The veterans of the '30's, remember the lesson. But we are well into a declining stock market and on the threshold of rising unemployment and declining industrial activity. And so far none of the lessons from the '30s has been put into practice. There is a lot of talk. As yet the talk is still to be translated in cooperative action. Any ban on exports is a step down the danger road.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Stalemate In Congress Paves The Way For Depression

WASHINGTON — Whether the view of the Ford inflation message is favorable, as with business, or critical, as with labor and most of the Democrats, matters very little. Congress will resist his proposals even when returning after the recess and the election.

The Democratic sweep expected on Nov. 5 is likely to stiffen opposition to the 5 per cent surtax.

There is no evidence that inflation will abate and all signs point to increasing unemployment, as President Ford indicated in his message.

IT MUST BE SAID that we are seeing something close to breakdown in the system itself. A creeping, crawling Congress dawdles over legislation vital to stemming a recession and advancing toward the economic interdependence that the president called for.

The prime example is the trade reform act. In the Senate, Russell Long, chairman of the finance committee, is playing Nero, savaging the reasonable bill that came from the House.

Playing up to every protectionist interest, Long is likely to bring out a bill (if anything comes out of his committee) that is worse than no bill at all. It will convince the United States' trading partners that protectionism is our answer to reasonable tariff adjustments.

THE 5 PER CENT SURTAX seems to have been proposed with little consideration as to its consequences. Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., one of the ablest members of the Joint Economic Committee, says it will mean that middle-bracket taxpayers pay for the meager benefits in tax reduction for those at the lowest level.

Reuss gives as an example a machinist in this home district in Milwaukee earning $11,000 a year. His wife works part-time as a waitress, making between $4,000 and $5,000, which keeps them afloat. They would pay the surtax on anything over $15,000.

This, it may be argued, is little enough, but multiplied across the nation it could have a serious impact on purchasing power. If it means not buying a new suit or a new dress, merchants and industry will soon feel the consequences. More unemployment will be quickly registered.

THE PRESIDENT'S endorsement of the so-called tax reform bill that has come out of Chairman Wilbur Mills' Ways and Means Committee is another source of criticism by those who say that the real benefits go to business.

Mills, a czar in the Russell Long pattern, put new loopholes in his tax bill, the critics charge. In addition, the president threw in a gimmick that will delight corporate board rooms. That is allowing a tax deduction for dividends paid on preferred stock.

But these bones of contention serve chiefly to underscore the fragmentation of the Congress, which reflects the sharp division in the country.

PRESIDENT FORD quoted from the first inaugural address of Franklin Roosevelt. That dramatic plea for courage and unity came at the bottom of the depression, when every bank in the country was closed. It came from a president who was to prove himself a master of popular appeal in bringing action in the first 100 days of his administration.

In calling for increased public service employment, Ford proposed a Community Improvement Corps to provide work for the unemployed through short-term projects "to improve, beautify and enhance the environment of our cities, towns and countryside."

To the skeptics in Congress, this sounded like the leaf-raking projects so derided under the New Deal. Why not constructive work in the thousand-and-one areas where it is so urgently needed?

The simplest and most direct proof that the system can work would be immediate passage of a reasonable trade reform act. After delays of nearly a year, the United States would then be in a position to work out international agreements that can stimulate world trade.

As was shown so clearly in 1930, protectionism can mean a turn toward worldwide depression. That is a measure of what is at stake in the current stalemate.

Virginia M. Pedersen Eyes Board

Virginia M. Pedersen of Fairfax, a registered nurse who worked 20 years in managerial positions at Marin General Hospital, is one of seven candidates for three posts on the Marin Hospital District board.

Mrs. Pedersen pointed out that the present board is composed of five persons (three of whom are running for re-election) who were appointed to their first terms. "I think it's time the public had a chance to elect a board," she said.

Mrs. Pedersen has termed the present board a "mutual admiration society" and said she believes it is "ridiculous" to force the county to pay for the realignment of Bon Air Road at this time.

(The project, to cost more than $400,000 is being done so that a parking lot can be placed adjacent to the hospital and in view of proposed expansion of Marin General.)

Mrs. Pedersen retired from the Marin General Hospital staff last year, having served as nursing office assistant, executive housekeeper and manager of the hospital laundry.

"I am thoroughly familiar with the operation and management of Marin General Hospital . . . and I have been directly connected with hospitals in either a teaching or managerial capacity for over 27 years . . ." she said.

"I believe that the hospital and the affairs of the district should be run efficiently and effectively in the best interest of the citizenry for the purpose of meeting the medical needs, as well as the comforts of all members of the community who find it necessary to become patients at Marin General Hospital," Mrs. Pedersen said.

Mrs. Pedersen is a graduate of the University of Virginia. She is married to Jorgen Pedersen and is the mother of four children.

The family home is at 588 Cascade Drive.

Lucas Valley Plan Receives Approval

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday approved a master plan for a 472-unit development on the Luiz and Grady ranches in Lucas Valley. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

The commission accepted, with minor changes, a staff report favoring the development, subject to several conditions. The vote was 6-1, with commissioner Gloria Duncan opposed.

Mrs. Duncan said she would not now approve the development because it had not been considered by the City-County Planning Council of Marin. The council was to have taken up the matter at its meeting last week, but that session was cancelled, lacking a quorum. A motion by Mrs. Duncan to postpone commission action until the council has reviewed the development died for lack of a second.

Planning staff recommended approving the master plan subject to a number of conditions dealing with preserving Miller Creek, roads, traffic, availability of water, sewage and fire protection, landscaping, bike paths, and other.

Debate yesterday centered on the recommendation to extend Idylberry Road to the west to connect with roads planned for the development site, and on the width of a setback that should be required for units fronting Miller Creek.

Several members of the audience, including a representative of the Lucas Valley Homeowner's Association, told commissioners that they didn't want Idylberry extended, because doing so would increase traffic and imperil children in the area.

But, assured by county officials that extending the road was both necessary for emergency vehicles and desirable for convenience, commissioners voted 4-3 (Gilbert P. Murphy, Jerry Friedman and Mrs. Duncan opposed) to require road extension.

Edmond Kagi, a spokesman for Sasaki, Walker Associates, developer, told commissioners that in order to set the units sufficiently back from Lucas Valley Road, they should be nearer the creek than the legal 50-foot creek setback allows. Creek setback should be cut to 30 feet for this project, he said.

Commissioner Murphy supported the idea, but others on the commission agreed that if a large road setback was desirable, it should be done by paring units, not creekside space.

The council approved without comment a staff recommendation that 15 per cent of the townhouse and apartment dwellings be reserved for moderate-income families and with a price tag the equivalent of $32,000 to $36,000 in 1974 dollars.

The master plan provides for the units on 244 of the 1,615 acres of the two ranches, which are located on the north side of Lucas Valley Road below Big Rock. The rest of the acreage remains open space.

Forty single-family residences, 296 townhouses and 136 garden apartments, plus recreational facilities and a fire station are planned.

Waterman No Longer Hospital Candidate

J. Scott Waterman, a law enforcement officer who lives in Petaluma, has withdrawn as a candidate for the Petaluma Hospital District board in the Nov. 5 election. His name will still appear on the ballot, however, because the voting lists had already been printed when he withdrew.

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal incorrectly listed Waterman as a candidate.

7 WAYS TO PLUG FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION.

You'll save energy if you follow these suggestions:

1. Turn off all lights that are not essential.
2. Lower your furnace thermostat to 68 degrees.
3. Use full loads in dishwashers and clothes dryers.
4. Set your water heater to "normal" or 140 degrees.
5. Turn off TV sets when they're not being watched.
6. Defrost your refrigerator before frost becomes 1/4" thick. Thick frost reduces your refrigerator's cooling ability and makes it run inefficiently.
7. Be sure your range and oven are turned off when not in use.

Cotati Plans Crackdown On Signs

A crackdown on illegally-posted business signs began last night in Cotati as planning commissioners recommended that the city council give nonconforming sign owners 30 days to shape up.

The commission recommended a zoning ordinance amendment which would enable the city to remove the signs if owners themselves refuse to act within a 30-day period.

The problem, according to a spokesman for the planning body, is that residents have in a number of cases erected signs without first seeking city approval of their design, location and size.

In a related move, the planning commission notified several businessmen who had applied for approval on existing signs that their signs would not be approved until after modifications requested by the commission's design review committee.

The planning commission also recommended to the council that the zoning ordinance be amended to allow ambulance dispatching offices as permitted uses in commercial zones and as conditional uses in residential districts.

WHEREAS, said City Council did, on the 4th day of February, 1974, preliminarily adopt said report and called for public bids for doing of the work to be submitted to the City Clerk on March 4, 1974; and

WHEREAS, bids were received on said date which bids were in excess of the Engineer's Estimate of Cost of the work; and

WHEREAS, the property owners requested that the construction of the levee be deleted from the project; and

WHEREAS, said Engineer of Work did, on the 5th day of August, 1974, file with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael an Amended Engineer's Report and said City Council called for public bids for the doing of the work without the levee to be submitted to the City Clerk on the 19th day of September, 1974; and

WHEREAS, bids were received on said date which bids were in excess of the Amended Engineer's Estimate of Cost of the work; and

WHEREAS, on the 7th day of October, 1974, said Engineer of Work filed a Second Amended Engineer's Report setting forth increased costs of the work to be done, an increase in the total assessment to be levied, and an increase in individual assessments to be levied as a result of said increased costs;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, and this Council hereby finds:

1. That the Second Amended Engineer's Report made and filed by the Engineer of Work on the 7th day of October, 1974, sets forth the increased cost of doing the work, the increase in the total amount of the assessment to be levied, and the increase in the amount of individual assessments to be levied.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Monday, the 4th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, located at 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place for hearing protests with relation to the proposed increase in total assessment to be levied; and the increase in the individual assessments to be levied; that any person interested in objecting to said increases may file protest in writing with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael at or before the hour fixed herein for hearing thereon; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael be, and she is hereby, directed to publish this resolution pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code of the State of California, said resolution to be published at least ten (10) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said resolution of the proposed increased assessment shall be mailed, postage prepaid, to all persons owning real property to be assessed whose names and addresses appear upon the last equalized assessment roll for taxes, or as known to the City Clerk, said notices to be mailed at least twenty (20) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the finding of the City Council that these proceedings or changes in the cost of the work and assessments are being taken in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 4.5, Division 12 of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

* * * * * * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof held on the 7th day of October, 1974, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: Councilmen Jensen, Miskimen & Mulryan

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ERNEST MURPHY

A Second Band Of Indians Gets Into Fight Over Dam

Sonoma County's controversy over the Warm Springs dam is getting like a civil war these days — everyone is choosing sides, and sometimes it's brother against brother.

Even the local Indians are getting into the fight which will culminate on Nov. 5, when county voters determine whether the Army Corps of Engineers will build a large earthen dam across the upper Dry Creek Valley.

THE DOMINANT local tribe is the Pomo, a nation of hunters and fishermen.

Once they owned the whole county, back before it was taken over by successive waves of Russians, Spaniards, Anglos and real estate speculators.

Now the Pomo are nearly invisible, few in number and scattered among the rest of the population.

But they still remember their origins, and a few of them show a certain sense of ownership, maybe an ancestral feeling for what remains of the once-wild land of Sonoma.

ONE GROUP of Pomos, the Dry Creek band, last year became alarmed that the water behind the dam, Lake Sonoma, would flood the sites of several prehistoric villages of the tribe. This particular band joined a coalition of environmentalists and civic groups which eventually obtained a U.S. Supreme Court order blocking the dam until more environmental studies are made.

Last week another branch of the Pomo nation picked an unlikely spot to announce that it, too, was entering the fray, although not on the same side as its Dry Creek cousins.

Allan James of Sebastopol, chief of the Kashia band, called a news conference at the San Francisco Press Club to announce that his band has decided to support construction of the $114 million dam.

The chief acknowledged that the waters of Lake Sonoma would flood lands that played a part in his nation's history, and consequently his pledge of support came with an attached list of demands.

THE CHIEF WANTS the name of the lake changed to Lake Pomo, and he also wants the tribal name affixed to the fish hatchery which the corps is to build below the dam.

The lake's visitor center, proclaimed the chief, must be expanded into an Indian museum dedicated to preserving the heritage of the Pomo.

Half of the permanent and summertime jobs at the lake must be assigned to members of Pomo tribes, who also must be represented on all commissions or committees set up to supervise activities in the lake area.

"It is time," said the chief, "for the Indian voice to be heard."

Dentists Chip Away At Evel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Since the motorcycle jumps of Evel Knievel have been increasingly publicized, an increasing number of young motorcyclists are getting hurt trying to imitate him, according to the dentists who treat them for getting their teeth knocked out.

"Within three weeks after Knievel did his stunt at Snake River Canyon, I treated three youngsters with major facial injuries," Dr. Paul Walters of New Orleans said Friday.

"All three of them said they were inspired by Knievel's jump," he said.

Doctors attending the convention reported nine other cases, involving broken arms and jaws and broken, knocked out or loosened teeth, some of them refering to the injured boys as being under an "Evel influence."

Here's What Really Happened With Mills And Go-Go Dancers

WASHINGTON — The trouble with Washington is that it is a very suspicious town which keeps jumping to the wrong conclusions. The other morning Arkansas' Rep. Wilbur Mills was involved in an altercation at the Tidal Basin with three women and another man. It was reported by police that Mills' nose was bleeding and he had scratches on his face. One of the women threw herself into the Tidal Basin and had to be rescued by the park police. She was identified as an Argentine-born go-go dancer.

The next morning everyone assumed that the powerful member of the House Ways and Means Committee was involved in some sort of hanky-panky. This couldn't be further from the truth. No matter how it looked in the newspapers and on television, Mills was doing the people's business.

THIS IS WHAT happened: Sunday night Mills decided to go to the Junkanoo nightclub to hold hearings on a tax-reform bill he was preparing to submit to the House. Several witnesses, including four or five go-go girls, testified that tax reform was absolutely essential if everyone in the United States were to get a fair shake. Mills remarked after each witness testified, "I'll drink to that."

As the evening wore on, more and more witnesses gave Mills input on what should be included in the tax-reform bill. Several testified against oil-depletion allowances, others against real-estate shelters.

It was a lively hearing with people getting a lot of things off their chest. About 1 o'clock in the morning, Mills decided to adjourn the meeting. He graciously offered to take home four of the witnesses, three ladies and a gentleman. Although they had been friendly witnesses in the bar, a few became hostile in Mills' automobile when he raised the question of the 5 per cent income tax surcharge.

ONE OF THE GO-GO dancers said she was violently opposed to a surcharge on income taxes. Another woman said it was imperative that everyone in America bite the bullet.

Mills, who sat between the ladies, tried to be peacemaker. He pointed out that he was personally against an added tax on income that would affect the lower middle classes. When he said this, the lady who was for biting the bullet punched him in the nose. Trying to recoup some of his dignity, the congressman added that, although he was opposed to a surcharge on income taxes, he could see the reason for having one if it would stop inflation.

This angered the other woman, who started scratching his face. Since both women were out of order, Mills ordered the man driving the car to stop by the Tidal Basin.

He tried to mediate the dispute, but to no avail. One of the women said Mills had no interest in tax reform and, while he talked a good game, he hadn't done anything about it for years.

The other woman said that Mills was really a patsy for big business and cited his contribution from the milk producers as an example of a conflict of interest.

MILLS, WHO UP until this moment had behaved like a perfect Southern gentleman, became angered and said, "I hold you both in contempt of Congress."

"You're going to have to catch me first," one of the go-go dancers said. And with that she threw herself into the waters of the Tidal Basin, where she was rescued by the police.

Representative Mills was very moved by all this and went into seclusion to redraft his entire tax-reform legislation.

And that's what really happened last week. But Washington being Washington, no one in this town wants to give anyone in politics the benefit of the doubt.

Open Hutch A Reminder Of Old Days

The desire to display the few fine possessions brought to the New World spurred the demand for the open hutch among early American settlers.

The hutch, or china cupboard as it is sometimes known today, is derived from the French word, "huche," a chest or cabinet with doors, usually on legs or atop a buffet or sideboard.

As in centuries past, it utilizes storage space logically without sacrificing beauty.

The first hutch was manufactured in America in the early 1700's. At that time, a few cherished pieces of dinnerware, glassware and coin silver flatware were displayed with pride by the early American homesteader. And the open hutch is still used for displays.

Milk Applications Are Available

The Mill Valley School District will provide free milk for children unable to pay for it, according to Supt. Peter Palches.

Eligibility will be decided based on family size and income. However, unusual expenses such as high medical bills or special education costs will be considered. Applications are available at each principal's office.

5 WAYS
TO USE LESS ENERGY
WASHING & DRYING.

Follow these clean-living guidelines for energy conservation:

1. Fill your dishwasher completely before operating. Partial loads waste fuel and water. Even more savings can be realized by turning off your dishwasher after the final rinse before the drying cycle.

2. Use cold water to rinse dishes and operate your garbage disposer. Don't waste hot water.

3. Use full loads in your clothes washer and dryer, but don't overload.

4. Clean the lint filter in your dryer after every use.

5. Take advantage of special features on your washer that can save energy. For example, suds-savers let you re-use hot water for several loads.

Four Local Ballot Measures Overlap

Four local measures which will appear on Nov. 5 election ballots in parts of Marin are somewhat tied up together, two of them inextricably.

These are Measures A, B, E, and F.

MEASURE A calls for formation of a county service area for fire protection embracing several parcels of uncorporated territory adjacent to San Rafael: Santa Venetia, Northbridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, some uplands of Sun Valley, California Park, Country Club, Bayside Acres, Knocknaboul Way, and portions of McNear's Point.

Measure B calls for a 71-cent tax rate for the newly created county service area, which is an increase of 24 cents above the levy now paid by residents there for county fire protection.

Measure E calls for annexation of Country Club to the City of San Rafael.

Measure F calls for annexation of Knocknaboul Way to the city.

ALL THE AREAS which Measure A would include in the new county service area have in the past depended largely on San Rafael for fire protection response under an informal "mutual aid" agreement between city and county fire departments. However, the city council has ordered that city fire trucks cease responding to outside calls until a county truck has arrived at the fire scene and called for help.

Only county fire equipment for fighting structural fires in the area is a single pumper truck, ordinarily stationed in Santa Venetia but now being kept at its operator's home on Villa Avenue in San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, the county is pledged to build a new firehouse atop Puerto Suello Hill for that truck and an additional pumper truck, and to staff it with three firemen.

MUCH OF THE assessed valuation in the proposed county service area is in Country Club. If Country Club residents vote for annexation to San Rafael (Measure E), the 21-cent additional tax rate authorized by Measure B would be insufficient to provide the firehouse and truck.

The county then would have to either (1) add money from countywide tax revenues, or (2) hold another tax rate election, calling for a higher rate.

Country Club annexation was abandoned by the city council in face of a protest representing a majority of the assessed valuation in the area. But it was put on the ballot as a result of a court ruling that such a protest could not block the vote.

IF COUNTRY CLUB were annexed to San Rafael, its residents would pay neither the existing 47-cent county "structural" fire tax nor the proposed 71-cent county service area tax. Neither would they pay 24.5 cents county library tax as they now must do. Instead, they would pay the city tax — 92 cents to cover all city services.

The Knocknaboul Way area, an island within the Terra Linda annexation, represents only a small part of the proposed county service area, so its vote to annex to San Rafael would not upset the tax calculations in Measure B. The tax implications there are the same as for Country Club.

We believe residents of Country Club and Knocknaboul Way would serve themselves best by voting to annex to San Rafael. If they do not do that, they should vote for Measures A and B as at least a step toward better fire protection.

The same probably applies to the other areas included in Measure A, but they have no annexation proposal on the ballot this time.

Kissing Time

We aren't too sure what Irish gorse is like. But it can't be very different from English gorse or Sonoma gorse or Marin gorse, orangish-yellow broomlike flowers and thorny foliage. The Irish say it is kissing time when the gorse is in bloom. We have it on good authority gorse always blooms in Ireland.

Sausalito Ferry Terminal Is Far From Closed Issue

The Golden Gate Bridge District has been less than candid in its recent moves to shelve its proposed permanent ferry terminal in downtown Sausalito.

District directors, citing a shortage of cash for the $38 million ferry system and growing opposition from Sausalito, voted Aug. 30 to postpone the terminal indefinitely.

Two weeks later, they voted to shift money set aside for the terminal to the Larkspur project.

NEVER MENTIONED, however, was the fact that the district's contract with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration for transit grants still requires construction of a Sausalito terminal. Despite all its moves, the district has never even suggested to UMTA that the Sausalito terminal be scrapped.

The existence of the requirement came to light after several citizens asked Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District, to find out just how deeply the terminal had been buried. As a result of their doubts, Burton's office checked with UMTA and learned of the requirement that it be built.

The contract does not set a deadline for construction, but a spokesman for UMTA told us that unless the district and City of Sausalito resolve their impasse over the issue "in the near future," the government "might press the parties to come to an agreement." He declined to estimate how far into the future UMTA's patience would stretch before pressing the issue.

A Sausalito terminal would require a new UMTA grant to cover 80 per cent of the capital cost, leaving relatively little to be raised from district funds. The UMTA spokesman was not fazed by the prospect of another grant.

He also reported that, while district directors have voted to transfer the remaining $1.5 million for the Sausalito terminal to the Larkspur project, the district has not applied to UMTA to approve the transfer. Most of the money is UMTA's, thus it is not clear yet that the Sausalito fund will be bankrupted.

The failure of the district to point out the requirement in the UMTA contract that a Sausalito terminal be built strikes us as an effort to snooker opponents of the terminal, to lull them into a false assurance that the object of their ire no longer is a threat. It most defintely is.

ASSEMBLYMAN William T. Bagley of San Rafael, GOPnominee for state controller, has objected to a report in the Independent-Journal that he failed to vote when the Assembly repealed most of the controversial legislative requirement bonus. He argues that he voted for an Assembly version of the repealer when it was approved by the lower house and sent to the Senate. What he missed, he said, was Assembly concurrence in the final version that was amended in the Senate and sent back to the lower house.

That's a good explanation, but leaves intact the fact that he did not vote on the measure which became law.

Strange Animal Actions May Not Mean Rabies

The animal rabies question could hardly be answered in one letter. . .

Rabies appear to be ubiquitous. . . Strangeness and foaming at the mouth of animals could also be caused by the deadly distemper virus, also foods, poisons, or other dormant but later activating things in living creatures, such as cancer may be. The risks are there, but one has to explain the peculiar instances of the disease. . .

It is most peculiar that we always read about animal strangeness of action, etc., invariably is connected with rabies.

Peace-Freedom Candidate Doesn't Like I-J

I would like to suggest that the I-J and the Pacific Sun merge, as you both have so much in common — capitalist ripoffs!

It is indeed a shame that the misinformed and mislead voters of Marin County have no real alternative paper to the lies of the I-J and the Pacific Sun.

In this case, no news would be far better than the drivel printed by Paul Peter Zell and the I-J.

Mayor Blinder Cast As 'Big Brother'

"We should question the popular wisdom. . . " is Blinder's remark to the citizens of San Anselmo and the council on Sept. 24. This is Big Brother telling us that even though the people of California voted 2-1 against changing marijuana laws, the San Anselmo City Council should prevail upon the state legislature to overturn this overwhelming expression.

We have to agree with Blinder in one respect though — we "should question the popular wisdom" that elected him by a plurality of three votes!

Arrogant Faculty Now Asks More Money

Prophecy of an occurrence in advance is a self-satisfying circumstance, even though the seer is of as amateur ranking as myself. However reluctant I am to say, "I told you so," the faculty at Middle School must recollect a prediction of last summer when the taxpayers were genuinely concerned with the numerous incidents of faculty failure to provide at Middle School the type of educational atmosphere many parents anticipated was due them and their children. The faculty offended the parents by boycotting the interragatory meetings conducted as an inquiry into the problems. It was then predicted, "You will come to us for money; and when you do, recall your boorish behavior and consider the propriety of asking those you chose to ignore for monetary support."

Now the district needs an advance of the dollar per pupil expense, of which we are advised 80 per cent plus goes to faculty salaries . . . Yet presuming the Middle School faculty represents a cross-section of the district's teacher group, I for one am loathe to support even a valid cause coming from the very group that previously told me to go to hell.

Story Should Indicate High Admittance Charge

In the I-J, Oct. 8, there was an article about a quilter that was going to lecture, sponsored by the Mill Valley Quilt Authority. "The event is open to the public," etc.

Why, oh why, don't you tell us that the cost will be $7?

In order to go that event, my daughter packed her quilts in the car (as suggested by the article), took me to work, drove over to Mill Valley — and, of course, she didn't have $7 — drove back from Mill Valley to San Rafael, picked me up from work.

It's unbelievable.

Mrs. WILLIAM ROSE

(We do not quote admittance charges in news stories, but the story should have mentioned that there was a charge. — Editor)

Quick To Criticize; Slow To Repair

The Mill Valley City Council lost no time criticizing the I-J because the article dealing with the budget didn't make it clear to readers that the tax rate had been cut five cents. How nice it would be if the city were as quick to respond to our complaints. For instance, late in April, I called the Public Works Department and asked that a city lane near our home be cleared of weeds that had taken over the width of the lane, were over five feet tall, and completely infested with spittle bugs. About 10 days later, two men worked on the lane for several hours, cleared much, but were forced to stop because the weeds were too much for their hand power equipment. One of the men apologized for having to leave the job unfinished and said he would request that a power mower be used to complete the job. The weeds have sprung up again and are about to take over the lane, but still no power mower!

Over three weeks ago, I spoke with Mr. Van Dyke of the Public Works Department to complain about two "ruts" on Lomita Drive between Ashford and East Blithedale, a section of road only recently repaved. These "ruts" (over a foot wide and across the entire lane) had been dug out and then only partially filled so that a car was really jolted going over them. During the early part of this week, one "rut" was finally completely filled in; and some time Friday afternoon, the other. I wonder when they'll do something about that other "jolter I told him about — same section of road, other lane, where part of the road bed seems to have sunk . . .

Consider this please. Our Mill Valley City Council recently voted to subsidize a private concern for closed circuit television coverage of their meetings, planning commission meetings, etc., with several thousand dollars (can't remember whether it was $7,000 or $9,000) of taxpayers' money. Can't halp thinking of that line from bank commercial I've hear on radio — "Boy, what an ego trio!"

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

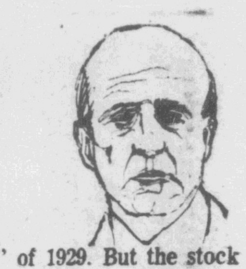
Americans aren't used to being deprived. Some people think austerity is the way we're cutting back Daylight Saving Time.

A lot oftaxpeyers are worried about President Ford's surtax plan. What if they get unlucky and their income goes up to $15,000?

It may be a problem to confirm Rockefeller. Some congressmen resent him because he's never put them on his gift list.

The real challenge for Congress this year is to find some hot topic that Senator Jackson can't investigate on national television.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH



Controls On Exports May Lead Down Dangerous Road

It was inevitable and understandable, in view of the background, that President Ford would ask the grain traders to call off their proposed big grain sale to the Soviet Union.

And it was equally inevitable and understandable that a quick stop was put to the idea of strip mining Montana for coal to Japan.

The 1972 Russian grain deal is a painful memory to many people, including the farmers who sold their wheat at the old low price. The rise when the news of the deal broke was the beginning of the general rise in commodity prices which contributed to today's massive inflation.

President Ford had no practical choice. He had to use his personal influence to call off another big sale of American grain to the Russians. It would have been politically impossible for him to do anything else.

STRIP MINING already has a bad name in the United States. Americans generally will tolerate it if convinced that it is necessary to keep American homes, factories and automobiles working. But to destroy Montana's superb scenery for the sake of outsiders is just as politically intolerable as another grain sale to the Russians would have been.

It's astonishing that anyone even thought of offering strip-mined coal to a foreign consumer. That is the sort of thing smart companies hire expensive public relations advisers to keep them from doing.

Yet it is also most important to bear in mind that the president's decisions are the kind of action which turned the stock market collapse of 1929 into the great depression of the '30s.

In the wake of the stock market collapse, the United States led the parade of industrial countries into tariff and trade protectionism. The highest tariffs in American history were put up in the Smoot-Hawley Act of 1930. America's trading partners felt that they had to follow suit. Everyone put up tariffs, embargoes and quotas. World trade came almost to a halt.

THE DEPRESSION did not begin with the stock market collapse of 1929. We talk about the "crash" of 1929. But the stock market never knew the worst until 1932.

For example (using round figures) in 1929 General Motors dropped from its high of 92 to a low of 33. But in 1932 it went from 25 down to 8. RCA went from 115 to 26 in 1929, and from 13 down to 2 in 1932. U.S. Steel showed a similar record. Its high in 1929 was 262 and its low was 150. It began 1932 at 53 and ended at 21.

The truly big losses came well after the Smoot-Hawley tariffs had plunged the world into economic autarchy.

The word autarchy is translated in the dictionary as meaning self-sufficiency. In the name of self-sufficiency then, the United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy and all the rest built barriers against each other. And they all went into the depths of the depression. In Germany, it brought Hitler to power.

TODAY, THE OLDER statesmen remember the story of the origins of the Great Depression. Everyone who takes the trouble to read the history of those times learns the right lesson. In this modern, industrialized world, there is no such thing as economic self-sufficiency. The nations are inter-dependent. Autarchy simply doesn't work. It only makes bad matters worse.

Britain and Japan are the most dependent on others. They must import food and raw materials to live. They must export finished goods to pay for their food and raw materials. The United States and France are probably the least dependent on others. Both can feed themselves without imports. But both must import many of their industrial requirements. France has no oil at all. The United States uses more than it produces.

The veterans of the '30's, remember the lesson. But we are well into a declining stock market and on the threshold of rising unemployment and declining industrial activity. And so far none of the lessons from the '30s has been put into practice. There is a lot of talk. As yet the talk is still to be translated in cooperative action. Any ban on exports is a step down the danger road.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Stalemate In Congress Paves The Way For Depression

WASHINGTON — Whether the view of the Ford inflation message is favorable, as with business, or critical, as with labor and most of the Democrats, matters very little. Congress will resist his proposals even when returning after the recess and the election.

The Democratic sweep expected on Nov. 5 is likely to stiffen opposition to the 5 per cent surtax.

There is no evidence that inflation will abate and all signs point to increasing unemployment, as President Ford indicated in his message.

IT MUST BE SAID that we are seeing something close to breakdown in the system itself. A creeping, crawling Congress dawdles over legislation vital to stemming a recession and advancing toward the economic interdependence that the president called for.

The prime example is the trade reform act. In the Senate, Russell Long, chairman of the finance committee, is playing Nero, savaging the reasonable bill that came from the House.

Playing up to every protectionist interest, Long is likely to bring out a bill (if anything comes out of his committee) that is worse than no bill at all. It will convince the United States' trading partners that protectionism is our answer to reasonable tariff adjustments.

THE 5 PER CENT SURTAX seems to have been proposed with little consideration as to its consequences. Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., one of the ablest members of the Joint Economic Committee, says it will mean that middle-bracket taxpayers pay for the meager benefits in tax reduction for those at the lowest level.

Reuss gives as an example a machinist in this home district in Milwaukee earning $11,000 a year. His wife works part-time as a waitress, making between $4,000 and $5,000, which keeps them afloat. They would pay the surtax on anything over $15,000.

This, it may be argued, is little enough, but multiplied across the nation it could have a serious impact on purchasing power. If it means not buying a new suit or a new dress, merchants and industry will soon feel the consequences. More unemployment will be quickly registered.

THE PRESIDENT'S endorsement of the so-called tax reform bill that has come out of Chairman Wilbur Mills' Ways and Means Committee is another source of criticism by those who say that the real benefits go to business.

Mills, a czar in the Russell Long pattern, put new loopholes in his tax bill, the critics charge. In addition, the president threw in a gimmick that will delight corporate board rooms. That is allowing a tax deduction for dividends paid on preferred stock.

But these bones of contention serve chiefly to underscore the fragmentation of the Congress, which reflects the sharp division in the country.

PRESIDENT FORD quoted from the first inaugural address of Franklin Roosevelt. That dramatic plea for courage and unity came at the bottom of the depression, when every bank in the country was closed. It came from a president who was to prove himself a master of popular appeal in bringing action in the first 100 days of his administration.

In calling for increased public service employment, Ford proposed a Community Improvement Corps to provide work for the unemployed through short-term projects "to improve, beautify and enhance the environment of our cities, towns and countryside."

To the skeptics in Congress, this sounded like the leaf-raking projects so derided under the New Deal. Why not constructive work in the thousand-and-one areas where it is so urgently needed?

The simplest and most direct proof that the system can work would be immediate passage of a reasonable trade reform act. After delays of nearly a year, the United States would then be in a position to work out international agreements that can stimulate world trade.

As was shown so clearly in 1930, protectionism can mean a turn toward worldwide depression. That is a measure of what is at stake in the current stalemate.

Veteran Charlie Rich Honored As Best Country Music Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Charlie Rich, who struggled for 20 years in the country music field before reaching the top, was named the industry's "Entertainer of the Year" at the Grand Old Opry last night.

Rich, 41, known as "The Silver Fox" for his long grey hair, also won "album of the year" honors for "A Very Special Love Song," which included "The Most Beautiful Girl," and "I Love My Friend."

"I'm just so happy about winning entertainer of the year," Rich said. "It's something I'll always treasure."

In his acceptance speech, Rich, whose smash record "Behind Closed Doors," won him the top single prize last year, read a poem by his wife.

"Whatever you are, whatever you do, if you have a dream hang on to it," said Rich.

Songwriter Pee Wee King, who wrote the "Tennessee Waltz," and performer-producer Owen Bradley were named to the Country Music Hall of Fame, the industry's highest honor.

Blind recording star Ronnie Milsap, a newcomer in country music, whose hits included "The Girl Who Waits on Tables," "Pure Love," and "Please Don't Tell Me How the Story Ends," received the male vocalist of the year award, and Australian-born Olivia Newton-John was named female vocalist of the year.

Miss Newton-John has recorded "If You Love Me (let me know)," "I Honestly Love You," and "Let Me Be There."

Single of the year was "Country Bumpkin," sung by Cal Smith, a former member of the Texas Troubadours. The tale of a lanky cowboy and a waitress also won song of the year honors for writer Don Wayne.

Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty were named vocal duo of the year for their recording of "As Soon As I Hang Up the Phone."

Other winners were the Statler Brothers, "vocal group of the year," whose big hit was "Thank You World;" Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, "instrumental group of the year; and the late Don Rich, "instrumentalist of the year."

San Rafael Citizens Outline Park Desires

The first of four public hearings set by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to review city recreational needs last night drew 40 residents to city hall.

Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr., saying attendance at the session was excellent, reported residents from several neighborhoods called for more parks and open space.

Bret Harte residents said Bret Harte Park should be expanded and redesigned since it is presently unattractive and inadequate, Snyder reported.

Bret Harte residents also called for creation of a system of bike, hiking and sidewalk paths to link the neighborhood with local park and school facilities, he said.

Residents called for a public swimming pool at either Albert Park or James B. Davidson School, and said Davidson School field should be developed as a "multiuse park," according to Snyder.

Other residents called for a minipark at the corner of Woodland Avenue and Irwin Street, and urged acquisition of open space adjacent to Gerstle Park.

Snyder said that representatives of the Little League called for development of two more ballfields in the area, preferably at Davidson School and Albert Park.

The recreation director noted that the commission hopes to incorporate citizen concerns into a parks and recreation master plan it is drafting for San Rafael.

The commission next meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hear recreation concerns of residents of the Dominican, Black Canyon, East San Rafael and San Pedro Peninsula neighborhoods.

The commission hearings will continue on Thursday and on Oct. 29. The commission will evaluate citizen concerns on Oct. 31.

Transit Board Asks Tax Election Survey

Marin Transit District directors today began gearing up for a proposed tax rate election next March by directing their staff to prepare an "educational fact sheet" and authorizing the league of women voters to conduct an opinion survey.

The board's action came as it rejected a proposal from San Francisco consultants to conduct a survey "to determine with statistical accuracy what Marin County voters presently think about bus transportation and how they would be likely to vote for various (expanded bus service) alternatives."

At the urging of Director Arnold M. Baptiste, the board agreed the $5,000 cost of the professional survey would be better spent on a "fact sheet" and the league survey.

Susan Stompe, speaking for the league's Central Marin chapter, estimated the survey cost at $1,000 to the league plus an unspecified amount to hire consultants to prepare the questions and analyze the results.

Hugh Dougherty, chairman of the transit district's citizen's advisory committee, said his group opposed the professional survey because it would provide little new information.

He told directors "we know how the voters felt" in June when they rejected the last tax rate increase by a 2-to-1 margin.

To win a majority vote in March, he said, voters must first be informed of the county's transit needs and what the tax increase will buy.

As tentatively set by the board, the measure would ask voters to increase the present 5-cent tax rate ceiling to a new maximum of 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The additional revenues would be used to purchase and operate 40 new local buses under contract with the Golden Gate Bridge District. Currently, the transit district finances sevel local buses.

(The bridge district pays for transbay commute buses, while the county transit district finances local bus service, using bridge district coaches.)

There was lengthy discussion on the timing of the survey, which league spokesmen said would attempt to identify voter concerns, wants and needs in the present transit system.

They said the league will attempt to poll at least 5 per cent of the voting public, whereas the consultants' proposed interviewing only 500 persons.

Jury Asked Not To Make Study Of Consolidation

The Novato Sanitary District board voted last night to ask the Marin County Grand Jury not to bother making a study of consolidation of the sanitary and water disticts in the county.

Engineer-manager Charles A. Joseph said that the local agency formation commission is making such a study and the grand jury would just be a duplicating the work.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

Fines Asked In Pollution Of Creek

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Marin Municipal Water District is facing fines up to $30,000 for polluting San Geronimo Creek in August.

The Regional Water Quality Control Baord, citing three days of pollution that killed some 6,000 fish, referred the case to the attorney general for prosecution.

The amount of the fine, a maximum of $10,000 a day for each day's violation, will be set by a judge. Courts traditionally have imposed fines far less than the maximum allowed.

The board acted Friday after a hearing on the pollution by the district which accidentally discharged alum from its San Geronimo water treatment plant into the creek on Aug. 5, 6 and 22.

The board's staff said the district has taken steps to assure the pollution will not recur.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ERNEST MURPHY

A Second Band Of Indians Gets Into Fight Over Dam

Sonoma County's controversy over the Warm Springs dam is getting like a civil war these days — everyone is choosing sides, and sometimes it's brother against brother.

Even the local Indians are getting into the fight which will culminate on Nov. 5, when county voters determine whether the Army Corps of Engineers will build a large earthen dam across the upper Dry Creek Valley.

THE DOMINANT local tribe is the Pomo, a nation of hunters and fishermen.

Once they owned the whole county, back before it was taken over by successive waves of Russians, Spaniards, Anglos and real estate speculators.

Now the Pomo are nearly invisible, few in number and scattered among the rest of the population.

But they still remember their origins, and a few of them show a certain sense of ownership, maybe an ancestral feeling for what remains of the once-wild land of Sonoma.

ONE GROUP of Pomos, the Dry Creek band, last year became alarmed that the water behind the dam, Lake Sonoma, would flood the sites of several prehistoric villages of the tribe. This particular band joined a coalition of environmentalists and civic groups which eventually obtained a U.S. Supreme Court order blocking the dam until more environmental studies are made.

Last week another branch of the Pomo nation picked an unlikely spot to announce that it, too, was entering the fray, although not on the same side as its Dry Creek cousins.

Allan James of Sebastopol, chief of the Kashia band, called a news conference at the San Francisco Press Club to announce that his band has decided to support construction of the $114 million dam.

The chief acknowledged that the waters of Lake Sonoma would flood lands that played a part in his nation's history, and consequently his pledge of support came with an attached list of demands.

THE CHIEF WANTS the name of the lake changed to Lake Pomo, and he also wants the tribal name affixed to the fish hatchery which the corps is to build below the dam.

The lake's visitor center, proclaimed the chief, must be expanded into an Indian museum dedicated to preserving the heritage of the Pomo.

Half of the permanent and summertime jobs at the lake must be assigned to members of Pomo tribes, who also must be represented on all commissions or committees set up to supervise activities in the lake area.

"It is time," said the chief, "for the Indian voice to be heard."

Dentists Chip Away At Evel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Since the motorcycle jumps of Evel Knievel have been increasingly publicized, an increasing number of young motorcyclists are getting hurt trying to imitate him, according to the dentists who treat them for getting their teeth knocked out.

"Within three weeks after Knievel did his stunt at Snake River Canyon, I treated three youngsters with major facial injuries," Dr. Paul Walters of New Orleans said Friday.

"All three of them said they were inspired by Knievel's jump," he said.

Doctors attending the convention reported nine other cases, involving broken arms and jaws and broken, knocked out or loosened teeth, some of them refering to the injured boys as being under an "Evel influence."

ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — The trouble with Washington is that it is a very suspicious town which keeps jumping to the wrong conclusions. The other morning Arkansas' Rep. Wilbur Mills was involved in an altercation at the Tidal Basin with three women and another man. It was reported by police that Mills' nose was bleeding and he had scratches on his face. One of the women threw herself into the Tidal Basin and had to be rescued by the park police. She was identified as an Argentine-born go-go dancer.

The next morning everyone assumed that the powerful member of the House Ways and Means Committee was involved in some sort of hanky-panky. This couldn't be further from the truth. No matter how it looked in the newspapers and on television, Mills was doing the people's business.

THIS IS WHAT happened: Sunday night Mills decided to go to the Junkanoo nightclub to hold hearings on a tax-reform bill he was preparing to submit to the House. Several witnesses, including four or five go-go girls, testified that tax reform was absolutely essential if everyone in the United States were to get a fair shake. Mills remarked after each witness testified, "I'll drink to that."

As the evening wore on, more and more witnesses gave Mills input on what should be included in the tax-reform bill. Several testified against oil-depletion allowances, others against real-estate shelters.

It was a lively hearing with people getting a lot of things off their chest. About 1 o'clock in the morning, Mills decided to adjourn the meeting. He graciously offered to take home four of the witnesses, three ladies and a gentleman. Although they had been friendly witnesses in the bar, a few became hostile in Mills' automobile when he raised the question of the 5 per cent income tax surcharge.

ONE OF THE GO-GO dancers said she was violently opposed to a surcharge on income taxes. Another woman said it was imperative that everyone in America bite the bullet.

Mills, who sat between the ladies, tried to be peacemaker. He pointed out that he was personally against an added tax on income that would affect the lower middle classes. When he said this, the lady who was for biting the bullet punched him in the nose. Trying to recoup some of his dignity, the congressman added that, although he was opposed to a surcharge on income taxes, he could see the reason for having one if it would stop inflation.

This angered the other woman, who started scratching his face. Since both women were out of order, Mills ordered the man driving the car to stop by the Tidal Basin.

He tried to mediate the dispute, but to no avail. One of the women said Mills had no interest in tax reform and, while he talked a good game, he hadn't done anything about it for years.

The other woman said that Mills was really a patsy for big business and cited his contribution from the milk producers as an example of a conflict of interest.

MILLS, WHO UP until this moment had behaved like a perfect Southern gentleman, became angered and said, "I hold you both in contempt of Congress."

"You're going to have to catch me first," one of the go-go dancers said. And with that she threw herself into the waters of the Tidal Basin, where she was rescued by the police.

Representative Mills was very moved by all this and went into seclusion to redraft his entire tax-reform legislation.

And that's what really happened last week. But Washington being Washington, no one in this town wants to give anyone in politics the benefit of the doubt.

Open Hutch A Reminder Of Old Days

The desire to display the few fine possessions brought to the New World spurred the demand for the open hutch among early American settlers.

The hutch, or china cupboard as it is sometimes known today, is derived from the French word, "huche," a chest or cabinet with doors, usually on legs or atop a buffet or sideboard.

As in centuries past, it utilizes storage space logically without sacrificing beauty.

The first hutch was manufactured in America in the early 1700's. At that time, a few cherished pieces of dinnerware, glassware and coin silver flatware were displayed with pride by the early American homesteader. And the open hutch is still used for displays.

Milk Applications Are Available

The Mill Valley School District will provide free milk for children unable to pay for it, according to Supt. Peter Palches.

Eligibility will be decided based on family size and income. However, unusual expenses such as high medical bills or special education costs will be considered. Applications are available at each principal's office.

5 WAYS
TO USE LESS ENERGY
WASHING & DRYING.

Follow these clean-living guidelines for energy conservation:

1. Fill your dishwasher completely before operating. Partial loads waste fuel and water. Even more savings can be realized by turning off your dishwasher after the final rinse before the drying cycle.
2. Use cold water to rinse dishes and operate your garbage disposer. Don't waste hot water.
3. Use full loads in your clothes washer and dryer, but don't overload.
4. Clean the lint filter in your dryer after every use.
5. Take advantage of special features on your washer that can save energy. For example, suds-savers let you re-use hot water for several loads.

'Sisters' In Fashion Show

A "marvelous turnout" of 230 persons applauded the "Hay Day of Fashion" show presented by the San Rafael Jaycettes and Marin Big Sisters organization at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant Saturday.

Big Sisters and their Little Sisters were models.

Gail Gordon, coordinator of the event for the Big Sisters, said the show "gave us a very good tie with the community," and helped tell the story of the 50 Marin women who have undertaken to be older "sisters" to young girls who need the support of such a relationship.

"The show was very informal and fun," she said. "There was a very good spirit."

Clothes for the show were supplied by Modern Eve in San Rafael (adults) and the Emporium at Northgate (youngsters).

Christmas parties and a springtime celebrity auction are the next big events on the Big Sisters calendar, Mrs. Gordon said.

Persons interested in becoming Big Sisters can obtain information by phoning the Big Sisters of Marin answering service.

Mrs. Gordon thanked the San Rafael Jaycettes and their president Vickie Granucci for presenting the benefit show for Big Sisters. Colleen Williams was show chairman, with Karen Southwick and Patti Church of Big Sisters as active committee members.

Marin Surgeons Hear 47 Years Of History

By MOLLY MARIN

It was a nostalgic evening for members and wives of the Marin Surgical Society, gathered for cocktails and dinner Saturday evening at Maple Lawn, the San Rafael Elks Club.

Dr. Louis Luster Robinson, president of the society, introduced oldtimers in the crowd and talked himself of the 47 years he has been a practicing surgeon in Marin. He named the entire medical community of the county in 1927 — less than 20, including members of the health department — and spoke of the county's two existing hospitals, Ross General and now defunct Cottage Hospital in San Rafael.

He introduced Dr. Warren Bostick and his wife, Virginia, visiting Marin from Irvine where Dr. Bostick is a professor of medicine on the University of California campus. Dr. Bostick, who was Marin's first fulltime pathologist and 1963 president of the California Medical Association, said he had "left his heart" in Marin and hoped ultimately to return.

Dr. Harry Hensler, who attended with his wife Marie, also spoke, remembering that there were 27 doctors in the county when he began his practice here in 1934. When he came to Marin, he told his wife, "I've found the place I want to live and die. I'm still living so it's worked out very well."

He recalled that office visits in those days cost $2.50, home visits $3, and a 10-day obstetrical stay in a Marin hospital was $85 for a private room, $50 for a "ward" bed.

There were veteran doctors and newcomers present, all of whom rose in a standing ovation for Dr. Robinson who organized the evening of companionship. Said Dr. Bradford Simmons, Marin General Hospital board member and former chief of staff there; "We are bursting with pride."

A SURPRISE PARTY honoring Lilliam Rupnow of San Rafael on her 80th birthday was held Sunday at the home of her daughter Frances Schoenwetter in Greenbrae.

Mrs. Rupnow retired two years ago from a long career in real estate; she was a member of the Marin County Real Estate Board for 35 years.

Among the many guests at the party were her other children, William Rupnow of Sacramento, Dorothy Sandow of Los Altos, Bernice Marlowe of Oakland, Loren Rupnow of Oakland, Loreene French of San Geronimo and Wilma Gibbons of San Rafael, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

STEPHEN MICHAEL WHITE of Sausalito and Barbara Jean Lemon of Fremont, were married at the Irvington United Presbyterian Church in Fremont on Sept. 28.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger I. Lemon of Fremont, asked her sister Darby Browning of Fremont to be matron of honor. John D. White of Fremont was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andre of Sausalito.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and California State University, Hayward. He is employed at the Montgomery Ward store in Fremont, where the couple will live.

MR. AND MRS. ARNOLD Sutherland Constable of Sausalito observed their 65th wedding anniversary yesterday. Their Oct. 14 anniversary falls on the date of the Battle of Hastings in 1066.

Frances Weighell became Mrs. Constable at a ceremony at St. Peter's Church in Bywell, Northumberland, the northernmost county of England. Parts of the church were built before the Norman Conquest of 1066, according to Constable.

An architect for 72 years, Constable first came to this country to work for an architectural firm in Tacoma, Wash. In 1923 they came to the Bay Area and moved into the home in Sausalito where they still live. He became a church architect in the Bay Area, and the official architect for the Dominican Order locally. Constable designed. St. Dominic's Church, which was completed in San Francisco in 1928, and was the architect for Guzman Hall at The Dominican College in San Rafael and several smaller buildings on the campus.

Constable is 90 and his wife 92 years old. Their anniversary observance was a quiet one, since neither is very well. They have two sons, Francis A. Constable of Sausalito and Kenneth Constable of Capitola.

The Freitases maintain a townhouse at Quail Hill in Terra Linda, on the site of the old Freitas ranch. Another birthday celebration is scheduled there on Saturday, to which Mrs. Freitas' sister Mrs. Forrest South of Millbrae, and daughter Dorame have been invited.

The school is American's first resident school of needlework.

Veteran Charlie Rich Honored As Best Country Music Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Charlie Rich, who struggled for 20 years in the country music field before reaching the top, was named the industry's "Entertainer of the Year" at the Grand Old Opry last night.

Rich, 41, known as "The Silver Fox" for his long grey hair, also won "album of the year" honors for "A Very Special Love Song," which included "The Most Beautiful Girl," and "I Love My Friend."

"I'm just so happy about winning entertainer of the year," Rich said. "It's something I'll always treasure."

In his acceptance speech, Rich, whose smash record "Behind Closed Doors," won him the top single prize last year, read a poem by his wife.

"Whatever you are, whatever you do, if you have a dream hang on to it," said Rich.

Songwriter Pee Wee King, who wrote the "Tennessee Waltz," and performer-producer Owen Bradley were named to the Country Music Hall of Fame, the industry's highest honor.

Blind recording star Ronnie Milsap, a newcomer in country music, whose hits included "The Girl Who Waits on Tables," "Pure Love," and "Please Don't Tell Me How the Story Ends," received the male vocalist of the year award, and Australian-born Olivia Newton-John was named female vocalist of the year.

Miss Newton-John has recorded "If You Love Me (let me know)," "I Honestly Love You," and "Let Me Be There."

Single of the year was "Country Bumpkin," sung by Cal Smith, a former member of the Texas Troubadours. The tale of a lanky cowboy and a waitress also won song of the year honors for writer Don Wayne.

Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty were named vocal duo of the year for their recording of "As Soon As I Hang Up the Phone."

Other winners were the Statler Brothers, "vocal group of the year," whose big hit was "Thank You World;" Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, "instrumental group of the year; and the late Don Rich, "instrumentalist of the year."

San Rafael Citizens Outline Park Desires

The first of four public hearings set by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to review city recreational needs last night drew 40 residents to city hall.

Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr., saying attendance at the session was excellent, reported residents from several neighborhoods called for more parks and open space.

Bret Harte residents said Bret Harte Park should be expanded and redesigned since it is presently unattractive and inadequate, Snyder reported.

Bret Harte residents also called for creation of a system of bike, hiking and sidewalk paths to link the neighborhood with local park and school facilities, he said.

Residents called for a public swimming pool at either Albert Park or James B. Davidson School, and said Davidson School field should be developed as a "multiuse park," according to Snyder.

Other residents called for a minipark at the corner of Woodland Avenue and Irwin Street, and urged acquisition of open space adjacent to Gerstle Park.

Snyder said that representatives of the Little League called for development of two more ballfields in the area, preferably at Davidson School and Albert Park.

The recreation director noted that the commission hopes to incorporate citizen concerns into a parks and recreation master plan it is drafting for San Rafael.

The commission next meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hear recreation concerns of residents of the Dominican, Black Canyon, East San Rafael and San Pedro Peninsula neighborhoods.

The commission hearings will continue on Thursday and on Oct. 29. The commission will evaluate citizen concerns on Oct. 31.

Transit Board Asks Tax Election Survey

Marin Transit District directors today began gearing up for a proposed tax rate election next March by directing their staff to prepare an "educational fact sheet" and authorizing the league of women voters to conduct an opinion survey.

The board's action came as it rejected a proposal from San Francisco consultants to conduct a survey "to determine with statistical accuracy what Marin County voters presently think about bus transportation and how they would be likely to vote for various (expanded bus service) alternatives."

At the urging of Director Arnold M. Baptiste, the board agreed the $5,000 cost of the professional survey would be better spent on a "fact sheet" and the league survey.

Ray W. Foreaker Jr., district general manager, was told to return Nov. 5 with cost estimates.

Susan Stompe, speaking for the league's Central Marin chapter, estimated the survey cost at $1,000 to the league plus an unspecified amount to hire consultants to prepare the questions and analyze the results.

Hugh Dougherty, chairman of the transit district's citizen's advisory committee, said his group opposed the professional survey because it would provide little new information.

He told directors "we know how the voters felt" in June when they rejected the last tax rate increase by a 2-to-1 margin.

To win a majority vote in March, he said, voters must first be informed of the county's transit needs and what the tax increase will buy.

As tentatively set by the board, the measure would ask voters to increase the present 5-cent tax rate ceiling to a new maximum of 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The additional revenues would be used to purchase and operate 40 new local buses under contract with the Golden Gate Bridge District. Currently, the transit district finances sevel local buses.

(The bridge district pays for transbay commute buses, while the county transit district finances local bus service, using bridge district coaches.)

There was lengthy discussion on the timing of the survey, which league spokesmen said would attempt to identify voter concerns, wants and needs in the present transit system.

They said the league will attempt to poll at least 5 per cent of the voting public, whereas the consultants' proposed interviewing only 500 persons.

Jury Asked Not To Make Study Of Consolidation

The Novato Sanitary District board voted last night to ask the Marin County Grand Jury not to bother making a study of consolidation of the sanitary and water distiets in the county.

Engineer-manager Charles A. Joseph said that the local agency formation commission is making such a study and the grand jury would just be a duplicating the work.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

PLANS — Approved paying overtime or farming out the engineering work on a major sewer from Franklin Street to South Novato Boulevard and Center Road so that the project can be constructed next year.

ANNEXATIONS — Approved annexing the Guido Paladini property at Wilson Avenue and Center Road, several lots on the south side of Vineyard Road west of Sinaloa Junior High School, a small subdivision on Tamalpais Avenue between Hill Road and Center Road, and 70 acres on the North side of Olive Avenue east of the Novato city limits owned by Hoffman and Albritton.

Fines Asked In Pollution Of Creek

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Marin Municipal Water District is facing fines up to $30,000 for polluting San Geronimo Creek in August.

The Regional Water Quality Control Baord, citing three days of pollution that killed some 6,000 fish, referred the case to the attorney general for prosecution.

The amount of the fine, a maximum of $10,000 a day for each day's violation, will be set by a judge. Courts traditionally have imposed fines far less than the maximum allowed.

The board acted Friday after a hearing on the pollution by the district which accidentally discharged alum from its San Geronimo water treatment plant into the creek on Aug. 5, 6 and 22.

The board's staff said the district has taken steps to assure the pollution will not recur.

Full Time Slob May Not Be Really Worth Reform Attempts

RAP:

I have been going out with this guy for about three months and really like him. The only thing is, he never dresses up!

He always looks like a slob, with the same T shirt and worn-out jeans. I've told him about it many times, and have had some of his friends talk to him, but nothing helps. Even to a formal wedding, it's the same old rags.

How can I get him to dress up for a change? — SLOB'S GIRLFRIEND

S.GF:

This fellow is flaunting something, but whether it's his hostility, nonconformity or lack of funds, I don't know.

If "nothing helps" — and he won't discuss his old-clothes fetish — there are only two choices: resignation or a new boyfriend. Honest now, do you like him well enough not to be ashamed of him and his slobbiness at dress-up affairs? — HELEN

SGF:

You might try dressing down to his level. Perhaps when he sees YOU barefoot, in ragged jeans, no make-up and messy hair — and all ready to go on a date — he'll get the message. (Then again, he may like you better that way in which case he's probably too anti-establishment for a girl like you.) — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You commented on girls who write, "I'm not for women's liberation, but I AM for equal rights," saying "What a shame they don't realize they're one and the same."

True, "liberation" and "equal rights" SHOULD mean the same, but it just isn't so. Too often, the first stands for "anti-men." That's why we moderates picked up the habit of saying we're for equal rights.

Every guy I know has run into some libber who treated him like dirt. Besides, if our culture had been exactly opposite in sex roles, which would you feel better hearing from a male: "men's lib" or "equal rights?"

We aren't liberating women, we're liberating people. Men are in as big a rut as we are. Women don't want to trade ruts, they want everyone out of them.

Until we're free of labels, I'm still for E.R.! — LINDA

LINDA:

Perhaps the phrase, "women's liberation" has outgrown its usefulness, but let's give credit: if it hadn't been for those ardent liberationists, equal rights would still be cowering in a dark closet, ignored by employers and legislators who "had more important things to do." Suffragettes, feminists, liberationists have all been maligned, but without them, well, we wouldn't have come a long way, baby. Nor would so many men have discovered that liberation is for everyone.

So now — let's just shorten it to "personhood" and get on with being equal where it's necessary, different where it counts. — HELEN

DESIGN FOR PEOPLE

Old Familiar Objects Can Be Transformed Into New Glories

By EMILY MALINO
Distributed by United Features Syndicate

Have you ever looked at a familiar object, something that has been kicking around forever, and suddenly seen it in a whole new light?

I don't know about you, but I often get this feeling. In a hardware shop or a lumber yard, as I pass through slowly, immersed in the recognition of dozens of familiar things, my imagination takes over converting each decorative Cinderella to a princess in some other environment.

I get all fired up when I see work-lights, wooden ladders, pails, oil lanterns or S-hooks; my designing impulses quicken when my gaze falls on cedar shakes, one-by-fours, two-by-sixes, rough hewn plywood or a garden trellis.

But one of my favorite stimuli is steel shelving. I'm talking now about the old familiar kind with the infinitely adjustable verticals and the strong, unwarped wood boards; there are also steel shelving systems that are all steel — shelves as well as verticals. Though I prefer the type with wood shelving, both can be transformed with paint.

With that all steel type, you can go for broke and paint the entire thing orange-red or shiny white, if you're afraid of bright colors. With the woodshelf variety, you can paint the verticals and stain the shelves. With either treatment, the system begins to look like something super-splendid in its new coloration.

In a small dining room I designed for a family that needed the space for more than meal-times, I had to find space for books, a hi-fi system and a small bar, as the room was used as a study-den when it was not an eatery.

For storing everything, I used a triple tier of my favorite steel shelving. Each tier cost only $9. I painted the wall behind the shelves charcoal gray, and then painted the vertical supports with a glossy appliance-white spray enamel. I left the shelves in a light, natural finish that works happily with the natural wicker arm chairs around the table.

The table itself is a made-up number, consisting of an old sewing machine table base and a new plastic laminate self-edged top. I painted the base black, echoing the charcoal wall, and made the top as white a plastic as the shiny painted steel shelf supports.

To carry this crisp black and white scheme to a bit of further refinements, I painted the floor white, coating the paint with clear polyurethane, hung a factory lamp shade in bright red over the table, and set plants and furnishings against a plain whtie wall and window shade.

All the decorating herein came to about $200, not including the hi-fi or the elbow grease needed to paint, clean and finish the floor, guaranteeing a positive, pleasant, and economic effect for a tiny room.

Dance Planned For Petalumans

Chicken Little Chapter of Children's Home Society will sponsor a dance at the Petaluma Veteran's Memorial Building at 9 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 2. Breakfast will be served at 1 a.m.

The theme for the dance is "Moonlight and Roses," according to Chairmen Verli Rohde and Winni Nelson. Mary Waltman and her committee will decorate the hall.

Reservation chairman is Marce McKenna, 370 King Road, Petaluma.

Drama Workshop Is Rescheduled

A drama and speech workshop for children scheduled to begin Oct. 7 has been postponed until Monday.

The workshop for 7 to 18-year-olds, led by Elena Cascales of Sausalito, will consist of improvisation, dance movement, vocal exercises and scene reading.

Classes will be held on Mondays, one at 3:30 p.m. and another at 7:30 p.m., at the Young Men's Christian Association, 241 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael. The workshop is sponsored by the YMCA.

New Zealand Journey For Newlyweds

Noella Marie Saccone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Saccone of San Rafael, was married Oct. 5, at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael to Capt. Robert J. Albertazzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Albertazzi of Napa.

Following a wedding trip to New Zealand, the couple will live in Napa.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

Noella was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and University of San Francisco, earning her elementary teaching credential from the University of California at Davis. She was formerly employed at the Dixie School in San Rafael.

Robert was graduated from St. Vincent Ferrer in Vallejo and the University of San Francisco. He is presently a captain in the U.S. Army, stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

He has one sister, Barbara McDonald of Twin Falls, Ida. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Albertazzi of Napa.

Stitchery Class To Be Given At Mill Valley

Classes in stitchery will be sponsored by the Cultural Arts Department of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley beginning tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon at the clubhouse.

Kermit Nickerson of San Anselmo will be the instructor for the course of eight sessions to be held on subsequent Wednesdays. The instructor has designed hand knit garments for yarn companies. She has been the owner of a knitting shop in San Francisco, and one in Wisconsin. Besides her expertise in knitting, Mrs. Nickerson is also skilled in needlepoint, pettipoint, crewel work and Danish cross stitch.

Alice Lelich, cultural arts chairman, is information and registration chairman.

Nautical Gear To Be Sold In Sausalito

The Sausalito Yacht Club will have an exchange of nautical gear, billed as the "Mammoth Inventory Reduction and Flea Market Sale," Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The sale will be held on the deck of the yacht club. Members of other Bay Area yacht clubs have been invited to come by land or sea.

The sale has two purposes, according to the chairman, Loretta Fontana, "to recycle useful boating equipment and to raise funds to complete the furnishing of the club's junior sailing room."

Symphony Offers Deal On Season Tickets

The Marin Symphony Association is offering group rates to organizations whose members purchase at least 20 season tickets.

Adult season tickets for the four concerts are $13. An organization that purchases 20 tickets will be reimbursed $3 for each season ticket.

On single concert tickets, which are $4, the association will reimburse the organization $1 on a minimum of 20 tickets.

The opening concert will be held Nov. 24. Further information is available from the Marin Symphony office, Box 127, San Rafael.

'Sisters' In Fashion Show

A "marvelous turnout" of 230 persons applauded the "Hay Day of Fashion" show presented by the San Rafael Jaycettes and Marin Big Sisters organization at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant Saturday.

Big Sisters and their Little Sisters were models.

Gail Gordon, coordinator of the event for the Big Sisters, said the show "gave us a very good tie with the community," and helped tell the story of the 50 Marin women who have undertaken to be older "sisters" to young girls who need the support of such a relationship.

"The show was very informal and fun," she said. "There was a very good spirit."

Clothes for the show were supplied by Modern Eve in San Rafael (adults) and the Emporium at Northgate (youngsters).

Christmas parties and a springtime celebrity auction are the next big events on the Big Sisters calendar, Mrs. Gordon said.

Persons interested in becoming Big Sisters can obtain information by phoning the Big Sisters of Marin answering service.

Mrs. Gordon thanked the San Rafael Jaycettes and their president Vickie Granucci for presenting the benefit show for Big Sisters. Colleen Williams was show chairman, with Karen Southwick and Patti Church of Big Sisters as active committee members.

Marin Surgeons Hear 47 Years Of History

By MOLLY MARIN

It was a nostalgic evening for members and wives of the Marin Surgical Society, gathered for cocktails and dinner Saturday evening at Maple Lawn, the San Rafael Elks Club.

Dr. Louis Luster Robinson, president of the society, introduced oldtimers in the crowd and talked himself of the 47 years he has been a practicing surgeon in Marin. He named the entire medical community of the county in 1927 — less than 20, including members of the health department — and spoke of the county's two existing hospitals, Ross General and now defunct Cottage Hospital in San Rafael.

He introduced Dr. Warren Bostick and his wife, Virginia, visiting Marin from Irvine where Dr. Bostick is a professor of medicine on the University of California campus. Dr. Bostick, who was Marin's first fulltime pathologist and 1963 president of the California Medical Association, said he had "left his heart" in Marin and hoped ultimately to return.

Dr. Harry Hensler, who attended with his wife Marie, also spoke, remembering that there were 27 doctors in the county when he began his practice here in 1934. When he came to Marin, he told his wife, "I've found the place I want to live and die. I'm still living so it's worked out very well."

He recalled that office visits in those days cost $2.50, home visits $3, and a 10-day obstetrical stay in a Marin hospital was $85 for a private room, $50 for a "ward" bed.

There were veteran doctors and newcomers present, all of whom rose in a standing ovation for Dr. Robinson who organized the evening of companionship. Said Dr. Bradford Simmons, Marin General Hospital board member and former chief of staff there; "We are bursting with pride."

A SURPRISE PARTY honoring Lilliam Rupnow of San Rafael on her 80th birthday was held Sunday at the home of her daughter Frances Schoenwetter in Greenbrae.

Mrs. Rupnow retired two years ago from a long career in real estate; she was a member of the Marin County Real Estate Board for 35 years.

Among the many guests at the party were her other children, William Rupnow of Sacramento, Dorothy Sandow of Los Altos, Bernice Marlowe of Oakland, Loren Rupnow of Oakland, Loreene French of San Geronimo and Wilma Gibbons of San Rafael, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

STEPHEN MICHAEL WHITE of Sausalito and Barbara Jean Lemon of Fremont, were married at the Irvington United Presbyterian Church in Fremont on Sept. 28.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger I. Lemon of Fremont, asked her sister Darby Browning of Fremont to be matron of honor. John D. White of Fremont was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andre of Sausalito.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and California State University, Hayward. He is employed at the Montgomery Ward store in Fremont, where the couple will live.

MR. AND MRS. ARNOLD Sutherland Constable of Sausalito observed their 65th wedding anniversary yesterday. Their Oct. 14 anniversary falls on the date of the Battle of Hastings in 1066.

Frances Weighell became Mrs. Constable at a ceremony at St. Peter's Church in Bywell, Northumberland, the northernmost county of England. Parts of the church were built before the Norman Conquest of 1066, according to Constable.

Marin Women

An architect for 72 years, Constable first came to this country to work for an architectural firm in Tacoma, Wash. In 1923 they came to the Bay Area and moved into the home in Sausalito where they still live. He became a church architect in the Bay Area, and the official architect for the Dominican Order locally. Constable designed. St. Dominic's Church, which was completed in San Francisco in 1928, and was the architect for Guzman Hall at The Dominican College in San Rafael and several smaller buildings on the campus.

Constable is 90 and his wife 92 years old. Their anniversary observance was a quiet one, since neither is very well. They have two sons, Francis A. Constable of Sausalito and Kenneth Constable of Capitola.

The Freitases maintain a townhouse at Quail Hill in Terra Linda, on the site of the old Freitas ranch. Another birthday celebration is scheduled there on Saturday, to which Mrs. Freitas' sister Mrs. Forrest South of Millbrae, and daughter Dorame have been invited.

The school is American's first resident school of needlework.

'Women In Prison' Discussion Slated

The Penngrove Womancenter will present a discussion on the proposed behavior modifcation unit at Corona Women's Prison Friday at 8 p.m. at the center, 9595 Petaluma Hill Road, Penngrove.

Speakers at the "Women in Prison" program will include an ex-convict, an ex-deputy sheriff from Santa Rosa and a therapist working on the behavioral modifcation issue.

DRAMA REVIEW

Shakespeare Or 'The Exorcist'?

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

"RICHARD THE THIRD" — A two-act play by William Shakespeare; directed by William Ball; associate direction by Robert Bonaventura; scenery by Robert Blackman; costumes by Robert Fletcher; lighting by F. Mitchell Dana; incidental music by Lee Hoiby; choreography by John Pasqualetti. The cast: King Edward the IV, William Paterson; Duke of York, Christopher Abbe; Duke of Clarence, Daniel Davis; Richard the Third, Randall Duk Kim; Thomas Grey, Christopher Valentine; Lord Richard Grey, Daniel Kern; Lord Hastins, Laird Williamson; Sir James Tyrrel, Charles H. Hyman; Sir Brakenbury, Al White; First Murderer, Charles Hallahan; Second Murderer, Michael Hume; Queen Elizabeth, Elizabeth Cole; Widow Margaret, Fredi Olster; Duchess of York, Marrian Walters; Lady Anne, Hope Alexander-Willis. At the Geary in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO — A theatrical production must stand on its faithfulness to the play. There was little in the production of "Richard The III" that opened the ACT season Saturday at the Geary that was true to Shakespeare.

How could a company that produced last year's definitive "Taming of the Shrew" of "Cyrano" go so far off this year?

Director William Ball described his intentions: "It's a prototypic melodrama, a melodrama exploring the satanic world of Richard. We have sought to realize the melodramatic potential."

The result, sad to say, is to make the production the enemy of the play, to reduce it to a pounding, relentless monotony that left the trapped audience squirming in its seats.

It did not once touch the subtleties in the play, nay, not Anne's mourning, not Margaret's curse, not Clarence's nightmare and death; nay, not a line of Tyrrel's conscience, the murder of the princes, Buckingham's death; not Richard's fear nor final fall. Never did the heinous deeds return to haunt their perpetrators.

Robert Fletcher's costumes, with a massive emphasis on leather seemed more suited to a piece of sadistic-masochistic pornography. But then, this "Richard" was more a companion piece to "Rosemary's Baby" or "The Exorcist" than to a work of the subtle Bard.

Randall Duk Kim, a new talent, did everything he could to save his portrayal of Richard from the production. He centered it around Richard's sexual appetite, a Richard "not shap'd for sport . . . not made to court," wanting "love's majesty to strut before a wanton ambling nymph." But even these attempts were lost under Ball's weird direction.

Michael Hume attempts in vain to give his role as a murderer a conscience, but, forced by Hall to play the fool in the early part of the scene, he can not reverse himself. Al White's attempt as Sir Brackenbury to show tenderness towards the imprisoned Duke of Clarence is equally unbelievable in Ball's "Clockwork Orange" approach.

The royal ladies (Elizabeth Cole, Fredi Olster, Marrian Walters and Hope Alexander-Willis) are dressed in two-foot wide, teased hairdos of varying gaudy colors. Their laments are shrieked in unison as if they were the witches cursing Macbeth and not England's royal family.

However, Marrian Walters as the Duchess of York rescues some femininity in the scene with the orphaned children of the Duke of Clarence. (Christopher Valentine, Daniel Kern) "Good, grandam," it begins, "is our father dead?"

The Duchess' lament is poignantly counterpointed by the boys' faith that God will provide a just revenge. Yet nowhere in the evening did a single march towards this rightful revenge begin.

Due to Ball's extensive cutting, Richmond merely appears, deus ex machina, dressed in a helmet shaped like a unicorn's head. After the overly famous "A horse, a horse, a kingdom for a horse", the appearance of a unicorn as England's redeemer was symbolically overdoing it.

It hardly helped matters that Richmond, played by Randall Smith, was so limp that he had almost no authority or commanding presence. He gave credence to Richard's description, "Who doth lead them but a paltry fellow, a milksop."

Stripped to his all-white tights, Richmond the beautiful, the all-good, kills Richard the ugly, the all-bad and we are sent home, hoping to forget the travesty.

American Lutherans Ease Stand On Abortion

DETROIT (UPI) — American Lutheran Church delegates last night softened the 2.5 million-member church's antiabortion stand by approving a resolution stating that abortion is necessary in some cases.

Christians have "a responsibility to make the best possible decision" in considering the termination of a pregnancy "based on the situation and accountability for God, self and neighbor," the convention said in a resolution approved on a vote of 500-379.

The resolution, however, reaffirmed the unborn child's right to life.

The previous church position permitted abortions only when the health of the mother was endangered. In 1966 and 1970, the church had issued statements saying, "There are times and circumstances when interruption of the pregnancy is necessary for therapeutic reasons."

Last night's resolution rejected induced abortion as a ready solution for problem pregnancies, but allowed church members "the judgment that — all pertinent factors of responsibility considered —the developing life may be terminated to defend the health and wholeness" of those involved.

The resolution said contraception was a viable alternative to ending the life of an unborn infant but rejected voluntary sterilization as a method of preventing pregnances.

The statement also said church counseling "should offer understanding" to the parties concerned as to what is involved in either abortion or carrying the child to term, and "the possible effects of either decision."

The controversial resolution was approved just before midnight after a full day of debate.

The debate was a continuation of discussions that occupied the delegates' time most of last Wednesday and Friday.

Some 1,000 delegates were in Detroit for the convention, which sets policy for the third largest Lutheran body in the United States.

Freed Hostage Takes Vacation

MIAMI (UPI) — Barbara Hutchison, one of seven hostages held by leftist guerrillas in Santo Domingo for 13 days, is on vacation in Florida where she will spend a week sunning, shopping and "running around doing nothing."

Trim and relaxed, the 47-year-old embassy officer plans to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Roger Fulling, who lives near Palm Beach. She said she wants to continue her work in the Dominican Republic and does not want protection from bodyguards.

The hostages — originally held for $1 million ransom — were released unharmed last Wednesday by seven gunmen in return for safe passage to Panama.

HEDWIG BILGRAM
Organ recital

European Organist Will Play

German organist Hedwig Bilgram of Munich will present a recital at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The program will include works by Bach, Dandrieu, Bruhns, Krebs and Durufle.

Professor Bilgram is a graduate of the State Academy of Music in Munich. She has presented concerts throughout Europe conducted by Herbert von Karajan, Rafael Kubelik and Richter, and in the Soviet Union and Japan.

The concert will be sponsored by the church and the Goethe Institute in San Francisco. A donation will be taken at the door.

8th Fatal Stabbing At San Quentin

A San Quentin inmate — imprisoned there less than two weeks and due to be transferred today to a minimum security work camp — was stabbed to death shortly before noon yesterday.

Officers said William Van Meter, 25, was stabbed 13 times in the back and chest during an exercise period Monday.

It was the 62nd stabbing — the eighth fatal one — at the prison this year.

Authorities said they have locked up the inmate thought to have killed Van Meter, but no weapon was found, nor was any motive known.

Van Meter, convicted of forgery, burglary and auto theft in Santa Clara County, was to have been transferred today to the Sierra Conservation Center, Tuolumne County.

Suez Widening

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese construction company said today it has signed with Egypt a $168.7 million contract to enlarge the Suez Canal to accommodate by 1979 ships of 150,000 tons. Officials of Penta-Ocean Construction Co. said work will begin late next year.

MUSIC REVIEW

Esoteric Concert Program Attracts Audience Of 2,000

At the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building last night the Mosaic Chamber Group gave an audience of two thousand or more an evening bathed in friendly, serious but attractive music.

The program was highly esoteric, only Honegger and Faure would be generally well-known, yet that did not deter a sizable turnout. Those lucky people.

An "intrada" is an instrumental introduction, a prelude, and thus Arthur Honegger's "Intrada for Trumpet and Piano" started the evening.

After a flurry of scales, it settled into a melodious segment with a scattering of embellishments. The counts are most difficult and Laurie McGaw, assistant principal trumpet with the San Francisco Symphony, played briskly with an absolute clarity of tone. After another modulated, restrained segment, the piece ended with a few more passing and marvelously fluttering embellishments.

Jacques Casterede's "Breves Rencontres" was equally rapid. The piano backing, played by Janet Goodman Guggenheim, is like Stravinsky with its quick changes of rhythm and brisk intercuttings. It was almost like two Italians in animated conversation.

The pavanne movement was very Parisian, elongating the final phrases with nostalgia. The piano backing here was softly repetitive, like the lapping of waves.

McGaw's muted trumpet pulled the work in, made it even more introspective; his second mute made the first even more inward.

In the scherzo McGaw and Guggenheim were in perfect unison, running through the rippling line of music freely. It was most enjoyable.

Ernest von Dohnanyi's "Serenade in C Major, Opus 10" introduced violinist Zaven Melikian, violist Thomas Heimberg and cellist Robert Sayre. Its emphasis is on tonal layering.

Not only were the players similar in temperament and style, their instruments were particularly harmonious and mello in ensemble, having much of the same tonal warmth. This complete blend is as hard to find as a perfect wine.

The coloration of the "Serenade" was fine, often crisp, then somber and lyrical. Sayre's cello, a Sanctus Serafin that would sell for an approximate $30,000 today, is richly resonant — particularly with the pizzicati in which the strings are plucked rather than bowed.

Much of the pizzicati kept the light nature of the earlier work, but set against the mournful strings the second movement turned to the serious. The coloration hit an expressive peak with a full simultaneity, each instrument going its independent way, and then a parallel theme for the viola and violin.

The scherzo had defyingly quick tempos intercut by sudden, momentary brushstrokes by the cello. Its alacruity and swift, complex punctuation left the audience rapt. After the intermission and a tribute to the departing president of the Marin Concert Association, Ben A. Farlatti, Faure's "Quartet No. 1 in C Minor, Opus 15" turned the evening to the more intense repertoire.

Pianist Guggenheim was her best here. This piece speaks in paragraphs and her intonation and phrasing matched the longer units. Played with much held in reserve, the players thereby gave the ending a true progression.

Trumpetist Laurie McGaw joined the others in the final Concertino in E Flat A Cinque by Albrechtsberger. It is a great baroque piece with trumpet ornamentation set against the strings and piano.

Hard to play rhythmically, the larghetto compounds the difficulty by staying in the absolute top part of the trumpet's range.

Second only to Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, it is a trumpeter's acid test. McGaw played a rare and unusual trumpet, a piccolo trumpet one half the size of a regular B-flat trumpet. It was regal in sound. The "Concertino" was his triumph and the enthusiastic audience left inspired by the Mosaic Chamber Group.

Report Fete Slated For Bay Crusade

The "first campaign report celebration" has been scheduled by the Marin County Advisory Board of the United Bay Area Crusade for 3:45 to 5 p.m. Oct. 23 at Commerce Clearing House in San Rafael.

Gordon Hough, a San Francisco Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive who is the five-county UBAC campaign chairman, will present awards to outstanding volunteers.

The Saints and Sinners Dixieland Jazz Band will perform, and free champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served. The refreshments are either being donated or paid for by the advisory board, a spokesman said.

The public is invited, but reservations must be made by Wednesday with Joanne Fleming at the Marin County UBAC office.

Ford To Visit Museum Benefit

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — It took some juggling of schedules, but President Ford will appear at the annual auction of the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry after all.

Oregon Republican state chairman Dave Green said yesterday that Ford accepted an invitation to appear at the auction Nov. 1.

In order for Ford to schedule the event, Green had to change the time of Ford's appearance at a Republican fund-raising reception and cancel a GOP dance.

Museum officials had invited Ford and were fearful of a poor turnout at the auction if Ford couldn't show.

Green said Ford would appear briefly at the auction following the two-hour GOP reception the same evening.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Full Time Slob May Not Be Really Worth Reform Attempts

RAP:

I have been going out with this guy for about three months and really like him. The only thing is, he never dresses up!

He always looks like a slob, with the same T shirt and worn-out jeans. I've told him about it many times, and have had some of his friends talk to him, but nothing helps. Even to a formal wedding, it's the same old rags.

How can I get him to dress up for a change? — SLOB'S GIRLFRIEND

S.GF:

This fellow is flaunting something, but whether it's his hostility, nonconformity or lack of funds, I don't know.

If "nothing helps" — and he won't discuss his old-clothes fetish — there are only two choices: resignation or a new boyfriend. Honest now, do you like him well enough not to be ashamed of him and his slobbiness at dress-up affairs? — HELEN

SGF:

You might try dressing down to his level. Perhaps when he sees YOU barefoot, in ragged jeans, no make-up and messy hair — and all ready to go on a date — he'll get the message. (Then again, he may like you better that way in which case he's probably too anti-establishment for a girl like you.) — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You commented on girls who write, "I'm not for women's liberation, but I AM for equal rights," saying "What a shame they don't realize they're one and the same."

True, "liberation" and "equal rights" SHOULD mean the same, but it just isn't so. Too often, the first stands for "anti-men." That's why we moderates picked up the habit of saying we're for equal rights.

Every guy I know has run into some libber who treated him like dirt. Besides, if our culture had been exactly opposite in sex roles, which would you feel better hearing from a male: "men's lib" or "equal rights?"

We aren't liberating women, we're liberating people. Men are in as big a rut as we are. Women don't want to trade ruts, they want everyone out of them.

Until we're free of labels, I'm still for E.R.! — LINDA

LINDA:

Perhaps the phrase, "women's liberation" has outgrown its usefulness, but let's give credit: if it hadn't been for those ardent liberationists, equal rights would still be cowering in a dark closet, ignored by employers and legislators who "had more important things to do." Suffragettes, feminists, liberationists have all been maligned, but without them, well, we wouldn't have come a long way, baby. Nor would so many men have discovered that liberation is for everyone.

So now — let's just shorten it to "personhood" and get on with being equal where it's necessary, different where it counts. — HELEN

DESIGN FOR PEOPLE

Old Familiar Objects Can Be Transformed Into New Glories

By EMILY MALINO
Distributed by United Features Syndicate

Have you ever looked at a familiar object, something that has been kicking around forever, and suddenly seen it in a whole new light?

I don't know about you, but I often get this feeling. In a hardware shop or a lumber yard, as I pass through slowly, immersed in the recognition of dozens of familiar things, my imagination takes over converting each decorative Cinderella to a princess in some other environment.

I get all fired up when I see work-lights, wooden ladders, pails, oil lanterns or S-hooks; my designing impulses quicken when my gaze falls on cedar shakes, one-by-fours, two-by-sixes, rough hewn plywood or a garden trellis.

But one of my favorite stimuli is steel shelving. I'm talking now about the old familiar kind with the infinitely adjustable verticals and the strong, unwarped wood boards; there are also steel shelving systems that are all steel — shelves as well as verticals. Though I prefer the type with wood shelving, both can be transformed with paint.

With that all steel type, you can go for broke and paint the entire thing orange-red or shiny white, if you're afraid of bright colors. With the woodshelf variety, you can paint the verticals and stain the shelves. With either treatment, the system begins to look like something super-splendid in its new coloration.

In a small dining room I designed for a family that needed the space for more than meal-times, I had to find space for books, a hi-fi system and a small bar, as the room was used as a study-den when it was not an eatery.

For storing everything, I used a triple tier of my favorite steel shelving. Each tier cost only $9. I painted the wall behind the shelves charcoal gray, and then painted the vertical supports with a glossy appliance-white spray enamel. I left the shelves in a light, natural finish that works happily with the natural wicker arm chairs around the table.

The table itself is a made-up number, consisting of an old sewing machine table base and a new plastic laminate self-edged top. I painted the base black, echoing the charcoal wall, and made the top as white a plastic as the shiny painted steel shelf supports.

To carry this crisp black and white scheme to a bit of further refinements, I painted the floor white, coating the paint with clear polyurethane, hung a factory lamp shade in bright red over the table, and set plants and furnishings against a plain whtie wall and window shade.

All the decorating herein came to about $200, not including the hi-fi or the elbow grease needed to paint, clean and finish the floor, guaranteeing a positive, pleasant, and economic effect for a tiny room.

Dance Planned For Petalumans

Chicken Little Chapter of Children's Home Society will sponsor a dance at the Petaluma Veteran's Memorial Building at 9 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 2. Breakfast will be served at 1 a.m.

The theme for the dance is "Moonlight and Roses," according to Chairmen Verli Rohde and Winni Nelson. Mary Waltman and her committee will decorate the hall.

Reservation chairman is Marce McKenna, 370 King Road, Petaluma.

Drama Workshop Is Rescheduled

A drama and speech workshop for children scheduled to begin Oct. 7 has been postponed until Monday.

The workshop for 7 to 18-year-olds, led by Elena Cascales of Sausalito, will consist of improvisation, dance movement, vocal exercises and scene reading.

Classes will be held on Mondays, one at 3:30 p.m. and another at 7:30 p.m., at the Young Men's Christian Association, 241 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael. The workshop is sponsored by the YMCA.

New Zealand Journey For Newlyweds

Noella Marie Saccone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Saccone of San Rafael, was married Oct. 5, at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael to Capt. Robert J. Albertazzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Albertazzi of Napa.

Following a wedding trip to New Zealand, the couple will live in Napa.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

Noella was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and University of San Francisco, earning her elementary teaching credential from the University of California at Davis. She was formerly employed at the Dixie School in San Rafael.

Robert was graduated from St. Vincent Ferrer in Vallejo and the University of San Francisco. He is presently a captain in the U.S. Army, stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

He has one sister, Barbara McDonald of Twin Falls, Ida. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Albertazzi of Napa.

John Cavallero of San Francisco is the grandfather of the bride.

Stitchery Class To Be Given At Mill Valley

Classes in stitchery will be sponsored by the Cultural Arts Department of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley beginning tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon at the clubhouse.

Kermit Nickerson of San Anselmo will be the instructor for the course of eight sessions to be held on subsequent Wednesdays. The instructor has designed hand knit garments for yarn companies. She has been the owner of a knitting shop in San Francisco, and one in Wisconsin. Besides her expertise in knitting, Mrs. Nickerson is also skilled in needlepoint, petti-point, crewel work and Danish cross stitch.

Nautical Gear To Be Sold In Sausalito

The Sausalito Yacht Club will have an exchange of nautical gear, billed as the "Mammoth Inventory Reduction and Flea Market Sale," Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The sale will be held on the deck of the yacht club. Members of other Bay Area yacht clubs have been invited to come by land or sea.

The sale has two purposes, according to the chairman, Loretta Fontana, "to recycle useful boating equipment and to raise funds to complete the furnishing of the club's junior sailing room."

Symphony Offers Deal On Season Tickets

The Marin Symphony Association is offering group rates to organizations whose members purchase at least 20 season tickets.

Adult season tickets for the four concerts are $13. An organization that purchases 20 tickets will be reimbursed $3 for each season ticket.

On single concert tickets, which are $4, the association will reimburse the organization $1 on a minimum of 20 tickets.

The opening concert will be held Nov. 24. Further information is available from the Marin Symphony office, Box 127, San Rafael.

Elks Dinner Law Night Speaker Set

Dan Davis of Granada Hills will be speaker at the annual "law enforcement night" dinner of San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the lodge's Maple Lawn clubhouse.

Davis is author of a drug abuse manual prepared for the grand lodge of Elks. He has held many positions in the California-Hawaii Elks Association and has served on the grand lodge's Americanism committee. He is a partner in Custom Products Co., a Sun Valley manufacturing firm.

"Law enforcement night" is held by the San Rafael Elks Lodge each year to honor law enforcement officers of the county. Chairman of this year's event is Walter S. Filler.

'Antigone' Slated Two Weekends

Because it was well received during the theater's arts festival which ended Sunday, the Quicksilver Theater Co.'s adaptation of "Antigone" by Sophocles will be staged for two more weekends at the Cinnabar Theater in Petaluma.

Performances are set for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Sunday, and on Oct. 25, 26, and 27.

The Southern Sonoma Drama company is directed by Dick Blake, who trained at London's Royal Academy and who was a touring player in Europe. The cast includes Cristina Ismael, Caroline Sievers and Pat Woodworth.

The Quicksilver production of "Antigone" is based on the classic version and on one by the French author Jean Anouilh. The company itself, according to a Cinnabar Theater spokesman, developed much of the text and all of the chorus parts.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2 for students and $1 for children 12 and under. Adult tickets may be obtained for $2 each is bought in groups of 10 or more, the spokesman said.

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 15, the 288th day of 1974 with 77 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Irish poet and author Oscar Wilde was born Oct. 15, 1856.

On this date in history:

In 1917, the most famous spy of World War I, Gertrude Zelle, known as Mata Hari, was executed by a firing squad outside Paris.

In 1928, the German dirigible Graf Zepplin arrived in the United States on its first commercial flight. It took 4½ days.

In 1946, Nazi Reichmarshal Herman Goering committed suicide.

A thought for the day: Irish writer Oscar Wilde said, "There is no sin except stupidity."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Bridge Situation Is Like A Child's Loose Tooth

A certain type of bridge situation is like a child's loose tooth. You can monkey with it, giving yourself pain and fear and leaving the tooth still where it was. Or you can be decisive about it, giving yourself the same trouble in the process, but the tooth will be out.

A LOW HEART

When West opened a low heart, declarer had a finesse in each of the four suits. Which finesse was it proper to take?

It was easy to work out that it was too risky to try the heart finesse. Hence South put up dummy's ace of hearts and stared at the three remaining finesses.

After enough of a pause to indicate that he had thought deeply about the problem, South led a trump from dummy and finessed with the queen. This play was like monekying with a loose tooth. He was no better off than before.

The finesse won, but the king of spades didn't drop. South still had to lose a spade, two diamonds and a club.

INDECISIVE FINESSES

The finesses in the black suits were clearly indecisive. If the finesse won, South might well be in the same position as before. If the finesse lost, he was worse off.

The diamond finesse was different. If declarer led a diamond from dummy and successfully finessed with the queen, he would be sure of the contract. The danger was equal to either of the other finesses, but at least the result would be decisive. It was a way of having the tooth out.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥- J 9 6 3 2
♦- 10 8 7 2
♣- K 4 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

This is a weak hand, and you must make a weak response. Don't make the mistake of jumping to four hearts simply because you have five trumps and a singleton.

Diabetes Meet

A meeting for parents of diabetic children will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in Marin General Hospital's Blue Room. Dr. George J. Monteverdi, pediatrician, and Dr. Conrad Ellner, psychiatrist, will lead the session, sponsored by the Marin County Diabetes Association.

DRAMA REVIEW

Shakespeare Or 'The Exorcist'?

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

"RICHARD THE THIRD" — A two-act play by William Shakespeare; directed by William Ball; associate direction by Robert Bonaventura; scenery by Robert Blackman; costumes by Robert Fletcher; lighting by F. Mitchell Dana; incidental music by Lee Hoiby; choreography by John Pasqualetti. The cast: King Edward the IV, William Paterson; Duke of York, Christopher Abbe; Duke of Clarence, Daniel Davis; Richard the Third, Randall Duk Kim; Thomas Grey, Christopher Valentine; Lord Richard Grey, Daniel Kern; Lord Hastins, Laird Williamson; Sir James Tyrrel, Charles H. Hyman; Sir Brakenbury, Al White; First Murderer, Charles Hallahan; Second Murderer, Michael Hume; Queen Elizabeth, Elizabeth Cole; Widow Margaret, Fredi Olster; Duchess of York, Marrian Walters; Lady Anne, Hope Alexander-Willis. At the Geary in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO — A theatrical production must stand on its faithfulness to the play. There was little in the production of "Richard The III" that opened the ACT season Saturday at the Geary that was true to Shakespeare.

How could a company that produced last year's definitive "Taming of the Shrew" of "Cyrano" go so far off this year?

Director William Ball described his intentions: "It's a prototypic melodrama, a melodrama exploring the satanic world of Richard. We have sought to realize the melodramatic potential."

The result, sad to say, is to make the production the enemy of the play, to reduce it to a pounding, relentless monotony that left the trapped audience squirming in its seats.

It did not once touch the subtleties in the play, nay, not Anne's mourning, not Margaret's curse, not Clarence's nightmare and death; nay, not a line of Tyrrel's conscience, the murder of the princes, Buckingham's death; not Richard's fear nor final fall. Never did the heinous deeds return to haunt their perpetrators.

Robert Fletcher's costumes, with a massive emphasis on leather seemed more suited to a piece of sadistic-masochistic pornography. But then, this "Richard" was more a companion piece to "Rosemary's Baby" or "The Exorcist" than to a work of the subtle Bard.

Randall Duk Kim, a new talent, did everything he could to save his portrayal of Richard from the production. He centered it around Richard's sexual appetite, a Richard "not shap'd for sport . . . not made to court," wanting "love's majesty to strut before a wanton ambling nymph." But even these attempts were lost under Ball's weird direction.

Michael Hume attempts in vain to give his role as a murderer a conscience, but, forced by Hall to play the fool in the early part of the scene, he can not reverse himself. Al White's attempt as Sir Brackenbury to show tenderness towards the imprisoned Duke of Clarence is equally unbelievable in Ball's "Clockwork Orange" approach.

The royal ladies (Elizabeth Cole, Fredi Olster, Marrian Walters and Hope Alexander-Willis) are dressed in two-foot wide, teased hairdos of varying gaudy colors. Their laments are shrieked in unison as if they were the witches cursing Macbeth and not England's royal family.

However, Marrian Walters as the Duchess of York rescues some femininity in the scene with the orphaned children of the Duke of Clarence. (Christopher Valentine, Daniel Kern) "Good, grandam," it begins, "is our father dead?"

The Duchess' lament is poignantly counterpointed by the boys' faith that God will provide a just revenge. Yet nowhere in the evening did a single march towards this rightful revenge begin.

Due to Ball's extensive cutting, Richmond merely appears, deus ex machina, dressed in a helmet shaped like a unicorn's head. After the overly famous "A horse, a horse, a kingdom for a horse", the appearance of a unicorn as England's redeemer was symbolically overdoing it.

It hardly helped matters that Richmond, played by Randall Smith, was so limp that he had almost no authority or commanding presence. He gave credence to Richard's description, "Who doth lead them but a paltry fellow, a milksop."

Stripped to his all-white tights, Richmond the beautiful, the all-good, kills Richard the ugly, the all-bad and we are sent home, hoping to forget the travesty.

American Lutherans Ease Stand On Abortion

DETROIT (UPI) — American Lutheran Church delegates last night softened the 2.5 million-member church's antiabortion stand by approving a resolution stating that abortion is necessary in some cases.

Christians have "a responsibility to make the best possible decision" in considering the termination of a pregnancy "based on the situation and accountability for God, self and neighbor," the convention said in a resolution approved on a vote of 500-379.

The previous church position permitted abortions only when the health of the mother was endangered. In 1966 and 1970, the church had issued statements saying, "There are times and circumstances when interruption of the pregnancy is necessary for therapeutic reasons."

Last night's resolution rejected induced abortion as a ready solution for problem pregnancies, but allowed church members "the judgment that — all pertinent factors of responsibility considered —the developing life may be terminated to defend the health and wholeness" of those involved.

The resolution said contraception was a viable alternative to ending the life of an unborn infant but rejected voluntary sterilization as a method of preventing pregnances.

The statement also said church counseling "should offer understanding" to the parties concerned as to what is involved in either abortion or carrying the child to term, and "the possible effects of either decision."

The controversial resolution was approved just before midnight after a full day of debate.

The debate was a continuation of discussions that occupied the delegates' time most of last Wednesday and Friday.

Some 1,000 delegates were in Detroit for the convention, which sets policy for the third largest Lutheran body in the United States.

Freed Hostage Takes Vacation

MIAMI (UPI) — Barbara Hutchison, one of seven hostages held by leftist guerrillas in Santo Domingo for 13 days, is on vacation in Florida where she will spend a week sunning, shopping and "running around doing nothing."

Trim and relaxed, the 47-year-old embassy officer plans to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Roger Fulling, who lives near Palm Beach. She said she wants to continue her work in the Dominican Republic and does not want protection from bodyguards.

The hostages — originally held for $1 million ransom — were released unharmed last Wednesday by seven gunmen in return for safe passage to Panama.

European Organist Will Play

German organist Hedwig Bilgram of Munich will present a recital at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The program will include works by Bach, Dandrieu, Bruhns, Krebs and Durufle.

Professor Bilgram is a graduate of the State Academy of Music in Munich. She has presented concerts throughout Europe conducted by Herbert von Karajan, Rafael Kubelik and Richter, and in the Soviet Union and Japan.

The concert will be sponsored by the church and the Goethe Institute in San Francisco. A donation will be taken at the door.

8th Fatal Stabbing At San Quentin

A San Quentin inmate — imprisoned there less than two weeks and due to be transferred today to a minimum security work camp — was stabbed to death shortly before noon yesterday.

Officers said William Van Meter, 25, was stabbed 13 times in the back and chest during an exercise period Monday.

It was the 62nd stabbing — the eighth fatal one — at the prison this year.

Authorities said they have locked up the inmate thought to have killed Van Meter, but no weapon was found, nor was any motive known.

Van Meter, convicted of forgery, burglary and auto theft in Santa Clara County, was to have been transferred today to the Sierra Conservation Center, Tuolumne County.

Suez Widening

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese construction company said today it has signed with Egypt a $168.7 million contract to enlarge the Suez Canal to accommodate by 1979 ships of 150,000 tons. Officials of Penta-Ocean Construction Co. said work will begin late next year.

MUSIC REVIEW

Esoteric Concert Program Attracts Audience Of 2,000

At the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building last night the Mosaic Chamber Group gave an audience of two thousand or more an evening bathed in friendly, serious but attractive music.

The program was highly esoteric, only Honegger and Faure would be generally well-known, yet that did not deter a sizable turnout. Those lucky people.

An "intrada" is an instrumental introduction, a prelude, and thus Arthur Honegger's "Intrada for Trumpet and Piano" started the evening.

After a flurry of scales, it settled into a melodious segment with a scattering of embellishments. The counts are most difficult and Laurie McGaw, assistant principal trumpet with the San Francisco Symphony, played briskly with an absolute clarity of tone. After another modulated, restrained segment, the piece ended with a few more passing and marvelously fluttering embellishments.

Jacques Casterede's "Breves Rencontres" was equally rapid. The piano backing, played by Janet Goodman Guggenheim, is like Stravinsky with its quick changes of rhythm and brisk intercuttings. It was almost like two Italians in animated conversation.

The pavanne movement was very Parisian, elongating the final phrases with nostalgia. The piano backing here was softly repetitive, like the lapping of waves.

McGaw's muted trumpet pulled the work in, made it even more introspective; his second mute made the first even more inward.

In the scherzo McGaw and Guggenheim were in perfect unison, running through the rippling line of music freely. It was most enjoyable.

Ernest von Dohnanyi's "Serenade in C Major, Opus 10" introduced violinist Zaven Melikian, violist Thomas Heimberg and cellist Robert Sayre. Its emphasis is on tonal layering.

Not only were the players similar in temperament and style, their instruments were particularly harmonious and mello in ensemble, having much of the same tonal warmth. This complete blend is as hard to find as a perfect wine.

The coloration of the "Serenade" was fine, often crisp, then somber and lyrical. Sayre's cello, a Sanctus Serafin that would sell for an approximate $30,000 today, is richly resonant — particularly with the pizzicati in which the strings are plucked rather than bowed.

Much of the pizzicati kept the light nature of the earlier work, but set against the mournful strings the second movement turned to the serious. The coloration hit an expressive peak with a full simultaneity, each instrument going its independent way, and then a parallel theme for the viola and violin.

The scherzo had defyingly quick tempos intercut by sudden, momentary brushstrokes by the cello. Its alacruity and swift, complex punctuation left the audience rapt. After the intermission and a tribute to the departing president of the Marin Concert Association, Ben A. Farlatti, Faure's "Quartet No. 1 in C Minor, Opus 15" turned the evening to the more intense repertoire.

Pianist Guggenheim was her best here. This piece speaks in paragraphs and her intonation and phrasing matched the longer units. Played with much held in reserve, the players thereby gave the ending a true progression.

Trumpetist Laurie McGaw joined the others in the final Concertino in E Flat A Cinque by Albrechtsberger. It is a great baroque piece with trumpet ornamentation set against the strings and piano.

Hard to play rhythmically, the larghetto compounds the difficulty by staying in the absolute top part of the trumpet's range.

Second only to Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, it is a trumpeter's acid test. McGaw played a rare and unusual trumpet, a piccolo trumpet one half the size of a regular B-flat trumpet. It was regal in sound. The "Concertino" was his triumph and the enthusiastic audience left inspired by the Mosaic Chamber Group.

Report Fete Slated For Bay Crusade

The "first campaign report celebration" has been scheduled by the Marin County Advisory Board of the United Bay Area Crusade for 3:45 to 5 p.m. Oct. 23 at Commerce Clearing House in San Rafael.

Gordon Hough, a San Francisco Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive who is the five-county UBAC campaign chairman, will present awards to outstanding volunteers.

The Saints and Sinners Dixieland Jazz Band will perform, and free champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served. The refreshments are either being donated or paid for by the advisory board, a spokesman said.

The public is invited, but reservations must be made by Wednesday with Joanne Fleming at the Marin County UBAC office.

Ford To Visit Museum Benefit

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — It took some juggling of schedules, but President Ford will appear at the annual auction of the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry after all.

Oregon Republican state chairman Dave Green said yesterday that Ford accepted an invitation to appear at the auction Nov. 1.

In order for Ford to schedule the event, Green had to change the time of Ford's appearance at a Republican fund-raising reception and cancel a GOP dance.

Museum officials had invited Ford and were fearful of a poor turnout at the auction if Ford couldn't show.

Green said Ford would appear briefly at the auction following the two-hour GOP reception the same evening.

Philip Morris's Hawker Retires

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Philip Morris Inc.'s famed bellboy, "Johnny," has retired after 41 years and millions of calls for "Phil-lip Mor-rees!"

John Louis Roventini, a midget, quit his job as a New York bellboy 41 years ago to do commericals for Philip Morris Inc. Tobacco Co.

Roventini had only one line, but it made him famous and helped skyrocket the company's sales.

His cry, "Call for Phil-lip Mor-rees," was heard more than a million times across the country on radio and television commericials.

Last weekend, Roventini, the 48-inch tall son of Italian immigrants, retired.

The company, in announcing his retirement, described the 64-year-old Roventini "as the world's most famous living trademark." It said his retirement "marks the end of an era."

From 1933 to 1947, Roventini, known as "Johnny Philip Morris," was heard on as many as four radio shows a day. Those were live shows, not taped, so Roventini had to be at the studio to belt out his one-liner on cue.

On television, Roventini rang out his call dressed in a red and black bellboy's uniform. He also made personal appearances at festivals, conventions and parades.

Roventini's career began in 1933 while working at the New Yorker Hotel, where he was featured as the "smallest bellboy in the world."

Alfred E. Lyon, then Philip Morris vice president for sales, and Milton Blow, president of the firm's advertising agency, asked him to locate "Mr. Philip Morris."

Roventini went through the hotel singing out "Call for Phillip Mor-rees" and the firm's two executives loved it.

They offered him a $100 a week to do commercials for the firm. After some hesition, Rosentini quit his $25 a week job and took it.

The company held a ceremony for Roventini Saturday at the opening of their newest Richmond plant.

Expo's Finances Still Uncertain

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Expo '74, the world's environmental fair, could end up either $100,000 ahead or a dead loss, depending on the attendance of its final 20 days.

Expo General manager Peter Spurney said yesterday he had adopted a pendulum theory in regard to the fair's finances.

Attendance at the environmental exposition, he said, had reached 4,672,711 for 163 days of operation, 350,000 persons short of the five million needed to insure financial success.

He said the fair hopes to draw large crowds on the three remaining weekends, mostly by big closing ceremonies.

Skater Crosses Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 27-year-old former social worker crossed the Golden Gate Bridge the same way he traveled the 3,750 miles from Massachusetts to San Francisco — on roller skates.

"I ate mostly high protein foods, and I'd eat from five to seven times a day to keep up my energy," David Letters said yesterday of his four and one-half month journey.

Wearing a cowboy hat and waving to passing motorists, Letters, of Leominster, Mass., said, "Every night I'd think about crossing the Golden Gate Bridge. And when I finally did it, that feeling was really something."

Letters arrived in town Sunday with Tom McNamara, 26, who drove a van in which the pair slept every night.

Rocky To Face Tougher Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $60,000 which Laurence Rockefeller paid for a biography of Arthur Goldberg may cost his brother Nelson an easy nomination to the vice presidency of the United States.

No one is suggesting yet that Rockefeller will be denied the vice presidency, but the congressional committees which were expected to confirm him easily now are scheduling more hearings to investigate the book and the reported $2 million in gifts and forgiven loans for Rockefeller friends and aides.

New questions are expected to revolve around whether there were "dirty tricks" on behalf of the New York governor, and another old question will come up again: can Rockefeller put aside his personal wealth and power and that of his family if he becomes vice president?

Goldberg, whom Rockefeller defeated for New York's governorship by a record breaking majority in 1970, uses the term "hatchet job" to describe the biography by journalist Victor Lasky which was not sold but widely distributed as campaign material in New York.

Laurence Rockefeller said he invested $60,000 in the book, and Nelson Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" and apologized to the former Supreme Court justice.

Goldberg said yesterday in Las Vegas that he has asked the Senate Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee to reopen hearings on Rockefeller's nomination.

"It is not a question of apology," Goldberg said. "It is a question of stating frankly to the committee all that has occurred — not only in regard to the book incident and gifts — so the committee can determine whether or not it is going to make this confirmation."

Goldberg said he was willing to testify and would "present my own reaction to these disclosures," although he would not reveal what those reactions were.

Some House Judiciary Committee members said they wanted a lot more investigation.

"We've got to be scrupulously careful," Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J. said in Chicago, "because Rockefeller, like President Ford, was not elected vice president by the people."

Many members of Congress, Rodino said, "are going to ask searching questions as to whether or not there was a deliberate effort on the part of someone, whoever it might have been, to try in some way to denigrate Mr. Goldberg when he was a candidate for governor."

One committee member who has questions is Rep. Edward Mesvinsky, D-Iowa. "These revelations of the past few days have raised questions in my mind and in the minds of others," he said in a telephone interview.

"The climate has changed, and it's changed to such a degree that unless the answers are frank and candid Mr. Rockefeller could find his nomination in real jeopardy."

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., said the FBI's extensive investigation of Rockefeller had turned up nothing more damaging than the Goldberg biography.

He said the most damaging aspect was not its publication but the reports that Rockefeller first denied, then later acknowledged, advance knowledge of the publication plans.

Lasky said yesterday (on WTTG-TV's "Panorama") that he did not know when he wrote the book that Rockefeller money was behind it and he would testify before the committees to that effect.

It has "just come out of an investigation of dirty tricks 1972" — the impeachment inquiry — and the Rockefeller disclosures "makes one feel we're now going back to dirty tricks 1970."

A deeper question, Mezvinsky added, was "whether there was a pattern."

"We know now that it's not enough to just take a look at Mr. Nelson Rockefeller," he said. "We'll have to take a look at the whole family — at the effect of the family and its money on public policy an governmental decisions.

"The fact that a persons has great wealth is not a factor. It's what he does with it."

Lasky Belittles Rockefeller's Worries Over Goldberg Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Victor Lasky, who wrote a controversial biography of Arthur Goldberg that may hinder Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential confirmation, said today he was "totally unaware" that the book was financed by Rockefeller's brother.

Lasky, who has also written books on the Kennedys and Richard M. Nixon, also said that Nelson Rockefeller "panicked a little" when he accepted full responsibility for the book and apologized to Goldberg.

"I'm the one who is responsible for this book, not Rockefeller," Lasky said. "I wrote it. Rockefeller had nothing to do with this book as far as I'm concerned.

"He didn't write it, he didn't make any suggestions to me, he didn't censor it. I wrote it and I'm responsible for the book and I take full credit or discredit."

"I wish the governor would read the book before he starts getting hysterical about it," Lasky said. "It was a campaign book, obviously, but I had no knowledge of who financed it or of whether or not Gov. Rockefeller had anything to do with it."

The book was widely distributed as campaign material in New York but was not readily available to the public.

"I often wonder what the argument is all about," Lasky said. "Everybody's arguing about a book, nobody has read it...

"I make no apologies whatsoever. There's nothing in this book that is that controversial. I can't understand why my old friend, Mr. Goldberg, is so angry about it."

Elks Dinner Law Night Speaker Set

Dan Davis of Granada Hills will be speaker at the annual "law enforcement night" dinner of San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the lodge's Maple Lawn clubhouse.

Davis is author of a drug abuse manual prepared for the grand lodge of Elks. He has held many positions in the California-Hawaii Elks Association and has served on the grand lodge's Americanism committee. He is a partner in Custom Products Co., a Sun Valley manufacturing firm.

"Law enforcement night" is held by the San Rafael Elks Lodge each year to honor law enforcement officers of the county. Chairman of this year's event is Walter S. Filler.

'Antigone' Slated Two Weekends

Because it was well received during the theater's arts festival which ended Sunday, the Quicksilver Theater Co.'s adaptation of "Antigone" by Sophocles will be staged for two more weekends at the Cinnabar Theater in Petaluma.

Performances are set for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Sunday, and on Oct. 25, 26, and 27.

The Southern Sonoma Drama company is directed by Dick Blake, who trained at London's Royal Academy and who was a touring player in Europe. The cast includes Cristina Ismael, Caroline Sievers and Pat Woodworth.

The Quicksilver production of "Antigone" is based on the classic version and on one by the French author Jean Anouilh. The company itself, according to a Cinnabar Theater spokesman, developed much of the text and all of the chorus parts.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2 for students and $1 for children 12 and under. Adult tickets may be obtained for $2 each is bought in groups of 10 or more, the spokesman said.

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 15, the 288th day of 1974 with 77 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Irish poet and author Oscar Wilde was born Oct. 15, 1856.

On this date in history:

In 1917, the most famous spy of World War I, Gertrude Zelle, known as Mata Hari, was executed by a firing squad outside Paris.

In 1928, the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin arrived in the United States on its first commercial flight. It took 4½ days.

In 1946, Nazi Reichmarshal Herman Goering committed suicide.

A thought for the day: Irish writer Oscar Wilde said, "There is no sin except stupidity."

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Bridge Situation Is Like A Child's Loose Tooth

A certain type of bridge situation is like a child's loose tooth. You can monkey with it, giving yourself pain and fear and leaving the tooth still where it was. Or you can be decisive about it, giving yourself the same trouble in the process, but the tooth will be out.

A LOW HEART

When West opened a low heart, declarer had a finesse in each of the four suits. Which finesse was it proper to take?

It was easy to work out that it was too risky to try the heart finesse. Hence South put up dummy's ace of hearts and stared at the three remaining finesses.

After enough of a pause to indicate that he had thought deeply about the problem, South led a trump from dummy and finessed with the queen. This play was like monekying with a loose tooth. He was no better off than before.

The finesse won, but the king of spades didn't drop. South still had to lose a spade, two diamonds and a club.

INDECISIVE FINESSES

The finesses in the black suits were clearly indecisive. If the finesse won, South might well be in the same position as before. If the finesse lost, he was worse off.

The diamond finesse was different. If declarer led a diamond from dummy and successfully finessed with the queen, he would be sure of the contract. The danger was equal to either of the other finesses, but at least the result would be decisive. It was a way of having the tooth out.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:
♥- J 9 6 3 2
♦- 10 8 7 2
♣- K 4 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

This is a weak hand, and you must make a weak response. Don't make the mistake of jumping to four hearts simply because you have five trumps and a singleton.

Skater Crosses Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 27-year-old former social worker crossed the Golden Gate Bridge the same way he traveled the 3,750 miles from Massachusetts to San Francisco — on roller skates.

"I ate mostly high protein foods, and I'd eat from five to seven times a day to keep up my energy," David Letters said yesterday of his four and one-half month journey.

Wearing a cowboy hat and waving to passing motorists, Letters, of Leominster, Mass., said, "Every night I'd think about crossing the Golden Gate Bridge. And when I finally did it, that feeling was really something."

Letters arrived in town Sunday with Tom McNamara, 26, who drove a van in which the pair slept every night.

Rocky To Face Tougher Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $60,000 which Laurence Rockefeller paid for a biography of Arthur Goldberg may cost his brother Nelson an easy nomination to the vice presidency of the United States.

No one is suggesting yet that Rockefeller will be denied the vice presidency, but the congressional committees which were expected to confirm him easily now are scheduling more hearings to investigate the book and the reported $2 million in gifts and forgiven loans for Rockefeller friends and aides.

New questions are expected to revolve around whether there were "dirty tricks" on behalf of the New York governor, and another old question will come up again: can Rockefeller put aside his personal wealth and power and that of his family if he becomes vice president?

Goldberg, whom Rockefeller defeated for New York's governorship by a record breaking majority in 1970, uses the term "hatchet job" to describe the biography by journalist Victor Lasky which was not sold but widely distributed as campaign material in New York.

Laurence Rockefeller said he invested $60,000 in the book, and Nelson Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" and apologized to the former Supreme Court justice.

Goldberg said yesterday in Las Vegas that he has asked the Senate Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee to reopen hearings on Rockefeller's nomination.

"It is not a question of apology," Goldberg said. "It is a question of stating frankly to the committee all that has occurred — not only in regard to the book incident and gifts — so the committee can determine whether or not it is going to make this confirmation."

Goldberg said he was willing to testify and would "present my own reaction to these disclosures," although he would not reveal what those reactions were.

Some House Judiciary Committee members said they wanted a lot more investigation.

"We've got to be scrupulously careful," Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J. said in Chicago, "because Rockefeller, like President Ford, was not elected vice president by the people."

Many members of Congress, Rodino said, "are going to ask searching questions as to whether or not there was a deliberate effort on the part of someone, whoever it might have been, to try in some way to denigrate Mr. Goldberg when he was a candidate for governor."

One committee member who has questions is Rep. Edward Mesvinsky, D-Iowa. "These revelations of the past few days have raised questions in my mind and in the minds of others," he said in a telephone interview.

"The climate has changed, and it's changed to such a degree that unless the answers are frank and candid Mr. Rockefeller could find his nomination in real jeopardy."

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., said the FBI's extensive investigation of Rockefeller had turned up nothing more damaging than the Goldberg biography.

He said the most damaging aspect was not its publication but the reports that Rockefeller first denied, then later acknowledged, advance knowledge of the publication plans.

Lasky said yesterday (on WTTG-TV's "Panorama") that he did not know when he wrote the book that Rockefeller money was behind it and he would testify before the committees to that effect.

Mezvinsky predicted the House committee would be tough on Rockefeller.

It has "just come out of an investigation of dirty tricks 1972" — the impeachment inquiry — and the Rockefeller disclosures "makes one feel we're now going back to dirty tricks 1970."

A deeper question, Mezvinsky added, was "whether there was a pattern."

"We know now that it's not enough to just take a look at Mr. Nelson Rockefeller," he said. "We'll have to take a look at the whole family — at the effect of the family and its money on public policy an governmental decisions.

"The fact that a persons has great wealth is not a factor. It's what he does with it."

Lasky Belittles Rockefeller's Worries Over Goldberg Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Victor Lasky, who wrote a controversial biography of Arthur Goldberg that may hinder Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential confirmation, said today he was "totally unaware" that the book was financed by Rockefeller's brother.

Lasky, who has also written books on the Kennedys and Richard M. Nixon, also said that Nelson Rockefeller "panicked a little" when he accepted full responsibility for the book and apologized to Goldberg.

"I'm the one who is responsible for this book, not Rockefeller," Lasky said. "I wrote it. Rockefeller had nothing to do with this book as far as I'm concerned.

"He didn't write it, he didn't make any suggestions to me, he didn't censor it. I wrote it and I'm responsible for the book and I take full credit or discredit."

"I wish the governor would read the book before he starts getting hysterical about it," Lasky said. "It was a campaign book, obviously, but I had no knowledge of who financed it or of whether or not Gov. Rockefeller had anything to do with it."

The book was widely distributed as campaign material in New York but was not readily available to the public.

"I often wonder what the argument is all about," Lasky said. "Everybody's arguing about a book, nobody has read it...

"I make no apologies whatsoever. There's nothing in this book that is that controversial. I can't understand why my old friend, Mr. Goldberg, is so angry about it."

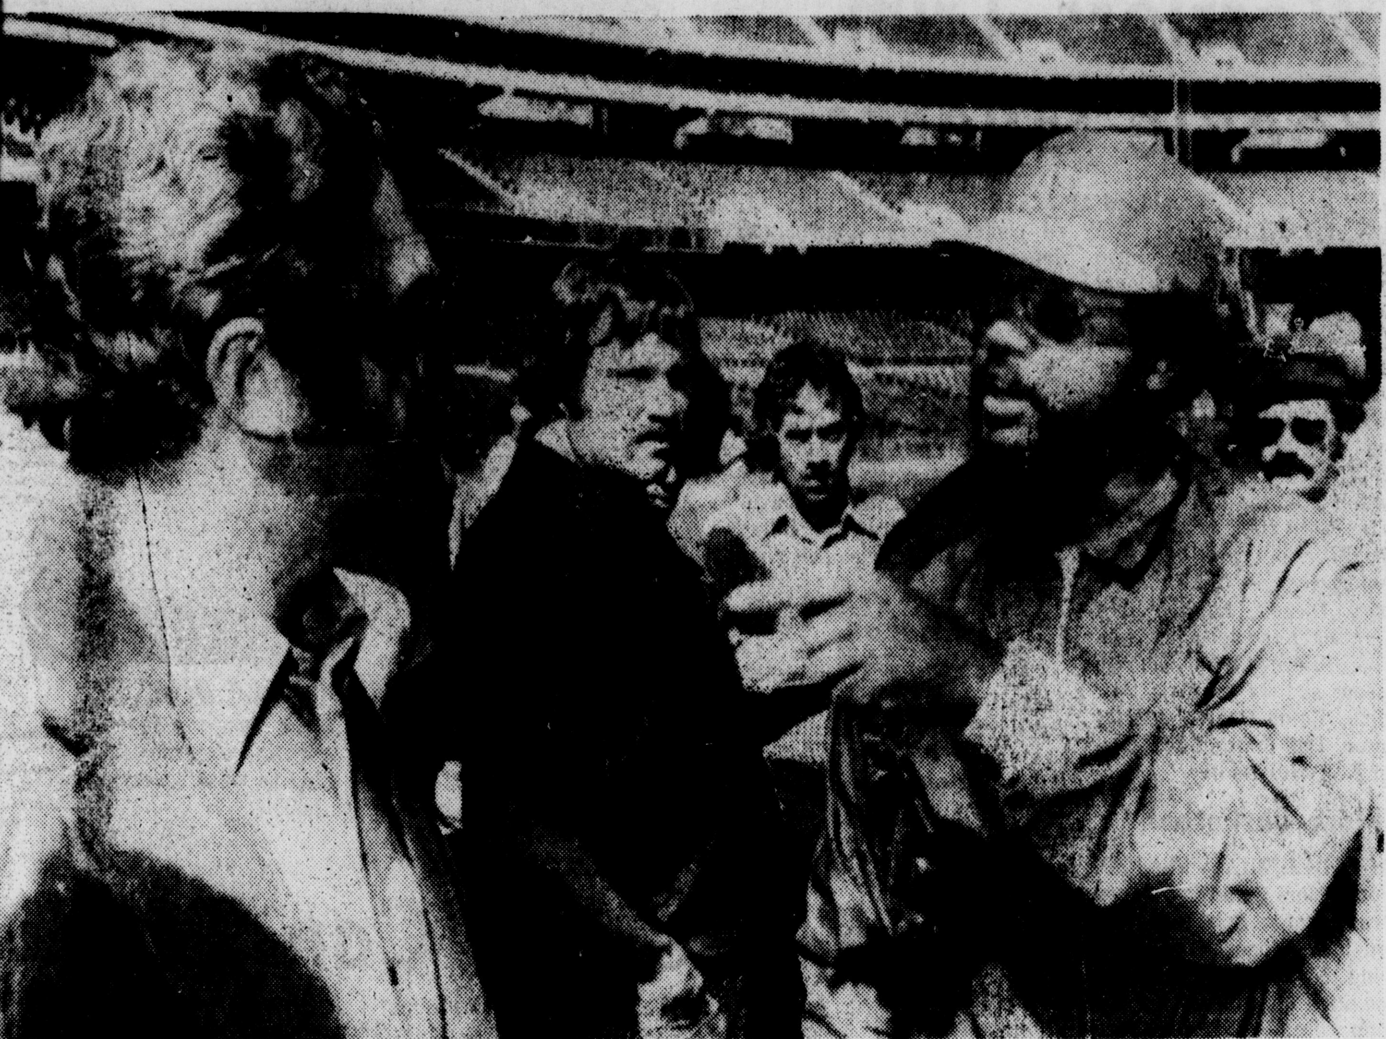
A Close Examination Of Pressure In The World Series



MAN IN THE MIDDLE — Independent-Journal baseball columnist Gary Hughes (center) looked on yesterday as Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's pointed an accusing finger at sportswriter Murray Olderman near the batting cage at the Oakland Coliseum. Jackson was unhappy with a story Olderman wrote about him. (UPI Telephoto)

Views Of Hunter, Downing

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Oakland's "money man," faces Al Downing, the Los Angeles Dodgers' "forgotten man," today in the third game of the all California World Series with the defending World Champion A's 7-5 favorites. (The game will be televised on Channel 4.)

Hunter is unbeaten in three World Series decisions over the last two seasons and was the man who nailed down the final out in Oakland's 3-2 victory Saturday in the opening game of the 1974 classic.

Downing, who lost World Series decisions with the New York Yankees in 1963 and 1964, was the last starter on a solid Los Angeles pitching staff this past season but after a six-week rest, pitched a one-hitter against San Francisco for a key victory down the pennant stretch drive.

"You never quite get used to being calm when it comes to pitching in the World Series," said Hunter, winner of 25 games in 1974 and a leading candidate for American League Cy Young Award honors. "But once the game gets started, I expect I'll be able to shut everything else off and concentrate on pitching."

Downing, winner of only five of 11 decisions for Los Angeles this year, said the fact he pitched previously in World Series competition should help but it really doesn't mean than much.

"Sure the pressure will be there," said the 33-year-old veteran left-hander, "and anyone who says it won't doesn't know what it's all about. In my case I have to tell myself to stop worrying about going a set number of innings and just concentrate on each batter as he comes up."

Since pitching is the name of the game in a World Series, the edge, on paper, today is with the A's, mostly because Hunter is pitching and secondly because the club is back on its home field for the next three games.

The action gets under way today at 5:30 p.m. PDT with another sellout enroute to what may wind up as the richest World Series of all time. Both the first and second games in Los Angeles set attendance marks with 55,000 plus crowds and in Oakland they are expecting 49,000 plus sellouts today, tomorrow and Thursday.

With Hunter pitching for the A's, Dodger Manager Walter Alston has juggled his lineup a bit to compensate. He has benched catcher Steve Yeager and put Joe Ferguson behind the plate with Willie Crawford, a left-handed batter, taking over Ferguson's place in right field.

The A's will go with the same lineup as in the first two games except for a possible switch of Bert Campaneris and Billy North. North was Oakland's leadoff man throughout most of the season with Campaneris, a good hit-and-run man, batting behind him. However, in the first two series games in Los Angeles Campaneris was the leadoff batter.

"I may swap them around," said A's Manager Alvin Dark, "but I won't make up my mind for sure until just before the start of the third game. I think with Campy hitting second we have a better chance to play our kind of game."

Alston said he has all the confidence in the world in Downing but won't hesitate to take him out at the first sign of trouble. With the series tied at one victory each, today's game is pivotal.

"I want Downing to go as well as he can for as long as he can," said Alston.

The Dodgers need today's game more than the A's because, in effect, they are down to two solid pitchers — Andy Messersmith, the openinggame loser, and Don Sutton, the second game winner.

For the fourth game tomorrow, the A's will come back with Ken Holtzman, who went out after 4 1-3 innings of the first game and wasn't involved in the decision, while the Dodgers will counter with Messersmith.

The Dodgers were their usual calm and collected selves during a short twilight workout yesterday while the A's had their daily sideshow. This latest one involved slugger Reggie Jackson, who took exception to a magazine story and minced no words in telling off the author — the highly respected Maury Olderman of Newspaper Enterprise Association.

It was a loud and profane show with Reggie doing all the talking. While it had little to do with the proceedings at hand, it did provide newsmen covering the series an extra tidbit of a series already marred by an A's clubhouse fight and the usual number of complaints against management.

A Typical Day At A's Playground

OAKLAND — It was a typical workout yesterday in the gray emptiness of the Oakland Coliseum where the A's were getting ready for resumption of the World Series.

It was typical because the sound of ball against bat was drowned out by the shouts of anger. But this time the angry words were not directed at one another; they were directed at a writer and were coming from Reggie Jackson.

It was all so very strange. A few feet from the batting cage there was manager Alvin Dark in the middle of a cluster of writers, explaining why the Bible helped pull his life together and why the Bible even helps win ball games. Dark has a way of sounding like a retired minister. There is no profanity, no raising of the voice.

BUT NOT MORE than 20 feet away there was first Reggie Jackson and then Vida Blue, ready and willing to turn the entire thing into an X-rated workout. I hadn't heard language as bad as that since my Army days.

And in the cage was Jesus Alou, trying to get in a little batting practice. "How can I heet the ball with all that going on?" he complained to no one in particular.

The writer receiving all the foul language and threats was Murray Olderman, an editor for Newspaper Enterprise Association whose question and answer column appears in many newspapers across the country, including the Independent-Journal on Saturdays. Jackson's beef was about an article Olderman wrote in the October issue of Sport magazine, entitled, "Reggie Jackson: Blood and Guts of the Fighting A's." There's a picture of Jackson on the cover in a General Patton pose, complete with battle helmet, pearl-handled revolvers and binoculars.

THE LAST TWO paragraphs of the magazine article was the part that so infuriated Jackson. Speaking about former A's ball girl Mary Barry on a visit he made to Jackson's home, Olderman wrote: "Charlie Finley dismissed the ballpersons this year to cut his expenses. Mary, chased out of right field, now does the next best thing; she spends spare hours with the right fielder. The day I visited Reggie's Place, he and Mary sat and talked for a long time. She looked lovely in a lotus position and a green bikini."

Olderman also wrote in the final paragraph about not getting much of a chance to talk to Jackson but instead "thumbed through his Penthouses and his Playboys and glanced at his color TV set with a Holy Bible and a pistol on it."

Jackson threatened Olderman and told him to "make sure I don't ever see you alone," in front of at least two dozen writers and radio-television people. He also told him to stay out of the A's clubhouse.

BLUE'S ARGUMENT was that he didn't say the things that were attributed to him in the article. Blue did a lot of swearing but he didn't make any threats.

In the article Blue was said to once point to the A's outfield — white Joe Rudi in left, Latin Angel Mangual in center and black Reggie Jackson in right and say, "There are three cliques on this team, and you can see all of them out there." Vida denied saying that.

After the shouts were over, Dark asked I-J baseball columnist Gary Hughes what it was all about. When informed, Dark walked over to Olderman and said, "Murray, you're always welcome in the A's clubhouse."

And, said Olderman, he had no intentions of staying out, regardless of Jackson's warnings.

Yes, it was a typical workout for the A's. With the anger and shouting over for another day, it is time to play baseball. The Dodgers had better beware.

'Best Young Catcher' To San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants traded their best reliever and a backup receiver to get "the best young catcher in baseball."

At least that is what Giants Vice President Jerry Donovan called Marc Hill of St. Louis, who was obtained yesterday in a swap for Elias Sosa and Ken Rudolph.

Hill, 22, hit .278 and had 14 homers while driving in 58 runs at Tulsa of the American Association last season. He hit .238 in a brief stint with the Cardinals. The Giant catching corps of Dave Rader, John Boccabella and Rudolph had only one homer of the Giants' total of 93, their lowest team output in 30 years.

The deal apparently was the climax to a week of rumors about impending Giants swaps — or was it?

For no sooner was the deal completed when Donovan added fuel to the hot rumor that outfielder Bobby Bonds could be wearing a different uniform next season.

"We haven't made any commitment to Bobby that he'll stay," Donovan said delicately.

But this was quite a switch from owner Horace Stoneham's declaration last summer that Bonds would stay in San Francisco no matter what.

Bonds slumped to a .256 average with 21 homers and 71 runs batted in this year after batting .283 with 39 homers and 96 rbi's in 1973.

"He could go if the right deal comes along," said Donovan, who added that several teams have made offers.

Sosa had a 9-7 record with six saves for the Giants while Rudolph batted .259 in 57 games.

The Cardinals also completed a minor league deal with the Giants, acquiring pitcher Jim Willoughby from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League and assigning him to Tulsa. The Cards gave up infielder Tom Heintzelman, who is being shifted from Tulsa to the Giants.

How Lions Reacted To Chanting

Goal Line Stand By 'Dee-fense'

DETROIT (UPI) — The crowd was on its feet yelling "Dee-fense" at Detroit for the first time in a long while—and for the first time in quite a spell the Lions were playing it.

"The referees told us to raise our hands up and quiet the crowd," defensive end Ernie Price of the Lions said. "We said, 'You crazy, man? We haven't heard this in a long time.'"

That third quarter goal line struggle last night was the turning point as Detroit came right back with a touchdown to cement its first 1974 National Football League victory, a 17-13 decision over the San Francisco 49ers.

Rookie Wilbur Jackson had just sped 64 yards to the Detroit two for his longest gain of a 91-yard night and it looked like the Lions were headed for their fifth loss. The 49ers are now 2-3 while all of Detroit's losses have come by a total of 14 points.

"I feel the crowd yelling 'defense' helped the team," Coach Rick Forzano said savoring his first pro head coaching win. "I was kind of yelling 'defense' myself on the sidelines."

"What was the mood in the huddle?," linebacker Paul Naumoff repeated a question. "Well, I was kind of tired. I had just run 60-some yards trying to catch a guy I was never going to catch."

"I saw him taking off like that and I realized it was either me or seven points," said cornerback Levi Johnson, who finally caught Jackson near the sidelines. "When we got into the huddle, they congratulated me and that was it."

Linebackers Charlie Weaver, Naumoff, and Jim Laslavic thwarted successive plays and Bruce Gossett had to step back and kick a 19-yard field goal, cutting Detroit's halftime lead to 10-6.

Gossett had kicked a 27-yard field goal in the first quarter only to have Steve Owens cap an ensuing 81-yard drive with a one-yard dive for a touchdown. Errol Mann added a 31-yard field goal for Detroit.

Herman Weaver punted 61 yards to put San Francisco in a hole after the second Gossett field goal and when the 49ers kicked, Dick Jauron ran the punt back 45 yards to the 13.

Two running plays got nowhere so quarterback Bill Munson whipped a 13-yard bullet into Larry Walton's waiting hands to hike the edge to 17-6, a margin that proved necessary when left-handed rookie Dennis Morrison finally got his Forty Niners moving.

OUCH — Lions' quarterback Bill Munson knew how it felt to be left unprotected. He went back to pass as San Francisco 49ers' defensive end Cedrick Hardman hit him from behind while defensive tackle Bob Hoskins buried his helmet in Munson's chest. Action took place in the second quarter at Detroit last night. (UPI Telephoto)

MADDEN'S ASSESSMENT

Good News: Raiders Home; Bad News: Must Play Cincy

OAKLAND (UPI) — "We're finally playing at home again, but we're playing the Bengals," said Oakland Coach John Madden glumly.

The Raiders and Cincinnati Bengals match 4-1 records in a big battle between conference leaders Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum.

"The Bengals are in first place in their conference and are a team that has been improving every year," Madden said yesterday. "They have a good offense and a good defense."

Madden said Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, who threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score in the 34-24 win over Cleveland Sunday, might confound Oakland's various defenses with his ability to run the ball.

"When you have quarterbacks like that, they often do one or the other much better," Madden said of running-passing quarterbacks. "But Anderson has that combination of two things he does well."

Concerning last Sunday's 14-10 squeaker at San Diego, Madden said "we were able to move the ball, but we didn't get the points."

He asserted films showed that Marv Hubbard had scored when referees ruled the Raiders a foot short. A fourth down Ken Stabler pass then fell incomplete. Later Willie Brown's apparent 34-yard return of an interception for a TD was called back by a penalty.

The Raiders could survive these breaks against San Diego but Madden stressed the offense will have to move more convincingly if the Raiders hope to beat Cincinnati.

A Sad Time On This Hunt

RAVENDALE — Last week was sad for us. Ouur dog Bruno suddenly became sick last Wednesday evening at Webber Lake. We took him to Susanville early Thursday morning, but no veterinary office was open. It was hell waiting for the vet to show at opening time, 1 p.m. Bruno died at 12:45 p.m.

It ground our hearts out. He was an exceptional friend. Never did he snap, bite or even growl at anyone. He lived in the house as one of the family. He would wait at the window when we left home alone watching for one of our cars to drive into the yard, then he would eagerly meet us at the door.

He was a homebody. If left on the porch, you could depend on him to meet you as you drove into the yard.In the mornings when Mary my wife, got up, she would give him a biscuit. Then he would run into the bedroom and wake me and I was supposed to challenge him for the biscuit. After a tug of war, he would sit down nearby and contentedly chew it up.

We miss him more each hunt, and I wouldn't care if he frightened 1,000 bucks away if he were only here. We're just sick.

WE TRIED A COUPLE of halfhearted buck hunts here at Ravendale, but the dry, hot weather makes getting a deer almost impossible. The bucks are holed up; nothing is moving. On one hunt to the top of Schinn Peak, I saw five does; the rest of the gang saw nary a deer. I actually got a sweat walking downhill. It's about 40 degrees at night. I haven't heard a shot this week in the mountains. If there is no storm, very few bucks will be taken this last week of the season. With my daughter and her husband, Ken Walker, heading home last Sunday, Mary and I fugure to go back to Webber Lake just to take it easy.

As we had duck reservations for the Alturas Refuge for opening day last Saturday, the four of us got up about 3 a.m. and drove to Alturas for breakfast, then headed for the checking station. It was a blue bird day. For about two-hours we had a fair shoot getting four sprig, one mallard, one gadwall and five teal. Then things stopped completely.

There seems to be more cottontail rabbits this year, and on the Schinn Peak hunt I saw 14 chukars. I might have been able to get one if the season had been open. I wouldn't advise trying for these elusive birds in this country. They're tough!

OCEAN ANGLERS and party boat operators are reminded by state and federal fish and game officers that the penalties for shooting seals or sea lions can runa as much $20,000 and 12 months in jail.

In recent weeks, Wildlife Protection officers along the California coast have received several reports of seals and sea lions being shot from private fishing boats and commercial party boats.

The Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 placed all marine mammals under federal protection and set stiff penalties for harassing, killing or attempting to kill marine mammals.

Persons violating the law are subject either to civil or criminal court action. Under civil action penalties can run up to $10,000. The $20,000 fine and one-year jail term is the maximum penalty under the law's criminal sections.

Fish and Game officers emphasize that party boat operators and persons fishing from party boats are not exempt from the ban on shooting seals and sea lions, even if the animals are interfering with fishing.

Anyone witnessing the shooting or harassment of seals or sea lions is asked to Notify the Department of Fish and Game with full details of the incident.

THE VAST TULARE Lake Basin remained virtually free of botulism this week as the number of waterfowl in the area reached a seson's peak of about 300,000 and thousands of acres of land were under irrigation water.

Federal-state surveillance of the area, one of the state's traditional hot spots for botulism whenever flood water is present, turned up no sick or dead ducks on Kern National Wildlife Refuge, although there were a few dead birds on the lake itself.

COOLER WEATHER, which was expected momentarily, whould end the botulism threat for this year, the Department of Fish and Game said in its weekly situation report from the southern San Joaquin Valley.

Meanwhile, the Department of Fish and Game was checking into the deaths of birds on the Merced and Fresno sewer farms, and outbreaks of the disease at Lake Almanor in Plumas County and Coyote Point on San Francisco Bay near Burlingame appeared under control.

Losses at Lake Almanor totaled about 300 birds, and the toll at Coyote Point, where a Fish and Game airboat was sent to pick up dead waterfowl, was estimated at 1,000 birds.

JIM CAREW
Four shutouts, including three straight and two last week.

PREP OF WEEK

Goalie Carew Is Fulfilling Promise

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The Terra Linda High School Trojans are making an unexpected bid to retain their Marin County Athletic League soccer crown, largely due to the goal keeping of Jim Carew.

He has shut out four of six opponents this year, including three in a row and two last week. For his efforts, he was named the Independent-Journal's Prep of the Week.

Even before the season began, Terra Linda coach Bob Vasser called Carew "potentially the best goalie in the league." As his team readied to face frontrunning Redwood today in the final game of the first half of the season, Vasser had no reason to change his mind.

"He's the one guy the team looks to. When he does things well they applaud — you just don't see a real good goalie that often."

The Trojans won the MCAL championship easily last year with a 13-1 record. But they brought back just one starter this season, center forward Steve McCarthy. Graduation robbed them of five all-leaguers, including goalie Jack Crimmins.

Yet they are undefeated with four wins and two ties with Carew in the goal; a victory today would put them in first place ahead of the favored Giants, who have won six without a loss or a tie.

Carew's value to the Trojans has been all the greater since they have not been able to score much this year. McCarthy and Ken Tompkins each have five goals, but victories have come hard, two by 1-0, another by 3-2. And the ties were 2-2 and 0-0.

"He really has excellent moves in the goal," says Vasser. "And he's got a lot of courage. It takes a lot of nerve to come out of the goal and dive on the ball, and he'll do it every time. He also knows when to come out and when to lay back."

"I play all the teams the same, but I like to lay back pretty much, unless I've got a good chance of getting to the ball," says Carew.

This is just Carew's second year of organized soccer. As a junior last year he kept goal for the Terra Linda junior varsity, and would have played on the parent team had it not been for the presence of Crimmins.

The youngest of six children, Carew learned soccer first from his brother Paul, now a student and goalie at Gonzaga University in Washington. But he really learned his position from Aurelio Gey, who as a transfer student from Spain kept goal for the Trojans five years ago, and returned last year to coach the junior varsity.

A lot of credit for the shutouts, says Carew, has to go to the defensive fullbacks, who have prevented opposing teams from taking too many shots on goal. "Especially Ralph Beckman and Art Beallo. They really get up for the games, they've got a lot of hustle."

The only player who has solved Carew so far has been Hugo De La Roca of Drake, who had both goals in a 2-2 tie with the Trojans. Carew ranks him and McCarthy as the best he has seen so far in the league.

He hasn't seen Manny Natsios yet, but he will today. Natsios had 11 goals through five games for Redwood. Natsios will be at least as much of a test as De La Roca.

Carew believes Terra Linda has a chance to go undefeated this year, and that the team has improved by 100 per cent since the start of the season. "We're getting stronger," he says. But he adds, "So is everybody else."

One thing is certain. With Carew in the goal, Terra Linda has a chance to repeat as MCAL champions.

Abramowicz In Record Book

DETROIT (UPI) — Wide receiver Danny Abramowicz of San Francisco tied Lance Alworth's National Football League record last night when he caught a pass in his 96th consecutive game.

Abramowicz, who had caught just one pass in each of the first four Forty-Niner games, hauled in a toss from lefthanded first-year quarterback Denis Morrison in the first quarter of San Francisco's game against the Detroit Lions.

The gain was good for only five yards but it was also good for a spot in the record book.

Aaron, Brewers Can Talk

OAKLAND (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have given Hank Aaron permission to talk with the Milwaukee Brewers, possibly opening the door for baseball's most successful home run slugger to become the first black general manager in the major leagues.

The announcement yesterday by Dan Donohue, president of the Braves, was made just one day before Aaron was to hold a news conference here reportedly to disclose his future plans.

The news conference apparently was arranged by Magnavox, an electrical firm with which Aaron has a $1 million contract.

If Aaron, who will be 41 next February, does sign with the Brewers and finish his major league career where it began — in Milwaukee — he probably would spend next season as a designated hitter before taking a general manager's position.

All along, Aaron had made it known he planned to retire after this season . . . until Sunday, Sept. 29, when he announced that his future still remained in doubt.

Aaron's problems at Atlanta apparently stem from a financial squabble with the Braves, who have offered Hank a front office job for next year at substantially less than his $200,000 player's contract.

"Titles," Aaron once snapped. "Can you spend titles at a grocery store? Executive vice president, assistant to the executive vice president, what does it mean if it doesn't pay good money? I might become a janitor for big money."

It is believed that the Braves offered Aaron as much as $75,000 to serve in the front office, and he still has four more years to run on the Magnovox contract, for which he receives $50,000 quarterly.

There also has been speculation that his contract with the television firm would limit him to a player role with the Braves.

Exhibition Saturday In Water Skiing

The Water Skiers of Marin, a Novato-based water ski club, will present a Water Skiing Exhibition Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Mira Monte Marina. Admission is free.

The club, which promotes safe, competitive water skiing, will demonstrate the style and form used in tournaments for slalom skiing, jumping and trick skiing. The program will also include barefoot skiing, kite flying and other special acts. The marina is located between Petaluma and Novato just off Highway 101.

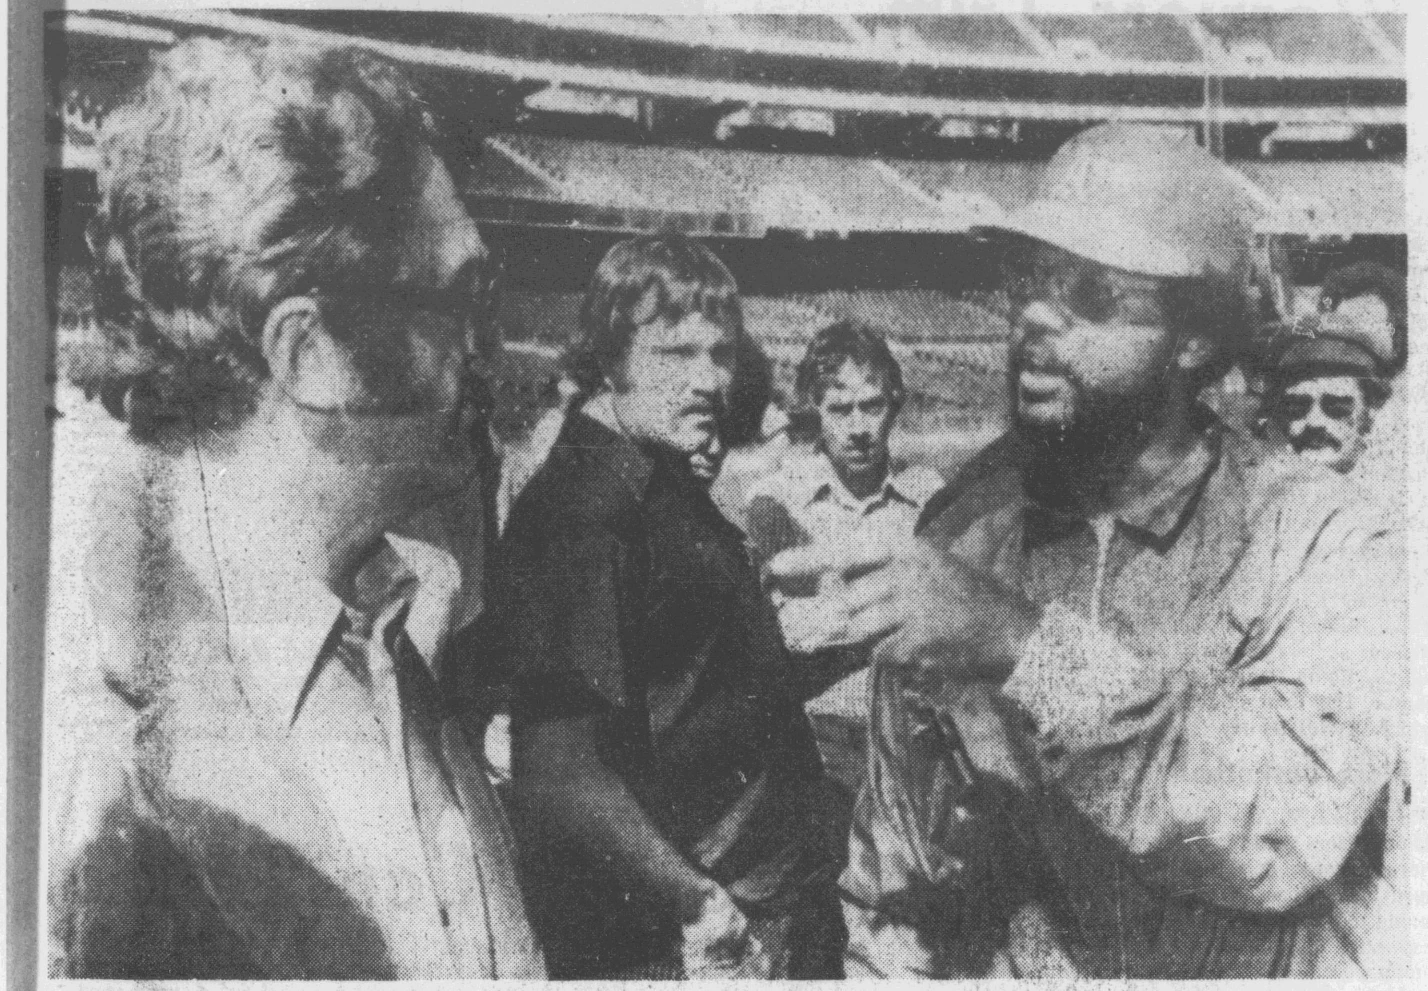
A Close Examination Of Pressure In The World Series



MAN IN THE MIDDLE — Independent-Journal baseball columnist Gary Hughes (center) looked on yesterday as Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's pointed an accusing finger at sportswriter Murray Olderman near the batting cage at the Oakland Coliseum. Jackson was unhappy with a story Olderman wrote about him. (UPI Telephoto)

Views Of Hunter, Downing

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Oakland's "money man," faces Al Downing, the Los Angeles Dodgers' "forgotten man," today in the third game of the all California World Series with the defending World Champion A's 7-5 favorites. (The game will be televised on Channel 4.)

Hunter is unbeaten in three World Series decisions over the last two seasons and was the man who nailed down the final out in Oakland's 3-2 victory Saturday in the opening game of the 1974 classic.

Downing, who lost World Series decisions with the New York Yankees in 1963 and 1964, was the last starter on a solid Los Angeles pitching staff this past season but after a six-week rest, pitched a one-hitter against San Francisco for a key victory down the pennant stretch drive.

"You never quite get used to being calm when it comes to pitching in the World Series," said Hunter, winner of 25 games in 1974 and a leading candidate for American League Cy Young Award honors. "But once the game gets started, I expect I'll be able to shut everything else off and concentrate on pitching."

Downing, winner of only five of 11 decisions for Los Angeles this year, said the fact he pitched previously in World Series competition should help but it really doesn't mean than much.

"Sure the pressure will be there," said the 33-year-old veteran left-hander, "and anyone who says it won't doesn't know what it's all about. In my case I have to tell myself to stop worrying about going a set number of innings and just concentrate on each batter as he comes up."

Since pitching is the name of the game in a World Series, the edge, on paper, today is with the A's, mostly because Hunter is pitching and secondly because the club is back on its home field for the next three games.

The action gets under way today at 5:30 p.m. PDT with another sellout enroute to what may wind up as the richest World Series of all time. Both the first and second games in Los Angeles set attendance marks with 55,000 plus crowds and in Oakland they are expecting 49,000 plus sellouts today, tomorrow and Thursday.

With Hunter pitching for the A's, Dodger Manager Walter Alston has juggled his lineup a bit to compensate. He has benched catcher Steve Yeager and put Joe Ferguson behind the plate with Willie Crawford, a left-handed batter, taking over Ferguson's place in right field.

The A's will go with the same lineup as in the first two games except for a possible switch of Bert Campaneris and Billy North. North was Oakland's leadoff man throughout most of the season with Campaneris, a good hit-and-run man, batting behind him. However, in the first two series games in Los Angeles Campaneris was the leadoff batter.

"I may swap them around," said A's Manager Alvin Dark, "but I won't make up my mind for sure until just before the start of the third game. I think with Campy hitting second we have a better chance to play our kind of game."

Alston said he has all the confidence in the world in Downing but won't hesitate to take him out at the first sign of trouble. With the series tied at one victory each, today's game is pivotal.

"I want Downing to go as well as he can for as long as he can," said Alston.

The Dodgers need today's game more than the A's because, in effect, they are down to two solid pitchers — Andy Messersmith, the openinggame loser, and Don Sutton, the second game winner.

For the fourth game tomorrow, the A's will come back with Ken Holtzman, who went out after 4 1-3 innings of the first game and wasn't involved in the decision, while the Dodgers will counter with Messersmith.

The Dodgers were their usual calm and collected selves during a short twilight workout yesterday while the A's had their daily sideshow. This latest one involved slugger Reggie Jackson, who took exception to a magazine story and minced no words in telling off the author — the highly respected Maury Olderman of Newspaper Enterprise Association.

It was a loud and profane show with Reggie doing all the talking. While it had little to do with the proceedings at hand, it did provide newsmen covering the series an extra tidbit of a series already marred by an A's clubhouse fight and the usual number of complaints against management.

A Typical Day At A's Playground

OAKLAND — It was a typical workout yesterday in the gray emptiness of the Oakland Coliseum where the A's were getting ready for resumption of the World Series.

It was typical because the sound of ball against bat was drowned out by the shouts of anger. But this time the angry words were not directed at one another; they were directed at a writer and were coming from Reggie Jackson.

It was all so very strange. A few feet from the batting cage there was manager Alvin Dark in the middle of a cluster of writers, explaining why the Bible helped pull his life together and why the Bible even helps win ball games. Dark has a way of sounding like a retired minister. There is no profanity, no raising of the voice.

BUT NOT MORE than 20 feet away there was first Reggie Jackson and then Vida Blue, ready and willing to turn the entire thing into an X-rated workout. I hadn't heard language as bad as that since my Army days.

And in the cage was Jesus Alou, trying to get in a little batting practice. "How can I heet the ball with all that going on?" he complained to no one in particular.

The writer receiving all the foul language and threats was Murray Olderman, an editor for Newspaper Enterprise Association whose question and answer column appears in many newspapers across the country, including the Independent-Journal on Saturdays. Jackson's beef was about an article Olderman wrote in the October issue of Sport magazine, entitled, "Reggie Jackson: Blood and Guts of the Fighting A's." There's a picture of Jackson on the cover in a General Patton pose, complete with battle helmet, pearl-handled revolvers and binoculars.

THE LAST TWO paragraphs of the magazine article was the part that so infuriated Jackson. Speaking about former A's ball girl Mary Barry on a visit he made to Jackson's home, Olderman wrote: "Charlie Finley dismissed the ballpersons this year to cut his expenses. Mary, chased out of right field, now does the next best thing; she spends spare hours with the right fielder. The day I visited Reggie's Place, he and Mary sat and talked for a long time. She looked lovely in a lotus position and a green bikini."

Olderman also wrote in the final paragraph about not getting much of a chance to talk to Jackson but instead "thumbed through his Penthouses and his Playboys and glanced at his color TV set with a Holy Bible and a pistol on it."

Jackson threatened Olderman and told him to "make sure I don't ever see you alone," in front of at least two dozen writers and radio-television people. He also told him to stay out of the A's clubhouse.

BLUE'S ARGUMENT was that he didn't say the things that were attributed to him in the article. Blue did a lot of swearing but he didn't make any threats.

In the article Blue was said to once point to the A's outfield — white Joe Rudi in left, Latin Angel Mangual in center and black Reggie Jackson in right and say, "There are three cliques on this team, and you can see all of them out there." Vida denied saying that.

After the shouts were over, Dark asked I-J baseball columnist Gary Hughes what it was all about. When informed, Dark walked over to Olderman and said, "Murray, you're always welcome in the A's clubhouse."

And, said Olderman, he had no intentions of staying out, regardless of Jackson's warnings.

Yes, it was a typical workout for the A's. With the anger and shouting over for another day, it is time to play baseball. The Dodgers had better beware.

'Best Young Catcher' To San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants traded their best reliever and a backup receiver to get "the best young catcher in baseball."

At least that is what Giants Vice President Jerry Donovan called Marc Hill of St. Louis, who was obtained yesterday in a swap for Elias Sosa and Ken Rudolph.

Hill, 22, hit .278 and had 14 homers while driving in 58 runs at Tulsa of the American Association last season. He hit .238 in a brief stint with the Cardinals. The Giant catching corps of Dave Rader, John Boccabella and Rudolph had only one homer of the Giants' total of 93, their lowest team output in 30 years.

The deal apparently was the climax to a week of rumors about impending Giants swaps — or was it?

For no sooner was the deal completed when Donovan added fuel to the hot rumor that outfielder Bobby Bonds could be wearing a different uniform next season.

"We haven't made any commitment to Bobby that he'll stay," Donovan said delicately.

But this was quite a switch from owner Horace Stoneham's declaration last summer that Bonds would stay in San Francisco no matter what.

Bonds slumped to a .256 average with 21 homers and 71 runs batted in this year after batting .283 with 39 homers and 96 rbi's in 1973.

"He could go if the right deal comes along," said Donovan, who added that several teams have made offers.

Sosa had a 9-7 record with six saves for the Giants while Rudolph batted .259 in 57 games.

The Cardinals also completed a minor league deal with the Giants, acquiring pitcher Jim Willoughby from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League and assigning him to Tulsa. The Cards gave up infielder Tom Heintzelman, who is being shifted from Tulsa to the Giants.

How Lions Reacted To Chanting

Goal Line Stand By 'Dee-fense'

DETROIT (UPI) — The crowd was on its feet yelling "Dee-fense" at Detroit for the first time in a long while—and for the first time in quite a spell the Lions were playing it.

"The referees told us to raise our hands up and quiet the crowd," defensive end Ernie Price of the Lions said. "We said, 'You crazy, man? We haven't heard this in a long time.'"

That third quarter goal line struggle last night was the turning point as Detroit came right back with a touchdown to cement its first 1974 National Football League victory, a 17-13 decision over the San Francisco 49ers.

Rookie Wilbur Jackson had just sped 64 yards to the Detroit two for his longest gain of a 91-yard night and it looked like the Lions were headed for their fifth loss. The 49ers are now 2-3 while all of Detroit's losses have come by a total of 14 points.

"I feel the crowd yelling 'defense' helped the team," Coach Rick Forzano said savoring his first pro head coaching win. "I was kind of yelling 'defense' myself on the sidelines."

"What was the mood in the huddle?," linebacker Paul Naumoff repeated a question. "Well, I was kind of tired. I had just run 60-some yards trying to catch a guy I was never going to catch."

"I saw him taking off like that and I realized it was either me or seven points," said cornerback Levi Johnson, who finally caught Jackson near the sidelines. "When we got into the huddle, they congratulated me and that was it."

Linebackers Charlie Weaver, Naumoff, and Jim Laslavic thwarted successive plays and Bruce Gossett had to step back and kick a 19-yard field goal, cutting Detroit's halftime lead to 10-6.

Gossett had kicked a 27-yard field goal in the first quarter only to have Steve Owens cap an ensuing 81-yard drive with a one-yard dive for a touchdown. Errol Mann added a 31-yard field goal for Detroit.

Herman Weaver punted 61 yards to put San Francisco in a hole after the second Gossett field goal and when the 49ers kicked, Dick Jauron ran the punt back 45 yards to the 13.

Two running plays got nowhere so quarterback Bill Munson whipped a 13-yard bullet into Larry Walton's waiting hands to hike the edge to 17-6, a margin that proved necessary when left-handed rookie Dennis Morrison finally got his Forty Niners moving.

MADDEN'S ASSESSMENT

Good News: Raiders Home; Bad News: Must Play Cincy

OAKLAND (UPI) — "We're finally playing at home again, but we're playing the Bengals," said Oakland Coach John Madden glumly.

The Raiders and Cincinnati Bengals match 4-1 records in a big battle between conference leaders Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum.

"The Bengals are in first place in their conference and are a team that has been improving every year," Madden said yesterday. "They have a good offense and a good defense."

Madden said Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, who threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score in the 34-24 win over Cleveland Sunday, might confound Oakland's various defenses with his ability to run the ball.

"When you have quarterbacks like that, they often do one or the other much better," Madden said of running-passing quarterbacks. "But Anderson has that combination of two things he does well."

Concerning last Sunday's 14-10 squeaker at San Diego, Madden said "we were able to move the ball, but we didn't get the points."

He asserted films showed that Marv Hubbard had scored when referees ruled the Raiders a foot short. A fourth down Ken Stabler pass then fell incomplete. Later Willie Brown's apparent 34-yard return of an interception for a TD was called back by a penalty.

The Raiders could survive these breaks against San Diego but Madden stressed the offense will have to move more convincingly if the Raiders hope to beat Cincinnati.

San Rafael Gains Toy Store With Move From San Anselmo

A new toy store, featuring games and hobbies as well as toys, will open this week in downtown San Rafael at 1310 Fourth Street, the old location of Merle Norman Cosmetics. It is located between Marin Title Guaranty and Lock, Stock & Barrel gunsmith.

The new shop, called Master Of The Revels, is owned by Mike and June Mackes of San Anselmo, who moved from the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo, where they had operated for seven months. Before that, the Mackes owned Mackes' Sportswear in Sausalito for 11 years until they sold it in September of last year.

Master Of The Revels carries a variety of imported toys and games, many models both balsa wood and plastic, puppets, hand-made wooden toys, various construction sets, and other game and hobby items.

"We decided to move to San Rafael because we have more space here, and also because we felt San Rafael needs a toy and game store," said Mackes.

Master Of The Revels will be open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will feature Santa Claus from mid-November and will open nights and Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas, as will many other stores in downtown San Rafael.

Cutler

Oliphant

FIREMAN'S FUND Insurance Co. President and Chief Executive Officer Myron DuBain announced the election of two executive vice presidents.

Edwin F. Cutler, 49, of San Rafael will be executive vice president with responsibility for corporate finance, budget and systems functions. He previously was controller and most recently senior vice president for systems, processing and controls.

O. D. Oliphant, 54, of Novato will be executive vice president in charge of underwriting, actuarial, marketing, research and field operations, including branch office administration. He has been senior operations executive for Fireman's Fund life insurance subsidiaries.

A PIPE AND TOBACCO shop, specializing in big name brand pipes, custom blended tobaccos and expert pipe repair, has opened in Old Brown's Store, 38 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Called Cane Creek, it is owned and operated by Stewart and Jeanne Walsh, whose family has been pipe smokers and toacco growers in a place called Cane Creek in Kentucky for four generations. Walsh himself has been blending tobacco and collecting pipes for 15 years. He was a newspaper editor and a teacher in Wisconsin for six years before moving to Forest Knolls last June.

Cane Creek carries name brand pipes, unusual Freehand or Danish pipes, custom blended tobaccos, imported cigars, imported and domestic cigarettes, and a full line of smoking accessories and gift items. The shop also has beautifully carved collector's items such as the Meerschaum from Turkey. The store is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Walshes also plan to publish a newspaper with articles on pipe lore and care of pipes to give out to their customers.

Coye

Thomason

SALLY COYE of Tiburon is owner of The Film Company, a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. Located behind the Ancient Mariner in the former Marina Tennis site, the Film Company specializes in photographic supplies and services.

Mrs. Coye, mother of two, is a former United Airlines stewardess. She is a member of the Clipped Wings, an organization of former stewardesses that does charity work for the mentally retarded.

JOANNE THOMASON is the owner-manager of The Party Palace (formerly Rojean's), a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. The Party Palace specializes in unusual party supplies such as helium balloons and pinatas, as well as cards and gifts.

MONTECITO REALTY at the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael is owned by Bill Duffield and Nat Marans as partners.

This column on Oct. 9 referred to Montecito Realty and listed Marans as owner. It should have listed Bill Duffield as an equal partner.

THE RARE BIT, a specialty cheese shop, has opened at The Cove Shopping Center at Blackfield Drive and Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon.

Owners Robert and Emy Hynes of Strawberry bought the former Cheese Tailor at the end of August, remodeled the interior and expanded its inventory. The Rare Bit, open seven eays a week, features imported and domestic cheeses, fresh bagels, fresh daily quiche lorraine and spinach quiche, and home-made ravioli stuffed with cheese and spinach. The shop also carries seasonings, gift packs and some gift items like fondue pots and cheese boards.

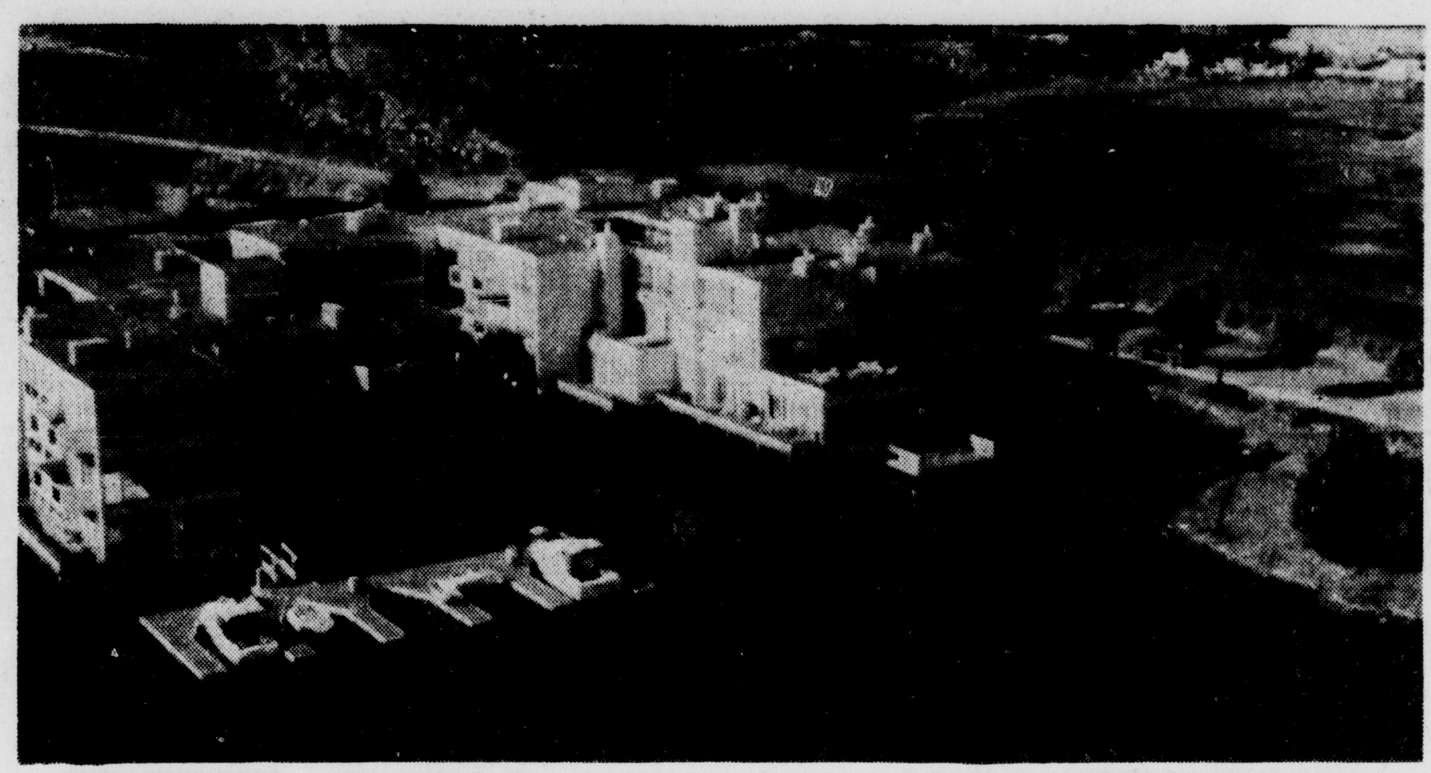
Originally from New York, Hynes came to San Francisco 14 years ago, graduated from the hotel and restaurant management school at San Francisco City College, and has been a food consultant since then. The Hynes have lived in Marin for the past eight years.



SHELTER BAY — Formerly built as luxury waterfront apartments, Shelter Bay's Mediterranean style buildings have been converted to condominiums and are selling for $45,000 for one bedrooms to $78,500 for four bedrooms. Baker Crow Company, the new owner, repainted the buildings, improved the facilities and grounds, and completed the conversion to condominiums on Aug. 23. Thirty of the 107 condominiums were sold in the first 30 days.

Shelter Bay Changes To Condominium

Shelter Bay, the 107-unit waterfront project on the west side of Highway 101, north of Sabella's, has just been converted to condominiums by the new owner, Baker-Crow Co. of Mill Valley.

"Sales of the condominiums have been almost phenomenal," said Jerry W. P. Schauffler, regional manager for Baker-Crow. "We sold 30 condominiums in 30 days, and this in a supposedly depressed market during which stocks fell 130 points." The new owners have arranged financing, providing 80 to 90 per cent loans.

Shelter Bay condominiums, ranging in size from one to four bedrooms, are selling for $45,000 to $78,500. All condominiums have decks, balconies or patios for views of the water, with covered parking for each unit, and berthing facilities on a first come first served basis. Floor areas range in size from 870 square feet to 1,700 square feet for the four-bedrooms. Most of the condominiums are on one level, and all the walls are of staggered stud construction for better soundproofing, Schauffler pointed out. "And you don't feel confined because each unit has a long wall of glass facing out."

Shelter Bay also has a recreation center and clubhouse, a tennis court and a large pool for use by the residents. Access is from Seminary Drive, just north of Sabella's. A sales office with a furnished model is open every day on the site.

Early Profit Taking Sends Mart Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — An early wave of profit taking coming on the heels of the past week's rally sent prices broadly lower in fairly active trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Declines led advances, 812 to 371, among the 1,576 issues crossing the tape.

A profit taking trend began in the last 90 minutes of yesterday's session and carried over into this one. Selling pressure today, however, eased after the first hour.

Investors have been encouraged recently by a lowering of interest rates. The Federal Reserve Board's open market committee was meeting during the day and was expected to foster looser credit policies.

There has been speculation the prime lending rate, which banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers, would fall to 11 per cent in the near future. Many major banks have lowered it to 11 ½ per cent in recent weeks. It reached an historic high of 12 per cent earlier this year.

Quarterly Dividend

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 49½ cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cent quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Gold Markets

London, Morning fixing 154.20, down 0.65; afternoon fixing 155.00 up 0.15. Paris free market 160.27 up 2.73; Frankfurt 156.46, up 0.78; Zurich 155.00, up 0.25; New York, Handy and Harman, noon 155.30, down 1.95; Engelhard, 159.39 sell-fabricated, up 0.16; 155.50 sell-bullion up 0.15.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at 462.0 cents per fine ounce up 5.0 cents. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.62 up 5.0 cents and fabricated silver at $4.73 up 5.2 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Drug Marketing Firm Has A Track Record

By ROGER E. SPEAR and DAVID R. SARGENT

I have been holding Budd Company (NYSE) through this completely insane market in hopes of recovery. Should I now switch to another underpriced issue which might have greater comeback potential? — W.S.

A. Although these shares have potential, ultimately, for recovery, lower earnings comparisons will probably continue to retard progress. As a replacement Marion Laboratories (NYSE), an aggressive drug marketing organization, has appeal. Marketing expertise and high-caliber research have produced unusual success for this ethical drug company. In the past five years per-share earnings have climbed from 52c to $1.39 (for a 22 per cent compounded growth rate) and another substantial gain to $1.70 a share is in sight for the fiscal year to end next June.

Drugs developed primarily by foreign companies are marketed under license. Research concentrates on gaining FDA sales approval. Two drugs, one to treat severe burns the other for treatment of bronchial asthma, have recently been approved. Another drug is expected to be cleared in the current fiscal year and eight others are in the investigational stage. Under a 20-year licensing agreement with Syntex three new products should be added to Marion's line within three years. Related products, hospital supplies, vitamins and proprietary drugs account for about 16 per cent of income. Despite Marion's strong record, the issue has been severely depressed by drug industry hearings, national health insurance controversy and FDA drug effectiveness hearings. At this level the shares are a buy.

Q. We are over 70 and need more income. Would you advise switching 960 shares of Mass. Investor's Trust to Mass. Income Development? — S.K.

A. Your shares of MIT provide $384 annually in income dividends. A switch to MID would, at current levels, add $220 to your yearly return, a 57 per cent increase. The exchange seems justified on that basis. Since offering in 1970, Mass. Income Development Fund has performed somewhat better than MIT, primarily because it has been more resistant in declining markets.

50th Year For Basalt Rock Firm

Basalt Rock Company Inc., which has a plant in San Rafael, is celebrating its 50th year in business this month as a major supplier of concrete products and aggregate materials.

The firm produces concrete products at its 100-acre main facility in Napa, and lightweight aggregate at Napa Junction. Other plants in San Rafael, Healdsburg, and Santa Rosa produce sand, gravel, crushed stone, rip-rap stone, ready-mix concrete and asphalt paving materials. Propane is distributed in several north bay counties.

Established in 1924, Basalt established itself as a major rock products supplier during the 1930's.

6 WAYS TO COOK WITH LESS ENERGY.

You use more energy in your kitchen than in any other room. Economize with these suggestions:

1. Make sure your oven and surface burners or units are shut off when not in use.
2. Keep oven doors completely closed until food is cooked. Every time you open the door, the oven temperature drops from 25° to 50°. (Oven door windows aid the "peek-a-boo" cook.)
3. Prepare a complete meal when using the oven—main course, vegetable and dessert. Use foods that cook well at similar temperatures. (Exception: delicate green or leafy vegetables.)
4. Use cooking utensils with flat bottoms and tight fitting covers whenever possible. Be sure pots and pans are the right size for range burners or units.
5. Bake and broil from a cold oven start. There's no need to preheat an oven.
6. Thaw frozen meats in refrigerator before cooking. Cook as soon as possible after thawing, and do not re-freeze unless meat has been cooked. A defrosted roast requires approximately 33% less cooking time than a frozen one.

These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

FISH AND GAME

A Sad Time On This Hunt

RAVENDALE — Last week was sad for us. Ouur dog Bruno suddenly became sick last Wednesday evening at Webber Lake. We took him to Susanville early Thursday morning, but no veterinary office was open. It was hell waiting for the vet to show at opening time, 1 p.m. Bruno died at 12:45 p.m.

It ground our hearts out. He was an exceptional friend. Never did he snap, bite or even growl at anyone. He lived in the house as one of the family. He would wait at the window when we left home alone watching for one of our cars to drive into the yard, then he would eagerly meet us at the door.

He was a homebody. If left on the porch, you could depend on him to meet you as you drove into the yard.In the mornings when Mary my wife, got up, she would give him a biscuit. Then he would run into the bedroom and wake me and I was supposed to challenge him for the biscuit. After a tug of war, he would sit down nearby and contentedly chew it up.

We miss him more each hunt, and I wouldn't care if he frightened 1,000 bucks away if he were only here. We're just sick.

WE TRIED A COUPLE of halfhearted buck hunts here at Ravendale, but the dry, hot weather makes getting a deer almost impossible. The bucks are holed up; nothing is moving. On one hunt to the top of Schinn Peak, I saw five does; the rest of the gang saw nary a deer. I actually got a sweat walking downhill. It's about 40 degrees at night. I haven't heard a shot this week in the mountains. If there is no storm, very few bucks will be taken this last week of the season. With my daughter and her husband, Ken Walker, heading home last Sunday, Mary and I fugure to go back to Webber Lake just to take it easy.

As we had duck reservations for the Alturas Refuge for opening day last Saturday, the four of us got up about 3 a.m. and drove to Alturas for breakfast, then headed for the checking station. It was a blue bird day. For about two-hours we had a fair shoot getting four sprig, one mallard, one gadwall and five teal. Then things stopped completely.

There seems to be more cottontail rabbits this year, and on the Schinn Peak hunt I saw 14 chukars. I might have been able to get one if the season had been open. I wouldn't advise trying for these elusive birds in this country. They're tough!

OCEAN ANGLERS and party boat operators are reminded by state and federal fish and game officers that the penalties for shooting seals or sea lions can runa as much $20,000 and 12 months in jail.

In recent weeks, Wildlife Protection officers along the California coast have received several reports of seals and sea lions being shot from private fishing boats and commercial party boats.

The Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 placed all marine mammals under federal protection and set stiff penalties for harassing, killing or attempting to kill marine mammals.

Persons violating the law are subject either to civil or criminal court action. Under civil action penalties can run up to $10,000. The $20,000 fine and one-year jail term is the maximum penalty under the law's criminal sections.

Fish and Game officers emphasize that party boat operators and persons fishing from party boats are not exempt from the ban on shooting seals and sea lions, even if the animals are interfering with fishing.

Anyone witnessing the shooting or harassment of seals or sea lions is asked to Notify the Department of Fish and Game with full details of the incident.

THE VAST TULARE Lake Basin remained virtually free of botulism this week as the number of waterfowl in the area reached a seson's peak of about 300,000 and thousands of acres of land were under irrigation water.

Federal-state surveillance of the area, one of the state's traditional hot spots for botulism whenever flood water is present, turned up no sick or dead ducks on Kern National Wildlife Refuge, although there were a few dead birds on the lake itself.

COOLER WEATHER, which was expected momentarily, whould end the botulism threat for this year, the Department of Fish and Game said in its weekly situation report from the southern San Joaquin Valley.

Meanwhile, the Department of Fish and Game was checking into the deaths of birds on the Merced and Fresno sewer farms, and outbreaks of the disease at Lake Almanor in Plumas County and Coyote Point on San Francisco Bay near Burlingame appeared under control.

Losses at Lake Almanor totaled about 300 birds, and the toll at Coyote Point, where a Fish and Game airboat was sent to pick up dead waterfowl, was estimated at 1,000 birds.

JIM CAREW
Four shutouts, including three straight and two last week.
(Sketch by Jack Lucey)

PREP OF WEEK

Goalie Carew Is Fulfilling Promise

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The Terra Linda High School Trojans are making an unexpected bid to retain their Marin County Athletic League soccer crown, largely due to the goal keeping of Jim Carew.

He has shut out four of six opponents this year, including three in a row and two last week. For his efforts, he was named the Independent-Journal's Prep of the Week.

Even before the season began, Terra Linda coach Bob Vasser called Carew "potentially the best goalie in the league." As his team readied to face frontrunning Redwood today in the final game of the first half of the season, Vasser had no reason to change his mind.

"He's the one guy the team looks to. When he does things well they applaud — you just don't see a real good goalie that often."

The Trojans won the MCAL championship easily last year with a 13-1 record. But they brought back just one starter this season, center forward Steve McCarthy. Graduation robbed them of five all-leaguers, including goalie Jack Crimmins.

Yet they are undefeated with four wins and two ties with Carew in the goal; a victory today would put them in first place ahead of the favored Giants, who have won six without a loss or a tie.

Carew's value to the Trojans has been all the greater since they have not been able to score much this year. McCarthy and Ken Tompkins each have five goals, but victories have come hard, two by 1-0, another by 3-2. And the ties were 2-2 and 0-0.

"He really has excellent moves in the goal," says Vasser. "And he's got a lot of courage. It takes a lot of nerve to come out of the goal and dive on the ball, and he'll do it every time. He also knows when to come out and when to lay back."

"I play all the teams the same, but I like to lay back pretty much, unless I've got a good chance of getting to the ball," says Carew.

This is just Carew's second year of organized soccer. As a junior last year he kept goal for the Terra Linda junior varsity, and would have played on the parent team had it not been for the presence of Crimmins.

The youngest of six children, Carew learned soccer first from his brother Paul, now a student and goalie at Gonzaga University in Washington. But he really learned his position from Aurelio Gey, who as a transfer student from Spain kept goal for the Trojans five years ago, and returned last year to coach the junior varsity.

A lot of credit for the shutouts, says Carew, has to go to the defensive fullbacks, who have prevented opposing teams from taking too many shots on goal. "Especially Ralph Beckman and Art Beallo. They really get up for the games, they've got a lot of hustle."

The only player who has solved Carew so far has been Hugo De La Roca of Drake, who had both goals in a 2-2 tie with the Trojans. Carew ranks him and McCarthy as the best he has seen so far in the league.

He hasn't seen Manny Natsios yet, but he will today. Natsios had 11 goals through five games for Redwood. Natsios will be at least as much of a test as De La Roca.

Carew believes Terra Linda has a chance to go undefeated this year, and that the team has improved by 100 per cent since the start of the season. "We're getting stronger," he says. But he adds, "So is everybody else."

One thing is certain. With Carew in the goal, Terra Linda has a chance to repeat as MCAL champions.

Abramowicz In Record Book

DETROIT (UPI) — Wide receiver Danny Abramowicz of San Francisco tied Lance Alworth's National Football League record last night when he caught a pass in his 96th consecutive game.

Abramowicz, who had caught just one pass in each of the first four Forty-Niner games, hauled in a toss from lefthanded first-year quarterback Denis Morrison in the first quarter of San Francisco's game against the Detroit Lions.

The gain was good for only five yards but it was also good for a spot in the record book.

Warriors Trim Rookie Guards

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — The Golden State Warriors have reached the 12-man National Basketball Association player limit. Yesterday, the Warriors placed two rookie draft choices on waivers.

Guards Willie Biles, a fourth-round pick from Tulsa, and John Errecart, a sixth-round selection from the University of Pacific, were cut.

Aaron, Brewers Can Talk

OAKLAND (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have given Hank Aaron permission to talk with the Milwaukee Brewers, possibly opening the door for baseball's most successful home run slugger to become the first black general manager in the major leagues.

The announcement yesterday by Dan Donohue, president of the Braves, was made just one day before Aaron was to hold a news conference here reportedly to disclose his future plans.

The news conference apparently was arranged by Magnavox, an electrical firm with which Aaron has a $1 million contract.

If Aaron, who will be 41 next February, does sign with the Brewers and finish his major league career where it began — in Milwaukee — he probably would spend next season as a designated hitter before taking a general manager's position.

All along, Aaron had made it known he planned to retire after this season . . . until Sunday, Sept. 29, when he announced that his future still remained in doubt.

Aaron's problems at Atlanta apparently stem from a financial squabble with the Braves, who have offered Hank a front office job for next year at substantially less than his $200,000 player's contract.

"Titles," Aaron once snapped. "Can you spend titles at a grocery store? Executive vice president, assistant to the executive vice president, what does it mean if it doesn't pay good money? I might become a janitor for big money."

It is believed that the Braves offered Aaron as much as $75,000 to serve in the front office, and he still has four more years to run on the Magnovox contract, for which he receives $50,000 quarterly.

There also has been speculation that his contract with the television firm would limit him to a player role with the Braves.

Exhibition Saturday In Water Skiing

The Water Skiers of Marin, a Novato-based water ski club, will present a Water Skiing Exhibition Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Mira Monte Marina. Admission is free.

The club, which promotes safe, competitive water skiing, will demonstrate the style and form used in tournaments for slalom skiing, jumping and trick skiing. The program will also include barefoot skiing, kite flying and other special acts. The marina is located between Petaluma and Novato just off Highway 101.

Rallye Saturday In Corte Madera

The Marin Rallye Association will sponsor a coursemarker, navigational, gimmick car rallye Saturday starting between 6 and 8:30 p.m. in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Cost is $3.50 per car to participate in the rallye called Mr. Zip. The event will conclude around 11:30 p.m. at the Novato Straw Hat Pizza Palace.

San Rafael Gains Toy Store With Move From San Anselmo

A new toy store, featuring games and hobbies as well as toys, will open this week in downtown San Rafael at 1310 Fourth Street, the old location of Merle Norman Cosmetics. It is located between Marin Title Guaranty and Lock, Stock & Barrel gunsmith.

The new shop, called Master Of The Revels, is owned by Mike and June Mackes of San Anselmo, who moved from the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo, where they had operated for seven months. Before that, the Mackes owned Mackes' Sportswear in Sausalito for 11 years until they sold it in September of last year.

Master Of The Revels carries a variety of imported toys and games, many models both balsa wood and plastic, puppets, hand-made wooden toys, various construction sets, and other game and hobby items.

"We decided to move to San Rafael because we have more space here, and also because we felt San Rafael needs a toy and game store," said Mackes.

Master Of The Revels will be open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will feature Santa Claus from mid-November and will open nights and Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas, as will many other stores in downtown San Rafael.

Cutler

Oliphant

FIREMAN'S FUND Insurance Co. President and Chief Executive Officer Myron DuBain announced the election of two executive vice presidents.

Edwin F. Cutler, 49, of San Rafael will be executive vice president with responsibility for corporate finance, budget and systems functions. He previously was controller and most recently senior vice president for systems, processing and controls.

O. D. Oliphant, 54, of Novato will be executive vice president in charge of underwriting, actuarial, marketing, research and field operations, including branch office administration. He has been senior operations executive for Fireman's Fund life insurance subsidiaries.

A PIPE AND TOBACCO shop, specializing in big name brand pipes, custom blended tobaccos and expert pipe repair, has opened in Old Brown's Store, 38 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Called Cane Creek, it is owned and operated by Stewart and Jeanne Walsh, whose family has been pipe smokers and toacco growers in a place called Cane Creek in Kentucky for four generations. Walsh himself has been blending tobacco and collecting pipes for 15 years. He was a newspaper editor and a teacher in Wisconsin for six years before moving to Forest Knolls last June.

Cane Creek carries name brand pipes, unusual Freehand or Danish pipes, custom blended tobaccos, imported cigars, imported and domestic cigarettes, and a full line of smoking accessories and gift items. The shop also has beautifully carved collector's items such as the Meerschaum from Turkey. The store is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Walshes also plan to publish a newspaper with articles on pipe lore and care of pipes to give out to their customers.

Coye

Thomason

SALLY COYE of Tiburon is owner of The Film Company, a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. Located behind the Ancient Mariner in the former Marina Tennis site, the Film Company specializes in photographic supplies and services.

Mrs. Coye, mother of two, is a former United Airlines stewardess. She is a member of the Clipped Wings, an organization of former stewardesses that does charity work for the mentally retarded.

JOANNE THOMASON is the owner-manager of The Party Palace (formerly Rojean's), a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. The Party Palace specializes in unusual party supplies such as helium balloons and pinatas, as well as cards and gifts.

MONTECITO REALTY at the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael is owned by Bill Duffield and Nat Marans as partners.

This column on Oct. 9 referred to Montecito Realty and listed Marans as owner. It should have listed Bill Duffield as an equal partner.

THE RARE BIT, a specialty cheese shop, has opened at The Cove Shopping Center at Blackfield Drive and Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon.

Owners Robert and Emy Hynes of Strawberry bought the former Cheese Tailor at the end of August, remodeled the interior and expanded its inventory. The Rare Bit, open seven eays a week, features imported and domestic cheeses, fresh bagels, fresh daily quiche lorraine and spinach quiche, and home-made ravioli stuffed with cheese and spinach. The shop also carries seasonings, gift packs and some gift items like fondue pots and cheese boards.

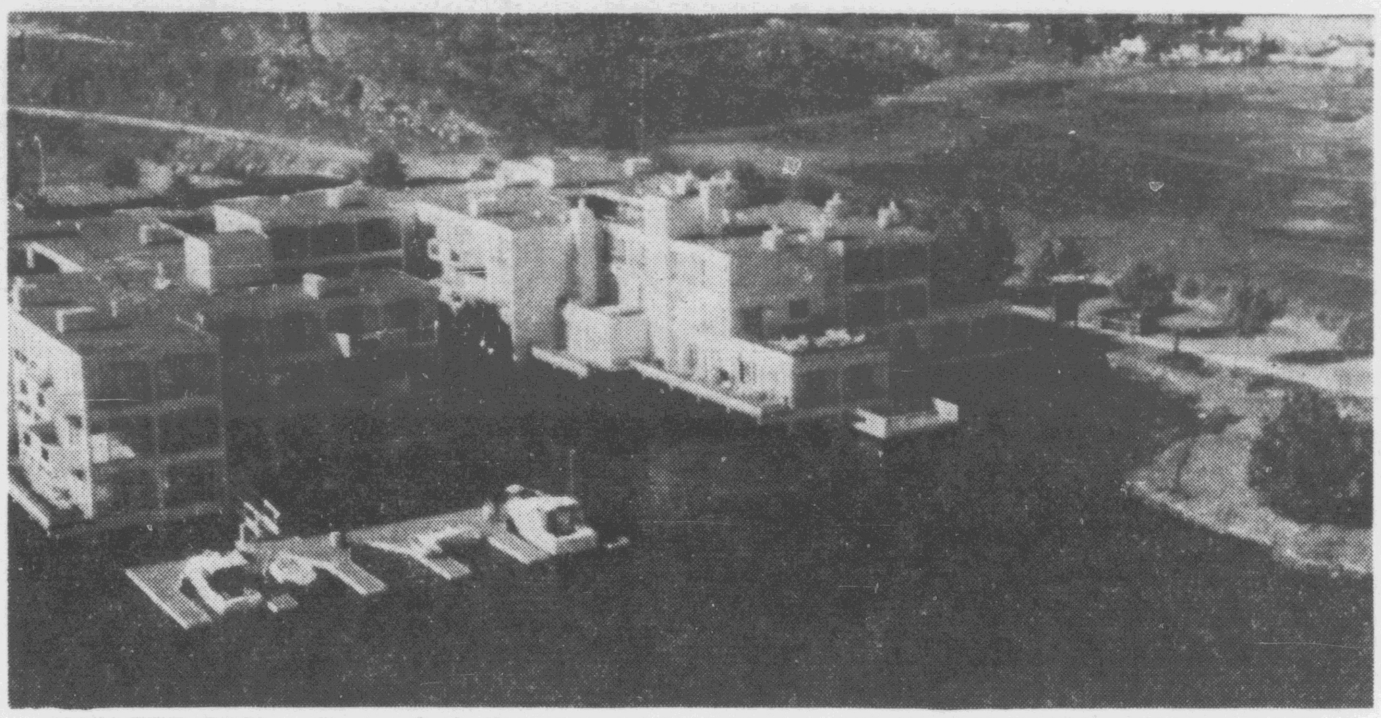
Originally from New York, Hynes came to San Francisco 14 years ago, graduated from the hotel and restaurant management school at San Francisco City College, and has been a food consultant since then. The Hynes have lived in Marin for the past eight years.



SHELTER BAY — Formerly built as luxury waterfront apartments, Shelter Bay's Mediterranean style buildings have been converted to condominiums and are selling for $45,000 for one bedrooms to $78,500 for four bedrooms. Baker Crow Company, the new owner, repainted the buildings, improved the facilities and grounds, and completed the conversion to condominiums on Aug. 23. Thirty of the 107 condominiums were sold in the first 30 days.

Shelter Bay Changes To Condominium

Shelter Bay, the 107-unit waterfront project on the west side of Highway 101, north of Sabella's, has just been converted to condominiums by the new owner, Baker-Crow Co. of Mill Valley.

"Sales of the condominiums have been almost phenomenal," said Jerry W. P. Schauffler, regional manager for Baker-Crow. "We sold 30 condominiums in 30 days, and this in a supposedly depressed market during which stocks fell 130 points." The new owners have arranged financing, providing 80 to 90 per cent loans.

Shelter Bay condominiums, ranging in size from one to four bedrooms, are selling for $45,000 to $78,500. All condominiums have decks, balconies or patios for views of the water, with covered parking for each unit, and berthing facilities on a first come first served basis. Floor areas range in size from 870 square feet to 1,700 square feet for the four-bedrooms. Most of the condominiums are on one level, and all the walls are of staggered stud construction for better soundproofing, Schauffler pointed out. "And you don't feel confined because each unit has a long wall of glass facing out."

Shelter Bay also has a recreation center and clubhouse, a tennis court and a large pool for use by the residents. Access is from Seminary Drive, just north of Sabella's. A sales office with a furnished model is open every day on the site.

Early Profit Taking Sends Mart Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — An early wave of profit taking coming on the heels of the past week's rally sent prices broadly lower in fairly active trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Declines led advances, 812 to 371, among the 1,576 issues crossing the tape.

A profit taking trend began in the last 90 minutes of yesterday's session and carried over into this one. Selling pressure today, however, eased after the first hour.

Investors have been encouraged recently by a lowering of interest rates. The Federal Reserve Board's open market committee was meeting during the day and was expected to foster looser credit policies.

There has been speculation the prime lending rate, which banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers, would fall to 11 per cent in the near future. Many major banks have lowered it to 11 ½ per cent in recent weeks. It reached an historic high of 12 per cent earlier this year.

Quarterly Dividend

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 49½ cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cent quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Gold Markets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at 462.0 cents per fine ounce up 5.0 cents. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.62 up 5.0 cents and fabricated silver at $4.73 up 5.2 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Drug Marketing Firm Has A Track Record

By ROGER E. SPEAR and DAVID R. SARGENT

I have been holding Budd Company (NYSE) through this completely insane market in hopes of recovery. Should I now switch to another underpriced issue which might have greater comeback potential? — W.S.

A. Although these shares have potential, ultimately, for recovery, lower earnings comparisons will probably continue to retard progress. As a replacement Marion Laboratories (NYSE), an aggressive drug marketing organization, has appeal. Marketing expertise and high-caliber research have produced unusual success for this ethical drug company. In the past five years per-share earnings have climbed from 52c to $1.39 (for a 22 per cent compounded growth rate) and another substantial gain to $1.70 a share is in sight for the fiscal year to end next June.

Drugs developed primarily by foreign companies are marketed under license. Research concentrates on gaining FDA sales approval. Two drugs, one to treat severe burns the other for treatment of bronchial asthma, have recently been approved. Another drug is expected to be cleared in the current fiscal year and eight others are in the investigational stage. Under a 20-year licensing agreement with Syntex three new products should be added to Marion's line within three years. Related products, hospital supplies, vitamins and proprietary drugs account for about 16 per cent of income. Despite Marion's strong record, the issue has been severely depressed by drug industry hearings, national health insurance controversy and FDA drug effectiveness hearings. At this level the shares are a buy.

Q. We are over 70 and need more income. Would you advise switching 960 shares of Mass. Investor's Trust to Mass. Income Development? — S.K.

A. Your shares of MIT provide $384 annually in income dividends. A switch to MID would, at current levels, add $220 to your yearly return, a 57 per cent increase. The exchange seems justified on that basis. Since offering in 1970, Mass. Income Development Fund has performed somewhat better than MIT, primarily because it has been more resistant in declining markets.

50th Year For Basalt Rock Firm

Basalt Rock Company Inc., which has a plant in San Rafael, is celebrating its 50th year in business this month as a major supplier of concrete products and aggregate materials.

The firm produces concrete products at its 100-acre main facility in Napa, and lightweight aggregate at Napa Junction. Other plants in San Rafael, Healdsburg, and Santa Rosa produce sand, gravel, crushed stone, rip-rap stone, ready-mix concrete and asphalt paving materials. Propane is distributed in several north bay counties.

Established in 1924, Basalt established itself as a major rock products supplier during the 1930's.

6 WAYS TO COOK WITH LESS ENERGY.

You use more energy in your kitchen than in any other room. Economize with these suggestions:

1. Make sure your oven and surface burners or units are shut off when not in use.

2. Keep oven doors completely closed until food is cooked. Every time you open the door, the oven temperature drops from 25° to 50°. (Oven door windows aid the "peek-a-boo" cook.)

3. Prepare a complete meal when using the oven—main course, vegetable and dessert. Use foods that cook well at similar temperatures. (Exception: delicate green or leafy vegetables.)

4. Use cooking utensils with flat bottoms and tight fitting covers whenever possible. Be sure pots and pans are the right size for range burners or units.

5. Bake and broil from a cold oven start. There's no need to preheat an oven.

6. Thaw frozen meats in refrigerator before cooking. Cook as soon as possible after thawing, and do not re-freeze unless meat has been cooked. A defrosted roast requires approximately 33% less cooking time than a frozen one.

These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

HERE ARE SOME "BRASS TACKS" ABOUT AUTOMOBILE BUYING

Automobile SELLING is highly competitive business. The dealer with lower overhead REALLY has a competitive advantage. He can use this advantage to give his customers better deals.

In Marin County overhead IS lower and you'll find BETTER deals than you can find "over the bridge" - AND the service is LOCAL!

Council To Meet

The Sausalito City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in council chambers on Bridgeway, will consider a use permit for a mortuary in a renovated Victorian home at 100 Caledonia Street.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin star in the movie "Robin and the Seven Hoods," a zany mixture of the Robin Hood fable and "Guys and Dolls," spoofing Chicago in the Twenties.

KCRA (3), 10 p.m. — There's an "obesity epidemic" in the U.S. Three out of five Americans will probably go on a diet of some kind in the coming year. Here's a survey of what's old and new, serious and funny in the world of dieting, ranging from a verbal free-for-all between Dr. Robert Atkins, author of the book, "Diet Revolution," to the "fat seminar." In the latter dieters reject the medical approach in favor of the psychological, and indulge in sensuous experiments in liberating eating." "The Dieting American" is a KCRA special presentation.

More Bicycle Reflectors To Be Required Jan. 1

Additional reflectors will be required on bicycles beginning Jan. 1, the California Highway Patrol has announced.

Under a measure intended to make bicycles more visible at night, a white reflector will be required on the front of the bike, a white or yellow reflector on each side forward of center (a two-way reflector in the front spokes is suggested), and a white or red reflector on each side rear of center. Side reflectors will not be required on bikes with reflectorized tires.

Present requirements for a white light on the front of the bike and a red reflector or lamp on the rear will remain in force.

Reflectors and reflectorized tires must be visible from 500 feet and must be of a type approved by the patrol.

Wildlife Sanctuary Nature Hike Slated

A two-hour nature hike will be held Sunday at 9 a.m. at the Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary in Tiburon by sanctuary Mgr. Philip Schaeffer.

At 3 p.m. Sunday, a color film, "Miracle Of The Monarch," will be shown in the sanctuary education center.

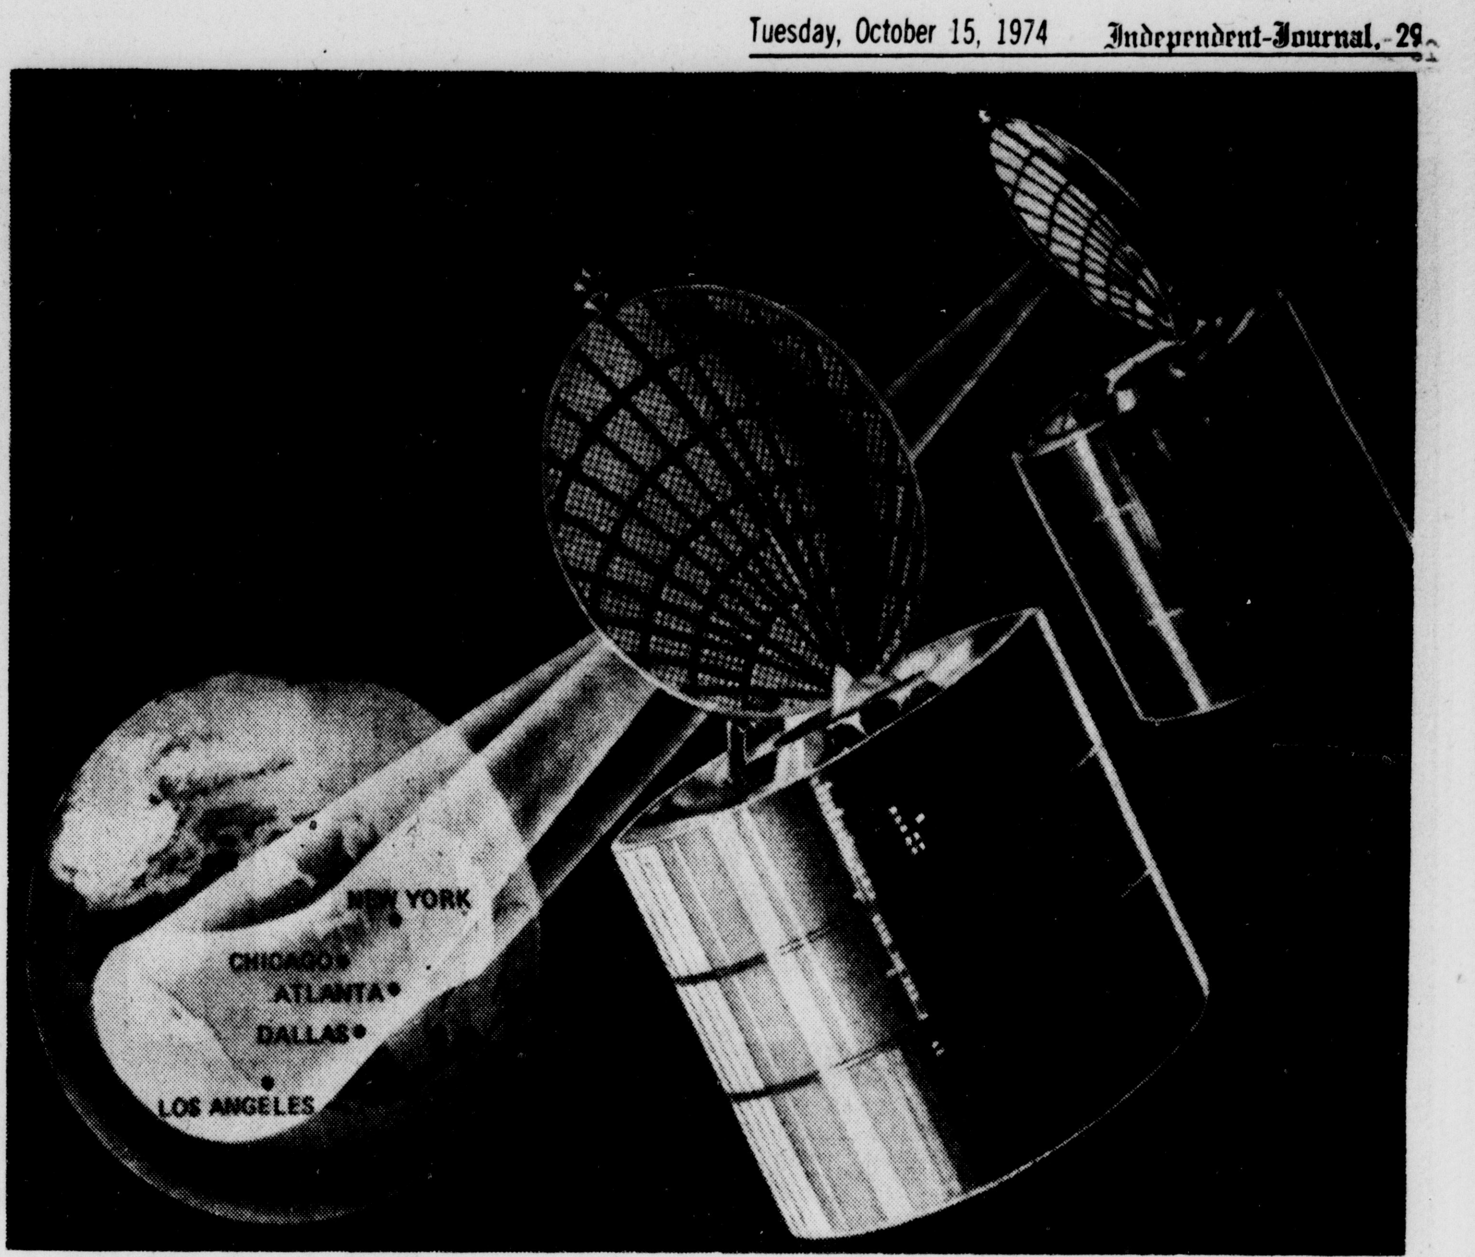
Nader Calls For Safer Vehicles

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — Ralph Nader, a critic of the auto industry for years, says the industry should start making safety its No. 1 product.

"Safety is by far the best economic bargain," Nader told a crowd of about 1,000 on the University of Wisconsin campus here.

Nader said the industry today could build cars that "would allow people to walk away from 60-mile-an-hour crashes" if it wanted to.

But he said the auto industry is not trying to build cars that are safe and said it won't for a long time.



WESTARS TEAM UP FOR COMMUNICATION

Drawing shows twin positions of Westar II, launched last Thursday and its predecessor, Westar I, launched last April, in 22,300-mile-high synchronous orbit over the equator. Both satellites, built by Hughes Aircraft for Western Union, have capacity of 7,000 voice circuits or 12 simultaneous color television channels for communications throughout continental U.S., Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, according to information from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Chilean Aid Committee Is Forming

A group of Sonoma County residents has set a meeting in an effort to establish a committee to aid Chilean political prisoners.

The meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the cafeteria of Santa Rosa Junior High School, will feature a talk by Kay Cole, who journeyed to Chile as a delegate from the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom's investigating committee. She will report on what she saw in the country where a military junta last year overthrew President Salvador Allende, a socialist.

Barbara Giles of Petaluma, spokesman for a group of residents calling themselves Sonoma County Friends of the Fair Trial Committee for Chilean Political Prisoners, said a tape recording will be played of the last speech Allende made before his assassination.

Entertainment will be provided by Patricio Canales, a Chilean folksinger.

Sale Of Liquor On Planner List

A proposal to allow the sale of liquor in a restaurant planned for Redwood Highway in Mill Valley will be discussed by the Mill Valley Planning Commission today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The restaurant is part of a large two-building office building proposed by Sidney Hendricks of Strawberry.

Also today, the commission will consider a request for a use permit for a six-child, foster care, group home to be operated at 115 Country Club Drive.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Soft-Drink Firm Seeks To Lead With the Liter

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. is a long way from adopting the metric system of measurement, but a major soft drink company is planning a radio-TV campaign it hopes will make consumers say, "Take me to your liter."

'The firm, the Seven-Up Co. of St. Louis, Mo., says it plans to begin its broadcast and print advertising campaigns for liter and half-liter bottles of its product in 1975.

The company apparently is the first soft drink producer in the U.S. to take the metric step, according to officials at the National Soft Drink Association and the Glass Container Manufacturers' Institute, two major trade groups.

And the step will be limited at first.

The radio-TV ads extolling Seven-Up as the "leader in the liter" won't be the only kind set loose, says Lee Larkin, the company's director of public relations.

He says they'll just be one part of an overall campaign urging consumers to simply buy the drink, be it bottled by the liter or in traditional ounces, and that the liter phase-in will be gradual.

Larkin says bottled Seven-Up primarily is sold in units of 16 and 32 ounces. A half-liter will work out to 16.91 ounces and the liter to 33.82 ounces, he says, but he doubts there'll be a slight price rise to reflect the extra sip provided liter-lovers.

There are several reasons for giving the new measurement a tryout, says Larkin: "One is that we want to be the first to do it. The next is that it's a logical system of measurement.

"And three, it's going to come sooner or later."

Later is more probable, says William Sadd, president of the glass container association: "It's going to happen . . . but there's been no industry-wide move that I know of for the soft drink industry to go metric at this time."

No legislation is pending in Congress to make metric mandatory. If that ever happened, a call for a shot of booze — usually 1½ ounces — might someday come out in a "Gunsmoke" episode as:

"Say, Miss Kitty, give me 45 milliliters of red-eye."

Sad to say, the Seven-Up television ads for liters probably won't be much of a home study aid for grade school kids to whom hundreds of teachers across the U.S. now are trying to explain the metric system.

Larkin, who said he's seen one of the proposed TV ads, says "it doesn't go into depth," that is, explain the difference between the liter and the ounce. "It's not an instructional type of thing."

Springs Dam Fund Events Scheduled

Organizations involved in Sonoma County's fight over whether to build the Warm Springs Dam have announced two fund-raising events.

Citizens for Community Improvement, a group of residents who urge construction of the $114 million Army Corps of Engineers Facility, will offer an evening of food, wine music and dancing from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 24 at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa. Admission will be $20 a person, and a spokesman said the entertainment has yet to be determined.

The Citizens Water Coalition, a group of residents who oppose the dam, will hold a fund raising pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Santa Rosa Veterans Memorial Building.

Martin Huevelmans, author of a book called "The River Killers" which attacks many of the corps' projects, will be a guest speaker.

A spokesman said those who attend should bring a hot dish to serve eight persons if their last names begin with letters A through M. Those whose names begin with N through Z should bring salads or desserts for eight. Admission will be $2.50 a person.

HERE ARE SOME "BRASS TACKS" ABOUT AUTOMOBILE BUYING

Automobile SELLING is highly competitive business. The dealer with lower overhead REALLY has a competitive advantage. He can use this advantage to give his customers better deals.

In Marin County overhead IS lower and you'll find BETTER deals than you can find "over the bridge" - AND the service is LOCAL!

Council To Meet

The Sausalito City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in council chambers on Bridgeway, will consider a use permit for a mortuary in a renovated Victorian home at 100 Caledonia Street.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin star in the movie "Robin and the Seven Hoods," a zany mixture of the Robin Hood fable and "Guys and Dolls," spoofing Chicago in the Twenties.

KCRA (3), 10 p.m. — There's an "obesity epidemic" in the U.S. Three out of five Americans will probably go on a diet of some kind in the coming year. Here's a survey of what's old and new, serious and funny in the world of dieting, ranging from a verbal free-for-all between Dr. Robert Atkins, author of the book, "Diet Revolution," to the "fat seminar." In the latter dieters reject the medical approach in favor of the psychological, and indulge in sensuous experiements in liberating eating." "The Dieting American" is a KCRA special presentation.

Additional reflectors will be required on bicycles beginning Jan. 1, the California Highway Patrol has announced.

Under a measure intended to make bicycles more visible at night, a white reflector will be required on the front of the bike, a white or yellow reflector on each side forward of center (a two-way reflector in the front spokes is suggested), and a white or red reflector on each side rear of center. Side reflectors will not be required on bikes with reflectorized tires.

Present requirements for a white light on the front of the bike and a red reflector or lamp on the rear will remain in force.

Reflectors and reflectorized tires must be visible from 500 feet and must be of a type approved by the patrol.

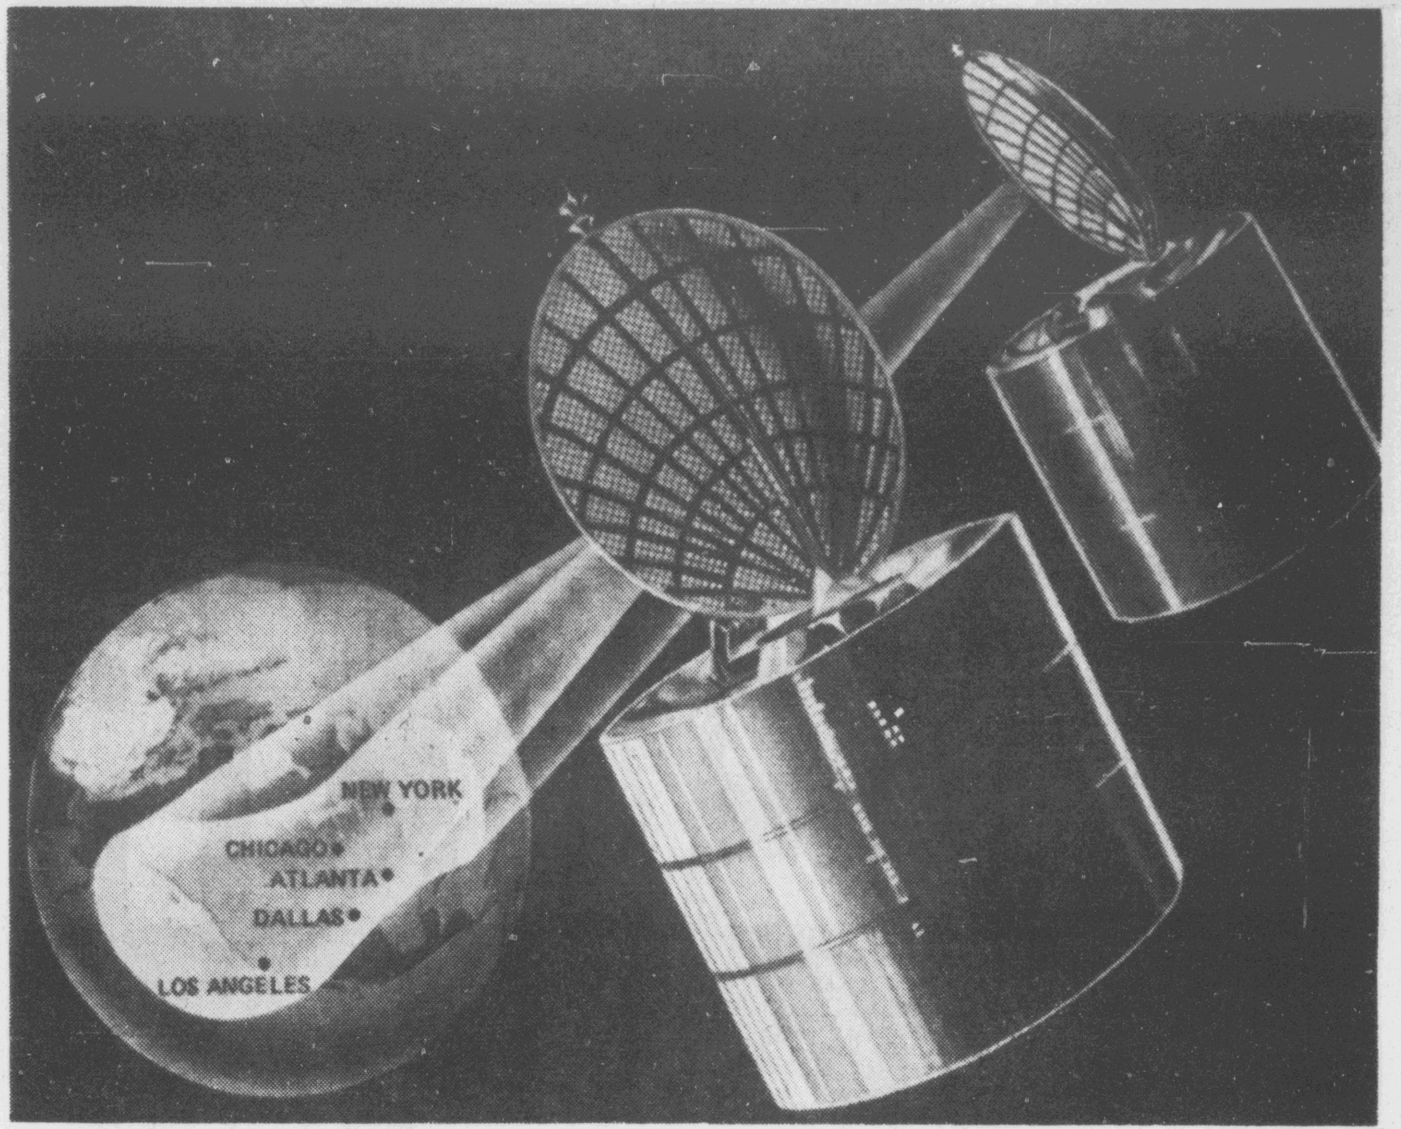
Nader Calls For Safer Vehicles

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — Ralph Nader, a critic of the auto industry for years, says the industry should start making safety its No. 1 product.

"Safety is by far the best economic bargain," Nader told a crowd of about 1,000 on the University of Wisconsin campus here.

Nader said the industry today could build cars that "would allow people to walk away from 60-mile-an-hour crashes" if it wanted to.

But he said the auto industry is not trying to build cars that are safe and said it won't for a long time.



WESTARS TEAM UP FOR COMMUNICATION

Drawing shows twin positions of Westar II, launched last Thursday and its predecessor, Westar I, launched last April, in 22,300-mile-high synchronous orbit over the equator. Both satellites, built by Hughes Aircraft for Western Union, have capacity of 7,000 voice circuits or 12 simultaneous color television channels for communications throughout continental U.S., Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, according to information from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Chilean Aid Committee Is Forming

A group of Sonoma County residents has set a meeting in an effort to establish a committee to aid Chilean political prisoners.

The meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the cafeteria of Santa Rosa Junior High School, will feature a talk by Kay Cole, who journeyed to Chile as a delegate from the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom's investigating committee. She will report on what she saw in the country where a military junta last year overthrew President Salvador Allende, a socialist.

Barbara Giles of Petaluma, spokesman for a group of residents calling themselves Sonoma County Friends of the Fair Trial Committee for Chilean Political Prisoners, said a tape recording will be played of the last speech Allende made before his assassination.

Entertainment will be provided by Patricio Canales, a Chilean folksinger.

Sale Of Liquor On Planner List

A proposal to allow the sale of liquor in a restaurant planned for Redwood Highway in Mill Valley will be discussed by the Mill Valley Planning Commission today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The restaurant is part of a large two-building office building proposed by Sidney Hendricks of Strawberry.

Also today, the commission will consider a request for a use permit for a six-child, foster care, group home to be operated at 115 Country Club Drive.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Soft-Drink Firm Seeks To Lead With the Liter

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. is a long way from adopting the metric system of measurement, but a major soft drink company is planning a radio-TV campaign it hopes will make consumers say, "Take me to your liter."

'The firm, the Seven-Up Co. of St. Louis, Mo., says it plans to begin its broadcast and print advertising campaigns for liter and half-liter bottles of its product in 1975.

The company apparently is the first soft drink producer in the U.S. to take the metric step, according to officials at the National Soft Drink Association and the Glass Container Manufacturers' Institute, two major trade groups.

And the step will be limited at first.

The radio-TV ads extolling Seven-Up as the "leader in the liter" won't be the only kind set loose, says Lee Larkin, the company's director of public relations.

He says they'll just be one part of an overall campaign urging consumers to simply buy the drink, be it bottled by the liter or in traditional ounces, and that the liter phase-in will be gradual.

Larkin says bottled Seven-Up primarily is sold in units of 16 and 32 ounces. A half-liter will work out to 16.91 ounces and the liter to 33.82 ounces, he says, but he doubts there'll be a slight price rise to reflect the extra sip provided liter-lovers.

There are several reasons for giving the new measurement a tryout, says Larkin: "One is that we want to be the first to do it. The next is that it's a logical system of measurement.

"And three, it's going to come sooner or later."

Later is more probable, says William Sadd, president of the glass container association: "It's going to happen . . . but there's been no industry-wide move that I know of for the soft drink industry to go metric at this time."

No legislation is pending in Congress to make metric mandatory. If that ever happened, a call for a shot of booze — usually 1½ ounces — might someday come out in a "Gunsmoke" episode as:

"Say, Miss Kitty, give me 45 milliliters of red-eye."

Sad to say, the Seven-Up television ads for liters probably won't be much of a home study aid for grade school kids to whom hundreds of teachers across the U.S. now are trying to explain the metric system.

Larkin, who said he's seen one of the proposed TV ads, says "it doesn't go into depth," that is, explain the difference between the liter and the ounce. "It's not an instructional type of thing."

Springs Dam Fund Events Scheduled

Organizations involved in Sonoma County's fight over whether to build the Warm Springs Dam have announced two fund-raising events.

Citizens for Community Improvement, a group of residents who urge construction of the $114 million Army Corps of Engineers Facility, will offer an evening of food, wine music and dancing from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 24 at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa. Admission will be $20 a person, and a spokesman said the entertainment has yet to be determined.

The Citizens Water Coalition, a group of residents who oppose the dam, will hold a fund raising pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Santa Rosa Veterans Memorial Building.

Martin Huevelmans, author of a book called "The River Killers" which attacks many of the corps' projects, will be a guest speaker.

A spokesman said those who attend should bring a hot dish to serve eight persons if their last names begin with letters A through M. Those whose names begin with N through Z should bring salads or desserts for eight. Admission will be $2.50 a person.

MONTGOMERY WARD

BELTED TIRE SALE

$16-$28 off pairs.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.

Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.

Fall Art Festival Nov. 7-10

The annual Strawberry Town & Country Village Fall Art Festival will be held November 7-10 (10 a.m. to 8 p.m.) at Town & Country Village, U.S. 101 at Belvedere Exit, Mill Valley. Over 100 artists and craftsmen will be featured, displaying and selling their paintings, sculptor, photographs, woodwork, leatherwork, graphic designs, metal, work, and other original pieces of art.

The Fall Festival will include art in action — wood carving, metal sculptoring, photography — plus unique creations to tempt art lovers of all ages.

Strawberry To Hold Two Fall Festivals

Brilliant tones of red and orange, rippling laughter, crisp apples, haunting voices, bagsful of chewy goodies, mysterious faces from the past and future — all this and more are a part of autumn festivals celebrating successful harvests and preparing for the dark, sun-forsaken winter months ahead.

Traditionally October and November are marked by ancient festivals in which man attempted to appease the dark spirits of winter with religious rites and harvest offerings of grain and fruit. Often early folk would dress in animal skins and masks, trying to become like the unseen evils they feared in the hope that they could further protect themselves from unknown dangers. It is from many of these early religious beliefs that many of our present day customs are derived.

Marinites are now preparing to celebrate the various fall customs, including Halloween and European fests. Two such local activities to be held at the Strawberry Town & Country Village are the Halloween Parade of Costumes, Oct. 26 from 2 to 4 p.m., and the annual Fall Art Festival, Nov. 7-10.

Prizes will be awarded to entrants in the Halloween parade in the following categories: best comic strip character, best storybook character, best TV or movie character, best Western character, best circus character, best era character, best Halloween character, best costume of a country, best science fiction character, best hero-heroine character, most unusual costume, and a grand prize for best over-all costume.

Over 100 artists with 2,500 pieces of art work will be featured in the Fall Art Show, which will also include woodworkers, painters, sculptors, and others at work.

Other autumn events at the Strawberry Village include a drawing for a pumpkin filled with toys at the Village Sweet Shoppe, a Jack-O-Lantern Contest, and the opening of several new stores — Max and Mortiz, The Film Company, and The Party Palace.

Fall Art Festival Nov. 7-10

The annual Strawberry Town & Country Village Fall Art Festival will be held November 7-10 (10 a.m. to 8 p.m.) at Town & Country Village, U.S. 101 at Belvedere Exit, Mill Valley. Over 100 artists and craftsmen will be featured, displaying and selling their paintings, sculptor, photographs, woodwork, leatherwork, graphic designs, metal-work, and other original pieces of art.

The Fall Festival will include art in action — wood carving, metal sculptoring, photography — plus unique creations to tempt art lovers of all ages.

Strawberry To Hold Two Fall Festivals

Brilliant tones of red and orange, rippling laughter, crisp apples, haunting voices, bagsful of chewy goodies, mysterious faces from the past and future — all this and more are a part of autumn festivals celebrating successful harvests and preparing for the dark, sun-forsaken winter months ahead.

Traditionally October and November are marked by ancient festivals in which man attempted to appease the dark spirits of winter with religious rites and harvest offerings of grain and fruit. Often early folk would dress in animal skins and masks, trying to become like the unseen evils they feared in the hope that they could further protect themselves from unknown dangers. It is from many of these early religious beliefs that many of our present day customs are derived.

Marinites are now preparing to celebrate the various fall customs, including Halloween and European fests. Two such local activities to be held at the Strawberry Town & Country Village are the Halloween Parade of Costumes, Oct. 26 from 2 to 4 p.m., and the annual Fall Art Festival, Nov. 7-10.

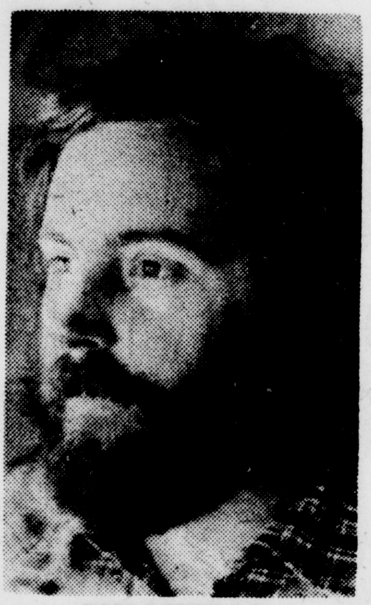
Photo Store Opens In Town & Country

Jim Webb, manager of Town & Country Village, announces that Tom Borello is the new manager and Sally Coye is the owner of a new Strawberry store, The Film Company (formerly Marina Tennis location).

Borello, of Fairfax, has extensive photographic experience and emphasizes that not only does The Film Company have quality camera equipment and supplies, but also provides photography services and assistance.



TOM BORELLO
Manager

A graduate from the College of Marin and Sonoma State with a degree in photography, he has had three years retail experience in a camera shop, and is planning a showing of his own artistic photos, as well as a photographic display during December at the Mill Valley Fidelity Savings. In addition to his photography interests, Tom enjoys skiing and backpacking.

Pumpkin Takes On New Role

The pumpkin-decorated, carved, eaten, imitated or immortalized in comic strips — is traditionally a symbol of Fall, the harvest season, and particularly Halloween. The pumpkin's golden tones are reflected in seasonal dress and decor, and there are few aromas so mouthwatering as that of freshly baked pumpkin pie cooling on an open window sill.

At the Strawberry Town & Country Village the golden orb takes on a new role as it becomes a source of delight for some lucky youngster who can win "The World's Largest Toy-Filled Pumpkin" from the Village Sweet Shoppe. The free drawing will be held on Halloween.

The pumpkin will be seen in a more traditional role on Oct. 26 at 1 p.m. when there will be a carved Jack-O-Lantern Contest at the Village Sweet Shoppe. Anyone wanting to enter the contest should bring their carved and decorated Jack-O-Lantern to the Village Sweet Shoppe in Strawberry Town & Country Village by 12:45 p.m. Oct. 26.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Thomasons Take Charge Of Party Palace Shop

Jim Webb, manager of Strawberry Town & Country Village, has announced that Joanne and Tom Thomason have become the new owner-managers of the Party Palace Card & Gift Shop, formerly Rojean's.

The Thomasons, Marinites for the past 10 years and now residents of Woodacre, owned a Party Palace in Fairfax before moving the family business to Strawberry.

Joanne Thomason, an artistic person who teaches cake decorating at Drake High School, says that the operation of the Party Palace is a family affair, with all six of the Thomason teenagers contributing. Kathy, an 18-year old student at the College of Marin, is one of the salespersons in the store, while Nancy, 11, and Lori, 9, both students at Lagunitas School, have helped with the decorating and arranging of the Hallmark cards, seasonal specialities, and unique gifts in the Party Palace, a card and gift store featuring clever party items such as helium balloons and imported pinatas.

Tom Thomason, an educator in the Dixie School District for 11 years, and his three sons have also played an important behind-the-scene role in the building of display shelves, arranging large items, and moving the thousands of cards and gift items from the Fairfax store to Strawberry. Dave, 20, is a law enforcement student at the College of Marin; Jim, 16, and Tom, 14, are both students at Drake High.

Not only do the Thomasons enjoy the business world together, but their leisure time includes family outings such as water skiing at Mendocino and yearly excursions to Whiskeytown.

These pieces of American heritage will include works by the Zuni, Hopi and Navajo tribes. Each jewelry item is authentically Indian in design and handcrafted from the finest coral and turquoise stones in silver mountings.

According to Leo Bell, owner of DeBeau's, layaway privileges will be extended on these items for Christmas giving.

Boutique Mimi Shoe Store Has Husband-Wife Team In Charge

Jack and Doris Kugler are the new owner-managers of the Boutique Mimi shoe store in the Strawberry Town & Country Village. As newly-weds the Kuglers sold a well-established business and moved to San Francisco from Switzerland, thus fulfilling Jack's youthful dream of living in the city-by-the-bay, where they have resided for the past 25 years.

DORIS KUGLER
Owner-manager

Jack, a real estate salesman, is an avid reader, while Doris is a gardener who enjoys making and designing many of her own clothes. The Kuglers' experiences in the business world include two years managing a launderette, which Mrs. Kugler enjoyed because she had an opportunity to meet many people, and three years owning and managing a Burlingame shoe boutique which specialized in imported German shoes for persons with wide feet.

Their experience and individual interests have well-prepared the Kuglers for the Boutique Mimi, a women's shoe store featuring Italian and Spanish imported fashions.

Children's Clothing To Be Sold

James Webb, manager of Town & Country Village, announces that Werner and Anna Maria Hofling are the owner-managers of Max und Moritz children's clothing store, a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village.

Mrs. Hofling's own experiences provide an interesting background for her management of Max und Moritz, which feature European designed clothing made from quality imported fabrics. Of Czechoslovakian birth, Mrs. Hofling was raised in Vienna and immigrated to America as a teenager. Now a resident of Greenbrae, she is the mother of two girls — Barbara, 12, and Susanne, 10.

Other than her active careers as mother and businesswoman, Mrs. Hofling's interests also include skiing, craftswork, cooking, and participation in the Marin Lutheran Church activities and Greenbrae Parent-Teacher Association.

Now Oil Spills Can Be Swept

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — A new oil recovery device that has proved its effectiveness in many applications worldwide will go on duty in Japanese waters late this year.

A pair of "Clean Sweeps" mounted on 27 foot long catamarran hulls designed and built by Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. have been sold to the Japan Maritime Safety Agency. They are designed to sweep spilled oil from harbors, estuaries, bays and offshore locations. The trailer transportable craft can recover up to 200 gallons of oil a minute.

Disease Affects Many Venezuelans

CARACAS (UPI) — The director of tropical diseases at the Central University says nearly 10 per cent of the population of Venezuela suffers from Chagas disease. This ailment causes perforations and weakening of the heart tissue. The disease is most often transmitted by insects which live in the walls of mud and wattle huts, still used in many parts of the interior.

Boston Sites Marked For Bicentennial

By PAUL H. GATES JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BOSTON — Surrounded by towering office buildings wrapped in shimmering plate glass, Benjamin Franklin's Milk Street neighborhood in Boston has undergone many changes since young Franklin left to seek his fortune in Philadelphia.

But two young women are working on a plan to re-create the area so that even the old statesman would recognize the environs of his youth.

Judy Albert and Carol Bratley of Vision, Inc. are marking Franklin's birthplace, along with some three dozen other downtown historical sites, as part of the preparation for the U.S. Bicentennial celebration which will begin officially in April, 1975.

Vision, Inc. is a small, private foundation headquartered in Cambridge, Mass. that works with local preservation groups across the country to help city planners and industries adopt and conform to building and sign codes designed to preserve the town's character.

"Many of the sites we plan to mark are already marked, it's true; but in so many instances it's only with a stained-brass plaque — unobtrusive, which we like to see, but perhaps too much so," says Miss Bratley.

The new markers, which will be paid for with funds from Boston 200, the city's bicentennial coordinators, will be enameled metal or fiberglass. The design has not yet been decided upon, "but they will certainly be in good taste," she said.

"We try to mark places that still exist," says Miss Albert. "It's hard to have people relate to a site where there's a 20-story building now. But even in places where there is little resemblance to the way it was 150 years ago, we feel that the atmosphere can be re-created and the importance of the place fit."

To achieve this colonial climate, each marker will carry a quote from a poem or a speech by the patriots, merchants, and other townspeople that lived there generations ago.

"We want to reach out and grab the people and draw them right into the period; make them look at the wrought-iron fences and patches of exposed cobblestones to see what it is that makes Boston special," says Miss Bratley. "We are the eyes of our visitors; we have to search out all these things and ask the questions so that we can provide the answers."

The excitement of the visitor can easily be imagined watching Judy Albert searching the facades of market-district warehouses and the backs of remodeled buildings for telltale architectural signs of days gone by. It is an exciting new experience for her as well, brought up in suburban Long Island.

"One hint when you visit Boston," she said. "Look up. The first 20 feet or so of a building is aluminum and plate glass, and this is all that most people see. But the upper stories are often nearly the same as they were way back when."

Executive Gains Confidence Of Public—Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The Louis Harris polling organization says the public has gained some confidence in the executive branch of government since last year, but confidence in Congress, big business and the press has gone down.

Harris said a poll of more than 1,500 households across the country earlier this month showed 28 per cent have "a great deal of confidence" in the executive branch, compared with only 19 per cent in 1973.

Congress, meanwhile, dropped in its confidence rating from 29 per cent in 1973 to 18 per cent this month.

Confidence in big business dropped from 29 per cent to 21 per cent over the year, while the press won only a 25 per cent confidence rating, compared to 30 per cent last year.

Basins Popular

CHICAGO (UPI) — Single and double bowl vanity wash basins are becoming increasingly popular installed in the bedroom, the Plumbing Heating Cooling Information Bureau reports. The bureau said the bedroom basin is a trend back to great grandmother's china bowl and wash pitcher.

Kathlyn Weis Selected Waterbed Store Manager

Kathlyn Weis is the new manager for Decorator Waterbeds in the Strawberry Town & Country Village. She has been employed as a salesperson by Roos-Atkins, the Emporium, and Milen's, and she spent a summer in Honolulu working as the night manager of Robin's Candies in the International Market Place.

A Marinite, Kathlyn graduated from San Rafael High School and received her bachelor of science degree from the University of California, Santa Cruz, graduating with honors in psychology and 'art, training which she will utilize at the Decorator Waterbeds, a home furnishings store specializing in waterbeds, accessories, and interior designs.

Her wide range of interests include craftswork — leather-working, stitchery, weaving, sewing — and sports — tennis, sailing, and fishing.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn B. Weis of San Rafael, themselves tennis players and avid members of the Belvedere Tennis Club.

Big Game Hunting Mecca Of Europe

BELGRADE (UPI) — There are not many places in Europe where the big game hunter can still indulge himself. But the Balkans still have more wild bears than they need and in the Bosnian mountains of Yugoslavia hunts are organized for visitors at $1,500 per bear shot.

If a bear is outside your budget you can go after deer, chamois, wild boar, wolf, fox, badger, marten, otter, or about a dozen different types of game birds. One of the best areas, also recommended for its scenery is the Prenj and Velez mountains.

Erhlichman Turns On Nixon During Watergate Trial

Attorney Claims Close Aide Was 'Deceived, Lied To, Used'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman's attorney charged today that former President Richard M. Nixon "deceived, misled, lied to and used" and finally forced a resignation from his former No. 2 aide in order "to save his own neck."

Ehrlichman, one of five former Nixon associates on trial in the Watergate cover-up, was portrayed by defense attorney William S. Frates as a victim of the plot who had "repeatly recommended" that Nixon disclose the truth.

It was the first time Ehrlichman had turned accuser of Nixon, whom he served as chief domestic adviser in the White House until April, 1973, when the Watergate scandal became a major issue.

Nixon, named an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up, has been pardoned by President Ford and cannot be tried for any Watergate-related incidents.

Former White House counsel John W. Dean III, previously Nixon's chief accuser, was to testify later in the day for the prosecution — whose case also was based on the complicity of

Long-Argued 101 Bypass Is Open

By THERON A. NEWELL

Today the first motorists began using the northbound lanes on the nearly completed Novato Highway 101 bypass — a highway route that caused the longest controversy in North Marin history and led to the incorporation of the City of Novato.

Drivers now may pass through the city in about five minutes, marking the end of an era in which traffic on busy Sundays used to back up 10 miles to Petaluma and take hours getting through Novato.

Even on weekdays, especially at peak commuter hours, Novato's traffic lights forced motorists to inch their way through the city.

When the southbound lanes of the bypass are opened in six weeks or more, depending on the weather, the last traffic lights between the Golden Gate Bridge and Cloverdale on Highway 101 will be no more.

The 5.2 mile bypass of downtown Novato, which will have cost more than $15 million when it is completed, has a history that goes back more than 15 years. At first the planned project united citizens into a city, but later, it was the root of seemingly endless division at city council meetings.

The story really goes back further, to the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge in 1937. As motorists took to the road north in increasing numbers, many of them settling along the way, Highway 101 gradually changed from a two-lane road into a freeway.

By 1957, when there was no limit to the growth expected

Liddy Freed From Jail Pending Trial Appeals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today reduced bond from $100,000 to $5,000 on G. Gordon Liddy, silent member of the original Watergate defendants, and ordered him released from jail pending appeal.

The former White House aide, also serving time in the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, has been in jail for nearly 21 months. He has steadfastly refused to testify on Watergate.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell reduced the bond and ordered Liddy, 51, released from the District of Columbia jail pending outcome of appeals in both the Watergate and Ellsberg cases. He was released 90 minutes later.

Liddy's attorneys contended he presented no risk of flight and no danger to the community.

The U.S. prosecutor's office did not contest the request for lowered bail by Liddy, one of seven men originally charged with conspiracy, burglary, bugging and wiretapping in the Watergate break-in.

Gesell said he had discussed the case with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who earlier set $100,000 bond in the Watergate case.

"It is entirely appropriate to grant bond to Mr. Liddy at this time," said Gesell, and warned defense attorney Peter Maroulis that Liddy should not leave the country and should report to federal marshals "when and if either or both of these convictions is upheld."

Maroulis told Gesell that Liddy's mother had put up the bail money and Liddy would live in Oxon Hill, Md. with his wife and five children pending outcome of the appeal.

Ford Veto Stands On Turkey Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today voted to uphold President Ford's veto of legislation requiring an immediate cutoff of military aid to Turkey.

The House failed to muster the two-thirds majority of those voting needed to override the presidential veto. Only one chamber of Congress needs to vote to sustain a presidential veto.

The vote was 223 to 135, which fell 16 votes short of necessary two-thirds majority.

The House vote meant that the continuing resolution on funding a number of government agencies — to which the aid cutoff provision was attached — was dead.

This will oblige Congress to draft and pass a new temporary funding measure before leaving on its delayed pre-election recess.

The dispute between Ford and Congress over the Turkish aid provision arose this way: U.S. laws require that military aid given other countries be used only for self defense.

Liberal members of Congress were angered when Turkey used U.S. weapons in its invasion of Cyprus, and they persuaded both houses to suspend military aid to Turkey until President Ford could certify substantial progress was being made toward removal of the Turkish forces.

Ford — arguing that the cutoff would weaken NATO, of which Turkey is a member, hurt the U.S. position in the Mediterranean, and wreck efforts to negotiate a Cyprus settlement — threatened to veto the measure.

Kissinger Ends Tour, Heads Home

RABAT (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger ended his seven-day tour of the Middle East today and took off for Washington. He found what he called "positive and encouraging signs" toward peace, a slight move to reduce Arab oil prices and a possible reconciliation with Algeria.

His last stop of the seven-nation tour was Morocco where he conferred with King Hassan II. He had spent the night in Algiers where he and President Houari Boumedienne discussed the oil crisis and the possibility od restoring diplomatic relations broken during the 1967 Middle East War.

In Saudi Arabia he had reported some Saudi willingness to reduce oil prices from their record high.

Kissinger said upon his departure from Algeria that he and Boumedienne "discussed our different approaches to the question of oil prices and we reviewed ways and approaches to reconcile these differing points of view in the months ahead."

Homesite Reduction Advances

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday recommended rezoning about 4,000 acres in the San Geronimo Valley to reduce the number of possible homesites. (Another planning commission story, page 9.)

Yesterday's action covers the lands located south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Woodacre to Lagunitas.

It is part of a planning department proposal to rezone a total of 6,000 acres in the valley to cut the number of homesites from about 5,000 to 500.

Most of those lands recommended for rezoning yesterday are owned by the San Geronimo Valley Properties Co. of San Rafael. The rezoning, to be considered by supervisors late next month or early December, would range from one home for every two acres down to one home for every 10 acres.

Under the 1961 San Geronimo Valley Plan, rescinded last year by supervisors, the firm would have been permitted to build 5,000 single family homes and townhouse dwellings. It has protested the rezoning.

Commissioners said yesterday any development of land south of Sir Francis Drake should be restricted to single-family homes.

On Nov. 4, the commission will consider rezoning 2,000 acres on the North side of the highway to an agricultural designation ranging from A-40 to A-60.

That zoning, if approved by supervisors, would allow one home for every 40 acres on some land and one home for every 60 acres on other property.

House Overrides Rail Aid Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted by a large margin today to override President Ford's veto of legislation granting $7 billion in federal funds to bail out the financially troubled railroad retirement system.

The House vote was the first time that Ford has lost a veto challenge. The Senate is expected to vote to override, probably tomorrow, thus enacting the legislation.

Ford Signs Campaigners' Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford signed into law today the most far-reaching political campaig reforms in the nation's history.

The sweeping reforms, a direct result of the Watergate scandals, will go into effect in 1975 and are certain to revolutionize political campaigns for federal office.

Ford invited all 535 members of Congress to witness the historic signing in the East Room of the White House.

The major features of the comprehensive package, approved by Congress this week, are the taxpayer financing of presidential elections, primaries, and national conventions; a tight limit on political contributions; and stingy ceilings on candidate spending.

The legislation also creates a six-member Federal Elections Commission, with civil enforcement powers, to administer the reforms.

Major provisions of the bill:

GENERAL ELECTION FINANCING — Beginning with the 1976 elections, the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates can receive $20 million each from the federal treasury for the general election. They can choose either federal funds or private contributions but cannot mix the two. Other party candidates can receive a proportionate share of the $20 million based on election results.

PRIMARY FINANCING — Candidates to become eligible for public financing must first raise $100,000, with $5,000 from each of 20 states. The government will then match the first $100,000 and every private contribution of $250 up to a ceiling of $5 million.

CONVENTION FINANCING — The Republican and Democratic parties can receive $2 million each from public funds to finance their conventions.

CONTRIBUTIONS — Individuals are limited to overall contributions of $25,000 in a single year and no more than $3,000 to an individual candidate — $1,000 in the primaries, $1,000 in a runoff, and $1,000 in the general election. Organizations can contribute $5,000 to a candidate in each (the primary, a runoff,) and the general election. Presidential candidates can contribute $50,000 to their own campaigns, Senate candidates $35,000 and House candidates $25,000.

SPENDING — Presidential candidates are limited to $20 million in the federal election and $10 million in the pri-

CRUSADE — The United Bay Area Crusade in Marin has reached the $50,135 mark toward its $225,000 goal in the county. In all five counties, it has raised $5,649,665 toward $21 million sought by Nov. 21.

Doctors Call For Ousting Mental Chief

Taylor's Program Blasted As Directionless, Costly

By MARY LEYDECKER

Registering "almost total dismay with the present mental health program" in Marin County, the Marin Medical Society is calling for the immediate firing of Dr. Robert L. Taylor, program director for Community Mental Health Services.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Dr. A. Halnan White said the society's board of directors believes the mental health program under Dr. Taylor "has become eclectic, so poorly grounded medically, and so poorly supervised as to resemble a horse running in all directions at the same time."

Further, the letter continued, "thousands of taxpayer dollars are being wasted on a directionless program unrelated to the real needs of our community."

The medical society, made up of about 360 physicians, also charged the mental health program with empire building.

"We believe the program can be run effectively with far fewer than the present 106 employees," the letter said. The society suggested that "adequately trained professionals do the actual treatment" of mentally ill persons and that "perhaps this approach would put a stop in the incessant empire building

Lezzeni's Ouster Hinges On Filing

By NELS JOHNSON

A veteran Fairfax planning commissioner who has failed to file a statement of economic interest as required by law faces removal from office unless he complies, the town council said last night. (Other Fairfax Town Council stories, page 8.)

Building designer Harold S. Lezzeni, a member of the Fairfax Planning Commission since 1967, has yet to file a statement with the county despite a deadline that passed last Sept. 30. Lezzeni is currently out of town and unavailable to comment on the situation.

"If he's not going to do it (file) he should be informed he can no longer sit as a commissioner," said Councilman Albert E. Gately. "As I read it (the law) holding office is illegal" unless a public official has filed an economic interest statement, he said.

"I don't think he's abandoned his office . . . he's still there . . . but he's subject to a lawsuit," said Town Atty. Wallace S. Myers.

Doyle Drive Safety Seen In Compromise

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Safety improvements to San Francisco's Doyle Drive — held up for years because of a disagreement between city supervisors and state transportation officials — may come about as a result of a compromise between the two groups, San Francisco Supervisor Robert E. Gonzalez said today.

The deadlock has been the state's insistence that Doyle Drive, scene of many head-on collisions, be expanded to four lanes each way, and San Francisco's insistence on limitation to three lanes each way. In either case a fixed median barrier would be built.

The Gonzalez proposal would keep the three-lane limitation, but would permit creation of one or more special links within the city to handle traffic that presently helps clog Doyle Drive during commute hours, traffic moving between western residential sections of the city and its downtown business and financial centers.

The special streets would connect Park Presidio Boulevard, the Marina and Richardson Avenue, bypassing Doyle Drive. Gonzalez offers two versions: for $13.2 million a connector link carrying only traffic bound downtown, and for $14.5 million, bound in both directions.

Construction would begin in September, 1975, if supervisors give their approval by the end of October as he expects according to Gonzalez.

Previously, state transportation officials have been opposed

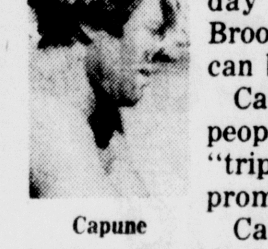
WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Sea Hiker Paddles Along

CORONADO (UPI) — A "sea hiker" paddling the Pacific Coast can see many interesting sights including sharks, rabid foxes, naked zuchini peddlers and Ron Ziegler.



Capune

That was the way Larry Capune recalled today his 1,240-mile, six-day paddleboard odyssey from Brookings, Ore., almost to the Mexican border.

Capune, 32, did it to show young people they can go on exciting "trips" without using drugs, and to promote his concept of sea hikers.

Capune had hoped to drop in on former President Nixon at his ocean side San Clemente home.

"Only by the time I got there, he wasn't president anymore," Capune said, and Ziegler and a group of Nixon aides shooed him off.

Prison Court

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam's chief peace negotiator claimed today the Communists are holding 100,000 prisoners of war and are working them to death on road building projects.

Negotiator Brig. Gen. Phan Hoa Hiep charged the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese now hold 30,000 soldiers and 70,000 pro-government civilians, all captured before the Jan. 28, 1973, cease-fire declaration.

Draft Program

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his cabinet began drafting a program today for rescuing hard pressed industry and heading off the specter of mass unemployment in what he termed Britain's gravest economic crisis since World War II.

It was the first cabinet meeting since Wilson's Labor party won a narrow three-seat parliamentary majority in Thursday's general election.

Arabs Invited

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The leading Arab guerrilla group —denounced by Israel as "10,000 murderers" — has won a formal invitation to the United Nations as the representative of the Palestinian people.

The U.N. General Assembly voted 105-4 with 20 abstentions yesterday afternoon to invite the Palestinian Liberation Organization to take part in the Nov. 4 debate on the refugee question.

Patrol Hills

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli troops and border police searched the rugged hills of Western Galilee today for a squad of Arab guerrillas believed on a death mission against frontier settlements.

Police sources said helicopters and low-flying observation planes scanned the Lebanese frontier. Army patrols combed the Galilee countryside in search of the commandos.

The guerrilla team cut across the border at the town of Adamit early Saturday and traveled to Wadi Bezet, a thickly wooded dry river bed, the military command said. The unit was estimated at six to eight men.

Sub Traps Pair

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI) — The ship radio sputtered early in the afternoon and the words came in tensely: "We are trapped. We need help."

For six hours yesterday, two American sailors huddled in a disabled yellow midget submarine some 275 feet below the surface of the North Sea just off the Scottish coast.

The two-man American crew, Gilbert Blevins, 25, of Oklahoma, and Leslie Lynch, 28, of Louisiana, tried for 20 minutes to maneuver the ship out of the entangling cable without success.

The sub was working on a pipeline intended to carry oil ashore from the underwater fields 130 miles off Scotland's east coast when the half-inch plastic line fouled its propeller at 12:50 p.m.

Slaying Probed

STANFORD (UPI) — The 19-year-old wife of a Stanford University student was assaulted with altar candles and stabbed to death when she went to pray at campus church about midnight Saturday, police said yesterday.

"It's a typical — if there is such a thing — sexual psychopathic slaying," said Santa Clara County Undersheriff Tom Rosa.

He said there was no indication that Arliss Perry was the victim of a satanist torture rite.

Uses Own Funds

LONDON (UPI) — Retiring U.S. Ambassador Walter H. Annenberg says he has spent about $250,000 of his own money annually to keep the American Embassy operating in the style he's accustomed to for the past five and a half years.

The millionaire publisher, who says he was able to write off some of the expenses against taxes, concedes that a less stylish ambassador could greatly cut the costs.

The 66-year-old Philadelphian, leaving for home Oct. 30, told American newsmen the out-of-pocket costs were in addition to the job's $42,500-a-year salary and $25,000-a-year "nominal" expenses.

Shock Fading

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Now that her quintuplets are a week old, Mrs. Karen Rohrer says the shock of having five children at once is "kind of sinking in." She says she can't wait to get home and start caring for them herself.

Mrs. Rohrer, 28, smiling but nervous, held tightly to her husband's hand yesterday as she met newsmen in her first public appearance since the multiple birth Oct. 8.

To Burn Cargo

HOUSTON (UPI) — An incinerator ship carrying 4,200 tons of chemical wastes is heading for a site 135 miles south of Galveston, Tex., where it will burn its cargo in the Gulf of Mexico.

The ship Vulcanus left Shell Chemical Co.'s Deer Park Refinery yesterday for the nine-day cruise with its toxic payload.

The Environmental Protection Agency will monitor the burning to determine if there are adverse effects on the marine environment.

Shell has been dumping chemical wastes into the gulf for more than 10 years and last week received permission from the EPA to test the incineration method at sea.

If the first test is proven successful a total of 17,000 tons will be disposed of in a similar manner.

Stanford's Flory Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Paul J. Flory of Stanford University today won the 1974 Nobel Chemistry Prize for research in plastics. Two British radio astronomers won the Physics Prize for their discoveries which could be important to finding life in outer space.

The Swedish Academy of Sciences which announced the awards said Flory, 64, received the chemistry prize for his fundamental achievements "both theoretical and experimental in the physical chemistry of micromolecules" in research on plastics and similar substances.

Earlier today, the Swedish Academy of Sciences announced that Martin Ryle and Antony Hewish of Great Britain shared the $123,000 physics prize for discoveries which could be important to the possibility of finding intelligent life in outer space.

Flory, a native of Sterling, Ill., did research on synthetic fibers, synthetic rubber and other polymeric substances for the DuPont Experimental station in Wilmington, Del., for Standard Oil in Elizabeth, N.J., and fundamental research for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., in Akron, Ohio.

He was a professor of chemistry at Cornell and was head of research at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh before becoming professor of chemistry at Stanford in 1961 where he is chairman of the research department. He pioneered research on the constitution and properties of substances comprised of giant molecules such as rubbers, proteins, plastics, fibers, and films.

Hewish, the academy said, discovered in 1967 unknown radio sources in space that were later given the name "pulsars."

He found that these sources sent out extremely regular radio signals at intervals of about one second.

The academy said his discovery proved the existence of so-called neutron stars in space, something that the scientists have been speculating on since the 1930s. Neutron stars are extremely heavy in comparison to their size — about six miles in diameter. A piece the size of a small marble weighs millions of tons.

Hewish, 50, was officially cited for "his decisive role in the discovery of pulsars."

Ryle's "aperture-synthesis" technique means, basically, that with a number of small telescopes he can achieve the same precision as one might by having one huge telescope covering a large area.

With the help of Ryle's new telescope constructions, the definition and determination of directions are now so good that "it corresponds to an observer on earth being able to see the details of a postage stamp on the moon," the academy said.

Ryle, 56, has been known as Sir Martin Ryle since 1966 when he was knighted. In 1972 he was appointed royal astronomer.

Rock Damages Alaskan Ferry

The 418-foot ferry, the newest and most modern of the state ferry fleet, brushed a rock in the Sturgis Narrows early yesterday while en route to Juneau.

After discharging its passengers and 58 vehicles at Sitka, the ferry prepared for a slow trip to Seattle, Wash., for repairs.

Nixon Administration Linked To $27 Million Property Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration pressured the General Services Administration to trade $27 million in usable government property for a huge, unused building so the former president could keep his records near his home in San Clemente, the Washingtonton Post reported today.

The Post said the building, a seven-story pyramid-shaped structure one quarter the size of the Pentagon, was acquired from Rockwell International Corp., within the last two years for some $20 million worth of Air Force property.

The building, located in Laguna Niguel — a small town 10 miles from Nixon's estate in San Clemente — cost $27 million to construct but was appraised for $20 million in 1972.

According to the Post, the GSA said the purpose of the trade was to get a place to house federal offices and records in Southern California — but, the paper said, the building has never been occupied and is still empty except for office furniture.

The Post said the deal actually cost taxpayers close to $18 million more because some of the land the government traded away is now needed.

Richard D. Hanzlik, a former White House aide, told the paper he made calls on behalf of the transaction in 1971 while he was an assistant to former presidential counselor Robert H. Finch.

"They (GSA) wanted a building near San Clemente," Hanzlik said, "The memos won't say it would be for the Western White House, but they would say it orally."

Hanzlik said pressure also came from Rockwell employees who contributed $98,000 to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Electronic hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service offices on Thursday and Friday.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at all of the offices listed below to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine his or her particular loss. Diagrams showing how the ear works and some of the causes of hearing loss will be available.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out about the latest methods of hearing correction.

The hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Service, 808 Third Street, San Rafael Thursday and Friday. If you can't get there on Thursday or Friday, call 457-1104 and arrange for an appointment at another time.

I make the elderly suffer. So much, they may cut themselves off from family and friends . . . and they know the heartbreak of loneliness.

I rob more than 15 million Americans of much that is good. I undermine their confidence and eat away their social life.

I am equally hard on the rich and poor. I cause trouble on the job and in the home. Yet, few of those I attack do anything to fight me, because no-one wants to admit I exist.

I am a hearing problem.

Early detection is important. We'll be happy to give you an electronic hearing test. Just call or stop in.

that has taken place in the mental health field in Marin in the past 10 years."

"We therefore urge that Dr. Robert Taylor be dismissed at the earliest possible opportunity and be replaced by a director of mental health. The focus should be on providing treatment for the people in our county who are mentally ill or emotionally disturbed and who cannot afford private care," Dr. White wrote.

The medical society's broadside at Dr. Taylor is the latest round in a long uproar over both the Community Mental Health Services and its parent agency, the county Health and Human Services Department.

Last year the county supervisors formed the superagency covering mental health, public health, welfare and medical services. The directorship of the controversial department is filled temporarily by Donald Sanford, chief aid to Betty L. Presley, who retired in July after one year on the job. (Miss Presley had served 22 years as welfare director before accepting the position.)

The supervisors recently dumped a list of some 60 candidates who have applied for the job and ordered the county administrator's office to find other candidates.

In the meantime, Dr. Taylor serves only as program director for the mental health section of the department and does not have administrative duties.

Members of the county medical society, in the letter signed by Dr. White, urged the supervisors to eliminate the Health and Human Services superagency, which the doctors say "has served only to create confusion, administrative delay and fiscal chaos."

Not only is the mental health program in ruins, the physicians claimed, but also "professional medical judgment no longer significantly imparts medical care at the county level to the degree that the public interest requires."

Dr. White told the Independent-Journal today that "administrative interference" is keeping the medical and public health departments from functioning effectively.

The society is urging that the superagency be replaced with a director of health, who would serve as head of three departments, mental health, public health and medical services. By implication, the doctors indicated the welfare department should be separated.

The director of health should be a physician trained in administration and public health matters, they said.

The medical society board ordered the letter, Dr. White wrote, "in response to the growing crescendo of criticism in the physician community at large concerning the deterioration of health services being offered by the County of Marin."

Meanwhile, Dr. Taylor last month said in a report that the mental health department has made significant gains in treating the mentally ill since a "decentralizing" took place two years ago.

He claimed new centers in various sections of the county have been very effective.

Another problem facing Dr. Taylor is the licensing of the so-called crisis unit at Community Mental Health, currently operating without a state license needed for keeping mental and alcoholic patients overnight.

Although mental health officials have been assuring the Marin Hospital District board, which leases the facilities to Community Mental Health, for some months that a license was forthcoming soon, long delays have taken place.

There is now some doubt among county officials that the unit will be licensed as presently operated.

Hitchhiker Held After Robbery

An 18-year-old hitchhiker was arrested early today for the alleged robbery of a San Mateo man in the Tennessee Valley area.

According to sheriff's deputies, the victim, Elisasa Reupena, 44, wandered to a home in Tennessee Valley yesterday afternoon in a dazed and beaten condition. He claimed a hitchhiker he picked up in San Francisco robbed him and stole his car.

Reupena was treated for head injuries and a cut chin at Marin General Hospital and was released last night. According to deputies, he had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument.

Using a description from Reupena, Mill Valley police at midnight stopped a hitchhiker at the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

The arrested man, Thomas Joseph Goodwin, of no known address, later was booked by sheriff's deputies at county jail on suspicion of armed robbery, auto theft and possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia.

Goodwin was held in lieu of $25,000 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Reupena's missing car was found by Mill Valley police on Miller Avenue.

(It empowers a court to impose a penalty of up to three times the value of any interest an official fails to report. An action to recover such a penalty may be brought by the district attorney, attorney general or any citizen.

(Violation of any provision of the law may lead to forfeiture of office and disqualification from holding office in the future.)

The only other Marin officials failing to file economic statement reports according to the county clerk are John W. Gates, a Corte Madera planning commissioner who suffered a heart attack Sept. 27 and is recovering at Marin General Hospital, and Willard Pittman, former Belvedere city councilman.

Councilmen directed Town Administrator William E. Haden to have a "chat" with Lezzeni on his return to town, to determine what the commissioner's intentions are. "We're going to have to make a decision one way or the other," Haden noted.

The action came as the council decided to expand a list of officials required by the state to file such statements. In addition to state requirements, members of the town design and environmental review board, as well as Building Inspector Thomas A. Klarenbach, must file economic interests statements, councilmen said.

Councilman Priscilla C. Gray, saying filing the statements is "a big pain in the neck," opposed the move. Mrs. Gray contended it is already hard to get residents to apply for seats on the board, and said requiring statements would merely be harassing them with this big brother."

The council majority, however, agreed with Glenn Meagher, who said the statements are a "good thing for anyone . . . whose intentions might be questioned."

Haden had recommended that Klarenbach and design board members not be compelled to file statements, saying such action would "work a hardship" on them.

to any plan that would install a concrete divider without expanding Doyle Drive to four lanes in both directions. (Currently, movable dividers give the road an eight-lane capacity, by shifting the barriers to accommodate the heavy commute flow.)

According to Thomas L. Lammers, state director of transportation of the San Francisco district, the new proposals are acceptable, but not ideal. Traffic would be shifted from Doyle to other city streets, causing congestion elsewhere, he said.

No New Indictments Seen In Watergate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says that no more indictments are expected in the Watergate affair.

"The people who have been indicted are all the ones that will be indicted," Saxbe told newsmen before a speech here last night.

along the route, the state Division of Highways announced its plans ultimately were for an eight-lane highway through the unincorporated area of Novato.

Three earlier attempts by some residents to incorporate Novato had failed, but when the state highway department came out in 1959 with the announcement of more detailed plans for an elevated dirt fill freeway on the present 101 route, the incorporation movement got the shot in the arm it needed.

Under state law, the highway division could not cut into city streets without the consent of the city council. Thus Novato businessmen, who did not want their town cut in two by a dirt fill freeway, realized they would have to incorporate to fight the state effectively.

They led a successful campaign to incorporate Novato, in January 1960, and the new city was formed.

The first city councilmen, who had a new city with no money and not much idea of how to run one, knew one thing for sure. They were opposed to the state plans for Highway 101, and the new city council promptly let the state know this.

So in July 1960, the state proposed a plan to move the freeway east of the railroad tracks, calling that plan Route A. This was followed rapidly by Routes B through D.

All the plans were put on public display in the Novato Community House in January 1962, but after the public had a chance to look at the proposals, the city council in February voted to reject all of them.

Back to the drawing boards went the state officials and by May 1962, they were up to Route K, which went by Deer Island Lane and out across the flats to join the present highway near the Sportsman's Lodge.

At one point the city council voted in favor of this route, but faced with strong opposition from state engineers, later voted 3-2 to give up the proposal.

Then in September 1962, the state held a second showing of proposed routes, including one which envisioned a depressed below-water-level route along the present highway, with overpasses for city streets.

When the city council voted in November to approve this new idea, an East Novato property owner, Alfred W. Bowman, was angered, believing it would later prove either impossible or too costly to construct below water level and would serve, in the long run, merely as a device to push the freeway through town. Bowman started a recall movement against two city councilmen, M. E. (Babe) Silva and Everett Pozzi.

Then, in a new move, the state highway commission voted to accept a route farther to the east, and Bowman withdrew his recall movement.

But the years slipped by, and although a plan had been settled upon, no bypass was built. Finally in 1967, then Mayor J. Wayne Womack and his fellow councilmen went to Sacramento to ask for a speed-up in the timetable. They were given a polite brush-off.

Finally, in 1971, money was designated for the following year's state budget to buy rights-of-way and design the freeway.

A final threat by conservationists who objected to cuts in hills came to naught in 1972, and contracts were finally awarded for the project.

Vandals Rip Building Site In Petaluma

Weekend vandals did substantial damage to machinery and buildings at a Petaluma construction site, it was discovered yesterday.

Workers returning to the Cambridge Square residential development at Casa Grande Road and Crinella Drive found engine parts ripped from several road graders, rollers and cement mixers parked on the site.

In several cases, workmen found, the vandals had stuffed handfuls of dirt into the engines through oil-filler openings.

Several of the homes under construction at the site also were pillaged, police said. Sheetrock walls were smashed and newly-installed plumbing was ripped apart.

Damage was estimated at more than $1,000 to the buildings and about $400 to the machinery. Apparently no one observed the vandals at work, police said.

Children Shoot Judge, Woman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A municipal court judge and an 18-year-old woman were slightly wounded yesterday by two boys with BB guns.

Judge Gerald J. O'Gara was strolling near his home at Union and Fillmore streets when he was hit in the right wrist. A short time later Karen Mix was struck in the right shoulder.

The young woman declined treatment but the judge was given first aid before going to his chambers in city hall.

maries. Senate candidates can spend eight cents times the voting age population or $100,000 in the primaries and 12 cents or $150,000 in the general election. House candidates are limited to $70,000 in the primaries and $70,000 in the general election.

Other provisions require candidates to establish a central campaign committee; require candidates report contributions and expenditures; ban cash contributions over $100; forbids contributions from foreigners prohibits contributions in another person's name; and treats loans as contributions.

The measure also limits honorariums for elected or appointed officials to $15,000 in a year and no more than $1,000 for a single article or speech; allows state and local employees to participate in federal campaigns unless barred by state law; permits the use of excess campaign funds to defray the expenses of holding public office.

Still On Panel

Tally P. Mastrangelo of Sausalito, Republican nominee for the state Board of Equalization's Third District seat, is vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that he is a former vice chairman, and misspelled his name.

TRIAL

the former president.

"Richard Nixon deceived, misled, lied to and used John Ehrlichman to cover up his own knowledge and activities while publicly stating that John Ehrlichman was one of the finest public servants he had ever known," Frates told the jury.

"He (Nixon) was deliberately witholding information from him — covering up to save his own neck. In simple terms, Mr. Erhlichman had been had by his boss, the President of the United States."

Frates said Ehrlichman's decision to leave the White House was a "forced resignation ... so that heat would be taken off the president and the president standing there knowing that he was the one covering up."

He said the evidence would show that Nixon summoned Ehrlichman to Camp David, Md., prior to his resignation April 30, 1973 "and told him 'John, you have been my conscience, but I didn't follow your advice. It's all my fault. If I'd only followed your advice, we wouldn't be in this situation.' "

Frates also praised the tapes of Nixon's White House conversations, which will be introduced into evidence beginning tomorrow.

Frates said the tapes will show that Ehrlichman repeatedly told Nixon "we've got to let it all hang out" — tell the truth about Watergate. He also stressed that Dean, when he began cooperating with the prosecutors, continually blamed Ehrlichman and others for acts that he himself had committed.

Sirica rejected a motion by defendant Robert C. Mardian's attorney for a directed verdict of acquittal.

In his opening statement, Mardian lawyer David Bress contended his client never should have been indicted because he was only a second-eschelon campaign aide without any policy input, who had "no idea" what was happening.

He also noted that Mardian wrote a six-page memo three days before the Watergate break-in complaining about conditions in the campaign and describing the organization as "a fragmented group of people ... who in the long run will cause more problems than they will solve."

"The tapes may have done some people harm but they're the greatest thing that ever happened to John Ehrlichman," he said. "Contrary to obstructing justice, it was everything but that and the tapes will show that chapter and verse."

He stressed that Nixon and former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, one of the co-defendants in the cover-up, never told Ehrlichman about the secret taping system.

Youngster Hurt In Crosswalk

Peggy Proby of 849 San Anselmo Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition today with scrapes and bruises following the accident at 8:44 a.m. yesterday.

Police said the girl was hit by a vehicle driven by Thomas S. Behel, 24, of 87 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. A large truck obscured his vision, police said.

OBITUARIES

FRITZ ANTON RIEDER

Fritz Anton Rieder of San Rafael died Saturday night at his home at the age of 86, after a long illness. No funeral is planned.

Rieder was born in Meiringen, Switzerland, and came to the U.S. on a sailing ship in the mid-1890s with his family. He lived in Pennsylvania until he moved to New Mexico at the age of 19 for his health.

Rieder became a homesteader near Santa Fe and ranched there most of his life. Retiring from ranching, he worked as an X-ray technician for the state, taking a mobile unit to Indian reservations. A widower, he was the father of Jean Peters and Donald Rieder, both of Santa Fe, and the late Margaret Rieder.

Rieder came to Marin about 10 years ago and moved to Santa Venetia some five years ago. He wrote poetry and read poetry at the Marin Jewish Community Center and often was a guest speaker at San Rafael High School classes.

In addition to his surviving son and daughter, he leaves five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

AMANDA L. MOORE

Amanda L. Moore of Santa Rosa, mother of Marion L. Andreen of San Rafael and sister of Harry Foerstler of Cotati, died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 88.

Born in Windsor, she spent her entire life as a Sonoma County homemaker.

She was a member of St. Eugene's Cathedral in Santa Rosa.

Also surviving are a daughter, Madeline F. Barn of Santa Rosa, a sister, Margaret White of Vallejo and two grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited in her memory at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Lafferty and Smith Colonial Chapel, 4321 Sonoma Highway, Santa Rosa.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at the funeral home, and friends may call after 5 p.m. today.

Entombment will be in Calvary Catholic Cemetery, Santa Rosa.

WARREN SMITH

Funeral for Warren H. Smith of Novato will be at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

Smith, 64, died Thursday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was a native of New York and had lived in California 10 years and in Marin for three months. He was an engineer, most recently employed at a missile range in the Marshall Islands.

Smith served with the Navy during World War II and also worked as a diesel operator in Iceland.

He is survived by two daughters, Theresa Gill of Rohnert Park, and Dolores Burns of Virginia Beach, Va.; a sister, Madeline Casseta of Elmira, N.Y., six grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Burial will be private.

MRS. CHRISTIANSON

Alice M. (Sally) Christianson of Petaluma died yesterday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 63.

She was a native of Canada who was reared there and in San Francisoc, where she lived until moving to Southern Sonoma seven years ago. Mrs. Christianson, a homemaker, lived at 333½ Liberty Street.

She is survived by her husband of 24 years, Joseph Christianson of Petaluma; two daughters, Carol Sandoval of Petaluma and Barbara McCormick of San Bruno; a brother, Carl Fleischman of San Andreas and six grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma, with the Rev. Carl Young officiating.

Interment will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park. The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

ELYSE SEARLS

Private funeral for Elyse Myers Searls of Greenbrae will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in Oakland.

Mrs. Searls died unexpectedly Friday in Vancouver, B.C., while on a vacation.

She was born and reared in Nevada City, where her father, the late Lester Myers, was manager of the Malakoff Hydraulic Mines, now a state park northeast of Nevada City.

She was the widow of Carroll Searls, a mining company executive. The couple moved to Westchester County, N.Y., in the 1920s, and he commuted to the mining company office in New York City until his death in 1970. Mrs. Searls moved to Greenbrae in 1971.

The couple had no children.

Burial will be at Mountain View Cemetery in Oakland.

150 Sign Petition Against Music

About 150 people signed petitions last night at a Save Mill Valley Association meeting protesting any presentation of live rock music at the Sweetwater or Old Mill taverns in that city.

Diane Scott of the association said that members will attend a Mill Valley City Council meeting Thursday when the question of how much music should be allowed in the bars is to be discussed.

LYNN O. TAYLOR
New president

Lynn Taylor Will Lead Homeowners

Lynn O. Taylor is new president of the Marinwood Association.

Mrs. Taylor, 30, is a native of Los Angeles. She graduated from the University of Arizona with a bachelor's degree in education and earned a law degree from San Francisco Law School.

She is a local attorney with a private practice at 40 Mitchell Boulevard in San Rafael.

She formerly worked as a first grade teacher at Cathedral School for Boys in San Francisco. She is also vice president of Las Gallinas Valley Presidents' Council.

She said that the Marinwood Association is currently surveying the community to determine if residents favor an ordinance controlling campers and trailers in the community.

She said some association members have complained that the area "looks like a trailer camp" because some residents park the vehicles on the streets and in driveways.

She lives at 42 Unionstone Drive with her husband, Bruce, and their two children.

Other officers of the association are Robert S. MacDonald, vice president; Leo Martinez, recording secretary; Vanetta Babbich, corresponding secretary, and Russ Bernardini, treasurer.

High Court Shuns Heart Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to interfere in the dismissal of a malpractice suit filed against Dr. Denton A. Cooley by the survivor of history's first recipient of an artificial heart.

The justices in the first day of the Supreme Court' 1974-1975 session declined to hear appeals in a suit brought by Shirley Karp, wife of Haskell Karp, who died after receiving an artificial heart.

Mrs. Karp claimed that Cooley was negligent in recommending the transplant because the operation was still too experimental.

Karp was the first man in history to receive a wholly artificial heart. Others had received the hearts of persons who had died.

The mechanical heart kept Karp alive for about 64 hours in April, 1969, until a donor heart could be found and implanted. Karp died 32 hours after the donor heart was installed.

Mrs. Karp's suit was dismissed without going to a jury on grounds there was insufficient evidence to prove negligence, fraud or uninformed consent were fostered by Cooley. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the dismissal.

On other matters today the court:

Dismissed a challenge to an Indiana prostitution law on grounds it unconstitutionally applied only to women.

Refused to order a jury trial to decide whether black actor Stepin Fetchit was defamed when a television documentary said he portrayed "the tradition of the lazy, stupid, crap-shooting, chicken stealing idiot."

Agreed to hear the appeal of a man who was sentenced to five years in prison for threatening that he would beat up then-President Richard M. Nixon. Defense lawyers contended the man was engaging in "political hyperbole" protected by the First Amendment because he clearly had no real intent to fight Nixon.

Let stand an order by a lower court forbidding the Food Fair chain from violating the Equal Pay Act in any of its nearly 70 outlets in 16 states.

Gave 12 Atlantic Coast states 45 days to reply to a recommendation that the United States has exclusive drilling rights for oil in the Atlantic outside the three-mile limit.

Refused to block an order requiring the Milwaukee County General Hospital to provide abortions by staff doctors with no conscientious scruples against them.

Ordered arguments on whether Utah or the United States has title to thousands of acres of mineral rich mud flats surrounding the Great Salt Lake.

Refused to prevent the dismissal of a Maryland public school teacher because he was a homosexual.

Agreed to decide if federal courts can block subpoenas issued by Congress on the ground they threaten constitutional rights of individuals and political organizations.

Schwartz Heads Recreation Panel

Schwartz, 33, is a civil engineer for the Marin County Department of Public Works.

He lives at 330 Pinewood Drive with his wife, Lyn. The couple has two children.

The commission last night also decided to continue meeting on the second Monday of each month in the community center.

Woman Hurt After Crash

Jane L. McCoin, 28, of San Francisco was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple fractures of the leg received yesterday in a car-motorcycle accident on the Fairfax-Bolinas Road.

The Highway Patrol said she was a passenger on an eastbound motorcycle driven by her husband, Ronald, 28.

Officers said the cycle and a westbound auto collided. McCoin told the highway patrol that the auto was traveling in his lane when the accident occurred at about 12:45 p.m.

The driver of the car, William Stanley Browning, 35, of Oakland was not injured.

Two Companies Seek Thermal Power Shares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Aquitaine Co. of Canada, Ltd., and Natomas Co. of San Francisco have made new bids for control of Thermal Power Co., which is engaged in producing geothermal steam in Sonoma and Lake counties for Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

Aquitaine, of Calgary, offered $16 a share for all of Thermal's shares or a minimum of 840,000 shares, which would give it 51 per cent.

Aquitaine had offered $13 a share for Thermal Power in September. Union Oil of California then bid $16 a share for Thermal. But both Aquitaine and Union withdrew their offers after Natomas and Thermal announced an agreement for the sale of 1.2 million shares to Natomas at $16.

Fairfax Sets Town Cleanup Dates

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will conduct its annual free pickup of debris on regular routes between Oct. 28 and Nov. 1, the town council said last night.

The service is limited to seven garbage cans of debris per customer, and to local residents who have paid past garbage bills, the council said.

Clippings should be no longer than five feet in length and tied in bundles or boxed. Furniture and remodeling materials will not be collected.

Debris boxes will be located in the town ballfield on Nov. 2 for residents to drop off refuse.

The Fairfax Town Council Also:

CHURCH — Said Christ The Victor Lutheran Church may proceed with foundation work on a structure at the church site on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, saying a local building moratorium will be lifted soon and noting that the rainy season is approaching.

LEAGUE — Said Mayor Frank R. Egger will be the city's voting representative at the annual League of California Cities meeting in Los Angeles Oct.20 through 23.

USE PERMIT — Put over consideration of a use permit and variance sought by Murray Settlage for a structure at 85 Ridge Road.

FONG — Continued an appeal by Tom Fong Jr. of denial by the design and environmental review board of his bid to retain a nonconforming sign gracing the Fairfax Market.

FAIRFAX — Said the old town greeting sign at the town parkade will be relocated and replaced by a new redwood sign designed by artist Gerald Stinski.

DANCE — Approved new security regulations for dances held at the Fairfax Pavilion, and approved a Halloween dance for 7th and 8th graders at the pavilion on Oct. 25.

FAIRFAX THEATER — Said the town will pay $250 to repair chuckholes on the Fairfax Theater parking lot, site of free commuter parking during the daytime.

WIRING — Told Haden to explore precise costs for rewiring the aging electrical system of the Fairfax Women's Club. Haden estimated the job would cost up to $2,000.

RECREATION — Decided the town needs a part-time recreation director to "plan and administer" local recreatio programs for $5 per hour, 10 hours per week.

TAMALPAIS ROAD — Said Tamalpais Road will remain one-way from Upper Scenic to Mountain View Junction.

GARBAGE — Adopted boosts in monthly garbage pickup fees of 30 cents and 35 cents, and said Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. will pay $500 to Survival, Inc. since the recycling firm has agreed to "maintain and protect" the garbage firm's city franchise.

RESIDENCY — Said members of the Fairfax Design and Environmental Review Board must be residents of the town.

VACANCIES — Announced a vacancy on the planning commission, the design and environmental review board, and as town liaison to the county human rights commission, and called for applicants.

APPOINTMENTS — Appointed James Harvey and Steve McQuillan to the parks and recreation commission, and appointed freshman planning commissioner Glenn Meagher to the town tree committee.

FAIRFAX SALE — Announced surplus town property will be sold and auctioned at noon Nov. 10 at the city firehouse.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to discuss litigation. City Atty. Wallace S. Meyers said no action would be taken at the session since he merely sought a "consensus of opinion" on a suit brought against the city by Max Friedman.

GRYBEL — Adjourned in memory of planning commissioner John A. Grybel, who died recently of cancer.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Council Acts To Lift Ban On Building

A moratorium on new construction in Fairfax which has halted issuance of building permits since last April 9 will be lifted at 8 p.m. tomorrow, town councilmen said last night.

The council said the ban will be lifted following a "workshop session" needed to draft regulations assuring that permits issued will be in line with provisions of the city's new open space plan.

The council last April clamped a moratorium on new development after learning the town had violated state law by failing to adopt an open space plan. The initial 90-day moratorium was later extended.

The town council adopted an open space plan on Oct. 1 and has been able to lift the ban on permits since that time, according to Town Administrator William E. Haden.

Councilmen set tomorrow's special meeting to iron out new regulations to ensure that new construction complies with the open space plan.

The ban virtually halted new construction in Fairfax, aside from projects already under way.

Mrs. Roth Will Abandon Estate

WOODSIDE (UPI) — Lurline Matson Roth, daughter of a steampship line tycoon, is abandoning Filoli, her 750-acre estate on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Her son, William Matson Roth of Ross, said yesterday she had purchased a home in Hillsborough because of the large size of the showplace estate.

He added that he had been "anxious about her, living in that big barn of a house by herself."

Filoli, which has a Georgian brick manor house, was built in 1916 by William B. Bourn, president of the Spring Valley Water Co. and purchased by Mrs. Roth's husband in 1936.

Her husband, William P. Roth, was once president of the Matson Navigation Co. He died in 1953 at 83 years.

Neither Mrs. Roth nor her son could say what would become of the estate.

Teller Defends Nuclear Efforts

DENVER (UPI) — Edward Teller, known as the father of the hydrogen bomb, says despite the danger of radiation in underground nuclear projects, the nation must continue its efforts to develop alternative energy supplies.

"We can't have delays when we are fighting for our collective lives," Teller said yesterday in a speech at the University of Colorado Medical Center. "We are all scared — overly scared — of radiation. If a little is detected, we get nervous."

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., who joined Teller on the speaker's platform, spoke against future nuclear projects without the consent of voters, an issue that will be listed on the Colorado November election ballot.

Fairfax Board Of Review Faces Abolition; Inactive Since Orr

The Fairfax Town Council last night moved to abolish the town Board of Review, a group that last convened in 1971 to consider the firing of former police chief James R. Orr. (Another Fairfax Town Council story, page 1)

Councilmen told Town Mgr. William E. Haden to study a proposal replacing the quasi-judicial unit with a hearing officer, as well as a proposal to cut the board's power.

Haden was told to bring both proposals to city employee groups for review before recommending a course of action.

The council's move to boot the board came as Haden suggested the council strip the board of its power. He noted the unit has under town code final power to "sustain, revoke or modify the suspension, demotion, dismissal, reduction in pay or other disciplinary act" brought by the city manager or council against employees.

"In effect these sections (of town code) make the board's actions completely autonomous and provide for a potential conflict between this board and the city council," Haden noted.

Councilmen, however, appeared to embrace a proposal by Councilman Albert E. Gately that the board be abolished outright and replaced with a hearing officer.

"You shouldn't have this body having this authority," Gately said, saying that the six-month Orr hearings demonstrated the board "is not a very efficient way to operate at all."

Gately's proposal was endorsed by Town Atty. Wallace S. Meyers. "The hearings become political things. . . and sometimes get far afield," he said.

The firing of Orr by former Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe was upheld by the board of review after 39 tumultuous hearings that stretched from November, 1971 to April, 1972.

VIRGINIA M. PEDERSEN
Hospital candidate

Virginia M. Pedersen Eyes Board

Virginia M. Pedersen of Fairfax, a registered nurse who worked 20 years in managerial positions at Marin General Hospital, is one of seven candidates for three posts on the Marin Hospital District board.

Mrs. Pedersen pointed out that the present board is composed of five persons (three of whom are running for re-election) who were appointed to their first terms. "I think it's time the public had a chance to elect a board," she said.

Mrs. Pedersen has termed the present board a "mutual admiration society" and said she believes it is "ridiculous" to force the county to pay for the realignment of Bon Air Road at this time.

(The project, to cost more than $400,000 is being done so that a parking lot can be placed adjacent to the hospital and in view of proposed expansion of Marin General.)

Mrs. Pedersen retired from the Marin General Hospital staff last year, having served as nursing office assistant, executive housekeeper and manager of the hospital laundry.

"I am thoroughly familiar with the operation and management of Marin General Hospital . . . and I have been directly connected with hospitals in either a teaching or managerial capacity for over 27 years . . ." she said.

"I believe that the hospital and the affairs of the district should be run efficiently and effectively in the best interest of the citizenry for the purpose of meeting the medical needs, as well as the comforts of all members of the community who find it necessary to become patients at Marin General Hospital," Mrs. Pedersen said.

Mrs. Pedersen is a graduate of the University of Virginia. She is married to Jorgen Pedersen and is the mother of four children.

The family home is at 588 Cascade Drive.

She is a member of the Hi Twelvettes of Marin and the Chi Omega Alumnae.

Lucas Valley Plan Receives Approval

Marin County planning commissioners yesterday approved a master plan for a 472-unit development on the Luiz and Grady ranches in Lucas Valley. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

The commission accepted, with minor changes, a staff report favoring the development, subject to several conditions. The vote was 6-1, with commissioner Gloria Duncan opposed.

Mrs. Duncan said she would not now approve the development because it had not been considered by the City-County Planning Council of Marin. The council was to have taken up the matter at its meeting last week, but that session was cancelled, lacking a quorum. A motion by Mrs. Duncan to postpone commission action until the council has reviewed the development died for lack of a second.

Planning staff recommended approving the master plan subject to a number of conditions dealing with preserving Miller Creek, roads, traffic, availability of water, sewage and fire protection, landscaping, bike paths, and other.

Debate yesterday centered on the recommendation to extend Idylberry Road to the west to connect with roads planned for the development site, and on the width of a setback that should be required for units fronting Miller Creek.

Several members of the audience, including a representative of the Lucas Valley Homeowner's Association, told commissioners that they didn't want Idylberry extended, because doing so would increase traffic and imperil children in the area.

But, assured by county officials that extending the road was both necessary for emergency vehicles and desirable for convenience, commissioners voted 4-3 (Gilbert P. Murphy, Jerry Friedman and Mrs. Duncan opposed) to require road extension.

Edmond Kagi, a spokesman for Sasaki, Walker Associates, developer, told commissioners that in order to set the units sufficiently back from Lucas Valley Road, they should be nearer the creek than the legal 50-foot creek setback allows. Creek setback should be cut to 30 feet for this project, he said.

Commissioner Murphy supported the idea, but others on the commission agreed that if a large road setback was desirable, it should be done by paring units, not creekside space.

The council approved without comment a staff recommendation that 15 per cent of the townhouse and apartment dwellings be reserved for moderate-income families and with a price tag the equivalent of $32,000 to $36,000 in 1974 dollars.

The master plan provides for the units on 244 of the 1,615 acres of the two ranches, which are located on the north side of Lucas Valley Road below Big Rock. The rest of the acreage remains open space.

Forty single-family residences, 296 townhouses and 136 garden apartments, plus recreational facilities and a fire station are planned.

Waterman No Longer Hospital Candidate

J. Scott Waterman, a law enforcement officer who lives in Petaluma, has withdrawn as a candidate for the Petaluma Hospital District board in the Nov. 5 election. His name will still appear on the ballot, however, because the voting lists had already been printed when he withdrew.

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal incorrectly listed Waterman as a candidate.

7 WAYS TO PLUG FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION.

You'll save energy if you follow these suggestions:

1. Turn off all lights that are not essential.
2. Lower your furnace thermostat to 68 degrees.
3. Use full loads in dishwashers and clothes dryers.
4. Set your water heater to "normal" or 140 degrees.
5. Turn off TV sets when they're not being watched.
6. Defrost your refrigerator before frost becomes ¼" thick.

Thick frost reduces your refrigerator's cooling ability and makes it run inefficiently.

7. Be sure your range and oven are turned off when not in use.

These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

Cotati Plans Crackdown On Signs

A crackdown on illegally-posted business signs began last night in Cotati as planning commissioners recommended that the city council give nonconforming sign owners 30 days to shape up.

The commission recommended a zoning ordinance amendment which would enable the city to remove the signs if owners themselves refuse to act within a 30-day period.

The problem, according to a spokesman for the planning body, is that residents have in a number of cases erected signs without first seeking city approval of their design, location and size.

In a related move, the planning commission notified several businessmen who had applied for approval on existing signs that their signs would not be approved until after modifications requested by the commission's design review committee.

The planning commission also recommended to the council that the zoning ordinance be amended to allow ambulance dispatching offices as permitted uses in commercial zones and as conditional uses in residential districts.

WHEREAS, on the 18th day of June, 1973, the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, adopted its Resolution of Intention for the improvements and acquisitions in East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 2, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, as amended, and referred said improvements and acquisitions to ELY CAILLOUETTE, Jr., Engineer of Work for said assessment district; and

WHEREAS, said City Council directed that said Engineer of Work make and file with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael a report in writing in accordance with the provisions and requirements of the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, said Engineer of Work did, on the 4th day of February, 1974, file with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael a report in accordance with the said resolution; and

WHEREAS, said City Council did, on the 4th day of February, 1974, preliminarily adopt said report and called for public bids for doing of the work to be submitted to the City Clerk on March 4, 1974; and

WHEREAS, bids were received on said date which bids were in excess of the Engineer's Estimate of Cost of the work; and

WHEREAS, the property owners requested that the construction of the levee be deleted from the project; and

WHEREAS, said Engineer of Work did, on the 5th day of August, 1974, file with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael an Amended Engineer's Report and said City Council called for public bids for the doing of the work without the levee to be submitted to the City Clerk on the 19th day of September, 1974; and

WHEREAS, bids were received on said date which bids were in excess of the Amended Engineer's Estimate of Cost of the work; and

WHEREAS, on the 7th day of October, 1974, said Engineer of Work filed a Second Amended Engineer's Report setting forth increased costs of the work to be done, an increase in the total assessment to be levied, and an increase in individual assessments to be levied as a result of said increased costs;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, and this Council hereby finds:

1. That the Second Amended Engineer's Report made and filed by the Engineer of Work on the 7th day of October, 1974, sets forth the increased cost of doing the work, the increase in the total amount of the assessment to be levied, and the increase in the amount of individual assessments to be levied.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Monday, the 4th day of November, 1974, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, at the meeting place of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, located at 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place for hearing protests with relation to the proposed increase in total assessment to be levied; and the increase in the individual assessments to be levied; that any person interested in objecting to said increases may file protest in writing with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael at or before the hour fixed herein for hearing thereon; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael be, and she is hereby, directed to publish this resolution pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code of the State of California, said resolution to be published at least ten (10) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that said resolution of the proposed increased assessment shall be mailed, postage prepaid, to all persons owning real property to be assessed whose names and addresses appear upon the last equalized assessment roll for taxes, or as known to the City Clerk, said notices to be mailed at least twenty (20) days prior to the date herein set for hearing of protests; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is the finding of the City Council that these proceedings or changes in the cost of the work and assessments are being taken in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 4.5, Division 12 of the Streets and Highways Code of the State of California.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Four Local Ballot Measures Overlap

Four local measures which will appear on Nov. 5 election ballots in parts of Marin are somewhat tied up together, two of them inextricably.

These are Measures A, B, E, and F.

MEASURE A calls for formation of a county service area for fire protection embracing several parcels of uncorporated territory adjacent to San Rafael: Santa Venetia, Northbridge, San Rafael Meadows, Los Ranchitos, some uplands of Sun Valley, California Park, Country Club, Bayside Acres, Knocknaboul Way, and portions of McNear's Point.

Measure B calls for a 71-cent tax rate for the newly created county service area, which is an increase of 24 cents above the levy now paid by residents there for county fire protection.

Measure E calls for annexation of Country Club to the City of San Rafael.

Measure F calls for annexation of Knocknaboul Way to the city.

ALL THE AREAS which Measure A would include in the new county service area have in the past depended largely on San Rafael for fire protection response under an informal "mutual aid" agreement between city and county fire departments. However, the city council has ordered that city fire trucks cease responding to outside calls until a county truck has arrived at the fire scene and called for help.

Only county fire equipment for fighting structural fires in the area is a single pumper truck, ordinarily stationed in Santa Venetia but now being kept at its operator's home on Villa Avenue in San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, the county is pledged to build a new firehouse atop Puerto Suello Hill for that truck and an additional pumper truck, and to staff it with three firemen.

MUCH OF THE assessed valuation in the proposed county service area is in Country Club. If Country Club residents vote for annexation to San Rafael (Measure E), the 21-cent additional tax rate authorized by Measure B would be insufficient to provide the firehouse and truck.

The county then would have to either (1) add money from countywide tax revenues, or (2) hold another tax rate election, calling for a higher rate.

Country Club annexation was abandoned by the city council in face of a protest representing a majority of the assessed valuation in the area. But it was put on the ballot as a result of a court ruling that such a protest could not block the vote.

IF COUNTRY CLUB were annexed to San Rafael, its residents would pay neither the existing 47-cent county "structural" fire tax nor the proposed 71-cent county service area tax. Neither would they pay 24.5 cents county library tax as they now must do. Instead, they would pay the city tax — 92 cents to cover all city services.

The Knocknaboul Way area, an island within the Terra Linda annexation, represents only a small part of the proposed county service area, so its vote to annex to San Rafael would not upset the tax calculations in Measure B. The tax implications there are the same as for Country Club.

We believe residents of Country Club and Knocknaboul Way would serve themselves best by voting to annex to San Rafael. If they do not do that, they should vote for Measures A and B as at least a step toward better fire protection.

The same probably applies to the other areas included in Measure A, but they have no annexation proposal on the ballot this time.

Kissing Time

We aren't too sure what Irish gorse is like. But it can't be very different from English gorse or Sonoma gorse or Marin gorse, orangish-yellow broomlike flowers and thorny foliage. The Irish say it is kissing time when the gorse is in bloom. We have it on good authority gorse always blooms in Ireland.

Sausalito Ferry Terminal Is Far From Closed Issue

The Golden Gate Bridge District has been less than candid in its recent moves to shelve its proposed permanent ferry terminal in downtown Sausalito.

District directors, citing a shortage of cash for the $38 million ferry system and growing opposition from Sausalito, voted Aug. 30 to postpone the terminal indefinitely.

. Two weeks later, they voted to shift money set aside for the terminal to the Larkspur project.

NEVER MENTIONED, however, was the fact that the district's contract with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration for transit grants still requires construction of a Sausalito terminal. Despite all its moves, the district has never even suggested to UMTA that the Sausalito terminal be scrapped.

The existence of the requirement came to light after several citizens asked Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District, to find out just how deeply the terminal had been buried. As a result of their doubts, Burton's office checked with UMTA and learned of the requirement that it be built.

The contract does not set a deadline for construction, but a spokesman for UMTA told us that unless the district and City of Sausalito resolve their impasse over the issue "in the near future," the government "might press the parties to come to an agreement." He declined to estimate how far into the future UMTA's patience would stretch before pressing the issue.

A Sausalito terminal would require a new UMTA grant to cover 80 per cent of the capital cost, leaving relatively little to be raised from district funds. The UMTA spokesman was not fazed by the prospect of another grant.

He also reported that, while district directors have voted to transfer the remaining $1.5 million for the Sausalito terminal to the Larkspur project, the district has not applied to UMTA to approve the transfer. Most of the money is UMTA's, thus it is not clear yet that the Sausalito fund will be bankrupted.

The failure of the district to point out the requirement in the UMTA contract that a Sausalito terminal be built strikes us as an effort to snooker opponents of the terminal, to lull them into a false assurance that the object of their ire no longer is a threat. It most defintely is.

ASSEMBLYMAN William T. Bagley of San Rafael, GOPnominee for state controller, has objected to a report in the Independent-Journal that he failed to vote when the Assembly repealed most of the controversial legislative requirement bonus. He argues that he voted for an Assembly version of the repealer when it was approved by the lower house and sent to the Senate. What he missed, he said, was Assembly concurrence in the final version that was amended in the Senate and sent back to the lower house.

That's a good explanation, but leaves intact the fact that he did not vote on the measure which became law.

Strange Animal Actions May Not Mean Rabies

The animal rabies question could hardly be answered in one letter. . .

Rabies appear to be ubiquitous. . . Strangeness and foaming at the mouth of animals could also be caused by the deadly distemper virus, also foods, poisons, or other dormant but later activating things in living creatures, such as cancer may be. The risks are there, but one has to explain the peculiar instances of the disease. . .

It is most peculiar that we always read about animal strangeness of action, etc., invariably is connected with rabies.

Peace-Freedom Candidate Doesn't Like I-J

I would like to suggest that the I-J and the Pacific Sun merge, as you both have so much in common — capitalist ripoffs!

It is indeed a shame that the misinformed and mislead voters of Marin County have no real alternative paper to the lies of the I-J and the Pacific Sun.

In this case, no news would be far better than the drivel printed by Paul Peter Zell and the I-J.

Mayor Blinder Cast As 'Big Brother'

"We should question the popular wisdom. . . " is Blinder's remark to the citizens of San Anselmo and the council on Sept. 24. This is Big Brother telling us that even though the people of California voted 2-1 against changing marijuana laws, the San Anselmo City Council should prevail upon the state legislature to overturn this overwhelming expression.

We have to agree with Blinder in one respect though — we "should question the popular wisdom" that elected him by a plurality of three votes!

Arrogant Faculty Now Asks More Money

Prophecy of an occurrence in advance is a self-satisfying circumstance, even though the seer is of as amateur ranking as myself. However reluctant I am to say, "I told you so," the faculty at Middle School must recollect a prediction of last summer when the taxpayers were genuinely concerned with the numerous incidents of faculty failure to provide at Middle School the type of educational atmosphere many parents anticipated was due them and their children. The faculty offended the parents by boycotting the interragatory meetings conducted as an inquiry into the problems. It was then predicted, "You will come to us for money; and when you do, recall your boorish behavior and consider the propriety of asking those you chose to ignore for monetary support."

Now the district needs an advance of the dollar per pupil expense, of which we are advised 80 per cent plus goes to faculty salaries . . . Yet presuming the Middle School faculty represents a cross-section of the district's teacher group, I for one am loathe to support even a valid cause coming from the very group that previously told me to go to hell.

Story Should Indicate High Admittance Charge

In the I-J, Oct. 8, there was an article about a quilter that was going to lecture, sponsored by the Mill Valley Quilt Authority. "The event is open to the public," etc.

Why, oh why, don't you tell us that the cost will be $7?

In order to go that event, my daughter packed her quilts in the car (as suggested by the article), took me to work, drove over to Mill Valley — and, of course, she didn't have $7 — drove back from Mill Valley to San Rafael, picked me up from work.

It's unbelievable.

Mrs. WILLIAM ROSE
San Rafael

(We do not quote admittance charges in news stories, but the story should have mentioned that there was a charge. — Editor)

Quick To Criticize; Slow To Repair

The Mill Valley City Council lost no time criticizing the I-J because the article dealing with the budget didn't make it clear to readers that the tax rate had been cut five cents. How nice it would be if the city were as quick to respond to our complaints. For instance, late in April, I called the Public Works Department and asked that a city lane near our home be cleared of weeds that had taken over the width of the lane, were over five feet tall, and completely infested with spittle bugs. About 10 days later, two men worked on the lane for several hours, cleared much, but were forced to stop because the weeds were too much for their hand power equipment. One of the men apologized for having to leave the job unfinished and said he would request that a power mower be used to complete the job. The weeds have sprung up again and are about to take over the lane, but still no power mower!

Over three weeks ago, I spoke with Mr. Van Dyke of the Public Works Department to complain about two "ruts" on Lomita Drive between Ashford and East Blithedale, a section of road only recently repaved. These "ruts" (over a foot wide and across the entire lane) had been dug out and then only partially filled so that a car was really jolted going over them. During the early part of this week, one "rut" was finally completely filled in; and some time Friday afternoon, the other. I wonder when they'll do something about that other "jolter I told him about — same section of road, other lane, where part of the road bed seems to have sunk . . .

Consider this please. Our Mill Valley City Council recently voted to subsidize a private concern for closed circuit television coverage of their meetings, planning commission meetings, etc., with several thousand dollars (can't remember whether it was $7,000 or $9,000) of taxpayers' money. Can't halp thinking of that line from bank commercial I've hear on radio — "Boy, what an ego trio!"

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

Americans aren't used to being deprived. Some people think austerity is the way we're cutting back Daylight Saving Time.

A lot oftaxpeyers are worried about President Ford's surtax plan. What if they get unlucky and their income goes up to $15,000?

It may be a problem to confirm Rockefeller. Some congressmen resent him because he's never put them on his gift list.

The real challenge for Congress this year is to find some hot topic that Senator Jackson can't investigate on national television.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH

Controls On Exports May Lead Down Dangerous Road

It was inevitable and understandable, in view of the background, that President Ford would ask the grain traders to call off their proposed big grain sale to the Soviet Union.

And it was equally inevitable and understandable that a quick stop was put to the idea of strip mining Montana for coal to Japan.

The 1972 Russian grain deal is a painful memory to many people, including the farmers who sold their wheat at the old low price. The rise when the news of the deal broke was the beginning of the general rise in commodity prices which contributed to today's massive inflation.

President Ford had no practical choice. He had to use his personal influence to call off another big sale of American grain to the Russians. It would have been politically impossible for him to do anything else.

STRIP MINING already has a bad name in the United States. Americans generally will tolerate it if convinced that it is necessary to keep American homes, factories and automobiles working. But to destroy Montana's superb scenery for the sake of outsiders is just as politically intolerable as another grain sale to the Russians would have been.

It's astonishing that anyone even thought of offering strip-mined coal to a foreign consumer. That is the sort of thing smart companies hire expensive public relations advisers to keep them from doing.

Yet it is also most important to bear in mind that the president's decisions are the kind of action which turned the stock market collapse of 1929 into the great depression of the '30s.

In the wake of the stock market collapse, the United States led the parade of industrial countries into tariff and trade protectionism. The highest tariffs in American history were put up in the Smoot-Hawley Act of 1930. America's trading partners felt that they had to follow suit. Everyone put up tariffs, embargoes and quotas. World trade came almost to a halt.

THE DEPRESSION did not begin with the stock market collapse of 1929. We talk about the "crash" of 1929. But the stock market never knew the worst until 1932.

For example (using round figures) in 1929 General Motors dropped from its high of 92 to a low of 33. But in 1932 it went from 25 down to 8. RCA went from 115 to 26 in 1929, and from 13 down to 2 in 1932. U.S. Steel showed a similar record. Its high in 1929 was 262 and its low was 150. It began 1932 at 53 and ended at 21.

The truly big losses came well after the Smoot-Hawley tariffs had plunged the world into economic autarchy.

The word autarchy is translated in the dictionary as meaning self-sufficiency. In the name of self-sufficiency then, the United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy and all the rest built barriers against each other. And they all went into the depths of the depression. In Germany, it brought Hitler to power.

TODAY, THE OLDER statesmen remember the story of the origins of the Great Depression. Everyone who takes the trouble to read the history of those times learns the right lesson. In this modern, industrialized world, there is no such thing as economic self-sufficiency. The nations are inter-dependent. Autarchy simply doesn't work. It only makes bad matters worse.

Britain and Japan are the most dependent on others. They must import food and raw materials to live. They must export finished goods to pay for their food and raw materials. The United States and France are probably the least dependent on others. Both can feed themselves without imports. But both must import many of their industrial requirements. France has no oil at all. The United States uses more than it produces.

The veterans of the '30's, remember the lesson. But we are well into a declining stock market and on the threshold of rising unemployment and declining industrial activity. And so far none of the lessons from the '30s has been put into practice. There is a lot of talk. As yet the talk is still to be translated in cooperative action. Any ban on exports is a step down the danger road.

Stalemate In Congress Paves The Way For Depression

WASHINGTON — Whether the view of the Ford inflation message is favorable, as with business, or critical, as with labor and most of the Democrats, matters very little. Congress will resist his proposals even when returning after the recess and the election.

The Democratic sweep expected on Nov. 5 is likely to stiffen opposition to the 5 per cent surtax.

There is no evidence that inflation will abate and all signs point to increasing unemployment, as President Ford indicated in his message.

IT MUST BE SAID that we are seeing something close to breakdown in the system itself. A creeping, crawling Congress dawdles over legislation vital to stemming a recession and advancing toward the economic interdependence that the president called for.

The prime example is the trade reform act. In the Senate, Russell Long, chairman of the finance committee, is playing Nero, savaging the reasonable bill that came from the House.

Playing up to every protectionist interest, Long is likely to bring out a bill (if anything comes out of his committee) that is worse than no bill at all. It will convince the United States' trading partners that protectionism is our answer to reasonable tariff adjustments.

THE 5 PER CENT SURTAX seems to have been proposed with little consideration as to its consequences. Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., one of the ablest members of the Joint Economic Committee, says it will mean that middle-bracket taxpayers pay for the meager benefits in tax reduction for those at the lowest level.

Reuss gives as an example a machinist in this home district in Milwaukee earning $11,000 a year. His wife works part-time as a waitress, making between $4,000 and $5,000, which keeps them afloat. They would pay the surtax on anything over $15,000.

This, it may be argued, is little enough, but multiplied across the nation it could have a serious impact on purchasing power. If it means not buying a new suit or a new dress, merchants and industry will soon feel the consequences. More unemployment will be quickly registered.

THE PRESIDENT'S endorsement of the so-called tax reform bill that has come out of Chairman Wilbur Mills' Ways and Means Committee is another source of criticism by those who say that the real benefits go to business.

Mills, a czar in the Russell Long pattern, put new loopholes in his tax bill, the critics charge. In addition, the president threw in a gimmick that will delight corporate board rooms. That is allowing a tax deduction for dividends paid on preferred stock.

But these bones of contention serve chiefly to underscore the fragmentation of the Congress, which reflects the sharp division in the country.

PRESIDENT FORD quoted from the first inaugural address of Franklin Roosevelt. That dramatic plea for courage and unity came at the bottom of the depression, when every bank in the country was closed. It came from a president who was to prove himself a master of popular appeal in bringing action in the first 100 days of his administration.

In calling for increased public service employment, Ford proposed a Community Improvement Corps to provide work for the unemployed through short-term projects "to improve, beautify and enhance the environment of our cities, towns and countryside."

To the skeptics in Congress, this sounded like the leaf-raking projects so derided under the New Deal. Why not constructive work in the thousand-and-one areas where it is so urgently needed?

The simplest and most direct proof that the system can work would be immediate passage of a reasonable trade reform act. After delays of nearly a year, the United States would then be in a position to work out international agreements that can stimulate world trade.

As was shown so clearly in 1930, protectionism can mean a turn toward worldwide depression. That is a measure of what is at stake in the current stalemate.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 15, 1964

Nikita S. Khrushchev was retired as prime minister of the USSR and general secretary of its Communist party, with the posts divided between Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin.

The St. Louis Cardinals won the seventh and deciding game of the baseball World Series, 7 to 5 over the New York Yankees.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 15, 1954

Marin's 52nd poliomyelitis case of the year was reported in Mill Valley.

The California Division of Highways called for bids on six-laning Highway 101 from Manzanita to the Golden Gate Bridge.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"After finishing listening to the World Series on radio, I figured, on account of it being Sunday, I could leave it turned on and not have to listen to some politician — but what do I get? Four preachers, all at different places, and what was they doing — saving sinners? No. Two of 'em was saving the Republicans, and the other two was saving the Democrats.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ERNEST MURPHY

A Second Band Of Indians Gets Into Fight Over Dam

Sonoma County's controversy over the Warm Springs dam is getting like a civil war these days — everyone is choosing sides, and sometimes it's brother against brother.

Even the local Indians are getting into the fight which will culminate on Nov. 5, when county voters determine whether the Army Corps of Engineers will build a large earthen dam across the upper Dry Creek Valley.

THE DOMINANT local tribe is the Pomo, a nation of hunters and fishermen.

Once they owned the whole county, back before it was taken over by successive waves of Russians, Spaniards, Anglos and real estate speculators.

Now the Pomo are nearly invisible, few in number and scattered among the rest of the population.

But they still remember their origins, and a few of them show a certain sense of ownership, maybe an ancestral feeling for what remains of the once-wild land of Sonoma.

ONE GROUP of Pomos, the Dry Creek band, last year became alarmed that the water behind the dam, Lake Sonoma, would flood the sites of several prehistoric villages of the tribe. This particular band joined a coalition of environmentalists and civic groups which eventually obtained a U.S. Supreme Court order blocking the dam until more environmental studies are made.

Last week another branch of the Pomo nation picked an unlikely spot to announce that it, too, was entering the fray, although not on the same side as its Dry Creek cousins.

Allan James of Sebastopol, chief of the Kashia band, called a news conference at the San Francisco Press Club to announce that his band has decided to support construction of the $114 million dam.

The chief acknowledged that the waters of Lake Sonoma would flood lands that played a part in his nation's history, and consequently his pledge of support came with an attached list of demands.

THE CHIEF WANTS the name of the lake changed to Lake Pomo, and he also wants the tribal name affixed to the fish hatchery which the corps is to build below the dam.

The lake's visitor center, proclaimed the chief, must be expanded into an Indian museum dedicated to preserving the heritage of the Pomo.

Half of the permanent and summertime jobs at the lake must be assigned to members of Pomo tribes, who also must be represented on all commissions or committees set up to supervise activities in the lake area.

"It is time," said the chief, "for the Indian voice to be heard."

Dentists Chip Away At Evel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Since the motorcycle jumps of Evel Knievel have been increasingly publicized, an increasing number of young motorcyclists are getting hurt trying to imitate him, according to the dentists who treat them for getting their teeth knocked out.

"Within three weeks after Knievel did his stunt at Snake River Canyon, I treated three youngsters with major facial injuries," Dr. Paul Walters of New Orleans said Friday.

"All three of them said they were inspired by Knievel's jump," he said.

Doctors attending the convention reported nine other cases, involving broken arms and jaws and broken, knocked out or loosened teeth, some of them refering to the injured boys as being under an "Evel influence."

ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — The trouble with Washington is that it is a very suspicious town which keeps jumping to the wrong conclusions. The other morning Arkansas' Rep. Wilbur Mills was involved in an altercation at the Tidal Basin with three women and another man. It was reported by police that Mills' nose was bleeding and he had scratches on his face. One of the women threw herself into the Tidal Basin and had to be rescued by the park police. She was identified as an Argentine-born go-go dancer.

The next morning everyone assumed that the powerful member of the House Ways and Means Committee was involved in some sort of hanky-panky. This couldn't be further from the truth. No matter how it looked in the newspapers and on television, Mills was doing the people's business.

THIS IS WHAT happened: Sunday night Mills decided to go to the Junkanoo nightclub to hold hearings on a tax-reform bill he was preparing to submit to the House. Several witnesses, including four or five go-go girls, testified that tax reform was absolutely essential if everyone in the United States were to get a fair shake. Mills remarked after each witness testified, "I'll drink to that."

As the evening wore on, more and more witnesses gave Mills input on what should be included in the tax-reform bill. Several testified against oil-depletion allowances, others against real-estate shelters.

It was a lively hearing with people getting a lot of things off their chest. About 1 o'clock in the morning, Mills decided to adjourn the meeting. He graciously offered to take home four of the witnesses, three ladies and a gentleman. Although they had been friendly witnesses in the bar, a few became hostile in Mills' automobile when he raised the question of the 5 per cent income tax surcharge.

ONE OF THE GO-GO dancers said she was violently opposed to a surcharge on income taxes. Another woman said it was imperative that everyone in America bite the bullet.

Mills, who sat between the ladies, tried to be peacemaker. He pointed out that he was personally against an added tax on income that would affect the lower middle classes. When he said this, the lady who was for biting the bullet punched him in the nose. Trying to recoup some of his dignity, the congressman added that, although he was opposed to a surcharge on income taxes, he could see the reason for having one if it would stop inflation.

This angered the other woman, who started scratching his face. Since both women were out of order, Mills ordered the man driving the car to stop by the Tidal Basin.

He tried to mediate the dispute, but to no avail. One of the women said Mills had no interest in tax reform and, while he talked a good game, he hadn't done anything about it for years.

The other woman said that Mills was really a patsy for big business and cited his contribution from the milk producers as an example of a conflict of interest.

MILLS, WHO UP until this moment had behaved like a perfect Southern gentleman, became angered and said, "I hold you both in contempt of Congress."

"You're going to have to catch me first," one of the go-go dancers said. And with that she threw herself into the waters of the Tidal Basin, where she was rescued by the police.

Representative Mills was very moved by all this and went into seclusion to redraft his entire tax-reform legislation.

And that's what really happened last week. But Washington being Washington, no one in this town wants to give anyone in politics the benefit of the doubt.

Milk Applications Are Available

The Mill Valley School District will provide free milk for children unable to pay for it, according to Supt. Peter Palches.

Eligibility will be decided based on family size and income. However, unusual expenses such as high medical bills or special education costs will be considered. Applications are available at each principal's office.

Open Hutch A Reminder Of Old Days

The desire to display the few fine possessions brought to the New World spurred the demand for the open hutch among early American settlers.

The hutch, or china cupboard as it is sometimes known today, is derived from the French word, "huche," a chest or cabinet with doors, usually on legs or atop a buffet or sideboard.

As in centuries past, it utilizes storage space logically without sacrificing beauty.

The first hutch was manufactured in America in the early 1700's. At that time, a few cherished pieces of dinnerware, glassware and coin silver flatware were displayed with pride by the early American homesteader. And the open hutch is still used for displays.

5 WAYS
TO USE LESS ENERGY
WASHING & DRYING.

Follow these clean-living guidelines for energy conservation:

1. Fill your dishwasher completely before operating. Partial loads waste fuel and water. Even more savings can be realized by turning off your dishwasher after the final rinse before the drying cycle.
2. Use cold water to rinse dishes and operate your garbage disposer. Don't waste hot water.
3. Use full loads in your clothes washer and dryer, but don't overload.
4. Clean the lint filter in your dryer after every use.
5. Take advantage of special features on your washer that can save energy. For example, suds-savers let you re-use hot water for several loads.

These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

Veteran Charlie Rich Honored As Best Country Music Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Charlie Rich, who struggled for 20 years in the country music field before reaching the top, was named the industry's "Entertainer of the Year" at the Grand Old Opry last night.

Rich, 41, known as "The Silver Fox" for his long grey hair, also won "album of the year" honors for "A Very Special Love Song," which included "The Most Beautiful Girl," and "I Love My Friend."

"I'm just so happy about winning entertainer of the year," Rich said. "It's something I'll always treasure."

In his acceptance speech, Rich, whose smash record "Behind Closed Doors," won him the top single prize last year, read a poem by his wife.

"Whatever you are, whatever you do, if you have a dream hang on to it," said Rich.

Songwriter Pee Wee King, who wrote the "Tennessee Waltz," and performer-producer Owen Bradley were named to the Country Music Hall of Fame, the industry's highest honor.

Blind recording star Ronnie Milsap, a newcomer in country music, whose hits included "The Girl Who Waits on Tables," "Pure Love," and "Please Don't Tell Me How the Story Ends," received the male vocalist of the year award, and Australian-born Olivia Newton-John was named female vocalist of the year.

Miss Newton-John has recorded "If You Love Me (let me know)," "I Honestly Love You," and "Let Me Be There."

Single of the year was "Country Bumpkin," sung by Cal Smith, a former member of the Texas Troubadours. The tale of a lanky cowboy and a waitress also won song of the year honors for writer Don Wayne.

Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty were named vocal duo of the year for their recording of "As Soon As I Hang Up the Phone."

Other winners were the Statler Brothers, "vocal group of the year," whose big hit was "Thank You World;" Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, "instrumental group of the year; and the late Don Rich, "instrumentalist of the year."

San Rafael Citizens Outline Park Desires

The first of four public hearings set by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission to review city recreational needs last night drew 40 residents to city hall.

Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr., saying attendance at the session was excellent, reported residents from several neighborhoods called for more parks and open space.

Bret Harte residents said Bret Harte Park should be expanded and redesigned since it is presently unattractive and inadequate, Snyder reported.

Bret Harte residents also called for creation of a system of bike, hiking and sidewalk paths to link the neighborhood with local park and school facilities, he said.

Residents called for a public swimming pool at either Albert Park or James B. Davidson School, and said Davidson School field should be developed as a "multiuse park," according to Snyder.

Other residents called for a minipark at the corner of Woodland Avenue and Irwin Street, and urged acquisition of open space adjacent to Gerstle Park.

Snyder said that representatives of the Little League called for development of two more ballfields in the area, preferably at Davidson School and Albert Park.

The recreation director noted that the commission hopes to incorporate citizen concerns into a parks and recreation master plan it is drafting for San Rafael.

The commission next meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hear recreation concerns of residents of the Dominican, Black Canyon, East San Rafael and San Pedro Peninsula neighborhoods.

The commission hearings will continue on Thursday and on Oct. 29. The commission will evaluate citizen concerns on Oct. 31.

Transit Board Asks Tax Election Survey

Marin Transit District directors today began gearing up for a proposed tax rate election next March by directing their staff to prepare an "educational fact sheet" and authorizing the league of women voters to conduct an opinion survey.

The board's action came as it rejected a proposal from San Francisco consultants to conduct a survey "to determine with statistical accuracy what Marin County voters presently think about bus transportation and how they would be likely to vote for various (expanded bus service) alternatives."

At the urging of Director Arnold M. Baptiste, the board agreed the $5,000 cost of the professional survey would be better spent on a "fact sheet" and the league survey.

Ray W. Foreaker Jr., district general manager, was told to return Nov. 5 with cost estimates.

Susan Stompe, speaking for the league's Central Marin chapter, estimated the survey cost at $1,000 to the league plus an unspecified amount to hire consultants to prepare the questions and analyze the results.

Hugh Dougherty, chairman of the transit district's citizen's advisory committee, said his group opposed the professional survey because it would provide little new information.

He told directors "we know how the voters felt" in June when they rejected the last tax rate increase by a 2-to-1 margin.

To win a majority vote in March, he said, voters must first be informed of the county's transit needs and what the tax increase will buy.

As tentatively set by the board, the measure would ask voters to increase the present 5-cent tax rate ceiling to a new maximum of 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The additional revenues would be used to purchase and operate 40 new local buses under contract with the Golden Gate Bridge District. Currently, the transit district finances sevel local buses.

(The bridge district pays for transbay commute buses, while the county transit district finances local bus service, using bridge district coaches.)

There was lengthy discussion on the timing of the survey, which league spokesmen said would attempt to identify voter concerns, wants and needs in the present transit system.

They said the league will attempt to poll at least 5 per cent of the voting public, whereas the consultants' proposed interviewing only 500 persons.

Jury Asked Not To Make Study Of Consolidation

The Novato Sanitary District board voted last night to ask the Marin County Grand Jury not to bother making a study of consolidation of the sanitary and water disticts in the county.

Engineer-manager Charles A. Joseph said that the local agency formation commission is making such a study and the grand jury would just be a duplicating the work.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

PLANS — Approved paying overtime or farming out the engineering work on a major sewer from Franklin Street to South Novato Boulevard and Center Road so that the project can be constructed next year.

ANNEXATIONS — Approved annexing the Guido Paladini property at Wilson Avenue and Center Road, several lots on the south side of Vineyard Road west of Sinaloa Junior High School, a small subdivision on Tamalpais Avenue between Hill Road and Center Road, and 70 acres on the North side of Olive Avenue east of the Novato city limits owned by Hoffman and Albritton.

Fines Asked In Pollution Of Creek

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Marin Municipal Water District is facing fines up to $30,000 for polluting San Geronimo Creek in August.

The Regional Water Quality Control Baord, citing three days of pollution that killed some 6,000 fish, referred the case to the attorney general for prosecution.

The amount of the fine, a maximum of $10,000 a day for each day's violation, will be set by a judge. Courts traditionally have imposed fines far less than the maximum allowed.

The board acted Friday after a hearing on the pollution by the district which accidentally discharged alum from its San Geronimo water treatment plant into the creek on Aug. 5, 6 and 22.

The board's staff said the district has taken steps to assure the pollution will not recur.

'Sisters' In Fashion Show

A "marvelous turnout" of 230 persons applauded the "Hay Day of Fashion" show presented by the San Rafael Jaycettes and Marin Big Sisters organization at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant Saturday.

Big Sisters and their Little Sisters were models.

Gail Gordon, coordinator of the event for the Big Sisters, said the show "gave us a very good tie with the community," and helped tell the story of the 50 Marin women who have undertaken to be older "sisters" to young girls who need the support of such a relationship.

"The show was very informal and fun," she said. "There was a very good spirit."

Clothes for the show were supplied by Modern Eve in San Rafael (adults) and the Emporium at Northgate (youngsters).

Christmas parties and a springtime celebrity auction are the next big events on the Big Sisters calendar, Mrs. Gordon said.

Persons interested in becoming Big Sisters can obtain information by phoning the Big Sisters of Marin answering service.

Mrs. Gordon thanked the San Rafael Jaycettes and their president Vickie Granucci for presenting the benefit show for Big Sisters. Colleen Williams was show chairman, with Karen Southwick and Patti Church of Big Sisters as active committee members.

Marin Surgeons Hear 47 Years Of History

By MOLLY MARIN

It was a nostalgic evening for members and wives of the Marin Surgical Society, gathered for cocktails and dinner Saturday evening at Maple Lawn, the San Rafael Elks Club.

Dr. Louis Luster Robinson, president of the society, introduced oldtimers in the crowd and talked himself of the 47 years he has been a practicing surgeon in Marin. He named the entire medical community of the county in 1927 — less than 20, including members of the health department — and spoke of the county's two existing hospitals, Ross General and now defunct Cottage Hospital in San Rafael.

He introduced Dr. Warren Bostick and his wife, Virginia, visiting Marin from Irvine where Dr. Bostick is a professor of medicine on the University of California campus. Dr. Bostick, who was Marin's first fulltime pathologist and 1963 president of the California Medical Association, said he had "left his heart" in Marin and hoped ultimately to return.

Dr. Harry Hensler, who attended with his wife Marie, also spoke, remembering that there were 27 doctors in the county when he began his practice here in 1934. When he came to Marin, he told his wife, "I've found the place I want to live and die. I'm still living so it's worked out very well."

He recalled that office visits in those days cost $2.50, home visits $3, and a 10-day obstetrical stay in a Marin hospital was $85 for a private room, $50 for a "ward" bed.

There were veteran doctors and newcomers present, all of whom rose in a standing ovation for Dr. Robinson who organized the evening of companionship. Said Dr. Bradford Simmons, Marin General Hospital board member and former chief of staff there; "We are bursting with pride."

A SURPRISE PARTY honoring Lilliam Rupnow of San Rafael on her 80th birthday was held Sunday at the home of her daughter Frances Schoenwetter in Greenbrae.

Mrs. Rupnow retired two years ago from a long career in real estate; she was a member of the Marin County Real Estate Board for 35 years.

Among the many guests at the party were her other children, William Rupnow of Sacramento, Dorothy Sandow of Los Altos, Bernice Marlowe of Oakland, Loren Rupnow of Oakland, Loreene French of San Geronimo and Wilma Gibbons of San Rafael, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

STEPHEN MICHAEL WHITE of Sausalito and Barbara Jean Lemon of Fremont, were married at the Irvington United Presbyterian Church in Fremont on Sept. 28.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger I. Lemon of Fremont, asked her sister Darby Browning of Fremont to be matron of honor. John D. White of Fremont was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andre of Sausalito.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and California State University, Hayward. He is employed at the Montgomery Ward store in Fremont, where the couple will live.

MR. AND MRS. ARNOLD Sutherland Constable of Sausalito observed their 65th wedding anniversary yesterday. Their Oct. 14 anniversary falls on the date of the Battle of Hastings in 1066.

Frances Weighell became Mrs. Constable at a ceremony at St. Peter's Church in Bywell, Northumberland, the northernmost county of England. Parts of the church were built before the Norman Conquest of 1066, according to Constable.

An architect for 72 years, Constable first came to this country to work for an architectural firm in Tacoma, Wash. In 1923 they came to the Bay Area and moved into the home in Sausalito where they still live. He became a church architect in the Bay Area, and the official architect for the Dominican Order locally. Constable designed. St. Dominic's Church, which was completed in San Francisco in 1928, and was the architect for Guzman Hall at The Dominican College in San Rafael and several smaller buildings on the campus.

Constable is 90 and his wife 92 years old. Their anniversary observance was a quiet one, since neither is very well. They have two sons, Francis A. Constable of Sausalito and Kenneth Constable of Capitola.

The Freitases maintain a townhouse at Quail Hill in Terra Linda, on the site of the old Freitas ranch. Another birthday celebration is scheduled there on Saturday, to which Mrs. Freitas' sister Mrs. Forrest South of Millbrae, and daughter Dorame have been invited.

MAUREEN O'BRIEN of Novato was recently a pupil at the Elsa Williams School of Needle Art in West Townsend, Mass.

The school is American's first resident school of needlework.

Child care will be available.

DR. THOMAS Freed will present a program, "X-Ray and Special Procedures" Thursday at the 7:30 p.m. meeting of Marin Division 17, California Licensed Vocational Nurses Association. The meeting will be held in the Blue Room at Marin General Hospital.

The program, open to all persons interested in public health care, is part of an on going program for continuing education in the field of public health care, according to Victorene W. Fry of San Rafael.

THE FOUNDERS Auxiliary of Marin General Hospital Volunteers will sponsor a three part series, "New Strategies for Improving Interpersonal Relationships," beginning Thursday. The series at 8 p.m. on consecutive Thursday evenings, will be held in the Fine Arts Theater at College of Marin.

Psychologist Dr. William H. Pemberton of Mill Valley will present the programs: Oct. 17, "Diagnosis - System 'Homeostasis' and the Human Predicament; Oct. 24, "Therapy - Talk Into and Out of Crises: Antidotes for Cancerous Conversations;" and Oct. 31, "Prognosis - Promoting Mutual Growth: Caring as a Life Style."

Ticket chairmen are Vi Mayer and Marilyn Bolinger of San Rafael, and Esther Vizzard of Ross is reservations chairman.

A WORKSHOP meeting for members of the Young Ladies' Institutes of Marin and Sonoma Counties will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo.

Members of St. Anselm's Institute will serve as hostesses.

The workshop will be conducted by Claire Skidmore of Larkspur. Program chairman is Ellen Voight of Santa Rosa, and Marie Bettencourt is the local chairman.

A PROGRAM of mid-eastern dancing will follow the luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. for members of the Femineers at Omar Khayam's Restaurant in San Francisco.

The Femineers membership is composed of the wives of members of the Structural Engineers Association of Northern California and the American Society of Civil Engineers, San Francisco Bay Section.

Flora Praszker of Mill Valley is Marin chairman.

Public Discussion Of School Finances

An informational presentation on "Measure J" will be given at the meeting of the Marin Terrace Parent-Teacher Association 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 12 of the school in Mill Valley.

The presentation of information on the issue, which will bring before the voters in November the decision to increase the revenue limit for pupils in the Mill Valley School District, will be made by Fred Cohn, a parent; John Eliot, a Mill Valley district trustee, and Carroll Killingsworth, director of administrative service for the Mill Valley School District.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Full Time Slob May Not Be Really Worth Reform Attempts

RAP:

I have been going out with this guy for about three months and really like him. The only thing is, he never dresses up!

He always looks like a slob, with the same T shirt and worn-out jeans. I've told him about it many times, and have had some of his friends talk to him, but nothing helps. Even to a formal wedding, it's the same old rags.

How can I get him to dress up for a change? — SLOB'S GIRLFRIEND

S.GF:

This fellow is flaunting something, but whether it's his hostility, nonconformity or lack of funds, I don't know.

If "nothing helps" — and he won't discuss his old-clothes fetish — there are only two choices: resignation or a new boyfriend. Honest now, do you like him well enough not to be ashamed of him and his slobbiness at dress-up affairs? — HELEN

SGF:

You might try dressing down to his level. Perhaps when he sees YOU barefoot, in ragged jeans, no make-up and messy hair — and all ready to go on a date — he'll get the message. (Then again, he may like you better that way in which case he's probably too anti-establishment for a girl like you.) — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You commented on girls who write, "I'm not for women's liberation, but I AM for equal rights," saying "What a shame they don't realize they're one and the same."

True, "liberation" and "equal rights" SHOULD mean the same, but it just isn't so. Too often, the first stands for "anti-men." That's why we moderates picked up the habit of saying we're for equal rights.

Every guy I know has run into some libber who treated him like dirt. Besides, if our culture had been exactly opposite in sex roles, which would you feel better hearing from a male: "men's lib" or "equal rights?"

We aren't liberating women, we're liberating people. Men are in as big a rut as we are. Women don't want to trade ruts, they want everyone out of them.

Until we're free of labels, I'm still for E.R.! — LINDA

LINDA:

Perhaps the phrase, "women's liberation" has outgrown its usefulness, but let's give credit: if it hadn't been for those ardent liberationists, equal rights would still be cowering in a dark closet, ignored by employers and legislators who "had more important things to do." Suffragettes, feminists, liberationists have all been maligned, but without them, well, we wouldn't have come a long way, baby. Nor would so many men have discovered that liberation is for everyone.

So now — let's just shorten it to "personhood" and get on with being equal where it's necessary, different where it counts. — HELEN

DESIGN FOR PEOPLE

Old Familiar Objects Can Be Transformed Into New Glories

By EMILY MALINO
Distributed by United Features Syndicate

Have you ever looked at a familiar object, something that has been kicking around forever, and suddenly seen it in a whole new light?

I don't know about you, but I often get this feeling. In a hardware shop or a lumber yard, as I pass through slowly, immersed in the recognition of dozens of familiar things, my imagination takes over converting each decorative Cinderella to a princess in some other environment.

I get all fired up when I see work-lights, wooden ladders, pails, oil lanterns or S-hooks; my designing impulses quicken when my gaze falls on cedar shakes, one-by-fours, two-by-sixes, rough hewn plywood or a garden trellis.

But one of my favorite stimuli is steel shelving. I'm talking now about the old familiar kind with the infinitely adjustable verticals and the strong, unwarped wood boards; there are also steel shelving systems that are all steel — shelves as well as verticals. Though I prefer the type with wood shelving, both can be transformed with paint.

With that all steel type, you can go for broke and paint the entire thing orange-red or shiny white, if you're afraid of bright colors. With the woodshelf variety, you can paint the verticals and stain the shelves. With either treatment, the system begins to look like something super-splendid in its new coloration.

In a small dining room I designed for a family that needed the space for more than meal-times, I had to find space for books, a hi-fi system and a small bar, as the room was used as a study-den when it was not an eatery.

For storing everything, I used a triple tier of my favorite steel shelving. Each tier cost only $9. I painted the wall behind the shelves charcoal gray, and then painted the vertical supports with a glossy appliance-white spray enamel. I left the shelves in a light, natural finish that works happily with the natural wicker arm chairs around the table.

The table itself is a made-up number, consisting of an old sewing machine table base and a new plastic laminate self-edged top. I painted the base black, echoing the charcoal wall, and made the top as white a plastic as the shiny painted steel shelf supports.

To carry this crisp black and white scheme to a bit of further refinements, I painted the floor white, coating the paint with clear polyurethane, hung a factory lamp shade in bright red over the table, and set plants and furnishings against a plain whtie wall and window shade.

All the decorating herein came to about $200, not including the hi-fi or the elbow grease needed to paint, clean and finish the floor, guaranteeing a positive, pleasant, and economic effect for a tiny room.

Dance Planned For Petalumans

Chicken Little Chapter of Children's Home Society will sponsor a dance at the Petaluma Veteran's Memorial Building at 9 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 2. Breakfast will be served at 1 a.m.

The theme for the dance is "Moonlight and Roses," according to Chairmen Verli Rohde and Winni Nelson. Mary Waltman and her committee will decorate the hall.

Reservation chairman is Marce McKenna, 370 King Road, Petaluma.

Chicken Little chapter now has 113 associate members supporting it.

Drama Workshop Is Rescheduled

A drama and speech workshop for children scheduled to begin Oct. 7 has been postponed until Monday.

The workshop for 7 to 18-year-olds, led by Elena Cascales of Sausalito, will consist of improvisation, dance movement, vocal exercises and scene reading.

Classes will be held on Mondays, one at 3:30 p.m. and another at 7:30 p.m., at the Young Men's Christian Association, 241 North San Pedro Road in San Rafael. The workshop is sponsored by the YMCA.

New Zealand Journey For Newlyweds

Noella Marie Saccone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Saccone of San Rafael, was married Oct. 5, at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael to Capt. Robert J. Albertazzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Albertazzi of Napa.

Following a wedding trip to New Zealand, the couple will live in Napa.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

Noella was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and University of San Francisco, earning her elementary teaching credential from the University of California at Davis. She was formerly employed at the Dixie School in San Rafael.

Robert was graduated from St. Vincent Ferrer in Vallejo and the University of San Francisco. He is presently a captain in the U.S. Army, stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

He has one sister, Barbara McDonald of Twin Falls, Ida. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Albertazzi of Napa.

John Cavallero of San Francisco is the grandfather of the bride.

Stitchery Class To Be Given At Mill Valley

Classes in stitchery will be sponsored by the Cultural Arts Department of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley beginning tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon at the clubhouse.

Kermit Nickerson of San Anselmo will be the instructor for the course of eight sessions to be held on subsequent Wednesdays. The instructor has designed hand knit garments for yarn companies. She has been the owner of a knitting shop in San Francisco, and one in Wisconsin. Besides her expertise in knitting, Mrs. Nickerson is also skilled in needlepoint, pettipoint, crewel work and Danish cross stitch.

Alice Lelich, cultural arts chairman, is information and registration chairman.

Nautical Gear To Be Sold In Sausalito

The Sausalito Yacht Club will have an exchange of nautical gear, billed as the "Mammoth Inventory Reduction and Flea Market Sale," Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The sale will be held on the deck of the yacht club. Members of other Bay Area yacht clubs have been invited to come by land or sea.

The sale has two purposes, according to the chairman, Loretta Fontana, "to recycle useful boating equipment and to raise funds to complete the furnishing of the club's junior sailing room."

Symphony Offers Deal On Season Tickets

The Marin Symphony Association is offering group rates to organizations whose members purchase at least 20 season tickets.

Adult season tickets for the four concerts are $13. An organization that purchases 20 tickets will be reimbursed $3 for each season ticket.

On single concert tickets, which are $4, the association will reimburse the organization $1 on a minimum of 20 tickets.

The opening concert will be held Nov. 24. Further information is available from the Marin Symphony office, Box 127, San Rafael.

DRAMA REVIEW

Shakespeare Or 'The Exorcist'?

By BLAKE A. SAMSON

"RICHARD THE THIRD" — A two-act play by William Shakespeare; directed by William Ball; associate direction by Robert Bonaventura; scenery by Robert Blackman; costumes by Robert Fletcher; lighting by F. Mitchell Dana; incidental music by Lee Hoiby; choreography by John Pasqualetti. The cast: King Edward the IV, William Paterson; Duke of York, Christopher Abbe; Duke of Clarence, Daniel Davis; Richard the Third, Randall Duk Kim; Thomas Grey, Christopher Valentine; Lord Richard Grey, Daniel Kern; Lord Hastins, Laird Williamson; Sir James Tyrrel, Charles H. Hyman; Sir Brakenbury, Al White; First Murderer, Charles Hallahan; Second Murderer, Michael Hume; Queen Elizabeth, Elizabeth Cole; Widow Margaret, Fredi Olster; Duchess of York, Marrian Walters; Lady Anne, Hope Alexander-Willis. At the Geary in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO — A theatrical production must stand on its faithfulness to the play. There was little in the production of "Richard The III" that opened the ACT season Saturday at the Geary that was true to Shakespeare.

How could a company that produced last year's definitive "Taming of the Shrew" of "Cyrano" go so far off this year?

Director William Ball described his intentions: "It's a prototypic melodrama, a melodrama exploring the satanic world of Richard. We have sought to realize the melodramatic potential."

The result, sad to say, is to make the production the enemy of the play, to reduce it to a pounding, relentless monotony that left the trapped audience squirming in its seats.

It did not once touch the subtleties in the play, nay, not Anne's mourning, not Margaret's curse, not Clarence's nightmare and death; nay, not a line of Tyrrel's conscience, the murder of the princes, Buckingham's death; not Richard's fear nor final fall. Never did the heinous deeds return to haunt their perpetrators.

Robert Fletcher's costumes, with a massive emphasis on leather seemed more suited to a piece of sadistic-masochistic pornography. But then, this "Richard" was more a companion piece to "Rosemary's Baby" or "The Exorcist" than to a work of the subtle Bard.

Randall Duk Kim, a new talent, did everything he could to save his portrayal of Richard from the production. He centered it around Richard's sexual appetite, a Richard "not shap'd for sport . . . not made to court," wanting "love's majesty to strut before a wanton ambling nymph." But even these attempts were lost under Ball's weird direction.

Michael Hume attempts in vain to give his role as a murderer a conscience, but, forced by Hall to play the fool in the early part of the scene, he can not reverse himself. Al White's attempt as Sir Brackenbury to show tenderness towards the imprisoned Duke of Clarence is equally unbelievable in Ball's "Clockwork Orange" approach.

The royal ladies (Elizabeth Cole, Fredi Olster, Marrian Walters and Hope Alexander-Willis) are dressed in two-foot wide, teased hairdos of varying gaudy colors. Their laments are shrieked in unison as if they were the witches cursing Macbeth and not England's royal family.

However, Marrian Walters as the Duchess of York rescues some femininity in the scene with the orphaned children of the Duke of Clarence. (Christopher Valentine, Daniel Kern) "Good, grandam," it begins, "is our father dead?"

The Duchess' lament is poignantly counterpointed by the boys' faith that God will provide a just revenge. Yet nowhere in the evening did a single march towards this rightful revenge begin.

Due to Ball's extensive cutting, Richmond merely appears, deus ex machina, dressed in a helmet shaped like a unicorn's head. After the overly famous "A horse, a horse, a kingdom for a horse", the appearance of a unicorn as England's redeemer was symbolically overdoing it.

It hardly helped matters that Richmond, played by Randall Smith, was so limp that he had almost no authority or commanding presence. He gave credence to Richard's description, "Who doth lead them but a paltry fellow, a milksop."

Stripped to his all-white tights, Richmond the beautiful, the all-good, kills Richard the ugly, the all-bad and we are sent home, hoping to forget the travesty.

American Lutherans Ease Stand On Abortion

DETROIT (UPI) — American Lutheran Church delegates last night softened the 2.5 million-member church's antiabortion stand by approving a resolution stating that abortion is necessary in some cases.

Christians have "a responsibility to make the best possible decision" in considering the termination of a pregnancy "based on the situation and accountability for God, self and neighbor," the convention said in a resolution approved on a vote of 500-379.

The resolution, however, reaffirmed the unborn child's right to life.

The previous church position permitted abortions only when the health of the mother was endangered. In 1966 and 1970, the church had issued statements saying, "There are times and circumstances when interruption of the pregnancy is necessary for therapeutic reasons."

Last night's resolution rejected induced abortion as a ready solution for problem pregnancies, but allowed church members "the judgment that — all pertinent factors of responsibility considered —the developing life may be terminated to defend the health and wholeness" of those involved.

The resolution said contraception was a viable alternative to ending the life of an unborn infant but rejected voluntary sterilization as a method of preventing pregnances.

The statement also said church counseling "should offer understanding" to the parties concerned as to what is involved in either abortion or carrying the child to term, and "the possible effects of either decision."

The controversial resolution was approved just before midnight after a full day of debate.

The debate was a continuation of discussions that occupied the delegates' time most of last Wednesday and Friday.

Some 1,000 delegates were in Detroit for the convention, which sets policy for the third largest Lutheran body in the United States.

Freed Hostage Takes Vacation

MIAMI (UPI) — Barbara Hutchison, one of seven hostages held by leftist guerrillas in Santo Domingo for 13 days, is on vacation in Florida where she will spend a week sunning, shopping and "running around doing nothing."

Trim and relaxed, the 47-year-old embassy officer plans to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Roger Fulling, who lives near Palm Beach. She said she wants to continue her work in the Dominican Republic and does not want protection from bodyguards.

The hostages — originally held for $1 million ransom — were released unharmed last Wednesday by seven gunmen in return for safe passage to Panama.

HEDWIG BILGRAM
Organ recital

European Organist Will Play

German organist Hedwig Bilgram of Munich will present a recital at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The program will include works by Bach, Dandrieu, Bruhns, Krebs and Durufle.

Professor Bilgram is a graduate of the State Academy of Music in Munich. She has presented concerts throughout Europe conducted by Herbert von Karajan, Rafael Kubelik and Richter, and in the Soviet Union and Japan.

She is professor of organ and teaches harpsichord at the Munich academy.

The concert will be sponsored by the church and the Goethe Institute in San Francisco. A donation will be taken at the door.

8th Fatal Stabbing At San Quentin

A San Quentin inmate — imprisoned there less than two weeks and due to be transferred today to a minimum security work camp — was stabbed to death shortly before noon yesterday.

Officers said William Van Meter, 25, was stabbed 13 times in the back and chest during an exercise period Monday.

It was the 62nd stabbing — the eighth fatal one — at the prison this year.

Authorities said they have locked up the inmate thought to have killed Van Meter, but no weapon was found, nor was any motive known.

Van Meter, convicted of forgery, burglary and auto theft in Santa Clara County, was to have been transferred today to the Sierra Conservation Center, Tuolumne County.

Suez Widening

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese construction company said today it has signed with Egypt a $168.7 million contract to enlarge the Suez Canal to accommodate by 1979 ships of 150,000 tons. Officials of Penta-Ocean Construction Co. said work will begin late next year.

MUSIC REVIEW

Esoteric Concert Program Attracts Audience Of 2,000

At the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building last night the Mosaic Chamber Group gave an audience of two thousand or more an evening bathed in friendly, serious but attractive music.

The program was highly esoteric, only Honegger and Faure would be generally well-known, yet that did not deter a sizable turnout. Those lucky people.

An "intrada" is an instrumental introduction, a prelude, and thus Arthur Honegger's "Intrada for Trumpet and Piano" started the evening.

After a flurry of scales, it settled into a melodious segment with a scattering of embellishments. The counts are most difficult and Laurie McGaw, assistant principal trumpet with the San Francisco Symphony, played briskly with an absolute clarity of tone. After another modulated, restrained segment, the piece ended with a few more passing and marvelously fluttering embellishments.

Jacques Casterede's "Breves Rencontres" was equally rapid. The piano backing, played by Janet Goodman Guggenheim, is like Stravinsky with its quick changes of rhythm and brisk intercuttings. It was almost like two Italians in animated conversation.

The pavanne movement was very Parisian, elongating the final phrases with nostalgia. The piano backing here was softly repetitive, like the lapping of waves.

McGaw's muted trumpet pulled the work in, made it even more introspective; his second mute made the first even more inward.

In the scherzo McGaw and Guggenheim were in perfect unison, running through the rippling line of music freely. It was most enjoyable.

Ernest von Dohnanyi's "Serenade in C Major, Opus 10" introduced violinist Zaven Melikian, violist Thomas Heimberg and cellist Robert Sayre. Its emphasis is on tonal layering.

Not only were the players similar in temperament and style, their instruments were particularly harmonious and mello in ensemble, having much of the same tonal warmth. This complete blend is as hard to find as a perfect wine.

The coloration of the "Serenade" was fine, often crisp, then somber and lyrical. Sayre's cello, a Sanctus Serafin that would sell for an approximate $30,000 today, is richly resonant — particularly with the pizzicati in which the strings are plucked rather than bowed.

Much of the pizzicati kept the light nature of the earlier work, but set against the mournful strings the second movement turned to the serious. The coloration hit an expressive peak with a full simultaneity, each instrument going its independent way, and then a parallel theme for the viola and violin.

The scherzo had defyingly quick tempos intercut by sudden, momentary brushstrokes by the cello. Its alacruity and swift, complex punctuation left the audience rapt. After the intermission and a tribute to the departing president of the Marin Concert Association, Ben A. Farlatti, Faure's "Quartet No. 1 in C Minor, Opus 15" turned the evening to the more intense repertoire.

Pianist Guggenheim was her best here. This piece speaks in paragraphs and her intonation and phrasing matched the longer units. Played with much held in reserve, the players thereby gave the ending a true progression.

Trumpetist Laurie McGaw joined the others in the final Concertino in E Flat A Cinque by Albrechtsberger. It is a great baroque piece with trumpet ornamentation set against the strings and piano.

Hard to play rhythmically, the larghetto compounds the difficulty by staying in the absolute top part of the trumpet's range.

Second only to Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, it is a trumpeter's acid test. McGaw played a rare and unusual trumpet, a piccolo trumpet one half the size of a regular B-flat trumpet. It was regal in sound. The "Concertino" was his triumph and the enthusiastic audience left inspired by the Mosaic Chamber Group.

Report Fete Slated For Bay Crusade

The "first campaign report celebration" has been scheduled by the Marin County Advisory Board of the United Bay Area Crusade for 3:45 to 5 p.m. Oct. 23 at Commerce Clearing House in San Rafael.

Gordon Hough, a San Francisco Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. executive who is the five-county UBAC campaign chairman, will present awards to outstanding volunteers.

The Saints and Sinners Dixieland Jazz Band will perform, and free champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served. The refreshments are either being donated or paid for by the advisory board, a spokesman said.

The public is invited, but reservations must be made by Wednesday with Joanne Fleming at the Marin County UBAC office.

Ford To Visit Museum Benefit

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — It took some juggling of schedules, but President Ford will appear at the annual auction of the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry after all.

Oregon Republican state chairman Dave Green said yesterday that Ford accepted an invitation to appear at the auction Nov. 1.

In order for Ford to schedule the event, Green had to change the time of Ford's appearance at a Republican fund-raising reception and cancel a GOP dance.

Museum officials had invited Ford and were fearful of a poor turnout at the auction if Ford couldn't show.

Green said Ford would appear briefly at the auction following the two-hour GOP reception the same evening.

Elks Dinner Law Night Speaker Set

Dan Davis of Granada Hills will be speaker at the annual "law enforcement night" dinner of San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the lodge's Maple Lawn clubhouse.

Davis is author of a drug abuse manual prepared for the grand lodge of Elks. He has held many positions in the California-Hawaii Elks Association and has served on the grand lodge's Americanism committee. He is a partner in Custom Products Co., a Sun Valley manufacturing firm.

"Law enforcement night" is held by the San Rafael Elks Lodge each year to honor law enforcement officers of the county. Chairman of this year's event is Walter S. Filler.

'Antigone' Slated Two Weekends

Because it was well received during the theater's arts festival which ended Sunday, the Quicksilver Theater Co.'s adaptation of "Antigone" by Sophocles will be staged for two more weekends at the Cinnabar Theater in Petaluma.

Performances are set for 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Sunday, and on Oct. 25, 26, and 27.

The Southern Sonoma Drama company is directed by Dick Blake, who trained at London's Royal Academy and who was a touring player in Europe. The cast includes Cristina Ismael, Caroline Sievers and Pat Woodworth.

The Quicksilver production of "Antigone" is based on the classic version and on one by the French author Jean Anouilh. The company itself, according to a Cinnabar Theater spokesman, developed much of the text and all of the chorus parts.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2 for students and $1 for children 12 and under. Adult tickets may be obtained for $2 each is bought in groups of 10 or more, the spokesman said.

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 15, the 288th day of 1974 with 77 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Irish poet and author Oscar Wilde was born Oct. 15, 1856.

On this date in history:

In 1917, the most famous spy of World War I, Gertrude Zelle, known as Mata Hari, was executed by a firing squad outside Paris.

In 1928, the German dirigible Graf Zepplin arrived in the United States on its first commercial flight. It took 4½ days.

In 1946, Nazi Reichmarshal Herman Goering committed suicide.

A thought for the day: Irish writer Oscar Wilde said, "There is no sin except stupidity."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Bridge Situation Is Like A Child's Loose Tooth

A certain type of bridge situation is like a child's loose tooth. You can monkey with it, giving yourself pain and fear and leaving the tooth still where it was. Or you can be decisive about it, giving yourself the same trouble in the process, but the tooth will be out.

A LOW HEART

When West opened a low heart, declarer had a finesse in each of the four suits. Which finesse was it proper to take?

It was easy to work out that it was too risky to try the heart finesse. Hence South put up dummy's ace of hearts and stared at the three remaining finesses.

After enough of a pause to indicate that he had thought deeply about the problem, South led a trump from dummy and finessed with the queen. This play was like monekying with a loose tooth. He was no better off than before.

The finesse won, but the king of spades didn't drop. South still had to lose a spade, two diamonds and a club.

INDECISIVE FINESSES

The finesses in the black suits were clearly indecisive. If the finesse won, South might well be in the same position as before. If the finesse lost, he was worse off.

The diamond finesse was different. If declarer led a diamond from dummy and successfully finessed with the queen, he would be sure of the contract. The danger was equal to either of the other finesses, but at least the result would be decisive. It was a way of having the tooth out.

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥- J 9 6 3 2
♦- 10 8 7 2
♣- K 4 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

This is a weak hand, and you must make a weak response. Don't make the mistake of jumping to four hearts simply because you have five trumps and a singleton.

Diabetes Meet

A meeting for parents of diabetic children will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in Marin General Hospital's Blue Room. Dr. George J. Monteverdi, pediatrician, and Dr. Conrad Ellner, psychiatrist, will lead the session, sponsored by the Marin County Diabetes Association.

Philip Morris's Hawker Retires

JOHN LOUIS ROVENTINI

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Philip Morris Inc.'s famed bellboy, "Johnny," has retired after 41 years and millions of calls for "Phil-lip Mor-rees!"

John Louis Roventini, a midget, quit his job as a New York bellboy 41 years ago to do commericals for Philip Morris Inc. Tobacco Co.

Roventini had only one line, but it made him famous and helped skyrocket the company's sales.

His cry, "Call for Phil-lip Mor-rees," was heard more than a million times across the country on radio and television commericials.

Last weekend, Roventini, the 48-inch tall son of Italian immigrants, retired.

The company, in announcing his retirement, described the 64-year-old Roventini "as the world's most famous living trademark." It said his retirement "marks the end of an era."

From 1933 to 1947, Roventini, known as "Johnny Philip Morris," was heard on as many as four radio shows a day. Those were live shows, not taped, so Roventini had to be at the studio to belt out his one-liner on cue.

On television, Roventini rang out his call dressed in a red and black bellboy's uniform. He also made personal appearances at festivals, conventions and parades.

Roventini's career began in 1933 while working at the New Yorker Hotel, where he was featured as the "smallest bellboy in the world."

Alfred E. Lyon, then Philip Morris vice president for sales, and Milton Blow, president of the firm's advertising agency, asked him to locate "Mr. Philip Morris."

Roventini went through the hotel singing out "Call for Phillip Mor-rees" and the firm's two executives loved it.

They offered him a $100 a week to do commercials for the firm. After some hesition, Rosentini quit his $25 a week job and took it.

The company held a ceremony for Roventini Saturday at the opening of their newest Richmond plant.

Expo's Finances Still Uncertain

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Expo '74, the world's environmental fair, could end up either $100,000 ahead or a dead loss, depending on the attendance of its final 20 days.

Expo General manager Peter Spurney said yesterday he had adopted a pendulum theory in regard to the fair's finances.

Attendance at the environmental exposition, he said, had reached 4,672,711 for 163 days of operation, 350,000 persons short of the five million needed to insure financial success.

He said the fair hopes to draw large crowds on the three remaining weekends, mostly by big closing ceremonies.

Skater Crosses Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 27-year-old former social worker crossed the Golden Gate Bridge the same way he traveled the 3,750 miles from Massachusetts to San Francisco — on roller skates.

"I ate mostly high protein foods, and I'd eat from five to seven times a day to keep up my energy," David Letters said yesterday of his four and one-half month journey.

Wearing a cowboy hat and waving to passing motorists, Letters, of Leominster, Mass., said, "Every night I'd think about crossing the Golden Gate Bridge. And when I finally did it, that feeling was really something."

Letters arrived in town Sunday with Tom McNamara, 26, who drove a van in which the pair slept every night.

Rocky To Face Tougher Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $60,000 which Laurence Rockefeller paid for a biography of Arthur Goldberg may cost his brother Nelson an easy nomination to the vice presidency of the United States.

No one is suggesting yet that Rockefeller will be denied the vice presidency, but the congressional committees which were expected to confirm him easily now are scheduling more hearings to investigate the book and the reported $2 million in gifts and forgiven loans for Rockefeller friends and aides.

New questions are expected to revolve around whether there were "dirty tricks" on behalf of the New York governor, and another old question will come up again: can Rockefeller put aside his personal wealth and power and that of his family if he becomes vice president?

Goldberg, whom Rockefeller defeated for New York's governorship by a record breaking majority in 1970, uses the term "hatchet job" to describe the biography by journalist Victor Lasky which was not sold but widely distributed as campaign material in New York.

Laurence Rockefeller said he invested $60,000 in the book, and Nelson Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" and apologized to the former Supreme Court justice.

Goldberg said yesterday in Las Vegas that he has asked the Senate Rules Committee and the House Judiciary Committee to reopen hearings on Rockefeller's nomination.

"It is not a question of apology," Goldberg said. "It is a question of stating frankly to the committee all that has occurred — not only in regard to the book incident and gifts — so the committee can determine whether or not it is going to make this confirmation."

Goldberg said he was willing to testify and would "present my own reaction to these disclosures," although he would not reveal what those reactions were.

Some House Judiciary Committee members said they wanted a lot more investigation.

"We've got to be scrupulously careful," Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J. said in Chicago, "because Rockefeller, like President Ford, was not elected vice president by the people."

Many members of Congress, Rodino said, "are going to ask searching questions as to whether or not there was a deliberate effort on the part of someone, whoever it might have been, to try in some way to denigrate Mr. Goldberg when he was a candidate for governor."

One committee member who has questions is Rep. Edward Mesvinsky, D-Iowa. "These revelations of the past few days have raised questions in my mind and in the minds of others," he said in a telephone interview.

"The climate has changed, and it's changed to such a degree that unless the answers are frank and candid Mr. Rockefeller could find his nomination in real jeopardy."

Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., said the FBI's extensive investigation of Rockefeller had turned up nothing more damaging than the Goldberg biography.

He said the most damaging aspect was not its publication but the reports that Rockefeller first denied, then later acknowledged, advance knowledge of the publication plans.

Lasky said yesterday (on WTTG-TV's "Panorama") that he did not know when he wrote the book that Rockefeller money was behind it and he would testify before the committees to that effect.

It has "just come out of an investigation of dirty tricks 1972" — the impeachment inquiry — and the Rockefeller disclosures "makes one feel we're now going back to dirty tricks 1970."

A deeper question, Mezvinsky added, was "whether there was a pattern."

"We know now that it's not enough to just take a look at Mr. Nelson Rockefeller," he said. "We'll have to take a look at the whole family — at the effect of the family and its money on public policy an governmental decisions.

"The fact that a persons has great wealth is not a factor. It's what he does with it."

Lasky Belittles Rockefeller's Worries Over Goldberg Book

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Victor Lasky, who wrote a controversial biography of Arthur Goldberg that may hinder Nelson A. Rockefeller's vice presidential confirmation, said today he was "totally unaware" that the book was financed by Rockefeller's brother.

Lasky, who has also written books on the Kennedys and Richard M. Nixon, also said that Nelson Rockefeller "panicked a little" when he accepted full responsibility for the book and apologized to Goldberg.

"I'm the one who is responsible for this book, not Rockefeller," Lasky said. "I wrote it. Rockefeller had nothing to do with this book as far as I'm concerned.

"He didn't write it, he didn't make any suggestions to me, he didn't censor it. I wrote it and I'm responsible for the book and I take full credit or discredit."

"I wish the governor would read the book before he starts getting hysterical about it," Lasky said. "It was a campaign book, obviously, but I had no knowledge of who financed it or of whether or not Gov. Rockefeller had anything to do with it."

The book was widely distributed as campaign material in New York but was not readily available to the public.

"I often wonder what the argument is all about," Lasky said. "Everybody's arguing about a book, nobody has read it...

"I make no apologies whatsoever. There's nothing in this book that is that controversial. I can't understand why my old friend, Mr. Goldberg, is so angry about it."

A Close Examination Of Pressure In The World Series

MAN IN THE MIDDLE — Independent-Journal baseball columnist Gary Hughes (center) looked on yesterday as Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's pointed an accusing finger at sportswriter Murray Olderman near the batting cage at the Oakland Coliseum. Jackson was unhappy with a story Olderman wrote about him. (UPI Telephoto)

Views Of Hunter, Downing

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Oakland's "money man," faces Al Downing, the Los Angeles Dodgers' "forgotten man," today in the third game of the all California World Series with the defending World Champion A's 7-5 favorites. (The game will be televised on Channel 4.)

Hunter is unbeaten in three World Series decisions over the last two seasons and was the man who nailed down the final out in Oakland's 3-2 victory Saturday in the opening game of the 1974 classic.

Downing, who lost World Series decisions with the New York Yankees in 1963 and 1964, was the last starter on a solid Los Angeles pitching staff this past season but after a six-week rest, pitched a one-hitter against San Francisco for a key victory down the pennant stretch drive.

"You never quite get used to being calm when it comes to pitching in the World Series," said Hunter, winner of 25 games in 1974 and a leading candidate for American League Cy Young Award honors. "But once the game gets started, I expect I'll be able to shut everything else off and concentrate on pitching."

Downing, winner of only five of 11 decisions for Los Angeles this year, said the fact he pitched previously in World Series competition should help but it really doesn't mean than much.

"Sure the pressure will be there," said the 33-year-old veteran left-hander, "and anyone who says it won't doesn't know what it's all about. In my case I have to tell myself to stop worrying about going a set number of innings and just concentrate on each batter as he comes up."

Since pitching is the name of the game in a World Series, the edge, on paper, today is with the A's, mostly because Hunter is pitching and secondly because the club is back on its home field for the next three games.

The action gets under way today at 5:30 p.m. PDT with another sellout enroute to what may wind up as the richest World Series of all time. Both the first and second games in Los Angeles set attendance marks with 55,000 plus crowds and in Oakland they are expecting 49,000 plus sellouts today, tomorrow and Thursday.

With Hunter pitching for the A's, Dodger Manager Walter Alston has juggled his lineup a bit to compensate. He has benched catcher Steve Yeager and put Joe Ferguson behind the plate with Willie Crawford, a left-handed batter, taking over Ferguson's place in right field.

The A's will go with the same lineup as in the first two games except for a possible switch of Bert Campaneris and Billy North. North was Oakland's leadoff man throughout most of the season with Campaneris, a good hit-and-run man, batting behind him. However, in the first two series games in Los Angeles Campaneris was the leadoff batter.

"I may swap them around," said A's Manager Alvin Dark, "but I won't make up my mind for sure until just before the start of the third game. I think with Campy hitting second we have a better chance to play our kind of game."

Alston said he has all the confidence in the world in Downing but won't hesitate to take him out at the first sign of trouble. With the series tied at one victory each, today's game is pivotal.

"I want Downing to go as well as he can for as long as he can," said Alston.

The Dodgers need today's game more than the A's because, in effect, they are down to two solid pitchers — Andy Messersmith, the openinggame loser, and Don Sutton, the second game winner.

For the fourth game tomorrow, the A's will come back with Ken Holtzman, who went out after 4 1-3 innings of the first game and wasn't involved in the decision, while the Dodgers will counter with Messersmith.

The Dodgers were their usual calm and collected selves during a short twilight workout yesterday while the A's had their daily sideshow. This latest one involved slugger Reggie Jackson, who took exception to a magazine story and minced no words in telling off the author — the highly respected Maury Olderman of Newspaper Enterprise Association.

It was a loud and profane show with Reggie doing all the talking. While it had little to do with the proceedings at hand, it did provide newsmen covering the series an extra tidbit of a series already marred by an A's clubhouse fight and the usual number of complaints against management.

A Typical Day At A's Playground

OAKLAND — It was a typical workout yesterday in the gray emptiness of the Oakland Coliseum where the A's were getting ready for resumption of the World Series.

It was typical because the sound of ball against bat was drowned out by the shouts of anger. But this time the angry words were not directed at one another; they were directed at a writer and were coming from Reggie Jackson.

It was all so very strange. A few feet from the batting cage there was manager Alvin Dark in the middle of a cluster of writers, explaining why the Bible helped pull his life together and why the Bible even helps win ball games. Dark has a way of sounding like a retired minister. There is no profanity, no raising of the voice.

BUT NOT MORE than 20 feet away there was first Reggie Jackson and then Vida Blue, ready and willing to turn the entire thing into an X-rated workout. I hadn't heard language as bad as that since my Army days.

And in the cage was Jesus Alou, trying to get in a little batting practice. "How can I heet the ball with all that going on?" he complained to no one in particular.

The writer receiving all the foul language and threats was Murray Olderman, an editor for Newspaper Enterprise Association whose question and answer column appears in many newspapers across the country, including the Independent-Journal on Saturdays. Jackson's beef was about an article Olderman wrote in the October issue of Sport magazine, entitled, "Reggie Jackson: Blood and Guts of the Fighting A's." There's a picture of Jackson on the cover in a General Patton pose, complete with battle helmet, pearl-handled revolvers and binoculars.

THE LAST TWO paragraphs of the magazine article was the part that so infuriated Jackson. Speaking about former A's ball girl Mary Barry on a visit he made to Jackson's home, Olderman wrote: "Charlie Finley dismissed the ballpersons this year to cut his expenses. Mary, chased out of right field, now does the next best thing; she spends spare hours with the right fielder. The day I visited Reggie's Place, he and Mary sat and talked for a long time. She looked lovely in a lotus position and a green bikini."

Olderman also wrote in the final paragraph about not getting much of a chance to talk to Jackson but instead "thumbed through his Penthouses and his Playboys and glanced at his color TV set with a Holy Bible and a pistol on it."

Jackson threatened Olderman and told him to "make sure I don't ever see you alone," in front of at least two dozen writers and radio-television people. He also told him to stay out of the A's clubhouse.

BLUE'S ARGUMENT was that he didn't say the things that were attributed to him in the article. Blue did a lot of swearing but he didn't make any threats.

In the article Blue was said to once point to the A's outfield — white Joe Rudi in left, Latin Angel Mangual in center and black Reggie Jackson in right and say, "There are three cliques on this team, and you can see all of them out there." Vida denied saying that.

After the shouts were over, Dark asked I-J baseball columnist Gary Hughes what it was all about. When informed, Dark walked over to Olderman and said, "Murray, you're always welcome in the A's clubhouse."

And, said Olderman, he had no intentions of staying out, regardless of Jackson's warnings.

Yes, it was a typical workout for the A's. With the anger and shouting over for another day, it is time to play baseball. The Dodgers had better beware.

'Best Young Catcher' To San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants traded their best reliever and a backup receiver to get "the best young catcher in baseball."

At least that is what Giants Vice President Jerry Donovan called Marc Hill of St. Louis, who was obtained yesterday in a swap for Elias Sosa and Ken Rudolph.

Hill, 22, hit .278 and had 14 homers while driving in 58 runs at Tulsa of the American Association last season. He hit .238 in a brief stint with the Cardinals. The Giant catching corps of Dave Rader, John Boccabella and Rudolph had only one homer of the Giants' total of 93, their lowest team output in 30 years.

The deal apparently was the climax to a week of rumors about impending Giants swaps — or was it?

For no sooner was the deal completed when Donovan added fuel to the hot rumor that outfielder Bobby Bonds could be wearing a different uniform next season.

"We haven't made any commitment to Bobby that he'll stay," Donovan said delicately.

But this was quite a switch from owner Horace Stoneham's declaration last summer that Bonds would stay in San Francisco no matter what.

Bonds slumped to a .256 average with 21 homers and 71 runs batted in this year after batting .283 with 39 homers and 96 rbi's in 1973.

"He could go if the right deal comes along," said Donovan, who added that several teams have made offers.

Sosa had a 9-7 record with six saves for the Giants while Rudolph batted .259 in 57 games.

The Cardinals also completed a minor league deal with the Giants, acquiring pitcher Jim Willoughby from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League and assigning him to Tulsa. The Cards gave up infielder Tom Heintzelman, who is being shifted from Tulsa to the Giants.

How Lions Reacted To Chanting

Goal Line Stand By 'Dee-fense'

DETROIT (UPI) — The crowd was on its feet yelling "Dee-fense" at Detroit for the first time in a long while—and for the first time in quite a spell the Lions were playing it.

"The referees told us to raise our hands up and quiet the crowd," defensive end Ernie Price of the Lions said. "We said, 'You crazy, man? We haven't heard this in a long time.'"

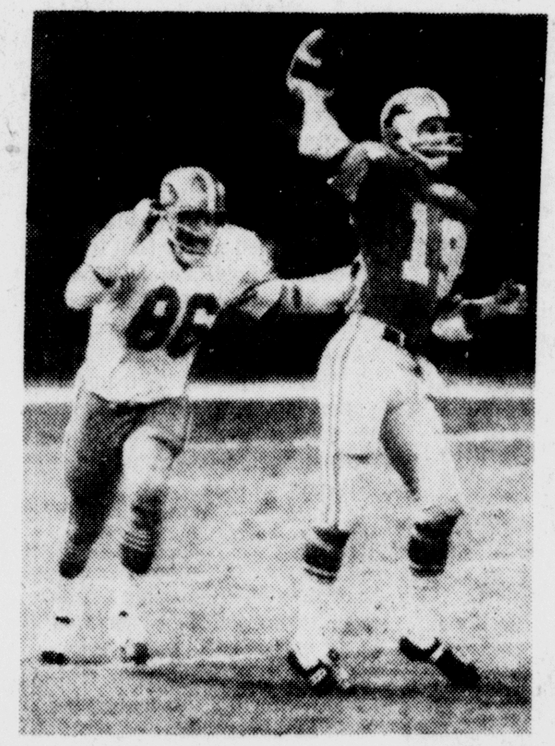
That third quarter goal line struggle last night was the turning point as Detroit came right back with a touchdown to cement its first 1974 National Football League victory, a 17-13 decision over the San Francisco 49ers.

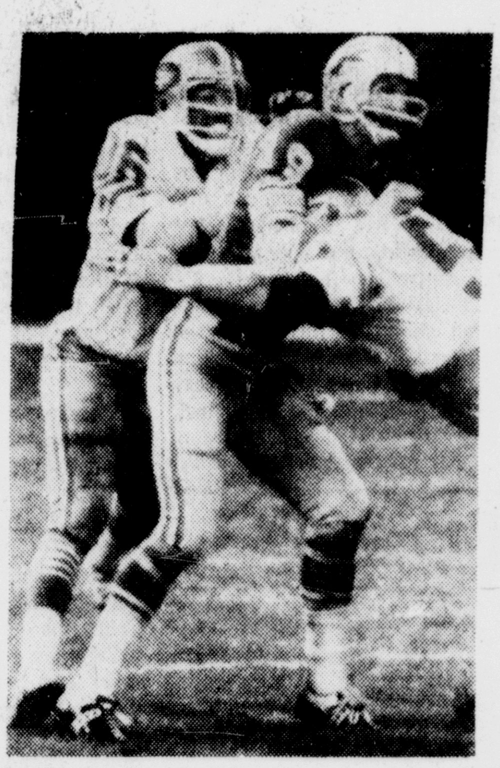
Rookie Wilbur Jackson had just sped 64 yards to the Detroit two for his longest gain of a 91-yard night and it looked like the Lions were headed for their fifth loss. The 49ers are now 2-3 while all of Detroit's losses have come by a total of 14 points.

"I feel the crowd yelling 'defense' helped the team," Coach Rick Forzano said savoring his first pro head coaching win. "I was kind of yelling 'defense' myself on the sidelines."

"What was the mood in the huddle?," linebacker Paul Naumoff repeated a question. "Well, I was kind of tired. I had just run 60-some yards trying to catch a guy I was never going to catch."

"I saw him taking off like that and I realized it was either me or seven points," said cornerback Levi Johnson, who finally caught Jackson near the sidelines. "When we got into the huddle, they congratulated me and that was it."





OUCH — Lions' quarterback Bill Munson knew how it felt to be left unprotected. He went back to pass as San Francisco 49ers' defensive end Cedrick Hardman hit him from behind while defensive tackle Bob Hoskins buried his helmet in Munson's chest. Action took place in the second quarter at Detroit last night. (UPI Telephoto)

Linebackers Charlie Weaver, Naumoff, and Jim Laslavic thwarted successive plays and Bruce Gossett had to step back and kick a 19-yard field goal, cutting Detroit's halftime lead to 10-6.

Gossett had kicked a 27-yard field goal in the first quarter only to have Steve Owens cap an ensuing 81-yard drive with a one-yard dive for a touchdown. Errol Mann added a 31-yard field goal for Detroit.

Herman Weaver punted 61 yards to put San Francisco in a hole after the second Gossett field goal and when the 49ers kicked, Dick Jauron ran the punt back 45 yards to the 13.

Two running plays got nowhere so quarterback Bill Munson whipped a 13-yard bullet into Larry Walton's waiting hands to hike the edge to 17-6, a margin that proved necessary when left-handed rookie Dennis Morrison finally got his Forty Niners moving.

MADDEN'S ASSESSMENT

Good News: Raiders Home; Bad News: Must Play Cincy

OAKLAND (UPI) — "We're finally playing at home again, but we're playing the Bengals," said Oakland Coach John Madden glumly.

The Raiders and Cincinnati Bengals match 4-1 records in a big battle between conference leaders Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum.

"The Bengals are in first place in their conference and are a team that has been improving every year," Madden said yesterday. "They have a good offense and a good defense."

Madden said Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, who threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score in the 34-24 win over Cleveland Sunday, might confound Oakland's various defenses with his ability to run the ball.

"When you have quarterbacks like that, they often do one or the other much better," Madden said of running-passing quarterbacks. "But Anderson has that combination of two things he does well."

Concerning last Sunday's 14-10 squeaker at San Diego, Madden said "we were able to move the ball, but we didn't get the points."

He asserted films showed that Marv Hubbard had scored when referees ruled the Raiders a foot short. A fourth down Ken Stabler pass then fell incomplete. Later Willie Brown's apparent 34-yard return of an interception for a TD was called back by a penalty.

The Raiders could survive these breaks against San Diego but Madden stressed the offense will have to move more convincingly if the Raiders hope to beat Cincinnati.

A Sad Time On This Hunt

RAVENDALE — Last week was sad for us. Ouur dog Bruno suddenly became sick last Wednesday evening at Webber Lake. We took him to Susanville early Thursday morning, but no veterinary office was open. It was hell waiting for the vet to show at opening time, 1 p.m. Bruno died at 12:45 p.m.

It ground our hearts out. He was an exceptional friend. Never did he snap, bite or even growl at anyone. He lived in the house as one of the family. He would wait at the window when we left home alone watching for one of our cars to drive into the yard, then he would eagerly meet us at the door.

He was a homebody. If left on the porch, you could depend on him to meet you as you drove into the yard.In the mornings when Mary my wife, got up, she would give him a biscuit. Then he would run into the bedroom and wake me and I was supposed to challenge him for the biscuit. After a tug of war, he would sit down nearby and contentedly chew it up.

We miss him more each hunt, and I wouldn't care if he frightened 1,000 bucks away if he were only here. We're just sick.

WE TRIED A COUPLE of halfhearted buck hunts here at Ravendale, but the dry, hot weather makes getting a deer almost impossible. The bucks are holed up; nothing is moving. On one hunt to the top of Schinn Peak, I saw five does; the rest of the gang saw nary a deer. I actually got a sweat walking downhill. It's about 40 degrees at night. I haven't heard a shot this week in the mountains. If there is no storm, very few bucks will be taken this last week of the season. With my daughter and her husband, Ken Walker, heading home last Sunday, Mary and I fugure to go back to Webber Lake just to take it easy.

As we had duck reservations for the Alturas Refuge for opening day last Saturday, the four of us got up about 3 a.m. and drove to Alturas for breakfast, then headed for the checking station. It was a blue bird day. For about two-hours we had a fair shoot getting four sprig, one mallard, one gadwall and five teal. Then things stopped completely.

There seems to be more cottontail rabbits this year, and on the Schinn Peak hunt I saw 14 chukars. I might have been able to get one if the season had been open. I wouldn't advise trying for these elusive birds in this country. They're tough!

OCEAN ANGLERS and party boat operators are reminded by state and federal fish and game officers that the penalties for shooting seals or sea lions can runa as much $20,000 and 12 months in jail.

In recent weeks, Wildlife Protection officers along the California coast have received several reports of seals and sea lions being shot from private fishing boats and commercial party boats.

The Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 placed all marine mammals under federal protection and set stiff penalties for harassing, killing or attempting to kill marine mammals.

Persons violating the law are subject either to civil or criminal court action. Under civil action penalties can run up to $10,000. The $20,000 fine and one-year jail term is the maximum penalty under the law's criminal sections.

Fish and Game officers emphasize that party boat operators and persons fishing from party boats are not exempt from the ban on shooting seals and sea lions, even if the animals are interfering with fishing.

Anyone witnessing the shooting or harassment of seals or sea lions is asked to Notify the Department of Fish and Game with full details of the incident.

THE VAST TULARE Lake Basin remained virtually free of botulism this week as the number of waterfowl in the area reached a seson's peak of about 300,000 and thousands of acres of land were under irrigation water.

Federal-state surveillance of the area, one of the state's traditional hot spots for botulism whenever flood water is present, turned up no sick or dead ducks on Kern National Wildlife Refuge, although there were a few dead birds on the lake itself.

COOLER WEATHER, which was expected momentarily, whould end the botulism threat for this year, the Department of Fish and Game said in its weekly situation report from the southern San Joaquin Valley.

Meanwhile, the Department of Fish and Game was checking into the deaths of birds on the Merced and Fresno sewer farms, and outbreaks of the disease at Lake Almanor in Plumas County and Coyote Point on San Francisco Bay near Burlingame appeared under control.

Losses at Lake Almanor totaled about 300 birds, and the toll at Coyote Point, where a Fish and Game airboat was sent to pick up dead waterfowl, was estimated at 1,000 birds.

JIM CAREW
Four shutouts, including three straight and two last week.
(Sketch by Jack Lucey)

PREP OF WEEK

Goalie Carew Is Fulfilling Promise

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The Terra Linda High School Trojans are making an unexpected bid to retain their Marin County Athletic League soccer crown, largely due to the goal keeping of Jim Carew.

He has shut out four of six opponents this year, including three in a row and two last week. For his efforts, he was named the Independent-Journal's Prep of the Week.

Even before the season began, Terra Linda coach Bob Vasser called Carew "potentially the best goalie in the league." As his team readied to face frontrunning Redwood today in the final game of the first half of the season, Vasser had no reason to change his mind.

"He's the one guy the team looks to. When he does things well they applaud — you just don't see a real good goalie that often."

The Trojans won the MCAL championship easily last year with a 13-1 record. But they brought back just one starter this season, center forward Steve McCarthy. Graduation robbed them of five all-leaguers, including goalie Jack Crimmins.

Yet they are undefeated with four wins and two ties with Carew in the goal; a victory today would put them in first place ahead of the favored Giants, who have won six without a loss or a tie.

Carew's value to the Trojans has been all the greater since they have not been able to score much this year. McCarthy and Ken Tompkins each have five goals, but victories have come hard, two by 1-0, another by 3-2. And the ties were 2-2 and 0-0.

"He really has excellent moves in the goal," says Vasser. "And he's got a lot of courage. It takes a lot of nerve to come out of the goal and dive on the ball, and he'll do it every time. He also knows when to come out and when to lay back."

"I play all the teams the same, but I like to lay back pretty much, unless I've got a good chance of getting to the ball," says Carew.

This is just Carew's second year of organized soccer. As a junior last year he kept goal for the Terra Linda junior varsity, and would have played on the parent team had it not been for the presence of Crimmins.

The youngest of six children, Carew learned soccer first from his brother Paul, now a student and goalie at Gonzaga University in Washington. But he really learned his position from Aurelio Gey, who as a transfer student from Spain kept goal for the Trojans five years ago, and returned last year to coach the junior varsity.

A lot of credit for the shutouts, says Carew, has to go to the defensive fullbacks, who have prevented opposing teams from taking too many shots on goal. "Especially Ralph Beckman and Art Beallo. They really get up for the games, they've got a lot of hustle."

The only player who has solved Carew so far has been Hugo De La Roca of Drake, who had both goals in a 2-2 tie with the Trojans. Carew ranks him and McCarthy as the best he has seen so far in the league.

He hasn't seen Manny Natsios yet, but he will today. Natsios had 11 goals through five games for Redwood. Natsios will be at least as much of a test as De La Roca.

Carew believes Terra Linda has a chance to go undefeated this year, and that the team has improved by 100 per cent since the start of the season. "We're getting stronger," he says. But he adds, "So is everybody else."

One thing is certain. With Carew in the goal, Terra Linda has a chance to repeat as MCAL champions.

Abramowicz In Record Book

DETROIT (UPI) — Wide receiver Danny Abramowicz of San Francisco tied Lance Alworth's National Football League record last night when he caught a pass in his 96th consecutive game.

Abramowicz, who had caught just one pass in each of the first four Forty-Niner games, hauled in a toss from lefthanded first-year quarterback Denis Morrison in the first quarter of San Francisco's game against the Detroit Lions.

The gain was good for only five yards but it was also good for a spot in the record book.

Aaron, Brewers Can Talk

OAKLAND (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have given Hank Aaron permission to talk with the Milwaukee Brewers, possibly opening the door for baseball's most successful home run slugger to become the first black general manager in the major leagues.

The announcement yesterday by Dan Donohue, president of the Braves, was made just one day before Aaron was to hold a news conference here reportedly to disclose his future plans.

The news conference apparently was arranged by Magnavox, an electrical firm with which Aaron has a $1 million contract.

If Aaron, who will be 41 next February, does sign with the Brewers and finish his major league career where it began — in Milwaukee — he probably would spend next season as a designated hitter before taking a general manager's position.

All along, Aaron had made it known he planned to retire after this season . . . until Sunday, Sept. 29, when he announced that his future still remained in doubt.

Aaron's problems at Atlanta apparently stem from a financial squabble with the Braves, who have offered Hank a front office job for next year at substantially less than his $200,000 player's contract.

"Titles," Aaron once snapped. "Can you spend titles at a grocery store? Executive vice president, assistant to the executive vice president, what does it mean if it doesn't pay good money? I might become a janitor for big money."

It is believed that the Braves offered Aaron as much as $75,000 to serve in the front office, and he still has four more years to run on the Magnovox contract, for which he receives $50,000 quarterly.

There also has been speculation that his contract with the television firm would limit him to a player role with the Braves.

Exhibition Saturday In Water Skiing

The Water Skiers of Marin, a Novato-based water ski club, will present a Water Skiing Exhibition Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Mira Monte Marina. Admission is free.

The club, which promotes safe, competitive water skiing, will demonstrate the style and form used in tournaments for slalom skiing, jumping and trick skiing. The program will also include barefoot skiing, kite flying and other special acts. The marina is located between Petaluma and Novato just off Highway 101.

San Rafael Gains Toy Store With Move From San Anselmo

A new toy store, featuring games and hobbies as well as toys, will open this week in downtown San Rafael at 1310 Fourth Street, the old location of Merle Norman Cosmetics. It is located between Marin Title Guaranty and Lock, Stock & Barrel gunsmith.

The new shop, called Master Of The Revels, is owned by Mike and June Mackes of San Anselmo, who moved from the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo, where they had operated for seven months. Before that, the Mackes owned Mackes' Sportswear in Sausalito for 11 years until they sold it in September of last year.

Master Of The Revels carries a variety of imported toys and games, many models both balsa wood and plastic, puppets, hand-made wooden toys, various construction sets, and other game and hobby items.

"We decided to move to San Rafael because we have more space here, and also because we felt San Rafael needs a toy and game store," said Mackes.

Master Of The Revels will be open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will feature Santa Claus from mid-November and will open nights and Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas, as will many other stores in downtown San Rafael.

Cutler

Oliphant

FIREMAN'S FUND Insurance Co. President and Chief Executive Officer Myron DuBain announced the election of two executive vice presidents.

Edwin F. Cutler, 49, of San Rafael will be executive vice president with responsibility for corporate finance, budget and systems functions. He previously was controller and most recently senior vice president for systems, processing and controls.

O. D. Oliphant, 54, of Novato will be executive vice president in charge of underwriting, actuarial, marketing, research and field operations, including branch office administration. He has been senior operations executive for Fireman's Fund life insurance subsidiaries.

A PIPE AND TOBACCO shop, specializing in big name brand pipes, custom blended tobaccos and expert pipe repair, has opened in Old Brown's Store, 38 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Called Cane Creek, it is owned and operated by Stewart and Jeanne Walsh, whose family has been pipe smokers and toacco growers in a place called Cane Creek in Kentucky for four generations. Walsh himself has been blending tobacco and collecting pipes for 15 years. He was a newspaper editor and a teacher in Wisconsin for six years before moving to Forest Knolls last June.

Cane Creek carries name brand pipes, unusual Freehand or Danish pipes, custom blended tobaccos, imported cigars, imported and domestic cigarettes, and a full line of smoking accessories and gift items. The shop also has beautifully carved collector's items such as the Meerschaum from Turkey. The store is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Walshes also plan to publish a newspaper with articles on pipe lore and care of pipes to give out to their customers.

Coye

Thomason

SALLY COYE of Tiburon is owner of The Film Company, a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. Located behind the Ancient Mariner in the former Marina Tennis site, the Film Company specializes in photographic supplies and services.

Mrs. Coye, mother of two, is a former United Airlines stewardess. She is a member of the Clipped Wings, an organization of former stewardesses that does charity work for the mentally retarded.

JOANNE THOMASON is the owner-manager of The Party Palace (formerly Rojean's), a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley. The Party Palace specializes in unusual party supplies such as helium balloons and pinatas, as well as cards and gifts.

MONTECITO REALTY at the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael is owned by Bill Duffield and Nat Marans as partners.

This column on Oct. 9 referred to Montecito Realty and listed Marans as owner. It should have listed Bill Duffield as an equal partner.

THE RARE BIT, a specialty cheese shop, has opened at The Cove Shopping Center at Blackfield Drive and Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon.

Owners Robert and Emy Hynes of Strawberry bought the former Cheese Tailor at the end of August, remodeled the interior and expanded its inventory. The Rare Bit, open seven eays a week, features imported and domestic cheeses, fresh bagels, fresh daily quiche lorraine and spinach quiche, and home-made ravioli stuffed with cheese and spinach. The shop also carries seasonings, gift packs and some gift items like fondue pots and cheese boards.

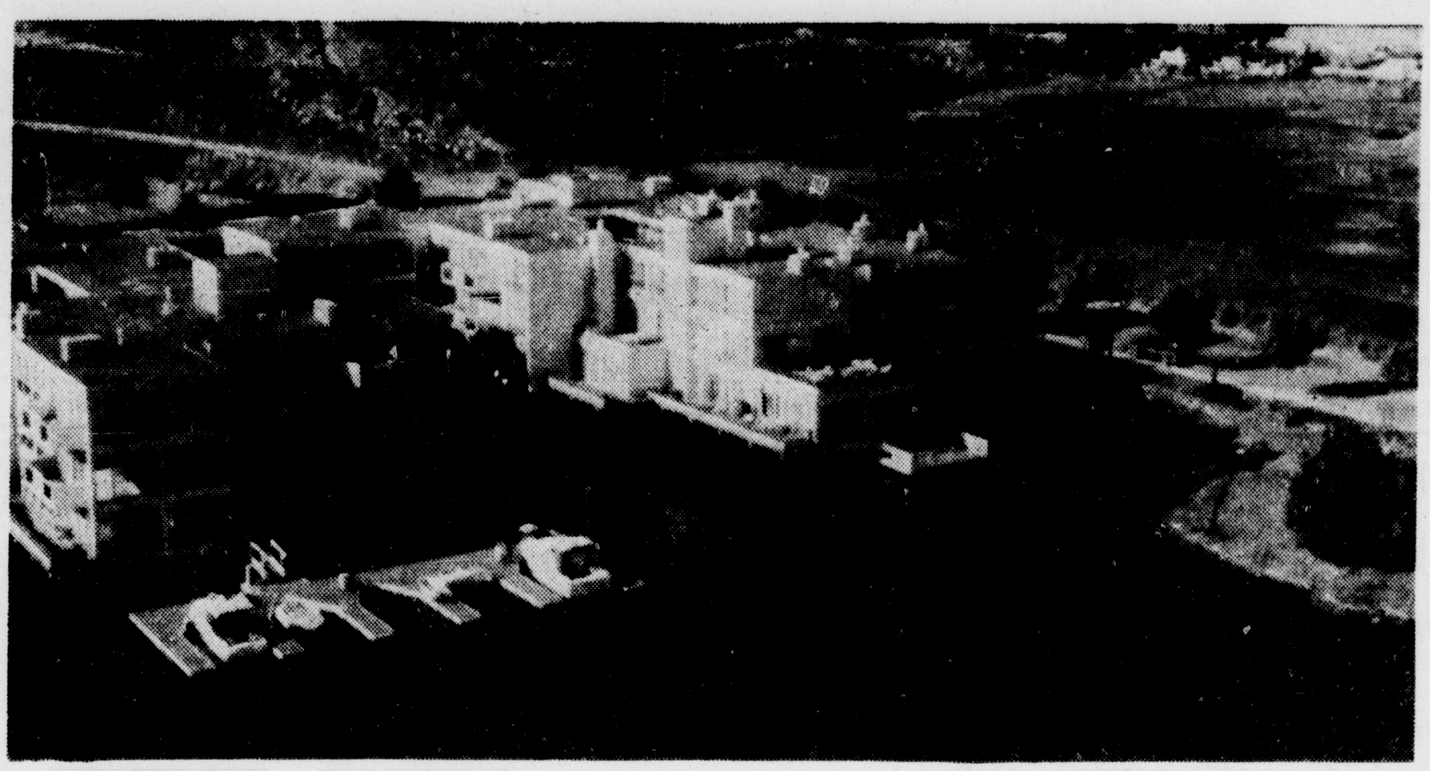
Originally from New York, Hynes came to San Francisco 14 years ago, graduated from the hotel and restaurant management school at San Francisco City College, and has been a food consultant since then. The Hynes have lived in Marin for the past eight years.



SHELTER BAY — Formerly built as luxury waterfront apartments, Shelter Bay's Mediterranean style buildings have been converted to condominiums and are selling for $45,000 for one bedrooms to $78,500 for four bedrooms. Baker Crow Company, the new owner, repainted the buildings, improved the facilities and grounds, and completed the conversion to condominiums on Aug. 23. Thirty of the 107 condominiums were sold in the first 30 days.

Shelter Bay Changes To Condominium

Shelter Bay, the 107-unit waterfront project on the west side of Highway 101, north of Sabella's, has just been converted to condominiums by the new owner, Baker-Crow Co. of Mill Valley.

"Sales of the condominiums have been almost phenomenal," said Jerry W. P. Schauffler, regional manager for Baker-Crow. "We sold 30 condominiums in 30 days, and this in a supposedly depressed market during which stocks fell 130 points." The new owners have arranged financing, providing 80 to 90 per cent loans.

Shelter Bay condominiums, ranging in size from one to four bedrooms, are selling for $45,000 to $78,500. All condominiums have decks, balconies or patios for views of the water, with covered parking for each unit, and berthing facilities on a first come first served basis. Floor areas range in size from 870 square feet to 1,700 square feet for the four-bedrooms. Most of the condominiums are on one level, and all the walls are of staggered stud construction for better soundproofing, Schauffler pointed out. "And you don't feel confined because each unit has a long wall of glass facing out."

Shelter Bay also has a recreation center and clubhouse, a tennis court and a large pool for use by the residents. Access is from Seminary Drive, just north of Sabella's. A sales office with a furnished model is open every day on the site.

Early Profit Taking Sends Mart Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — An early wave of profit taking coming on the heels of the past week's rally sent prices broadly lower in fairly active trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Declines led advances, 812 to 371, among the 1,576 issues crossing the tape.

A profit taking trend began in the last 90 minutes of yesterday's session and carried over into this one. Selling pressure today, however, eased after the first hour.

Investors have been encouraged recently by a lowering of interest rates. The Federal Reserve Board's open market committee was meeting during the day and was expected to foster looser credit policies.

There has been speculation the prime lending rate, which banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers, would fall to 11 per cent in the near future. Many major banks have lowered it to 11 ½ per cent in recent weeks. It reached an historic high of 12 per cent earlier this year.

Quarterly Dividend

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 49½ cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cent quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Gold Markets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Foreign and domestic gold prices today: London, Morning fixing 154.20, down 0.65; afternoon fixing 155.00 up 0.15. Paris free market 160.27 up 2.73; Frankfurt 156.46, up 0.78; Zurich 155.00, up 0.25; New York, Handy and Harman, noon 155.30, down 1.95; Engelhard, 159.39 sell-fabricated, up 0.16; 155.50 sell-bullion up 0.15.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at 462.0 cents per fine ounce up 5.0 cents. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.62 up 5.0 cents and fabricated silver at $4.73 up 5.2 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Drug Marketing Firm Has A Track Record

By ROGER E. SPEAR and DAVID R. SARGENT

I have been holding Budd Company (NYSE) through this completely insane market in hopes of recovery. Should I now switch to another underpriced issue which might have greater comeback potential? — W.S.

A. Although these shares have potential, ultimately, for recovery, lower earnings comparisons will probably continue to retard progress. As a replacement Marion Laboratories (NYSE), an aggressive drug marketing organization, has appeal. Marketing expertise and high-caliber research have produced unusual success for this ethical drug company. In the past five years per-share earnings have climbed from 52c to $1.39 (for a 22 per cent compounded growth rate) and another substantial gain to $1.70 a share is in sight for the fiscal year to end next June.

Drugs developed primarily by foreign companies are marketed under license. Research concentrates on gaining FDA sales approval. Two drugs, one to treat severe burns the other for treatment of bronchial asthma, have recently been approved. Another drug is expected to be cleared in the current fiscal year and eight others are in the investigational stage. Under a 20-year licensing agreement with Syntex three new products should be added to Marion's line within three years. Related products, hospital supplies, vitamins and proprietary drugs account for about 16 per cent of income. Despite Marion's strong record, the issue has been severely depressed by drug industry hearings, national health insurance controversy and FDA drug effectiveness hearings. At this level the shares are a buy.

Q. We are over 70 and need more income. Would you advise switching 960 shares of Mass. Investor's Trust to Mass. Income Development? — S.K.

A. Your shares of MIT provide $384 annually in income dividends. A switch to MID would, at current levels, add $220 to your yearly return, a 57 per cent increase. The exchange seems justified on that basis. Since offering in 1970, Mass. Income Development Fund has performed somewhat better than MIT, primarily because it has been more resistant in declining markets.

50th Year For Basalt Rock Firm

Basalt Rock Company Inc., which has a plant in San Rafael, is celebrating its 50th year in business this month as a major supplier of concrete products and aggregate materials.

The firm produces concrete products at its 100-acre main facility in Napa, and lightweight aggregate at Napa Junction. Other plants in San Rafael, Healdsburg, and Santa Rosa produce sand, gravel, crushed stone, rip-rap stone, ready-mix concrete and asphalt paving materials. Propane is distributed in several north bay counties.

Established in 1924, Basalt established itself as a major rock products supplier during the 1930's.

6 WAYS TO COOK WITH LESS ENERGY.
You use more energy in your kitchen than in any other room. Economize with these suggestions:
1. Make sure your oven and surface burners or units are shut off when not in use.
2. Keep oven doors completely closed until food is cooked. Every time you open the door, the oven temperature drops from 25° to 50°. (Oven door windows aid the "peek-a-boo" cook.)
3. Prepare a complete meal when using the oven—main course, vegetable and dessert. Use foods that cook well at similar temperatures. (Exception: delicate green or leafy vegetables.)
4. Use cooking utensils with flat bottoms and tight fitting covers whenever possible. Be sure pots and pans are the right size for range burners or units.
5. Bake and broil from a cold oven start. There's no need to preheat an oven.
6. Thaw frozen meats in refrigerator before cooking. Cook as soon as possible after thawing, and do not re-freeze unless meat has been cooked. A defrosted roast requires approximately 33% less cooking time than a frozen one.
These are just a few of the many ways you can conserve energy.

HERE ARE SOME "BRASS TACKS" ABOUT AUTOMOBILE BUYING

Automobile SELLING is highly competitive business. The dealer with lower overhead REALLY has a competitive advantage. He can use this advantage to give his customers better deals.

In Marin County overhead IS lower and you'll find BETTER deals than you can find "over the bridge" - AND the service is LOCAL!

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin star in the movie "Robin and the Seven Hoods," a zany mixture of the Robin Hood fable and "Guys and Dolls," spoofing Chicago in the Twenties.

KCRA (3), 10 p.m. — There's an "obesity epidemic" in the U.S. Three out of five Americans will probably go on a diet of some kind in the coming year. Here's a survey of what's old and new, serious and funny in the world of dieting, ranging from a verbal free-for-all between Dr. Robert Atkins, author of the book, "Diet Revolution," to the "fat seminar." In the latter dieters reject the medical approach in favor of the psychological, and indulge in sensuous experiements in liberating eating." "The Dieting American" is a KCRA special presentation.

Council To Meet

The Sausalito City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in council chambers on Bridgeway, will consider a use permit for a mortuary in a renovated Victorian home at 100 Caledonia Street.

More Bicycle Reflectors To Be Required Jan. 1

Additional reflectors will be required on bicycles beginning Jan. 1, the California Highway Patrol has announced.

Under a measure intended to make bicycles more visible at night, a white reflector will be required on the front of the bike, a white or yellow reflector on each side forward of center (a two-way reflector in the front spokes is suggested), and a white or red reflector on each side rear of center. Side reflectors will not be required on bikes with reflectorized tires.

Present requirements for a white light on the front of the bike and a red reflector or lamp on the rear will remain in force.

Reflectors and reflectorized tires must be visible from 500 feet and must be of a type approved by the patrol.

Wildlife Sanctuary Nature Hike Slated

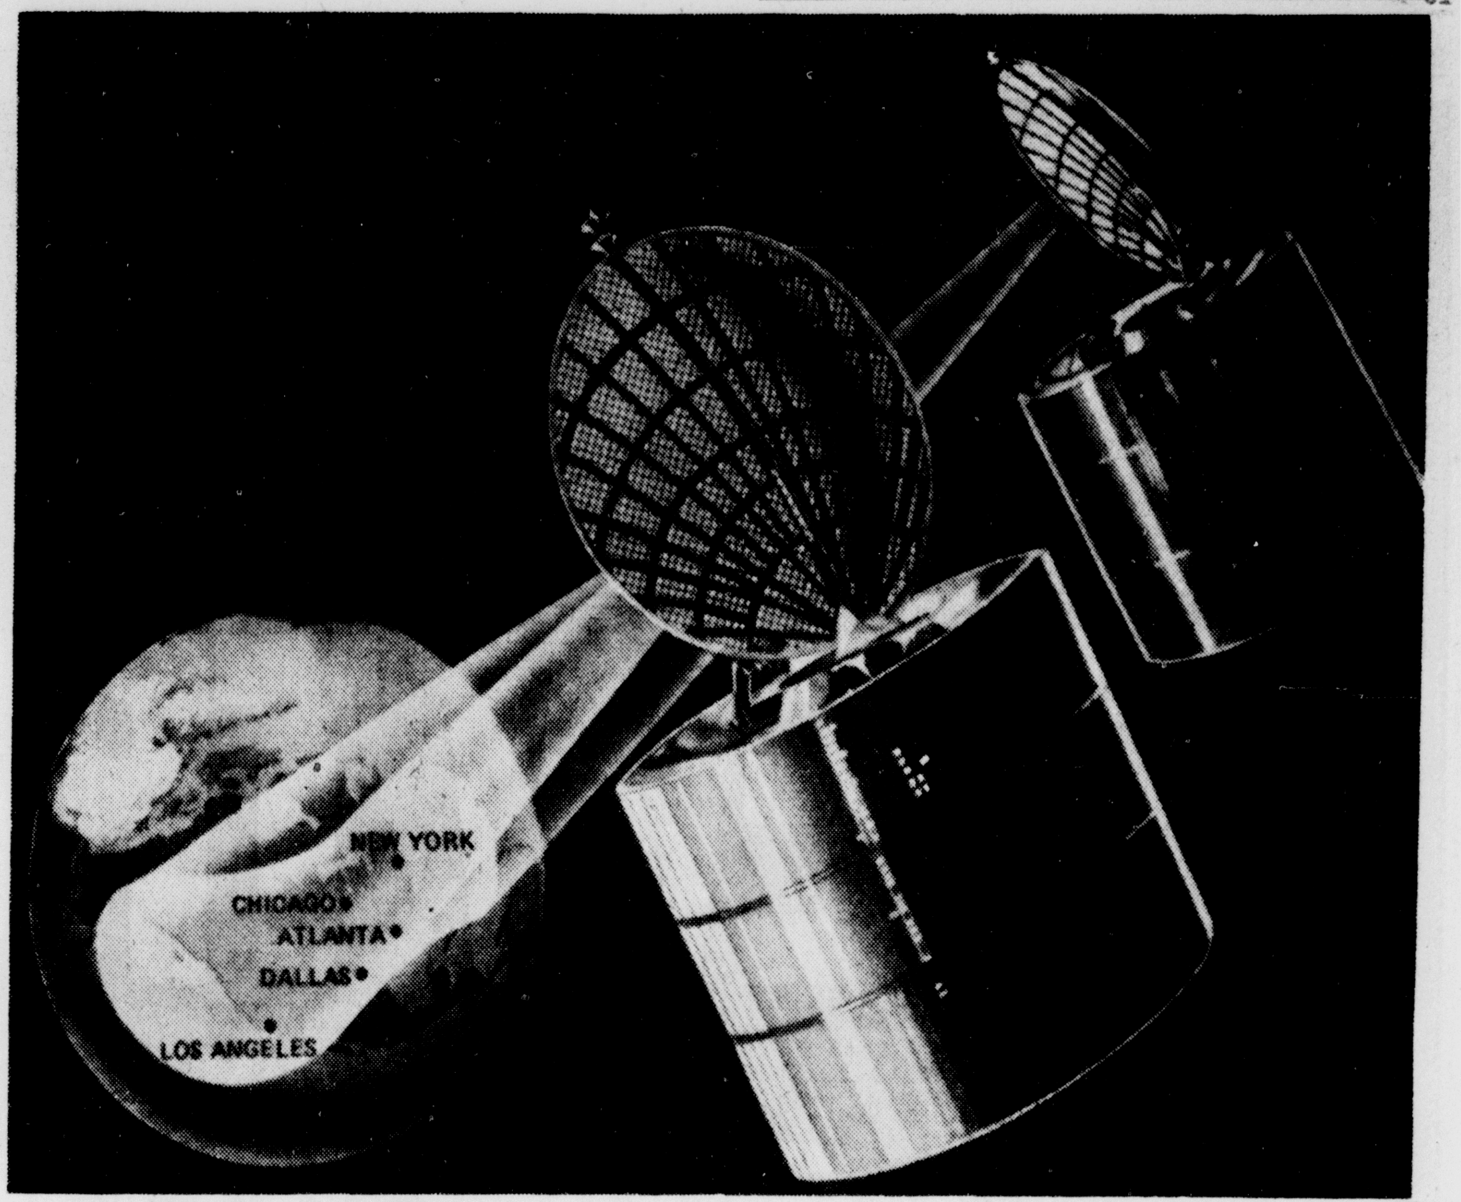
Nader Calls For Safer Vehicles

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — Ralph Nader, a critic of the auto industry for years, says the industry should start making safety its No. 1 product.

"Safety is by far the best economic bargain," Nader told a crowd of about 1,000 on the University of Wisconsin campus here.

Nader said the industry today could build cars that "would allow people to walk away from 60-mile-an-hour crashes" if it wanted to.

But he said the auto industry is not trying to build cars that are safe and said it won't for a long time.



WESTARS TEAM UP FOR COMMUNICATION

Drawing shows twin positions of Westar II, launched last Thursday and its predecessor, Westar I, launched last April, in 22,300-mile-high synchronous orbit over the equator. Both satellites, built by Hughes Aircraft for Western Union, have capacity of 7,000 voice circuits or 12 simultaneous color television channels for communications throughout continental U.S., Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, according to information from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Chilean Aid Committee Is Forming

A group of Sonoma County residents has set a meeting in an effort to establish a committee to aid Chilean political prisoners.

The meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the cafeteria of Santa Rosa Junior High School, will feature a talk by Kay Cole, who journeyed to Chile as a delegate from the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom's investigating committee. She will report on what she saw in the country where a military junta last year overthrew President Salvador Allende, a socialist.

Barbara Giles of Petaluma, spokesman for a group of residents calling themselves Sonoma County Friends of the Fair Trial Committee for Chilean Political Prisoners, said a tape recording will be played of the last speech Allende made before his assassination.

Entertainment will be provided by Patricio Canales, a Chilean folksinger.

Sale Of Liquor On Planner List

A proposal to allow the sale of liquor in a restaurant planned for Redwood Highway in Mill Valley will be discussed by the Mill Valley Planning Commission today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The restaurant is part of a large two-building office building proposed by Sidney Hendricks of Strawberry.

Also today, the commission will consider a request for a use permit for a six-child, foster care, group home to be operated at 115 Country Club Drive.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Soft-Drink Firm Seeks To Lead With the Liter

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. is a long way from adopting the metric system of measurement, but a major soft drink company is planning a radio-TV campaign it hopes will make consumers say, "Take me to your liter."

The firm, the Seven-Up Co. of St. Louis, Mo., says it plans to begin its broadcast and print advertising campaigns for liter and half-liter bottles of its product in 1975.

The company apparently is the first soft drink producer in the U.S. to take the metric step, according to officials at the National Soft Drink Association and the Glass Container Manufacturers' Institute, two major trade groups.

And the step will be limited at first.

The radio-TV ads extolling Seven-Up as the "leader in the liter" won't be the only kind set loose, says Lee Larkin, the company's director of public relations.

He says they'll just be one part of an overall campaign urging consumers to simply buy the drink, be it bottled by the liter or in traditional ounces, and that the liter phase-in will be gradual.

Larkin says bottled Seven-Up primarily is sold in units of 16 and 32 ounces. A half-liter will work out to 16.91 ounces and the liter to 33.82 ounces, he says, but he doubts there'll be a slight price rise to reflect the extra sip provided liter-lovers.

There are several reasons for giving the new measurement a tryout, says Larkin: "One is that we want to be the first to do it. The next is that it's a logical system of measurement.

"And three, it's going to come sooner or later."

Later is more probable, says William Sadd, president of the glass container association: "It's going to happen . . . but there's been no industry-wide move that I know of for the soft drink industry to go metric at this time."

No legislation is pending in Congress to make metric mandatory. If that ever happened, a call for a shot of booze — usually 1½ ounces — might someday come out in a "Gunsmoke" episode as:

"Say, Miss Kitty, give me 45 milliliters of red-eye."

Sad to say, the Seven-Up television ads for liters probably won't be much of a home study aid for grade school kids to whom hundreds of teachers across the U.S. now are trying to explain the metric system.

Larkin, who said he's seen one of the proposed TV ads, says "it doesn't go into depth," that is, explain the difference between the liter and the ounce. "It's not an instructional type of thing."

Springs Dam Fund Events Scheduled

Organizations involved in Sonoma County's fight over whether to build the Warm Springs Dam have announced two fund-raising events.

Citizens for Community Improvement, a group of residents who urge construction of the $114 million Army Corps of Engineers Facility, will offer an evening of food, wine music and dancing from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 24 at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa. Admission will be $20 a person, and a spokesman said the entertainment has yet to be determined.

The Citizens Water Coalition, a group of residents who oppose the dam, will hold a fund raising pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Santa Rosa Veterans Memorial Building.

Martin Huevelmans, author of a book called "The River Killers" which attacks many of the corps' projects, will be a guest speaker.

A spokesman said those who attend should bring a hot dish to serve eight persons if their last names begin with letters A through M. Those whose names begin with N through Z should bring salads or desserts for eight. Admission will be $2.50 a person.

$16-$28 off pairs.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.

Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.

Strawberry To Hold Two Fall Festivals

Brilliant tones of red and orange, rippling laughter, crisp apples, haunting voices, bagsful of chewy goodies, mysterious faces from the past and future — all this and more are a part of autumn festivals celebrating successful harvests and preparing for the dark, sun-forsaken winter months ahead.

Traditionally October and November are marked by ancient festivals in which man attempted to appease the dark spirits of winter with religious rites and harvest offerings of grain and fruit. Often early folk would dress in animal skins and masks, trying to become like the unseen evils they feared in the hope that they could further protect themselves from unknown dangers. It is from many of these early religious beliefs that many of our present day customs are derived.

Marinites are now preparing to celebrate the various fall customs, including Halloween and European fests. Two such local activities to be held at the Strawberry Town & Country Village are the Halloween Parade of Costumes, Oct. 26 from 2 to 4 p.m., and the annual Fall Art Festival, Nov. 7-10.

Prizes will be awarded to entrants in the Halloween parade in the following categories: best comic strip character, best storybook character, best TV or movie character, best Western character, best circus character, best era character, best Halloween character, best costume of a country, best science fiction character, best hero-heroine character, most unusual costume, and a grand prize for best over-all costume.

Over 100 artists with 2,500 pieces of art work will be featured in the Fall Art Show, which will also include woodworkers, painters, sculptors, and others at work.

Other autumn events at the Strawberry Village include a drawing for a pumpkin filled with toys at the Village Sweet Shoppe, a Jack-O-Lantern Contest, and the opening of several new stores — Max and Mortiz, The Film Company, and The Party Palace.

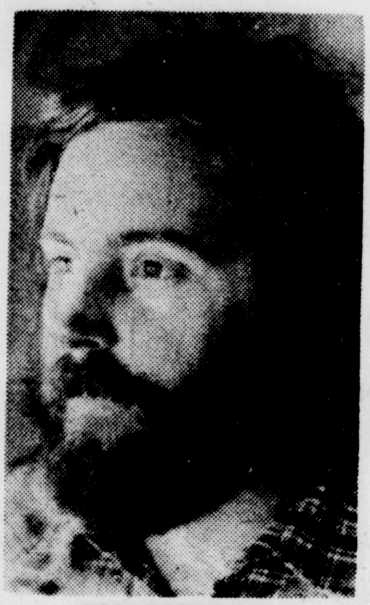
Photo Store Opens In Town & Country

Jim Webb, manager of Town & Country Village, announces that Tom Borello is the new manager and Sally Coye is the owner of a new Strawberry store, The Film Company (formerly Marina Tennis location).

Borello, of Fairfax, has extensive photographic experience and emphasizes that not only does The Film Company have quality camera equipment and supplies, but also provides photography services and assistance.



TOM BORELLO
Manager

A graduate from the College of Marin and Sonoma State with a degree in photography, he has had three years retail experience in a camera shop, and is planning a showing of his own artistic photos, as well as a photographic display during December at the Mill Valley Fidelity Savings. In addition to his photography interests, Tom enjoys skiing and backpacking.

Pumpkin Takes On New Role

The pumpkin-decorated, carved, eaten, imitated or immortalized in comic strips — is traditionally a symbol of Fall, the harvest season, and particularly Halloween. The pumpkin's golden tones are reflected in seasonal dress and decor, and there are few aromas so mouth-watering as that of freshly baked pumpkin pie cooling on an open window sill.

At the Strawberry Town & Country Village the golden orb takes on a new role as it becomes a source of delight for some lucky youngster who can win "The World's Largest Toy-Filled Pumpkin" from the Village Sweet Shoppe. The free drawing will be held on Halloween.

The pumpkin will be seen in a more traditional role on Oct. 26 at 1 p.m. when there will be a carved Jack-O-Lantern Contest at the Village Sweet Shoppe. Anyone wanting to enter the contest should bring their carved and decorated Jack-O-Lantern to the Village Sweet Shoppe in Strawberry Town & Country Village by 12:45 p.m. Oct. 26.

Thomasons Take Charge Of Party Palace Shop

Jim Webb, manager of Strawberry Town & Country Village, has announced that Joanne and Tom Thomason have become the new owner-managers of the Party Palace Card & Gift Shop, formerly Rojean's.

The Thomasons, Marinites for the past 10 years and now residents of Woodacre, owned a Party Palace in Fairfax before moving the family business to Strawberry.

Joanne Thomason, an artistic person who teaches cake decorating at Drake High School, says that the operation of the Party Palace is a family affair, with all six of the Thomason teenagers contributing. Kathy, an 18-year old student at the College of Marin, is one of the salespersons in the store, while Nancy, 11, and Lori, 9, both students at Lagunitas School, have helped with the decorating and arranging of the Hallmark cards, seasonal specialities, and unique gifts in the Party Palace, a card and gift store featuring clever party items such as helium balloons and imported pinatas.

Tom Thomason, an educator in the Dixie School District for 11 years, and his three sons have also played an important behind-the-scene role in the building of display shelves, arranging large items, and moving the thousands of cards and gift items from the Fairfax store to Strawberry. Dave, 20, is a law enforcement student at the College of Marin; Jim, 16, and Tom, 14, are both students at Drake High.

Not only do the Thomasons enjoy the business world together, but their leisure time includes family outings such as water skiing at Mendocino and yearly excursions to Whiskeytown.

Maria Faer Will Coordinate Events

MARIA FAER
Promotions secretary

Maria Faer has been appointed Promotions Secretary for Strawberry Town & Country Village in Mill Valley. Her responsibilities included the coordination of fashion events and special events for the center.

Mrs. Faer, originally from Columbia, S.C., graduated from Clemson University where she was awarded the Norris Medal as the Most Outstanding Student in her graduating class. In addition, Maria was selected as Miss Clemson University and was president of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary society.

Maria was formerly employed by the Security and Exchange Commission in San Francisco and also taught sixth grade at John Minadeo School in Pittsburgh. Her husband, Capt. Michael Faer, is assigned to Letterman Army Medical Center as an intern.

Seven Die Daily

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Statistics released by the traffic department here showed 662 persons died in traffic accidents during a three month period. This represents an average of seven traffic related deaths daily.

Linda Sartorius Named Manager

Linda Sartorius has been named the new manager of the Daisy Bug in the Town & Country Village at Strawberry.

Her previous experience includes being a buyer for specialty shops such as the Daisy Bug, which features fashions for the modern young woman.

A pre-med graduate from the University of Texas at Austin, her hobbies and interests include travel and an active participation in the National Women's Political Caucus and the National Organization for Women.

Originally from Houston, Texas, the new Bay Area resident is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feinberg of Baytown, Texas.

Writers' Retreat

LENOX, Mass. (UPI) — Lenox, one of the oldest Berkshire summer resorts, was an early writers colony, with Nathaniel Hawthorne, Fanny Kemble, Catharine Sedgwick, and Henry Ward Beecher as residents or visitors.

Jewelry On Display

DeBeau's Internationale of Strawberry Town & Country Village will feature an exclusive showing of exquisitely crafted Indian jewelry Oct. 17-19.

These pieces of American heritage will include works by the Zuni, Hopi and Navajo tribes. Each jewelry item is authentically Indian in design and handcrafted from the finest coral and turquoise stones in silver mountings.

According to Leo Bell, owner of DeBeau's, layaway privileges will be extended on these items for Christmas giving.

Boutique Mimi Shoe Store Has Husband-Wife Team In Charge

Jack and Doris Kugler are the new owner-managers of the Boutique Mimi shoe store in the Strawberry Town & Country Village. As newly-weds the Kuglers sold a well-established business and moved to San Francisco from Switzerland, thus fulfilling Jack's youthful dream of living in the city-by-the-bay, where they have resided for the past 25 years.

Jack, a real estate salesman, is an avid reader, while Doris is a gardener who enjoys making and designing many of her own clothes. The Kuglers' experiences in the business world include two years managing a launderette, which Mrs. Kugler enjoyed because she had an opportunity to meet many people, and three years owning and managing a Burlingame shoe boutique which specialized in imported German shoes for persons with wide feet.

Their experience and individual interests have well-prepared the Kuglers for the Boutique Mimi, a women's shoe store featuring Italian and Spanish imported fashions.

Now Oil Spills Can Be Swept

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — A new oil recovery device that has proved its effectiveness in many applications worldwide will go on duty in Japanese waters late this year.

A pair of "Clean Sweeps" mounted on 27 foot long catamarran hulls designed and built by Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. have been sold to the Japan Maritime Safety Agency. They are designed to sweep spilled oil from harbors, estuaries, bays and offshore locations. The trailer transportable craft can recover up to 200 gallons of oil a minute.

Disease Affects Many Venezuelans

CARACAS (UPI) — The director of tropical diseases at the Central University says nearly 10 per cent of the population of Venezuela suffers from Chagas disease. This ailment causes perforations and weakening of the heart tissue. The disease is most often transmitted by insects which live in the walls of mud and wattle huts, still used in many parts of the interior.

Children's Clothing To Be Sold

James Webb, manager of Town & Country Village, announces that Werner and Anna Maria Hofling are the owner-managers of Max und Moritz children's clothing store, a new business in the Strawberry Town & Country Village.

Mrs. Hofling's own experiences provide an interesting background for her management of Max und Moritz, which feature European designed clothing made from quality imported fabrics. Of Czechoslovakian birth, Mrs. Hofling was raised in Vienna and immigrated to America as a teenager. Now a resident of Greenbrae, she is the mother of two girls — Barbara, 12, and Susanne, 10.

Other than her active careers as mother and businesswoman, Mrs. Hofling's interests also include skiing, craftswork, cooking, and participation in the Marin Lutheran Church activities and Greenbrae Parent-Teacher Association.

Boston Sites Marked For Bicentennial

By PAUL H. GATES JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BOSTON — Surrounded by towering office buildings wrapped in shimmering plate glass, Benjamin Franklin's Milk Street neighborhood in Boston has undergone many changes since young Franklin left to seek his fortune in Philadelphia.

But two young women are working on a plan to re-create the area so that even the old statesman would recognize the environs of his youth.

Judy Albert and Carol Bratley of Vision, Inc. are marking Franklin's birthplace, along with some three dozen other downtown historical sites, as part of the preparation for the U.S. Bicentennial celebration which will begin officially in April, 1975.

Vision, Inc. is a small, private foundation headquartered in Cambridge, Mass. that works with local preservation groups across the country to help city planners and industries adopt and conform to building and sign codes designed to preserve the town's character.

"Many of the sites we plan to mark are already marked, it's true; but in so many instances it's only with a stained-brass plaque — unobtrusive, which we like to see, but perhaps too much so," says Miss Bratley.

The new markers, which will be paid for with funds from Boston 200, the city's bicentennial coordinators, will be enameled metal or fiberglass. The design has not yet been decided upon, "but they will certainly be in good taste," she said.

"We try to mark places that still exist," says Miss Albert. "It's hard to have people relate to a site where there's a 20-story building now. But even in places where there is little resemblance to the way it was 150 years ago, we feel that the atmosphere can be re-created and the importance of the place fit."

To achieve this colonial climate, each marker will carry a quote from a poem or a speech by the patriots, merchants, and other townspeople that lived there generations ago.

"We want to reach out and grab the people and draw them right into the period; make them look at the wrought-iron fences and patches of exposed cobblestones to see what it is that makes Boston special," says Miss Bratley. "We are the eyes of our visitors; we have to search out all these things and ask the questions so that we can provide the answers."

The excitement of the visitor can easily be imagined watching Judy Albert searching the facades of market-district warehouses and the backs of remodeled buildings for telltale architectural signs of days gone by. It is an exciting new experience for her as well, brought up in suburban Long Island.

"One hint when you visit Boston," she said. "Look up. The first 20 feet or so of a building is aluminum and plate glass, and this is all that most people see. But the upper stories are often nearly the same as they were way back when."

Executive Gains Confidence Of Public—Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The Louis Harris polling organization says the public has gained some confidence in the executive branch of government since last year, but confidence in Congress, big business and the press has gone down.

Harris said a poll of more than 1,500 households across the country earlier this month showed 28 per cent have "a great deal of confidence" in the executive branch, compared with only 19 per cent in 1973.

Congress, meanwhile, dropped in its confidence rating from 29 per cent in 1973 to 18 per cent this month.

Confidence in big business dropped from 29 per cent to 21 per cent over the year, while the press won only a 25 per cent confidence rating, compared to 30 per cent last year.

Basins Popular

CHICAGO (UPI) — Single and double bowl vanity wash basins are becoming increasingly popular installed in the bedroom, the Plumbing Heating Cooling Information Bureau reports. The bureau said the bedroom basin is a trend back to great grandmother's china bowl and wash pitcher.

LUXURIOUS HOME FURNISHINGS

Kathlyn Weis is the new manager of the Decorator Waterbed Store in Strawberry Town & Country Village. Kathlyn is relaxing on one of the stores luxuriant waterbed quilted spreads with several pillow accessories.

Kathlyn Weis Selected Waterbed Store Manager

Kathlyn Weis is the new manager for Decorator Waterbeds in the Strawberry Town & Country Village. She has been employed as a salesperson by Roos-Atkins, the Emporium, and Milen's, and she spent a summer in Honolulu working as the night manager of Robin's Candies in the International Market Place.

A Marinite, Kathlyn graduated from San Rafael High School and received her bachelor of science degree from the University of California, Santa Cruz, graduating with honors in psychology and art, training which she will utilize at the Decorator Waterbeds, a home furnishings store specializing in waterbeds, accessories, and interior designs.

Her wide range of interests include craftswork — leatherworking, stitchery, weaving, sewing — and sports — tennis, sailing, and fishing.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn B. Weis of San Rafael, themselves tennis players and avid members of the Belvedere Tennis Club.

Big Game Hunting Mecca Of Europe

BELGRADE (UPI) — There are not many places in Europe where the big game hunter can still indulge himself. But the Balkans still have more wild bears than they need and in the Bosnian mountains of Yugoslavia hunts are organized for visitors at $1,500 per bear shot.

If a bear is outside your budget you can go after deer, chamois, wild boar, wolf, fox, badger, marten, otter, or about a dozen different types of game birds. One of the best areas, also recommended for its scenery is the Prenj and Velez mountains.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge.

Guarantee applies to tires on vehicles used for private family purposes.
